16 ¶ Nowe when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lorde, saying,

17 Ah Lorde God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their i children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mountes, they are come vnto the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayde vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah, saying, 27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all m flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, & he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their n youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their handes, sayth the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priestes, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe & not the face: though I taught them, o rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name was called, to defile it, 35 And they built the hie p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to r passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now s therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 * Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Hee threatneth that the citie and the King Zedekiah shall bee giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 Hee rebuketh their cruelty toward their seruants.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, [*] I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shall surely bee taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shal behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: Thus sayth the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt die in [b] peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh [c] lord: for I haue pronounced the word, sayth the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels host fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, [d] to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That euery man should let his [e] seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they [‡] repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of [‖] seruants, saying,

14 [*] At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in [f] the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, & euery man his handmaid, whom yee had set at liberty at their pleasure, to returne and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Yee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, sayth the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before mee, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, & into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which [i] are gone vp from you.

22 Behold, I will command, sayth the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

17 For thus sayeth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer n burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

o Read Chap. 31.35.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayeth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the o day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day and night in their season, 21 Then may my couenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.

p Meaning the Caldeans and other infidels, which thought God had vtterly cast off Iudah and Israel, or Beniamin, because he did correct them for a time for their amendement.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot bee numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that ministe vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what p this people hath spoken, saying, The two families, lies, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off for euer: haue they despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Hee threateneth that the citie and the King Zedekiah shall bee giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 Hee rebuketh their cruelty toward their seruants.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of others Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, b I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire, b 2. Chro. 36. 19. chap. 29. 16, 17. and 32. 3.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely bee taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shal behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: Thus sayth the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt die in c peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh lord: for I haue pronounced the word, sayth the Lord.

d Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes shall lament for thee their Lord and King.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Jerusalem, d to proclaime libertie vnto them, d When the enemie was at hand, and they sawe themselues in danger, they would seem holy & so began some kind of reformation: but soone after they vttered their hypocrisie.

e According to the Law, Exo. 21. 2. Deut. 15. 12.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they ‡ repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmaids.

‡ Ebr. returned.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖ seruants, saying,

‖ Or, bondage. Deut. 15. 1, 12.

14 f At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and strait couenant made in the Name of the Lord.

15 And yee were now turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming liberte, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in g the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But yee repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, & euery man his handmaid, whom yee had set at liberty at their pleasure, to returne and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Yee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you sayth the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword liberty to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before mee, when they h cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe,

20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant which the ancient vsed by passing between the two parts of a beast, to signifie that the transgressor of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, read Gen. 15. 10.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, & into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which i are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37. 11.

22 Behold, I will command, sayeth the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes a of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade chap. 27. 1.

2 Go vnto the house of the b Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man c of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and d I said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: For e Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, f Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sowe seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voice of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue wee vineyard, nor field, nor seede, 10 But wee haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to g all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, wee said, Come, and let vs goe vp to Ierusalem, from the host of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we h dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, 13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Go, and tel the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will i ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, k rising early, & speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, & sending them, saying, * Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely, the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue l spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah said vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall m not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah endicteth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth a yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roll of booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen b from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie, and their sinne.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote c at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commaunded Baruch, saying, I am d shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore go thou, and reade the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the e fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may bee that they will f pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger, and the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke, the wordes of the Lord in the Lords b They came of Hobab Moses father in lawe, who was no Israelite, but after ioined with them in the seruice of God.

c That is, a Prophet.

d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

e Whom Iehu the king of Israel fauoured his zeale, 2.k 10. 15.

f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

g Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vowe, that it could not bee broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father. k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets. Chap. 18.11. and 25.5.

Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fift yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the House of the Lorde, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemia, the sonne of Cushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they sayde vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were [i] afrayde, both one and other, and sayd vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tel vs now, how diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then said the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tolde the king all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Now the King sate in the winterhouse, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the pen-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afrayde, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that hee would not burne the roule: but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord [n] hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt, 29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayeth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certeinely come [q] destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue [r] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeeded Iechoniah. 3 Hee sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 Hee is beaten, and put in prison.

AND * King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for [a] Koniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, [b] made King in the lande of Iudah.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which hee spake by the ‡ ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King [c] sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah [d] went in and out among the people: for they had not put him [e] into the prison.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel and his companions were led away captiues.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

i The godly were afraid, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horrour of the punishment.

k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to bee such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

l Which conteined part of November and part of December.

m Shewing that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow into further malice against him and his word.

n Thus we see the continuall care that God hath euer ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not only raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 32.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they ‡ departed from Ierusalem)

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

‖ Or, lift not vp your mindes.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord, ‖ Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, f As some thinke to goe to Anathoth his owne towne.

12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the f lande of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

13 And when hee was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou ‡ fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then sayd Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 ¶ Wherefore the princes were angrie with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Ionathan the scribe: for they had made that the h prison.

h Because it was a vile and streit prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, & tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and sayd, Is there any word from the Lorde? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, sayd he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, ¶ What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the city: thus God prouideth for his, that he wil cause their enemies to preserue them to that ende, whereunto he hath appointed them.

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer ‡ be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Ionathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the Bakers streete vntill all the i bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the king commanded Ieremiah to bee brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the king how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, a For Zedekiah had sent these to Ieremiah to inquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now when Nebuchadnezzar came, as Chap. 21.1.

2 Thus sayeth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a b pray, and shall liue.

b Reade Chap. 21.9. and 45.5.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely bee giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayde vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus we see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the trueth of Gods word, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your handes, for the king can denie d you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that that not onely hee would not heare the trueth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lusts of the wicked, to be cruelly intreated.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the mire.

‡ Ebr. Cushite, or Ethiopian.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‡ blacke Moze, one of the Eunuchs, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the king sate in the e gate of Beniamin)

e To heare matters, and giue sentence.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, f these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared, that the Prophet found more fauour at this strangers hands, then he did by all them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Take from hence thirtie men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the king vnder the treasurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by cordes into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze sayde vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine armeholes, betweene the cordes. And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with cordes, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and and Jeremiah remained in a the court of the prison.

g Where the king had set him before to be at more libertie, as Chap. 37.21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the house of the Lorde, and the king said vnto Jeremiah, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay mee? and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels b princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this city shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeelde thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Jeremiah saide, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lorde, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lorde hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the king of Judahs house, shal bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee, thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, saith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the mire.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to bee burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstande that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee, l Herein appeareth the infirmity of the prophet, who did dissemble, to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly l besought the king that hee would not cause mee to returne to Jehonathans house to die there.

27 Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And hee told them according to all these wordes that the king had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and hee was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchadnezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing, is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it. 2. King. 25.1. chap. 52.4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sat in the middle gate, euen Nergal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal, Sharezer, Rabmag, with al the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah sawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate between the two walles, and he went toward the wilderneſſe.

b Which was a posterne doore, ieade 2. Kings 25.4.

5 But the Caldeans host pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel vnto c Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eies, and bound him in chaines, to carry him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing, in the lande of Judah, and gaue them vineyardes and fields at the same ‡ time.

d For the rich and the mighty which put their trust in their shifts & meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah ‡ vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, ‡ Ebr. set thine eyes vpon him.

12 Take him, and ‡ looke well to him and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whom he made the scourge to punish the king, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nabuzar adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rab-saris, and Nergal, Sharezer, Rabmag, and all the king of Babels princes:

14 Euen they ſent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him vnto f Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, that hee ſhould carry him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

f Whom the king of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the reſt of the Iewes that he left behind.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Goe and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they ſhalbe accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, ſaith the Lord, & thou ſhalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

g Thus God recompenſed his zeale and fauour, which he ſhewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

18 For I will ſurely deliuer thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhall bee for a praye vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither hee will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Jeremiah from the Lorde after that Nabuzar-adan the chiefe ſtewarde had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 a And the chiefe ſtewarde tooke Jeremiah, and ſayde vnto him, The Lorde thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

a From this ſecond verſe, vnto chap. 42. 7. it ſeemeth to be as a parentheſis, and ſeparated matter: and there this ſtorie beginneth againe, and this viſion is declared what it was.

3 Nowe the Lorde hath brought it, and done according as hee hath ſaid: becauſe yee haue b ſinned againſt the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therfore this thing is come vpon you.

b God mooued this infidel to ſpeake this, to declare the great blindneſſe and obſtinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confeſſed.

4 And nowe beholde, I looſe thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it pleaſe thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it pleaſe thee not to come with mee into Babel, ‡tary ſtill: beholde, all the lande is ‖ before thee: whither it ſeemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

‡ Ebr. ceaſe. ‖ Or, at thy commandement.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore he ſaid, Returne to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, whome the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereſoeuer it pleaſeth thee to goe. So the chiefe Stewarde gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

c Which was a citie of Iudah.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, to c Mizpah, & dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

d Which were ſcattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

7 Nowe when all the Captaines of the hoſte, d which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and Johanan, and Jonathan the ſonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſonne of Tanehumeth, and the ſonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the ſonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

e Who was of the kings blood, and after ſlew him, Chap. 41. 2.

9 And Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan * ſware vnto them, and to their men, ſaying, Feare not to ſerue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and ſerue the king of Babel, and it ſhall bee well with you.

* 2. King. 25. 24.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwel at Mizpah to ‖ ſerue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and ſummer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

‖ Or, to receiue them, or to entreat them for you. ‖ Or, choſen to dwell in.

11 Likewiſe when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant in Judah, and that hee had ſet ouer them Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, f Which were fled alſo for feare of the Caldeans.

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Judah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and ſummer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer Johanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And ſaid vnto him, Knoweſt thou not that g Baalis the king of the Ammonites, hath ſent Iſhmael the ſonne of Nathaniah to ſlay thee? but Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

g For vnder the colour of entertaining of Iſhmael, he ſought onely to make them to deſtroy one another.

15 Then Jehonan the ſonne of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it. Wherefore ſhould he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee, ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant in Judah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam ſaide vnto Johanan the ſonne of Kareah, Thou ſhalt h not doe this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſly of Iſhmael.

h Thus the godly which thinke no harme to others, are ſooneſt deceiued, and neuer lacke ſuch as conſpire their deſtruction.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Iſhmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Iſhmael.

BVt in the a ſeuenth moneth came Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Elithama of the ſeed royall, and the princes of the b king, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did c eate breade together in Mizpah.

a The citie was deſtroied in the fourth moneth: and in the ſeuenth moneth which conteined part of September and part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliah ſlaine. b Meaning, Zedekiah. c They did eate together as familiar friends.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah with theſe tenne men that were

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offrings and incense in their handes to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as hee went: & when he met them, he saide vnto them, Come to [e] Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middest of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for wee haue treasures in the fielde, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so hee stayed, and slewe them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had [f] made because of Baasha king of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euil that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorow.

e For his death was kept secret, and hee fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem, and the Temple: but after slew them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

f Asa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and cast ditches and trenches, 1. King. 15, 22.

g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

h For Baalis the king of the Ammonites was the cause of this murther.

i Which place Dauid of old had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2. Sam. 19. 38.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 Hee admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, [a] Heare our prayer, wee beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may [b] doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lorde your God, according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I wil declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they saide to Ieremiah, [b] The Lorde be a witnesse of trueth, and faithfull betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things, for the which the Lorde thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether [c] it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom we send thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ [c] And so after tenne dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And said vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent mee to present your prayers before him,

10 If yee will dwell in this land, then I will builde you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I [d] repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom yee are afraide: bee not afrayd of him, sayeth the Lorde: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hand, 12 And I will graunt you mercy, that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to [f] dwell in your own land.

13 But if yee say, Wee will not dwell in this lande, neither heare the voyce of the Lord a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would know of Gods word what they should doe, but will not follow it, but in as much as it agreeeth with that thing which they haue purposed to doe.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falshood vse it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the simple and the godly.

c Here is declared the vision and the occasion thereof, whereof mention was made, cha. 40. 1.

d Reade Chap. 18. 8.

e Because all kings hearts and wayes are in his hands, he can turne them and dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they need not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prouerb. 21. 1.

f Or, returne.

Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but wee will goe into the land of Egypt, where wee shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will wee dwell,

15 And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, yee remnant of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there, f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

16 Then the sword that yee feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die, 17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath beene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a scorne, and a reproch, and yee shall see this place no more.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. & 44.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelitie and stubburnenesse.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath saide concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainely that I haue admonished you this day.

h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

20 Surely ye [h] dissembled in your hearts when yee sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainely that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, [i] in the place whither yee desire to goe and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lorde their God had sent him to them, euen all these words, a Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

2 Then spake [a] Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [b] proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath [d] not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there, b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they burst foorth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isa. 30.10.

d He sheweth what is the nature of hypocrites: to wit, to feigne that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though indeed they be most far from all obedience, 3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah [e] prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander and speak wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40.11.

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah [g] the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

g Whom these wicked led away by force.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

h A citie in Egypt neere to Nilus.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah, i Which signified that Nebuchad-nezzar should come euen to the gates of Pharaoh, where were his bricke killes for his buildings.

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-rezzar the king of Babel [k] my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and hee shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

k Reade Chap. 25.9.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: [l] such as are appointed for death to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

l Euery one shall be slaine by that meanes that God hath appointed, Chap. 15.2.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them, and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

m Meaning, most easily, and suddenly shall he cary the Egyptians away.

13 Hee shall breake also the images of [n] Beth-shemesh that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

n Or, the house of the sunne.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at [a] Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying, a These were all famous & strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no hold so strog, that can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because

7 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knewe not, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue yee forgotten the wickednesse of your Fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednes, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law nor in my Statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to euill, and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [f] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they ‡ haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [g] such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, ‡ all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, wee will [h] not heare it of thee.

17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our own mouth, as to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as wee haue done, both wee and our fathers, our Kings and our Princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then ‡ had we [k] plentie of victuales and were well and ‖felt none euill.

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had ‖scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to ‡ make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without [l] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lorde remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the lande, and ‡ hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because yee haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayde vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lorde, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and ‖fulfilled with your [m] hande, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sworde, • shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall knowe whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall bee a signe vnto you, sayeth the Lorde, when I visite you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

3 c Make ready buckler and shield, and go forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your helmets, furbish the speares, and put on the habergandines.

5 dWherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, & are fled away, & looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the e North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp as f a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and hee sayth, I will go vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, yee horses, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant man come forth, g the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall bee satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath h a sacrifice in the North countrey i by the riuer Perath.

11 Go vp vnto Gilead, kand take balme, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many mmedicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lorde did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, & one fell vpon another: and they sayd, Arise, let vs goe againe to our n own people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sword of the violent.

17 They did crie there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude o hath passed the time appointed.

COnceerning Moab, thus sayth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe vnto a Nebo, for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Migab is confounded and afrayd.
2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euil against it. b Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, c O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.
3 A voyce of crying shalbe from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.
4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their cry to be heard.
5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction,
6 Flee and saue your liues, and bee like vnto the e heath in the wildernesse.
7 For because thou hast trusted in thy f workes, and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and g Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his priests and his princes together.
8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.
9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee & get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein.
10 h Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath hee gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.
12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carry him away, and shall empte his vessels, and breake their bottels.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed, ‡ his cities ‡ burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone down to slaughter, sayth the King, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, 26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall swallow in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art p moued.

28 O yee that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwel in the rocks, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 q Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plantes are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruites, and vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field ‡ from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shalbe no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the t heifer of three yeere olde shall goe lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offreth in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a u shawme, and mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

37 *For euery head shall bee ‖ balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall bee cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall be vpon all the house tops of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, sayth the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? Howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, x he shall flee as an eagle, ‡ shal spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holes are wonne, ‡ the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, sayth the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stoode vnder the shadow z of Heshbon, because of the force: for a fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

11 Leaue thy m fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lorde, n Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, saieth the Lord, that o Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against p her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy q feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the Eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodome, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, r hee shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Jorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make s him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the t shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke shall draw them out: surely hee u shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the eagle, x and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 ¶ Vnto y Damascus he sayth, Hameth is confounded, and Arpad, for they haue heard euil tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth herselfe to flight, z and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious a citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe cut off in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Vnto c Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shall smite, thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their d curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, sayth the Lorde: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 f Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthie nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which hath neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shalbe a booty, & the multitude of their cattell a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, g to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

q To wit, Nebuchad nezzar, after hee hath ouercome Iudah which is meant by the swelling of Iorden, shall come against mount Seir and Edom.

r That is, the Israelites, whom the Edomites kept as prisoners to haste away from thence.

s The captaine and gouernour of the armie, meaning, Nebuchad-nezzar.

t They shall not be able to resist his petie captaines.

u To wit, the enemie.

x As Chap 48. 40. was sayd of Moab.

y Which was the chiefe citie of Syria, whereby he meaneth the whole countrey.

z When shee heard the sudden comming of the enemie.

a He speaketh this in the person of the King and of them of the countrey, who shall wonder to see Damascus the chiefe citie destroyed.

b Who was king of Syria, 1. King. 20. 26. and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Benhadad.

c Meaning, the Arabians, and their borderers.

d Because they vsed to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that perteine thereunto.

e The enemies will dwell in your places.

f He sheweth that they of Hazor will flee to the Arabians for succour, but that shall not auaile them.

g That is, Persia, so called of Elam the sonne of Shem.

h Because the Persians were good archers, he sheweth that the thing wherein they put their trust, should not profit them.

i I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there. And in these prophesies Ieremiah speaketh of those countreys, which should be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning g Elam in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will breake the h bow of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, & will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraide before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my i throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but k in the latter dayes I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He propheseth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ‡ ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man & beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shal d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people haue bene as lost sheepe: their f shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from g mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies sayd, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 i Flee from the middest of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.

9 For lo, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North countrey, and they shal set themselues in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoile her, l shall bee satisfied, sayth the Lord.

11 Because yee were glad and reioiced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, m and neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall bee ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a drie land and a wilderneese.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholy desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and n hisse at all her plagues.

14 • Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all yee that bend the bow, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath p sinned against the Lord.

15 Cry against her round about: shee hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the q sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of haruest: because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the King r of Assur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken s his bones.

18 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Assur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: her shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall bee sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whom I reserue.

21 Goe vp against the lande of the t rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayeth the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commaunded thee.

22 A crie of battell is in the lande, and of great destrucion.

23 Howe is the u hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations!

l Shall be made rich thereby.

m For ioy of the victorie, that ye had against my people.

n In signe of contempt and disdaine.

o He speaketh to the enemies the Medes and Persians.

p Though the Lord called the Babylonians his seruants, & their worke, his worke, in punishing his people, yet because they did it not to glorifie God, but for their owne malice, and to profite themselues, it is here called sinne.

‖ Or, yeelded, or, made peace.

q Destroy her so that none be left to labour the ground or to take the fruite thereof.

r Meaning, Tiglath-Pelezar, who caried away the ten tribes.

s He caried away the rest, to wit, Iudah, and Beniamin.

t That is, Babylon: thus the Lord raiseth vp Cyrus. Ezek. 23. 23.

‖ Or, of them that should be visited.

u Nebuchad-nezzar, who had smitten downe all the princes, and people of the world.

i When God shall deliuer you by Cyrus.

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the LORD.

25 The LORD hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord GOD of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her ‡ from the vtmost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her x bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

x Her princes and mightie men.

28 The voyce of them that y flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our GOD, and the vengeance of his Temple.

y Of the Iewes which should be deliuered by Cyrus.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all yee that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the LORD, euen against the holy one of Israel.

Reue. 18.6.

30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the LORD.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, sayeth the Lord GOD of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee.

z He sheweth that when God executeth his iudgements against his enemies, that his Church shal then haue rest.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus sayth the LORD of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, helde them, and would not let them goe.

‡ Ebr. lyars.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the LORD of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that hee may giue rest to the land, a and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

a For Cyrus did cut the riuer Euphrates, and diuided the course thereof into many streames, so that it might be passed ouer as though there had bene no water: which thing he did by the counsel of two of Belshazzars captaines, who conspired against their king, because he had gelded the one of them in despite, and slaine the sonne of the other.

35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the LORD, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

37 A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall bee like women: a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shalbe spoyled.

38 A * drought is vpon her waters, and they shall bee dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore the b Iims with the Iims shall dwell there, and the ‡ ostriches shall dwel therein: for it shall bee no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As GOD destroyed * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayth the LORD: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and bee put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his handes d waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorow as of a woman in trauaile.

c Meaning, that the Persians should gather their armie of many nations.

44 Behold, he * shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee, and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the e shepheard that will stand before me?

d Which is meant of Belshazzar, Dan. 5.6. Chap. 49.19.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed, 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus sayth the LORD, Beholde, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against mee, a destroying a wind, ‖ Or, of the land that riseth vp.

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall empte her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

a The Medes & Persians that shal destroy them as the winde doeth the chaffe.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off as though their husband were dead.

5 For Israel hath bene no b widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the LORD of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

c He sheweth ỹ there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17.6. and 48.6.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the midst of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: bee not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the LORDS vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompense.

d By whom the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance to whom it pleased him.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the d LORDS hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations * rage.

e For the great afflictions ỹ they haue felt by the Babylonians. Isa. 21.9. Reue. 14.8.

could not be healed: forſake her, and let e vs goe euery one vnto his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lorde hath brought foorth our f righteouſneſſe: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖gather the ſhields: the Lord hath raiſed vp the ſpirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpoſe is againſt Babel to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the g vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the ſtandard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet vp the watchmen: prepare the ſhooters: for the Lorde hath both deuiſed, and done that which hee ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

i For the land of Caldea was full of riuers which ranne into Euphrates.

13 O thou that dwelleſt vpon many i waters, abundant in treaſures, thine ende is come, euen the ende of thy couetouſneſſe.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their l viſitation they ſhall periſh.

m That is, the true God of Iſrael is not like to theſe idoles: for he can helpe when all things are deſperate.

19 The m portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lorde of hoſts is his Name.

n He meaneth the Medes and Perſians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chap. 50.23.

20 Thou art mine n hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will alſo breake by thee the ſhepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your ſight, ſaith the Lord.

o Not that Babylon ſtood on a mountaine, but becauſe it was ſtrong, and fenced inuincible.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O deſtroying o mountaine, ſayth the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe p from the rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt bee deſtroyed for euer, ſayth the Lord.

27 Set vp a ſtandard in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Aſchchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorow: for the deuice of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their ſtrength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall runne to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhewe the king of Babel, that his citie is taken on a r ſide thereof, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harueſt ſ ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath t deuoured me, and deſtroyed mee: hee hath made me an emptie veſſell: he ſwallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath caſt u me out.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſayeth the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy u cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dry vp the ſea, and dry vp her ſpringes.

37 And Babel ſhalbe as heapes, a dwelling place for Dragons, an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their x heate I will make them feaſtes, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is y Sheſhach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The z ſea is come vp vpon Babel: ſhee is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

p From thy ſtrong holds and fortreſſes.

q By theſe three nations he meaneth Armenia the hier, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

r By turning the courſe of the riuer, one ſide was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were deſtroyed, which Cyrus did by the counſell of Gobria & Gabbatha Belſhazzars captaines.

ſ When ſhe ſhall be cut vp and threſhed.

u Thus the Lord eſteemeth the iniurie done to his Church as done to himſelfe, becauſe their cauſe is his.

z The great armie of the Medes and Perſians.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernesse, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Belin Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which a he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shal run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer yee euery men his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart faint, & ye feare the rumor, that shall be heard in the land: the rumor shall come this yeere, and after that in the other b yeere shall come a rumor, and cruelte in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visit the images of Babel, and the whole land shall bee confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the c earth, and all that is therein, shall reioice for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, sayeth the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the d slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that e haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off, and let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 We are f confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visit her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on high, yet from me shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lord.

54 A sound of a crie commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the lande of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lorde hath layed Babel waste, & destroyed from her the great voice, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will b make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayeth the king, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The i thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be wearie.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Seraiah the son of Nerriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the k fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Seraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke al the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah sayde to Seraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading of this booke, thou shalt bind a l stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned, and shal not rise from the euil, that I wil bring vpon her: and they shal m be wearie. Thus farre are the words of Ieremiah.

a That is, his gifts & presents which he had receiued as part of the spoile of other nations, & which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little should be brought to nothing: for ỹ first yeere came the tidings, the next yeere the siege, and in the third yeere it was taken: yet this is not that horrible destruction which the Prophets threatned in many places: for that was after this, when they rebelled, and Darius ouercame them by the policie of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioice and praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

ZEdekiah * was one and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2. King. 24. 18. 2. Chron. 36. 11.

2 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 a Doubtlesse because that the wrath of the Lorde was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

a So the Lord punished sinne by sinne, & gaue him vp to his rebellious heart, till he had brought the enemie vpon him to leade him away and his people.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.

2. King. 25. 1. & chap. 39. 1.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, & went out of the citie by night, by the b way of the gate betweene the two wals, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

b Read Chap. 39. 4.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and carried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, c where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Reade 2. King. 25. 6. and Chap. 39. 5.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and carted him to Babel, and put him in prison, till the day of his death.

d In the 2. king. 25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

12 Now in the fift moneth in the d tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which e stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem, e That is, which was his seruant, as 2. King. 25.8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward carted away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, & the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

f Of these pillars, read 1. king. 7.15

17 Also the f pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, & the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and carted all the brasse of them to Babel.

g Which were also made of brasse, as 1. King. 7.45.

18 The pots also and the beloms, and the instruments of musicke, & the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the aspyans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away, 20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without h weight.

h It was so much in quantitie,

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknes thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with net worke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie & fiue pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an i hundreth round about.

i But because of the roundnesse no more could be seen but ninetie and fiue.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

k Which serued in the hie Priests stead, if he had any necessary impediment.

25 He tooke also out of the citie an eunuch which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and l seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustered the people of the land, and three score men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

l In the 2. king. 25.19 is read but of fiue: those were the most excellent, and the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was carted away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar carted away captiue, in the m seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes and three and twentie.

m Which was the latter end of the seuenth yere of his reigne, and the beginning of the eight.

29 In the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar he carted away captiue from Jerusalem eight hundreth thirtie & two ‡ persons.

n In the latter end also of that yeere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

‡ Ebr. Soules.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward carted away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fortie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and six hundreth.

o That is, restored him to libertie and honour.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuity of Iehoiakin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yere of his reigne, o lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison, p And gaue him princely apparel,

32 And spake kindely vnto him, & set his throne aboue the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel, q That is, he had allowance in the Court, and thus at length he had rest and quietnesse, because he obeyed Ieremiah the Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

33 And changed his prison p garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life, vntill he died.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Ierusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed & desolate.

HOw doth a the citie remaine solitary that was full of people? she is as a widow: shee that was great among the nations, and b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributary.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countreys.

2 She weepeth continually in the c night, and her teares run downe by her cheekes: among all her d louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

c So that she taketh no rest.

d Meaning, the Egyptians and Assyrians which promised helpe.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue, because e of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.

no man commeth f to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priestes sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in ‡ heauinesse.

5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like Harts that find no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backe ward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie ‡ is proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for she hath seene the Heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whome m thou diddest commaund, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh & seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? beholde, and see, if there bee any n sorow like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daily in heauinesse.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their handes, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the midst of mee: he hath called an assemblie against me to destroy my young men: the Lorde hath troden q the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretched out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lorde hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the midst of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his ‡ commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and beholde my sorowe: my virgins and my young men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the city while they s sought their meat to refresh their soules.

20 Beholde, O Lorde, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within mee, for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkned the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: hee hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: hee hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes therof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee f hath bent his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath dispersed in the indignatiō of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made 14 The prophets haue [k] looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophesies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

19 Arise, crie in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lorde: lift vp thine handes toward him for the life of the young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

I Am the man that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely hee is turned against me: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

5 He hath [b] builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: hee hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, hee shutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 He hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 * He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

12 He hath bent his bowe, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused ‡ the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with [e] wormewood.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I sayd, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier. 20. 2.

b Hee speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore seeketh them out with this diuersitie of words.

c This is a great temptation to the godly, when they see not the fruit of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the ofner.

in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust and to waite for the salvation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He sitteth alone, [n] and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 Hee giveth the cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for ever.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will hee have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not [p] punish [‡] willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 35 To overthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not [s] evill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the living man sorowfull? a man suffereth for his sinne.

52 Mine enemies chased mee sore like a bird without cause.

53 They have shut vp my life [y] in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed over mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voice: stop not thine eare from my sigh, and from my crie.

57 Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my [z] soule, & hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, judge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their devises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me:

62 The lips also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against mee continually.

63 Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their song.

CHAP. IIII.

HOwe is the [a] golde become so ‖ dimme? the most fine golde is changed, and the stones of the Sanctuary are scattered in the corner of every streete.

2 The noble ‖ men of Sion comparable to fine golde, howe are they esteemed as earthen [b] pitchers, euen the worke of the hands of the potter!

3 Euen the dragons [c] drawe out the brests, and give sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the [d] ostriches in the wildernesse.

4 The tongue of the sucking childe cleaveth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dung.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodome, that was [e] destroyed as in a moment, and ‖ none pitched campes against her.

7 Her [f] Nazarites were purer then the snowe, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in body, then the red precious stones: they were like polished saphir.

8 Nowe their [g] visage is blacker then a cole: they cannot know them in the streets: their skinne cleaveth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword, are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they pine away as they were striken through for the [f] fruits of the field.

10 The hands of the pitifull women have sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Sion, which hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have beleeved that the aduersary & the enemy should have entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that have shed the blood of the iust in the midst of her.

a By the golde he meaneth the Princes, as by the stones hee vnderstandeth the Priests. ‖ Or, ibid. ‖ Or, sonnes.

b Which are of small estimation, and haue none honour.

c Though the dragons be cruel, yet they pitie their yong and nourish them, which thing Ierusalem doeth not.

d The women forsake their children as the Ostrich doth her egs, Iob 39.17. Gen. 19.25. ‖ Or, no strength was against her. Nauh. 6.2.

e They that were before most in Gods favour, are now in greatest abomination vnto him.

f For lacke of foode they pine away and consume.

g He meaneth that these things are come to passe therefore, contrary to all mens expectation.

14 They haue wandred as blind men [h] in the ſtreetes, and they were polluted with blood, ſo that [i] they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried vnto them, Depart yee polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandred: they haue ſayd among the heathen, They ſhall no more dwell there.

16 The ‖anger of the Lord hath ſcattered them, hee will no more regard them: [k] they reuerenced not the face of the Prieſts, nor had compaſſion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine help, our eyes failed: for in our waiting wee looked for [l] a nation that could not ſaue vs.

18 They hunt our ſteps that wee cannot goe in our ſtreetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come.

19 Our perſecuters are ſwifter then the eagles of the heauen: they purſued vs vpon the mountaines, and layd waite for vs in the wilderneſſe.

20 The [m] breath of our noſtrels, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom wee ſayde, Vnder his ſhadowe wee ſhall be preſerued aliue among the heathen.

21 Reioice and be glad, [n] O daughter Edom, that dwelleſt in the land of Uz, the cup alſo ſhall paſſe through vnto thee: thou ſhalt be drunken ‖ and vomit.

22 Thy puniſhment is accompliſhed, O daughter Zion: hee [o] will no more carry thee away into captiuitie, but hee will viſit thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, hee will diſcouer thy ſinnes.

h Some referre this to the blind men, which as they went, ſtumbled on ‖ blood, whereof the citie was full.

i Meaning, the heathen which came to deſtroy them, could not abide them.

‖ Or, face.

k That is, the enemies.

l He ſheweth two principall cauſes of their deſtruction: their cruelty and their vaine confidence in man: for they truſted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

m Our king Ioſiah, in whom ſtood our hope of Gods fauour, and on whom depended our ſtate and life, was ſlaine, whom hee called anointed, becauſe he was a figure of Chriſt.

n This is ſpoken by deriſion.

‖ Or, ſhew thy nakednesſe.

o He comforteth the Church by that after ſeuentie yeeres their ſorowes ſhall haue an ende, whereas the wicked ſhould be tormented for euer.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Jeremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] conſider, and beholde our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the ſtrangers, our houſes to the aliants.

3 Wee are fatherleſſe, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 Wee haue dronke our [b] water for money, and our wood is ſold vnto vs.

5 Our necks are vnder perſecution: we are weary, and haue no reſt.

6 We haue giuen our [c] hands to the Egyptians, and to Aſſhur, to bee ſatiſfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue ſinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, becauſe of the ſword [e] of the wilderneſſe.

10 Our ſkin was blacke like an ouen, becauſe of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceaſed from the [h] gate, and the yong men from their ſongs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now vnto vs that we haue ſinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for theſe things, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Becauſe of the mountaine of Zion which is deſolate: the foxes run vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remaineſt for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doeſt thou forget vs for euer, and forſake vs ſo long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lorde, and we ſhall be turned: renew our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou haſt vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry with vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when ſome of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the pooreſt, remained, and ſome went into Egypt and other places for ſuccour: albeit it ſeemeth that the Prophet foreſeeing their miſeries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme ſeruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue ſubmitted our ſelues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue beene puniſhed for their ſinnes, ſo we that are culpable of the ſame ſinnes, are puniſhed.

e Becauſe of the enemie that came from the wilderneſſe, and would not ſuffer vs to go and ſeeke our neceſſarie foode.

f That is, by the enemies hand.

g Their ſlauery was ſo great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.

i With weeping.

k And therefore thy couenant and mercies can neuer faile.

l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs, before wee can turne to him, Ierem. 31. 18.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that Iehoiachin by the counſell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himſelfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and ſo went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counſell, as though the thing which they had propheſied ſhould not come to paſſe: and therefore their eſtate ſhould bee ſtill miſerable vnder the Caldeans. By reaſon whereof he confirmeth his former propheſies, declaring by newe viſions and reuelations ſhewed vnto him, that the citie ſhould moſt certainely be deſtroyed, and the people grieuouſly tormented by Gods plagues, in ſo much that they that remained, ſhould bee brought into cruell bondage. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire in theſe great troubles, hee aſſureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and alſo deſtroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miſeries. The effect of the one and the other ſhould chiefly bee performed vnder Chriſt, of whom in this Booke are many notable promiſes, and in whom the glory of the new Temple ſhould perfectly be reſtored. Hee propheſied theſe things in Caldea, at the ſame time that Ieremiah propheſied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, and in what place. 3 He is inspired. 5 The vision of the foure beasts. 26 The vision of the throne.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of c God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of King Ioiachins captiuitie)

3 The word of the Lorde came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hand of the Lorde was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a e whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the midst thereof, to wit, in the midst of the fire came out as the likenesse of ‖amber.

5 Also out of the midst thereof came the likenesse of foure f beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure partes of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their i spirite led them, and they returned not when they went foorth.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and i returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a k chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: & when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirite led them, they went, & thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noyse of their l wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, euen the voyce of speach, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stoode, they m let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a sapphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire n round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downewarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lorde: and when I sawe it, I fell o vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

AND a he sayd vnto me, b Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feete, & I will speake vnto thee.

a After that the booke of the law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.

b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.

c That is, notable and excellent visions, so that it might be known, it was no naturall dreame, but came of God.

d That is, the Spirit of prophesie, as Chap. 3 22 and 37. 1.

e By this diuersitie of words he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions that should come vpon Ierusalem.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3. 23.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an eagle on the left side.

i Ebr. whither their spirit, or will was to goe, afore they returned not, till God had changed the state of things.

k The Ebrew word is Tarshish: meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone so called.

‖ Or, the trone.

l Which declared the swiftnes, and the fearefulnesse of Gods iudgements.

m Which signified that they had no power of themselues, but only waited to execute Gods commandement.

n Whereby was signified a terrible iudgement toward the earth, o Considering the Maiestie of God, and the weakenesse of flesh.

a That is, the Lord.

b Meaning man, which is but earth and ashes, which was to humble him, and cause him to consider his owne state and Gods grace.

2 And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are ‡impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that [d]there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, [e]feare them not, neither be afraid of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes bee with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor bee afraide at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f]eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was sent vnto me, and lo, a rowle of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g]Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

‡Ebr. hard of face.

[d] This declareth on the one part Gods great affect on toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duetie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shall be either to their saluation or greater condemnation.

[e] Reade Iere. 1. 17: he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their duetie.

[f] He doeth not onely exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith hee may be able to execute it.

[g] Hee sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer hee sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: [a]eate this rowle, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this rowle to eate.

3 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this rowle that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not vnderstande: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face [b]strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither bee afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, [c]receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, & tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease.

12 Then the Spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behind mee a noise of a great rushing, saying, [d]Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I [e]went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [f]watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [g]righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [h]stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which hee hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheles, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, hee shall liue because hee is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m]hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and hee sayd vnto mee, Arise, and [c] He sheweth what is meant by the eating of the booke, which is, that the ministers of God may speake nothing as of themselues, but that onely which they haue receiued of the Lord.

[d] Whereby he signifieth, that Gods glorie should not be diminished, although he departed out of his Temple: for this declared, that the citie and Temple should be destroyed.

[e] This sheweth that there is euer an infirmitie of the flesh which can neuer be readie to render full obedience to God, and also Gods grace, who euer assisteth him, and ouercommeth their rebellious affections.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, beholde, they shall put bandes vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue [q] cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumbe, and thou shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and hee that leaueth off, [r] let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuity of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and purtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an [a] yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie: and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shalbe a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue layd vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy [c] right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine [d] arme shal be vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay [e] bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentils, and millet, and [f] fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen [g] three hundreth & ninety dayes shalt thou eate therof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shall be by weight, euen [h] twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the [i] sixt part of an Hin from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it [k] in the dung that commeth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord layd, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then layd I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then hee layd vnto mee, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks [m] dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer, hee layd vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake [n] the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment:

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

a Which signified the stubbornnesse and hardnesse of their heart.

b Hereby he representeth the idolatry and sinne of the ten tribes (for Samaria was on his left hand from Babylon) and how they had remained therein three hundred & ninetie yeeres.

ANd thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor, and cause it [a] to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of [b] the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and binde them vp in thy [c] lap.

4 Then take of them againe, and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof shall a fire come foorth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus sayeth the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my [e] iudgements a To shaue thine head and thy beard.

b To wit, of the citie which hee had purtrayed vpon the bricke, Chap.4.1. By the fire and pestilence he meaneth the famine, wherewith one part perished, during the siege of Nebuchad-nezzar. By the sword those that were slaine when Zedekiah fled, and those that were caried away captiue. And by the scattering into the winde, those that fled into Egypt and into other parts after the citie was taken.

c Meaning, that a very few should be left, which the Lord would preserue among all these stormes, but not without troubles, and triall.

d Out of that fire which thou kindlest, shall a fire come, which shall signifie the destruction of Israel.

into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreyes that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because your [f] multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the mids of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shal mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to reale in them, and I will be [s] comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproch and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the ‖euill [h] arrowes of famine, which shall bee for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 *So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, and they shall spoile thee, and pestilence, and blood shall passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

3 And say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus sayth the Lord God to the [a] mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleys, Behold, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your [b] images of the sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their [c] idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be layd waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the slaine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, [d] that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember him among the nations, where they shall bee in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they * shalbe displeased in themselues for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not layd in vaine, that I would do this euill vnto them.

11 Thus sayth the Lorde God, [e] Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foot, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then [g] yee shall know, that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery grene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweet sauour to all their idoles.

14 So will I [h] stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the lande waste, and desolate [i] from the wildernesse vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

The ende of all the lands of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shalbe in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus sayth the Lord God, ‖ Beholde, one euill, euen one euill is come.

6 An ende is come, the end is come, it [b] watched for thee: beholde, it is come.

7 The [c] morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, & not the [d] sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall bee in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Beholde, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rod flourisheth: [f] pride hath budded:

11 [g] Cruelty is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shal there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buyer [i] reioyce, nor let him that selleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not [l] returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue: for the [m] vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, & they returned not, [n] neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 [o] They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: hee that is in the field, shal die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the vallets: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 * All hands shall bee weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 * They shall also gird themselues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shal cast their siluer in ỹ streets, and their gold shall bee cast farre off: their * siluer and their golde cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shal not satisfie their soules, neither fil their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 Hee had also set the beauty of his [p] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the [q] strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my [r] secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, & defile it.

23 ¶ Make a [s] chaine: for the land is full of the [t] iudgement of blood, and the city is full of crueltie.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, & they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mighty to cease, and their [u] holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shal seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shalbe vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shal perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

27 The king shal mourne, and the prince shalbe clothed with desolation, & the handes of the people in the land shalbe troubled: I will do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of [c] fire to looke to, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likenesse of an hand, & tooke me by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee [‡] by a Diuine [d] vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner [e] gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which prouoked indignation.

Chap. 1. 22.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament that was aboue the head of the a Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a Saphir stone.

a Which in the first chap. vers 5. he called the foure beasts.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and sayd, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer b the citie. And he went in in my sight.

b This signified that the citie should be burnt.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner Court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord c went vp from the Cherub, and stoode ouer the dooze of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

c Meaning, that the glory of God should depart from the Temple.

5 And the d sound of ỹ Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter Court, as the voice of the Almightie God, when he speaketh.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the h spirit of the beast was in them.

h There was one consent between the Cherubims and the wheeles.

MOreouer, the Spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lyeth Eastward, and beholde, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twenty men: among whom I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, & therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, a It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the b caldron, and we be the flesh.

b Wee shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lorde fell vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue yee sayde, and I knowe that which riseth vp of your mindes.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

12 And

12 And ye shal know that I am the Lord: for yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of f Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loude voyce, and sayd, Ah Lorde God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy g brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayde, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little h Sanctuarie in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreyes where ye haue beene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the tooles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the i stonie heart out of their bodies, and I will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, & execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glory of the Lorde went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee vp, and brought mee in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of ỹ people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off, and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a litle church, shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whom he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted. Iere. 32. 39. ebap. 36. 26.

i Meaning, the heart, whereunto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anew, so that their heart may be soft, and ready to receiue my graces, k When Iecoiniah was led away captiue.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in ỹ mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, ‡ prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

‡ Ebr. make thee vessels to go into captiuitie.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a b signe vnto the house of Israel.

b That as thou doest, so shall they doe, and therefore in thee they shall see their owne plague and punishment.

7 And as I was cõmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayd vnto thee, What c doest thou?

c Doe not they deride thy doings?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel, that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall dig through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon d him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17, 20. and 32, 3.

14 And I will scatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garnisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a e little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

e Which should beare his name, and should be his Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the lande, Thus sayth the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carecarefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abonndance, because of the cruelte of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall bee desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes [f] are prolonged, and all visions ‖ fatle?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lorde: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my words shal no longer bee delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of [a] Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waste places.

5 [c] Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanity, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lorde hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? [d] yee say, The Lorde sayeth it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because yee haue spoken vanitie, and haue seene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, saith the Lord God, 9 And mine hand shall bee vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not bee in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a [g] wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayde vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that yee haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the middes thereof, & ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saieth the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the wome [i] that sow pillowes vnder al armeholes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will yee pollute mee among my people for handfuls of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules go, euen the soules, that yee hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your handes to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sad, whome I f Because they did not immediatly see the prophesies accomplished, they contemned them, as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

‖ Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

c He speaketh to the gouernors and true ministers, that should haue resisted them.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest that ye are false prophets.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written. ‖ Reade Ierem. 6. 14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayd, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, and kerchiefes to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied,

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lorde will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lorde will answere him ‖ for my selfe,

8 And I will set my face against that man, and wil make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shal beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may bee their God, sayth the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against mee by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] and wil breake the staffe of the bread therof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnesse, sayth the Lord God.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, 16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall bee deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall bee deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus sayeth the Lorde God, How much more when I send my [l] foure sore iudgments vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast, & pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left a [l] remnant of them that shall be carried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and yee shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall bee comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and yee shall knowe, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was meete a Hee sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who wil dissemble to heare the prophets of God, though in their heart they folow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthie idoles openly, which leade them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Ier. 10.15.

c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shalbe led with lies: according as he delighted therein, 2. Thess. 2.10.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

‖ Or, by my selfe.

f The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false prophets to seduce them that delight in lies rather then in the truth of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22. 20, 22. and destroyeth aswell those prophets as that people. g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

h Reade Chap. 4.16, and 5,17. Isa. 3.1.

i Though Noah and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men, (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, reade Iere. 15.1.

k Meaning, that a very few (which bee calleth the remnãt, ver. 22.) should escape these plagues whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, & that this righteousnesse is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his own sake. Chap. 5.17.

meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one b fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 He iustifieth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations, a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the maners of their father, Isa.1.4. and 57.3.

3 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

4 And in thy natiuitie when thou wast b borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

c Being thus in thy filthinesse and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee and gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthinesse and death.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, and filthines, are oftentimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued them to mercy, fauoured them, and couered their shame.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine c owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirtes ouer thee, and couered d thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with e thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with f water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I s anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

e That thou shouldest be a chast wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy spirit.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull h crowne vpon thine head.

h Hereby hee sheweth how he saued his church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

13 Thus wast thou decke with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke and broidered worke: thou diddest eate fine floure, and honie and oile, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

i He declareth wherein the dignitie of Ierusalem stood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beauty & excellency.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my i beauty which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

k In abusing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wisdome and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatry.

15 Now thou diddst k trust in thine owne beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast powred out l thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

l There was none idolatrie so vile, wherewith thou didst not pollute thy selfe.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, m and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in those things, which please the eyes and outward senses.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and n madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them, n Thou hast conuerted my vessels and instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oile and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oile and honie wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweet sauor: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

o Meaning, by fire, reade Leuit. 18.21.2.King. 23.10.

20 Moreouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to o bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe woe vnto thee, sayth the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖ corner of the way, & hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

‖ Or, head.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the p Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to prouoke me.

p He noteth the great impiety of this people, who first falling from God to seeke helpe at strange nations, did also at length imbrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amity more strong.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

‖ Or, cities.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the lande of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a ‖ presumptuous whorish woman?

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot q that despiseth a reward, q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying that the idolaters bestow all their substance, which they receiue of God for his glory, to serue their vile abominations.

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and take others for her husband:

33 They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all r thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

r Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23. 9.

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are [illegible], and of them that shed blood, and I giue thee the blood of wrath and iealousie.

s I will iudge thee to death, as the adulterers and murtherers, 39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they t shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: ¶ I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

2. King. 25. 9.

t I will vtterly destroy thee, and so my iealousie shall cease.

42 So will I make my wrath towarde thee to rest, and my u iealousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and bee no more angry.

u I haue punished thy faults, but thou wouldest not repent.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue x brought thy way vpon thine head, saieth the Lorde God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

x As were the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and others your predecessours, so are you their successours.

44 Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, y so is her daughter.

y That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy z sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

z That is, her cities.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her a daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy ‡ yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodome, & her daughters.

‡ Ebr. thy sister yonger then thou.

47 Yet hast thou b not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

a But done farre worse.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

b He alledgeth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenesse, and contempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gen. 19. 24.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, c Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenes was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

c Which worshipped the calues in Bethel and Dan.

50 But they were hauty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither d hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast e iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee, Sodom and Samaria were iust.

e This he speaketh in comparison, saying, that he would restore Ierusalem when Sodome should be restored, that is neuer: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Iewes.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

f In that thou hast shewed thy selfe worse then they, and yet thoughtest to escape punishment.

53 Therefore I will bring againe g their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them, g Meaning, that it should neuer come to passe.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast f comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, ‡ when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

‡ Ebr. was not a rumour in thy mouth.

56 For thy sister Sodom ‡ was not heard of h by thy report in the day of thy pride, h Thou wouldest not call her punishment to mind when thou wast aloft, to learne by her example to feare my iudgements.

57 Before thy wickednesse was i discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, & of all the daughters of the Philistims round about k her which despite thee on all sides.

i That is, till thou wast brought vnder by the Syrians & Philistims, 2. Chr. 28. 19.

k Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compassed about Ierusalem.

58 Thou

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse, and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus sayth the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou diddest despise the l othe, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuerthelesse, I will m remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and bee ashamed, when thou shalt receiue n thy sisters, both thy elder and thy younger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not o by thy couenant.

62 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, 63 That thou mayest remember, and bee p ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, sayth the Lord God.

l When thou brakest the couenant, which was made betweene thee and me, as verse 8.

m That is, of mercie and loue I will pitie thee, and so stand to my couenant, though thou hast deserued the contrary.

n Whereby he sheweth that among the most wicked he had euer some seede of his Church which he would cause to fructifie in due time: and here hee declareth how hee will call the Gentiles.

o But of my free mercie. p This declareth what fruits Gods mercies worke in his, to wit, sorow, and repentance for their former life.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, The great a eagle with great wings, & long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the hiest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caryed it into the lande b of merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the c seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, & set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was d like a spreading vine of e lowe stature, whole branches turned towarde it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also f another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great g waters, that it should bring foorth branches, and beare fruite, and bee an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus sayth the Lord God, Shall h he prosper? Shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the frutte thereof, and cause them to die? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Knowe ye not what these things meane? tell them, Beholde, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and leade them with him into Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an l othe of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall hee escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shal Pharaoh with his mighty hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken the couenant: (yet loe, he had giuen m his hand) because hee hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine othe that hee hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 n And I will spread my net vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sworde, and they that remaine, shall bee scattered towarde all the windes: and yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe o of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the o toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: & it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery p foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the q trees of the fielde shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the dry tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, who hath great power, riches, and many countreys vnder him, shall come to Ierusalem, and take away Ieconiah the king, as verse 12.

b Meaning, to Babylon.

c That is, Zedekiah, who was of the kings blood, and was left at Ierusalem, and made king in stead of Ieconiah, 2. King. 24.17. Iere. 37.1.

d This was Zedekiahs kingdome.

e That it might not haue power to rebell against Babylon, as verse 14.

f Meaning, the king of Egypt of whom Zedekiah sought succour against Nebuchad-nezzar.

g They thought to bee moysfened by the waters of Nilus. h Shall not Nebuchad-nezzar destroy it?

i By this dry winde, he meaneth the Babylonians.

k That is, Iechoniah, 2. King. 24. 15.

l For his subiection and obedience.

m Because hee tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his oth which hee had confirmed by giuing his hand, therefore the Prophet declareth that God would not suffer such periurie and infidelitie to escape punishment. Coap. 12. 13. and 32. 3.

n This promise is made to the Church which shall be as a small remnant, and as the top of a tree.

o I will trimme it and dresse it.

p Both the Iewes and Gentiles shal be gathered into it.

q All the world shall know that I haue pluckt downe the proud enemies, and set vp my Church which was low and contemned.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 He sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne

Ez.iii. sinne, sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is professed to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THE worde of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, [a] The fathers haue eaten soure grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten [b] vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath * defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath ‡ lien with a * menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon * vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, sayeth the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is ‖ a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if hee doe any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall hee liue? hee shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, [c] he shal die the death, and his blood shalbe vpon him.

14 ¶ Marke hee beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neyther hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neyther shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall bee vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my [d] statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his [e] righteousnesse that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 [f] Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue? all his [g] righteousnesse that hee hath done, shall not bee mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall hee die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lorde is not [h] equall: heare how, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aliue.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, hee shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore & cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquity shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make [i] you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

Albeit God in his eternall counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate, yet the ende of his counsell was not their death onely, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doeth not approoue sinne, therefore it is here sayd that he would haue them to turne away from it, that they might liue.

3 And she brought vp one of her whelpes and it became a lion, & it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when she sawe that she had waited, and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her [d] whelpes, and made him a lion.

6 Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured [e] men.

7 And he knew their widowes, and hee destroied their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the [f] nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laied their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison & in chains, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holds, that his voice should no more bee heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy [g] mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: thee brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, 12 But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, & the [h] East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirsty ground.

14 And fire is gone out [i] of a rod of her branches, which had deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lorde denieth that hee will answere them when they pray, because of their vnkindnes. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that should bee burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the [a] seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the LORD, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the LORDE vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, Speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause [b] them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and [c] lift vp mine hande vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and layde, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hande vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eies, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of [d] their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the mids of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my [e] Name, that it should not bee polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Nowe I caried them out of the lande of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man do he shal liue in them.

12 Moreouer, I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to bee a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lorde, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against mee in the wildernesse: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatlie polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them [f] in the wildernes to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the [g] heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheles I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy the, neither would I consume them in the wildernes.

18 But I sayd vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances a Of the captiuitie of Iecoiah.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.
c I sware that I would be their God: which maner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be true.
d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles. Exod. 23. 13. psal. 16. 4.
e Which thing declareth ſ wickednesse of mans heart, which iudge God seruice by their cies and outward ieasties.
f God had euer this respect to his glory, that he would not haue his name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32. 12. of your i fathers, neither obſerue their maners, nor defile your ſelues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lorde your God: walke in my ſtatutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And ſanctifie my Sabbaths, and they ſhalbe a ſigne betweene me and you, that yee may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithſtanding the children rebelled againſt mee: they walked not in my ſtatutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, whiche if a man doe he ſhall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the wildernesſe.

22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand, and had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp my hande vnto them in the wilderneſſe, that I would ſcatter them among the heauen, & diſperſe them throwe the countreys, 24 Becauſe they had not executed my iudgements, but had caſt away my ſtatutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.

k Meaning, that they ſet their delight vpon them.

25 Wherefore I gaue them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they ſhould not liue.

l I condemned thoſe thinges, and counted thē as abominable which they thought had bene excellent, & to haue declared moſt zeale, Luke 15.15. for that which God required as moſt excellent, that gaue they to their idoles.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts, in that they cauſed to paſſe by the fire all that firſt openeth the womb, that I might deſtroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

m Not onely in the wildernesſe, when I brought them our of Egypt, but ſince I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatrie, ſeeing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.

27 Therefore ſonne of man ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael, and ſay vnto thē, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blaſphemed me, though they had before grieuouſly tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for ꝓ which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to them, then they ſawe euery high hil, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented their offering of prouocation: there alſo they made their ſweete ſauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

n Which ſignifieth an high place, declaring that they vanted themſelues of their idolatrie, and were not aſhamed thereof, though God had commanded them expreſly that they ſhould haue no altar lifted vp on hie by ſtaires, Exod. 20.26. ‡ Ebr. in the way.

29 Then I ſaid vnto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof was called o Bamath vnto this day.

o Wherefore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted ‡ after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredom after their abominations?

p Hee ſheweth that the ingratitude of the people deſerueth that God ſhoulde cut them off, and that they ſhould not haue the comfort of his word.

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your ſonnes to paſſe through the fire, you pollute your ſelues with all your idoles vnto this day: ſhall I anſwere you when I am aſked, O houſe of Iſrael? As I liue, ſaieth the Lorde God, p I will not anſwere you when I am aſked.

32 Neither ſhall that bee done that commeth into your minde: for ye ſay, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and ſerue wood and q ſtone.

q He declareth that man of nature is wholy enemie vnto God and to his owne ſaluation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chaſtening, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebellion and wickedneſſe.

33 As I liue, ſayeth the Lord God, I will ſurely rule you with a mighty hande, and with a ſtretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And I wil bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherin ye are ſcattered with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

r I wil bring you among ſtrange nations, as into a wilderneſſe, and there will viſite you, and ſo call you to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Iſa. 65.9.

35 And I wil bring you into the r wilderneſſe of the people, & there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderneſſe of the lande of Egypt, ſo will I plead with you, ſaith the Lord God.

37 And I will cauſe you to paſſe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I will ſ chuſe out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſſe againſt me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and you ſhal know that I am the Lord.

ſ Signifying that he will not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuſe out the wicked to punish them when he will ſpare his.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſayeth the Lord God, t Goe you, and ſerue euery one his idole, ſeeing that ye will not obey me, & pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

t That is ſpoken to the hypocrites.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, and all in the land, ſerue me: there will I accept them, & there will I require your offerings, and the firſt fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your ſweet ſauour, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene ſcattered, that I may be ſanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye ſhal know, that I am ꝓ Lord, when I ſhall bring you into the lande of Iſrael, into the land, for the which I lifted vp my hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhal ye remēber your waies, and all your workes, wherein yee haue bene defiled, and ye u ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that yee haue committed.

u Your owne conſciences ſhall conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

44 And ye ſhall know that I am ꝓ Lord, when I haue reſpect vnto you for my names ſake, & not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt works, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaieth the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 46 Sonne of man, ſet thy face towarde the way of Teman, & drop thy word toward x the South, and propheſie toward the foreſt of the field of the South, x For Iudah ſtood South from Babylon.

47 And ſay to the foreſt of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus ſayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, & it ſhall deuoure all the y greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame ſhall not bee quenched, and euery face face from the South to the North ſhall bee burnt therein.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it ſhall not be quenched. Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, they ſay of me, Doeth not he ſpeake z parables.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, a and drop thy word toward the holy places, and propheſie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the lande of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, and will draw my ſword out of his ſheath, and cut off from thee both the b righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therfore ſhall my ſworde goe out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the c North,

5 That all fleſh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawen my ſworde out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe e of the bruite: for it commeth, and euery heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be weake, and all minds ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhal be done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 9 Sonne of man, propheſie, & ſay, Thus ſayth the Lord God, ſay, A ſworde, a ſworde both ſharpe and furbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is furbiſhed that it may f glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the g rod of my ſonne, as h all other trees.

11 And he hath ginen it to bee furbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharpe, and is furbiſhed, that he may giue it into the hand of the i ſlaier.

12 Cry, and howle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, & it ſhall come vnto all the Princes of Iſrael: the terrors of the ſword ſhalbe vpon my people: k ſmite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, l and what ſhall this be, if the ſworde contemne euen the rod? It ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſmite m hand to hand, & let the ſworde bee doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſworde vnto all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah it is made bright, & it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee n alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and will cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord haue ſayd it.

18 ¶ The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, ſaying, 19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee o two wayes, that the ſworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſworde may come to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and p to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the King of Babel ſtoode at the q parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idols, and looked in the r liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhall bee vnto them ſas a falſe diuination in their ſight for the othes made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they ſhould bee taken.

24 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, Becauſe yee haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in diſcouering your rebellion, that in all your works your ſinnes might appeare: becauſe, I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou t Prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall haue an ende, 26 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, I will take away the u diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, & it ſhall be no more vntill he x come, whoſe right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaieth the Lorde God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemie: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſworde, the ſworde is drawen foorth, and furbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſume, becauſe of the glittering:

o This was ſpoken becauſe that when Nebuchad-nezzar came againſt Iudah, his purpoſe was alſo to goe againſt the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterpriſe to vndertake firſt, he conſulted with his ſoothſayers, and ſo went againſt Iudah.

MOreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, The citie sheadeth blood in the mids of it, that her [b] time may come, & maketh idoles against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that bee farre from thee, shal mock thee, which art vile in [d] name, and sore in afflictions.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shead blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shead blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 *In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one *hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shead blood: thou hast taken vsury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, sayth the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands [g] be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy [h] filthinesse to cease from ther.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, The house of Israel is vnto mee, as [k] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and iron, and lead in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and iron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, & will put you there [l] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall bee melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall yee bee melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lorde haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie [n] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the *mids thereof, are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde God, when the Lorde had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them that should [q] make vp the hedge, and stand

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Jeruſalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breaſtes preſſed, and there they bruſed the teates of their virgintie.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: and they were mine, and they bare ſonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Jeruſalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot ‡ when [d] ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe ſilke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleaſant yong men, and horſemen riding vpon horſes.

7 Thus ſhee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whom ſhee doted, and defiled her ſelfe with all their idoles.

8 Neyther left ſhee her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruſed the breaſtes of her virgintie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the handes of her louers, euen into the handes of the Aſſyrians, vpon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcouered her ſhame: they tooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſwoꝛd, and ſhe had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſawe this, ſhee marred her ſelfe with inordinate loue, more then ſhee, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers ſuits, horſemen riding vpon horſes: they were all pleaſant young men.

13 Then I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, and that they were both after one ſoꝛt,

14 And that ſhee increaſed her fornications: for when ſhe ſawe men [f] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie.)

16 Aſſoone, I ſay, as ſhe ſawe them, ſhee doted vpon them, and ſent meſſengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and ſhee was polluted with them, and her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhee diſcouered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhe increaſed her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein ſhee had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhee doted vpon their ſeruantes, whoſe members are as the members of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thou calledſt to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruſed by the Egyptians: therefore the pappes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will raiſe vp thy louers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them againſt thee on euery ſide, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horſes.

24 Euen theſe ſhall come againſt thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which ſhall ſet againſt thee, buckler and ſhield, and helmet round about: and ‡ I will leaue the puniſhment vnto them, and they ſhall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy [i] noſe and thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſwoꝛd: they ſhall carry away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhal be deuoured by the fire.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednes to ceaſe from thee, and thy fornication out of the lande of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hande of them, whom thou hateſt: euen into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhall handle thee deſpitefully, and ſhall take away all thy [k] labour, and ſhall leaue thee naked & bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications ſhall be diſcouered, both thy wickednes and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe theſe things vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore will I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.

32 Thus

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause them to lose their senses and reason.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with n drunkennesse and sorowe, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheardes thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah, and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto mee, to passe by the fire to bee their o meate.

p They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, & cut them with their swordes: they shal slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekels wife being dead.

AGaine in the a ninth yeere, in the tenth b moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth came the worde of the Lorde vnto mee, saying, a Of Ieconiahs captiuity, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

b Called Tebeth, which conteineth part of December and part of Ianuarie: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

c Whereby was meant Ierusalem.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a c pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the d pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the e bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seeth the bones of it therein.

e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slaine, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, f whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out e piece by piece: let no h lot fall vpon it.

f Whose iniquities, and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high i rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust, g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

h Spare none estate or condition.

9 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, *Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ‖ the burning great.

i The citie shewed her cruelty to all the worlde, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

10 Heape on much wood: k kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

*Nahum. 3. 1. Habak. 2. 12.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, that ‖ the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may bee molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed.

k Meaning, that the citie should 12 l Shee hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shall be consumed with fire.

l The citie hath flattered her selfe in vaine.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednesse: because I would m haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not bee pnrged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lorde haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall n they iudge thee, sayth the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

bee vtterly destroyed, and that bee would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto. ‖ Or, bottome.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares run downe.

o Meaning, his wife in whom he delited, as verse 18.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, p and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate q not the bread of men.

p For in mourning, they went bare headed and bare footed, and also couered their lips.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commanded.

r Meaning, the morning following.

19 And the people sayde vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will s pollute my sanctuary, euen the t pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

s By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7, 22.

t Wherein you boast and delite.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feete: yee shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, yee shall doe: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the ‡ desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, ‡ Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroied my citie and Temple.

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their c palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away and take thy goodes houses to dwell in.

5 And I wil make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12. 27.

6 For thus saieth the Lorde God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy delyte against the lande of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hande vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I wil roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to bee destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities e of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, & hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, I will also stretch out mine hande vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I wil execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hande of my people Israel, and they shal do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despiteful heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the f Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

f Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, whereby they ofte times molested the Iewes. Of the Cherethims Dauid also had a gard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophesieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the b gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be c replenished,

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shall be a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her d daughters which are in the fielde, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings, from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shal slay with the sword thy daughters in the fielde, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the e pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: f thou shalt bee for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lorde haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murthered in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydred garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited b of the sea men, the renowmed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus sayth the Lorde God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pit, with the people i of olde time, and shall set thee in the low partes of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the lande of the k liuing, 21 I will ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer bee found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

THE worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the mart a of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast sayde, I am of perfit beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the ‡ midst of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beautie.

5 They haue made all thy ship boards of firre trees of b Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make maste for thee.

6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy bankes of yuorie, brought out of the yles of c Chittim.

7 Fine linnen with broydered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon and Arnad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy ‖ pilots.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon the walles round about, and the e Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shieldes vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfit.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tinne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of f Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, g concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of h Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, i hornes, teeth, and peacocks.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white woll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ‖ occupied with thee in lambes, and rammes, and goates: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Haran and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blue silke, and of broydered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparel, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish ‖ were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy ‖ robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the l East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all the multitude which is the mids of thee, shal fall in the mids of the sea, in the day of thy ruine.

28 The m suburbs shal shake at the sound of the crie of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oze, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land,

30 And shal cause their voice to be heard against thee, and shall crie bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, & wallow themselues in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shal weepe for thee, with sorow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the mids of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depthes of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the middes of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their kings shal be sore afraide and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt bee a terrour, and neuer shalt be n any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus sayth the o Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast sayd, a I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the middes of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and ‡ though thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then b Daniel: there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisedome and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches,

10 Thou shalt die the death of the c vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast h created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus sayth the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shal be n sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwel in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therin, and shall build houses and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwel safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

Hee prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt u the reward of king Nebuchad-nezzar for the labor which he tooke against Tyrus.

IN the a tenth veere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great b dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath sayd, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But c I will put c hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernesse, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shal knowe that I am the Lorde, because they haue bene a staffe of d reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke hold of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ‖stande e vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee,

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord: because he hath sayd, f The riuer is mine, and I haue made it, Ier.46.26.

13 Yet thus sayeth the Lorde God, *At the end of fortie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered,

14 And I wil bring againe the captiuity of Egypt, and wil cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall bee there a small kingdome.

g Meaning, that they should not haue full dominion, but be vnder the Persians, Grecians, & Romanes, and the cause is, that the Israelites should no more put their trust in them, but learne to depend on God.

15 It shalbe the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their b iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shal they know, that I am the Lord God.

h Lest I should by this meanes punish their sinnes.

17 ¶ In the i seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

i Counting from the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his arme to serue a great k seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, l nor his arme for Tyrus, for the seruice that hee serued against it.

k He tooke great paines at the siege of Tyrus and his army was sore handled.

l Signifying, that Nebuchad-nezzar had more paines then profit, by the taking of Tyrus.

19 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall bee the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued ‖ against it, because they wrought ‖ for mee, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Howle and crie, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shal be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shal come vpon Egypt, & feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

a By Phut and Lud are meant Affrica and Libya.

5 a Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus sayeth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of b Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

b Which was a strong citie of Egypt, chap. 29. 10.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the middes of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall bee in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall their messingers goe forth from mee in ships, to make the careless Moxes afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, and there shall bee no more a Prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

‖ Or, Memphis, or, Alkaira.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

‖ Or, Tanis.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon ‖ Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of ‖ No.

‖ Or, Pelusium. ‖ Or, Alexandria.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shal haue great sorow, and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes dayly.

17 The yong men of ‖ Auen, & of ‖ Phibeseth shal fall by the sword: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie.

‖ Or, Heliopolis. ‖ Or, Tubastum.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day c shall restraine his light, when I shal breake there the d barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

c Meaning, that there shall be great sorow and affliction.

d That is, the strength and force.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the e eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying, e Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah, or of Zedekiahs reigne.

21 Sonne of man, f I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roll to binde it, and so make it strong, to hold the sword.

f For Nebuchadnezzar destroyed Pharaoh Necho at Carchemish, Ier.46.26.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and will breake g his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shal cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I wil strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord, [b] when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

h Hereby wee see that tyrants haue no power of themselues, neither can doe any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will, they must cease.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He propheseth a like destruction to them both.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou [b] like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughs, and hot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughs.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her [c] little riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the fielde bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars of the garden [d] of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughs, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the [e] mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are [f] broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Upon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches, 14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall bee exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thick boughs, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I [g] couered the deep for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, & the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that bee slaine [i] with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whome [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the [k] vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

a Of Zedekiahs reigne, or of Ieconiahs captiuitie.

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame, c Many other nations were vnder their dominion.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

‖ Or, thou wast lift vp.

e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the monarch and only ruler of the world.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so high (meaning his great abundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackcloth.

h To cause this destruction of the king of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and Princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant.

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.

k Reade Chap. 28.10.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He propheseth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

AND in the [a] twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a [b] lyon of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers [c] and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, & they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open fielde, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all a Which was the first yeere of the generall captiuitie vnder Zedekiah.

b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell and huge beasts, which deuoure all that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome.

c Thou preparedst great armies. Chap. 12, 13. and 27, 20.

all the beastes of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fil thy valleys [d] with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall bee full of thee.

7 And when I shall [f] put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus sayth the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swordes of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall bee terrible nations, and they shall destroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great waters fines, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make [i] their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to run like oyle, sayth the Lord God.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country with all that is therein, shall be layed waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwel therein, then shal they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherwith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, sayth the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, 18 Some of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou passe [l] in beauty? go downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shal fal in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: [m] shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mighty and strong shall speake to [n] him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

22 Asshur is there and all his company: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to bee in the land of the liuing.

24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: al they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the [p] liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine [q] al his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layed in the mids of them that be slaine.

26 There is [q] Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant [r] of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layd their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt bee broken in the mids of the vncircumcised: and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layed by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, & with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be al the princes of the [s] North, with all the Sidonians, which are gone down with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shal be [t] comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, sayth the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my [u] feare to be in the land of the liuing: & he shalbe layd in the mids of the vncircumcised with them that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

2 The office of the ouermours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that dispaire, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 30 The worde of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

h This came to passe in lesse then foure yeeres after this prophesie.

c Which teacheth that hee eth at receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spy, and not a true watchman.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies, and murmure.

f Reade Chap. 18. 23.

g Reade of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18. 22, 24.

h Hereby hee condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednesse, and yet declare not themselues such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods commandements and by godly life.

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their a watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sworde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his b iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the worde at my c mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I d require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou son of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions e our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, f how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, g I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you frō your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O yee house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The h righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fal therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shal surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe, when I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and h right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall. Chap. 18. 25.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, the way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of i our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and sayd, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the k hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my l mouth, I was no more dumbe.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and sayd, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, m Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therfore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yee eate with the n bloud, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should yee then possesse the land?

26 Yee leane vpon your o swordes: yee worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shal fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be into the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the p pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow. Chap. 7. 24. & 34 21. & 30. 6, 7.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layed the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that q talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make q iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

2 Some of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God vnto the shepheards, *Woe be vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feede themselues: should not the shepheards feede the flocks?

3 Ye eate the [b] fat, and ye cloth you with the woll: ye kill them that are fed, but yee feede not the sheepe.

4 The [c] weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigor haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill: yea, my flocke was scattred thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the LORD.

8 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, & my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselues, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare yee the worde of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with [g] iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [h] pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feet, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no more be spoiled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shal feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shal [l] dwell safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I wil cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shall yeelde her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coards of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will rayse vp for them a [n] plant of renowme, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the LORD came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I wil stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sworde in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end,

6 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lorde GOD, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

10 Because thou hast saide, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shall bee mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the LORD was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lorde GOD, I wil euen do according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the LORD haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your wordes against mee: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saieth the Lord GOD, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 Hee promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that wee may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the [a] mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the LORD.

2 Thus saieth the Lord GOD, Because the [a] enemie hath sayde against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lorde GOD, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and yee are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord GOD, Thus saieth the Lord GOD to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saieth the Lord GOD, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despightfull mindes to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, Thus saieth the Lord GOD, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen, 7 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde GOD, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hande, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall [g] shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will doe you benefites vpon you more then [h] at the first, and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth bereaue them of men.

13 Thus saieth the Lord GOD, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k] land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saieth the Lord GOD, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neyther shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saieth the Lord GOD.

16 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne waies, and by their deedes: their way was before mee as the filthines of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed throwe the countreys: for according to their waies, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

Isa.52.5. rom.2.24.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted my holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l] Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, thus sayth the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine [m] holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, a-mong whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shal know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before [‖] their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 Then will I powre cleane [n] water vpon you, and ye shall bee cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 *A new heart also will I giue you, and a newe spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgementes and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shal be my people, and I wil be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, & I will call for [o] corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that yee shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall yee remember your owne wicked waies, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bene [p] destroyd for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, sayeth the Lorde God: therefore, O yee house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne waies.

33 Thus saieth the Lorde God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded.

34 And the desolate land shall bee tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they saide, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate & ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall [q] knowe that I the Lorde builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lorde God, I will yet for this bee sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheſieth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 Hee sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and carried mee out in the spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the mids of the [‖] fielde, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And hee led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe, hee sayd vnto mee, Propheſie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O yee dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus sayth the Lorde God vnto these bones, Behold, I wil cause breath to enter into you, and ye shal liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skin, & put breath in you, that yee may liue, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheſied as I was commanded: and as I propheſied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Propheſie vnto the winde: propheſie, Sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lorde God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, and breath vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I propheſied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore propheſie, & say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause 18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against ỹ land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the fielde, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall bee ouerthrowen, and the n staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will cal for a sword against him o throughout all my mountaines, sayth the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bandes, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, ỹ they shall know that I am the Lorde.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birdes and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against God, & say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee a and leaue but the fift part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as chap. 38. 22.

4 Thou b shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open fielde: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the c Iles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lorde, the holy One of Israel.

8 Beholde, d it is come, and it is done, sayth the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall e goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog, f a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the Sea: and it shal cause them that passe by, to stoppe their g noles, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-gog.

12 h And seuen moneths long shal the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land, shall burie them, and they shal haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shal chuse out men to go continually thorow the land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe thorowe the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be ‖ Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: k gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullocks, euen of all fatte beasts of Bashan.

19 And yee shall eate fat till you bee full, and c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwel, seeme they neuer so farre separate, d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell, and cannot be changed.

e After this destruction the Church shal haue great peace and tranquilitie, and burne all their weapons because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

and drinke blood, till yee bee drunken of my ſacrifice, which I haue ſacrificed for you.

20 Thus you ſhall bee filled at my table with horſes and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, ſayth the Lorde God.

21 And I will ſet my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen ſhall ſee my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and ſo forth.

23 And the heathen ſhall knowe, that the houſe of Iſrael went into captiuity for [1] their iniquitie, becauſe they treſpaſſed againſt me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hande of their enemies: ſo fell they all by the ſword.

24 According to their vncleanneſſe, and according to their tranſgreſſions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, & haue compaſſion vpon the whole houſe of Iſrael, and will bee ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their ſhame, and all their tranſgreſſion, whereby they haue tranſgreſſed againſt mee, when they dwelt ſafely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * ſanctified in them in the ſight of many nations,

28 Then ſhall they knowe, that I am the Lorde their God, which cauſed them to bee led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirite vpon the houſe of Iſrael, ſayth the Lord God.

1 The heathen ſhall know that they ouercame not my people by their ſtrength, neither yet by the weakenes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples ſinnes.

Chap.36.23.

CHAP. XL.

The reſtoring of the Citie and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was ſmitten, in the ſelfe ſame day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

2 Into the land of Iſrael brought he me by ‖ a diuine viſion, and ſet me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought mee thither, and beholde, there was a [b] man, whoſe ſimilitude was to looke to, like braſſe, with a linnen thread in his hande, and a reede to meaſure with: and he ſtood at the gate.

4 And the man ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and ſet thine heart vpon all that I ſhall ſhew thee: for to the intent, that they might be ſhewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou ſeeſt, vnto the houſe of Iſrael.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two ſorts: for their feaſts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: ſo that this is to be vnderſtood of September.

b Which was an Angel in fourme of a man that came to meaſure out this building.

5 And beholde, I ſawe a wall on the outſide of the houſe rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to meaſure with, of ſixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: ſo hee meaſured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the Eaſt, and went vp the ſtaires thereof, and meaſured the ‖ poſte of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poſte of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poſte of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 Hee meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then meaſured hee the porche of the gate of eight cubites, and the ‖ poſts thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eaſtwarde, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: they three were of one meaſure, and the poſts had one meaſure on this ſide, and one on that ſide.

11 And hee meaſured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The ſpace alſo before the chambers was one cubite on this ſide, and the ſpace was one cubite on that ſide, and the chambers were ſixe cubites on this ſide, and ſixe cubites on that ſide.

13 Hee meaſured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore againſt doore.

14 Hee made alſo poſtes of threeſcore cubites, and the poſtes of the court, and of the gate had one meaſure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fifty cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their poſtes within the gate round about, and likewiſe to the arches: and the windowes were round about within: and vpon the poſts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court rounde about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the ſide of the gates ouer againſt ỹ length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eaſtward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, meaſured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this ſide, and three on that ſide, and the poſtes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, & their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward ỳ East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stoode euer against the gate towarde the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, & the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate towarde the South an hundred cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, & he measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes therreof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Againe he brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, & in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After, hee brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein rounde about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twenty cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And euerie chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, & on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offring, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they laid the instrumentes wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hande broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towarde the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he sayd vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come neere to the Lorde to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, hee brought me to the Temple and measured the postes, fiue cubites broad on the one side, and fiue cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrieſtye cubites, and the breadth of the entrie ſeuen cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And hee sayd vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastned therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the stairs of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to ẏ highest by the mids.

8 I sawe also the houseẏe round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubites round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore towarde the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side, and on theother side an hundred cubites with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes & the narrow windowes, & the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the greonnd vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And frō aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made thorow all the house round about.

20 From the grounde vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

THen brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chamber was a gallery of tenne cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores towarde the North.

5 Nowe the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers ſemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, towarde the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubites.

9 And

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the Eastside, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknes of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then saide he vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherin the Priests that approch vnto the Lorde, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shal lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee foorth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South ‖ side fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reed. ‖Or, wind.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuary and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed & brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward hee brought mee to the gate, euen the gate that turneth towarde the East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

Chap.9.3.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

* When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore, Chap.10.4. and 11.22.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, & brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwel among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkales of d their kings in their hie places.

c By their idolatries.

d He alludeth to Ammon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple, and there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their threshold by my threshold, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkales of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwel among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the ‡ description of the house, Ie shall bee vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house. ‡ Ebr. law.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an hand breadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shalbe a span: and this shalbe the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which touched the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpwarde shalbe foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall bee twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall bee fourteene cubites long, and fourteene broad in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall bee halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offring theron, and to sprincle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Sadok, which approch vnto me, to minister vnto me, sayeth the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood therof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offring, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, & the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goat for a sinne offring: they shal also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and ‡ consecrate it. ‡ Eb. fill his hand.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offrings, and I will accept you, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

THen he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe • shut, & shall not be opened, & no man shal enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut. a Meaning, from the commō people, but not from the Priests nor the Prince, read Chap. 46.8,9.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he mee towarde the North gate before the House: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lorde filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto mee, Sonne of man, ‡ marke well, and beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lorde, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going foorth of the Sanctuarie. ‡ Ebr. set thine heart.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, O house of Israel, yee haue enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing, that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary b strangers, vncircumcised in heart, & vncircumcised in flesh, to bee in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine House, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations. b For they had brought idolaters, which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatry, Chap. 23.40.

8 For yee haue not kept the c ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my sanctuarie. c Ye haue not offered vnto me according to my Law.

9 Thus saith the Lorde God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the d Leuites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie. d The Leuites which had committed idolatry, were put from their dignitie, and could not be receiued into the Priests office, although they had bene of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferior offices, as to watch and to keepe ỹ doores, read 2. King. 23.9

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fal into iniquitie: therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, sayth the Lorde God, and they shall beare their iniquitie, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice therof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priestes of the Leuites, the sonnes of Sadok, that e kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when ỹ children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fatte and the blood, sayth the Lord God. e Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shal enter in at ỹ gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loines: they shall not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe foorth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie tifie the people with their garments.

f As did the infidels and heathen. *Leuit.*10.9.

20 They shal not also f shaue their heads, nor suffer their locks to growe long, but round their heads.

21 * Neither shal any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

*Leuit.*21.13,14.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shal take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shal teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stande to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

*Leuit.*21.1,2,11

25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselues, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they g be defiled.

g They may be at their buriall, which was a defiling.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shal reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuarie vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuarie, he shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

*Deut.*18.1. *num.*18.20.

28 * And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall yee giue them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eate the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering, and euery dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs.

*Exod.*13.2. *and*22.29. *and*34.19. *num.*3.13.

30 * And all the first of all the first borne, and euery oblation, euen all of euery sort of your oblations shalbe the Priests. Yee shall also giue vnto the Priestes the first of your dough, that hee may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

*Exod.*22.31. *leuit.*22.8.

31 The Priests shal not eate of any thing, that is * dead, or torne, whether it bee foule or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuē to the priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, yee shall offer an oblation vnto the Lorde an * holy portion of the land, fiue and twenty thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broade: this shall bee holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifte cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twenty thousand, and the breadth of tenne thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall bee the priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the fiue and twentie thousand of length, and the tenne thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shal appoint the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broad, and fiue & twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall bee for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall bee his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, Let it b suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelties & oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed, afore any good order can be established among the people.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, saue that Ephah contained in dry things, that which Bath did in liquor, Leuit. 5.11. 1.King. 5.11. *Exod.*30.13. *leuit.*27.25. *num.*3.47.

12 *And the shekel shalbe twenty gerahs, and twenty shekels, and d fiue and twentie shekels and fifteene shekels shall be your Maneh.

d That is, threescore shekels make a weight called Mina: for he ioyneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Coz, (tenne Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering & for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shal giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to giue burnt offrings, & meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feasts, & in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shal prepare the sinne offring, and the meat offring, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In ꝑ first moneth, in the first day of e the moneth, thou shalt e Which was Nisan, conteining part of March and part of April.

shall take a yong bullocke without blemish, and clense the Sanctuarie.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, Coast.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

Exod. 12.18. Leuit. 23.5.

21 *In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and yee shall eate vnleauened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast, he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goat dayly for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an f Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offring, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Therew which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus sayeth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the fiue working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall bee opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe foorth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lorde on the Sabbath day, shall be fiue lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offring for the lambes a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and fiue lambes and a ramme: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offring, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes b according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shal thinke good

8 And when the prince shal enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe foorth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe foorth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe foorth, they shall goe foorth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meate offring shall bee an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lorde, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe foorth, and when he is gone foorth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lorde of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shal be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayth the Lorde God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shal be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the c yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25.9.

18 Moreouer the prince shall not d take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.

19 ¶ After, he brought me thorow the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stood toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then saide he vnto me, This is the place where the priests shall seethe the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, e to sanctifie the people.

e That the people should not haue to do with those things which appertaine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners corners of the court: and beholde, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the fourr corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these fourr corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about these fourr, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then he sayd vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

AFterward hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then he brought mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and beholde, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought mee through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not bee passed ouer.

6 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then hee brought me, and caused mee to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, whereseuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall bee a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nettes: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shal not be wholesome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall growe all [g] fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth newe fruits according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shall be meate, and the leafe thereof shall bee for [g] medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shal be the border, whereby yee shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as an other: [k] concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall bee the border [l] of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men go to Zedad:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border and Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall bee Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall bee the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the Southside shall bee toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of [m] Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, and they shall beget children among you, and they shall bee vnto you as borne in the country among the children of Israel, [n] they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priestes, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the [a] tribes: From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northwarde the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall bee a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Dan from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

T t 4 And a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ.

b Signifying, that the graces of God should neuer decrease, but euer abound in his Church.
c Meaning, the multitude of the that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.
d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should bee full therof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterraneum, Zec.14.8.
e The waters which of nature are salt and vnholsome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.
f Signifying, that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
h They shall be here of all sorts, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.

k Or, for bruise and seres.

Gen.48.22.

Gen.12.7.& 13. 15.& 15.18. and 26.4. deut.34.4.

k By the land of promise he signifieth the spirituall land, whereof this was a figure.

l Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that al should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

a The tribes, after that they entred into the land vnder Ioshua diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set foorth by this vision.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East part vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part, shall bee the offering which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reedes broade, and of length as one of the other partes, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shall be in the midst of it.

b That is, the portion of the ground which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shall bee of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broade, and toward the East ten thousand broade, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shall bee in the midst thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

* Chap. 44. 15.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall bee theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broade: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor alienate the first fruites of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall bee a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part * fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shall bee toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall bee ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shall bee for foode vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fiue and twentie thousand with d fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shall be fiue and twenty thousand.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shalbe the prince: betweene the border e of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shalbe the princes.

e So that Iudah was on the North side of the princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the South side.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall bee thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward f Temath, the border shalbe euen from g Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the h riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Iericho, the citie of Palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus, that runneth into the sea called Mediterraneum.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the iounds of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, & three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shall be, ‡ The Lord is there.

Daniel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries & afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelation of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romans. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from ỹ beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the kings ordinary appointed, 8 but they abstaine from it.

IN the a third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and besieged it.

a Reade 2. King. 24.1. and Iere. 25.1.

2 And the LORD gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of b Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

3 And the king spake vnto c Aspenaz the master of his d Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the e Kings seede, and of the princes:

c Who was as master of the wards.

d Hee calleth them eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well f fauoured, and instructed in al wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the g learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to bee able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might bee better kept in subiection; fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should bee wittie and learned, and that they should bee of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy prayse, that hee esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessary meane to gouerne by.

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points hee refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which he dranke, so nourshing them i three yere, that at the end thereof, they might stand k before the king.

h That by their good entertainement, they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the eunuches l gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not m defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himselfe.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke he might dayly remember of what people hee was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe howe God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches.)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall ye make mee lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 Proone thy seruants, I beseech thee, n ten dayes, and let them giue vs p pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: and therefore herein he reprehendeth them which are of no religion, for neither hee would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee: and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of o Meaning, that within this space hee might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus hee spake, being mooued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate daintie meates and drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to the King, and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.

the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and prooued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of tenne dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the children, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning: and wisedome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the inchanters & astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first yere of King Cyrus.

q This bare feeding and that also of Moses, whe he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobrietie as God doth call vs vnto, seeing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall acts which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

s So that he only was a Prophet, and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Numb. 12. 6. t Of the three yeres aboue mentioned, vers. 5. u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interpret his dream. 16 Daniel requireth time to solue the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not for he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

AND in the second yeere of the reigne of a Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians & the sorcerers, and the Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stood before the King.

3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the f Aramites language, O king liue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

c because it was so rare & strange a dreame that he had not had the like. d He was so heauie with sleep, that he began to sleep againe. Some read, & his sleepe was broken from him. e For all these astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour, as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the country depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the same. f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vsed to speak it: as the Iewish writers doe this day.

5 And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, & your houses shalbe made a takes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shewe g his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered and sayd, I knowe certainly that yee ‡ would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they i sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and sayd vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is this sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue leasure, and that hee would shewe the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wisemen of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, k The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedom and strength are his.

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: hee setteth vp kings: hee giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and g This is a iust reward of their arrogancy (which vanted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be proued fooles, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, & so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

i Which declareth, that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the company of these sorcerers and astrologers, whose arts were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

and vnderstãding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed me nowe the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordained to destroy the wisemen of Babel: hee went and sayd thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that wil declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shewe mee the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and sayd, The secret which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter. and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As [p] for mee, the secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great [q] image: this great image whose glory was [q] excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legs of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason & arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding only thereof must come of God: whereby he inciteth the king with a certaine feare & reuerence of God, that he might bee the more apt to receiue the high mysteries that should bee reueiled.

p Because he had sayd that God onely must reueile the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that hee was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set foorth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian & Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule all the world till Christ (which here is called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to peeces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, and the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [s] third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in peeces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [t] peeces, and bruise all.

41 ¶ Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall bee [x] diuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with [y] the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the [a] stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in peeces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the golde: so the hardnesse thereof, but the vilenesse in respect of siluer, u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians. x They shall haue ciuill warres, and continuall discords among themselues. y They shall by marriages and affinities, thinke to make themselues strong, yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts. z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdoms of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer. a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning shoulde be small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shal bee eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom. 8, 10.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were worse, touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice: shewing, that the world should growe worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the great God hath shewed the king what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and sayd, I know of a truth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the king, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuity, and also he receiued them, lest he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them.

e Hee did not this for their priuate profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release & ease by this benefit.

f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that hee had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commaundement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

[a] NEbuchad-nezzar the king made an image of golde, whose height was threescore cubites, and the breedth thereof sixe cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent foorth to gather together the nobles, the Princes and the Dukes, the Iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the [b] dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried alowde, To you it is rowen to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoener falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the midst of an hote fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and sayde to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom wee serue, is able a Vnder pretence of religion and holinesse, in making an image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition & vaine glorie: and this declareth, that he was not touched with y true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore hee meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glorie.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are reuited & vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

c It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude, f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, & so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that ỹ more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience & constancie to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either hee deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him foorth.

m He was mooh able to deliuer vs from the hote fiery fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fourme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commaunded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fiery fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought foorth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchadnezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellers, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee answered, and sayd, Lo, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the fourme of the fourth is like the k Sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the High God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego l came foorth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherfore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, m Blessed bee the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake n any n blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a takes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth howe of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a b dreame, which made mee afrayd, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I telde the dreame, but c they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was d Beltehazzar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, saying,

6 O Beltehazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I saw a f tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the field, and the n If this heathen king moued by Gods spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a law, and let a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, to take order that such impietie reigne nor, lest according as their knowledge and charge is grea-a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which hee saw of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what the dreame was, and what it meant: and here he only expoundeth the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet, to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, vpon my bed, and beholde, a ᵍ watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloud, and sayd thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, & scatter his fruit, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of iron and brasse bind it among the grasse of ỹ field, and let it bee wet with the deaw of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasse of the field.

13 ʰ Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 ⁱ The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer hee will, & appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewme the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his ᵏ peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and sayd, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire and the fruite thereof much, and it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and sayd, Hewe downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it bee wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beastes of the field, ˡ till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, 22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the ᵐ oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that ⁿ the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and ᵒ breake off thy sinnes by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be an ᵖ healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue ᵠ moneths, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake and sayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voice came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as Egles feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.

31 And at the end of these ʳ dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto mee, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liueth for euer, * whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: & according to his ˢ will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beauty was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers ᵗ and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: & in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew ỹ it should not be cut downe by man, but by God.

h Hereby hee meaneth ỹ Nebuchad-nezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed his iudgement, and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he saw ordained against the king: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpō man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth he ment of yeeres.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either strikenmad, and so auoided mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandred among ỹ beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that hee may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance, p Suffer the errours of thy former life to be redressed.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hande writing on the wall, 8 The soothsayers called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine, 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Euil merodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgments against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone cõmonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Bebylon, he made a solemne banket, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles hee tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his Princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine and praysed the d gods of golde and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his f knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cryed loude, that they should bring g the Astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers. And the king spake and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the king the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Nowe the h Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his Princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayde, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father the king, I say, thy father, made cheefe of the i Inchanters, Astrologians, Caldeans, and Soothsayers, i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisedome is found in thee.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Nowe therefore, wise men, and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the king, Keepe thy rewardes to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, the most High God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be mooued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

19 And for the maiesty that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: he smote whomhe would: whom hee would he set vp, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knewe that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But

Or, ouercome with wine.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God they praysed their idoles, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

e That it might the better be seene.

f So hee that before contemned God, was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue dronke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

24 m Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, & hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, n MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

n This word is twise written for the certainty of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the ballance, and art found ‖ too light.

‖ Or, wanting.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius o of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore & two yeere old.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

a Reade Esther, Chap. 1. 1.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a an hundreth and twenty gouernours, which should bee ouer the whole kingdome,

‖ Or, not be troubled.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should ‖ haue no damage.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

3 Nowe this Daniel b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours c sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayde these men, Wee shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

d Herein is condemned the wickednes of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

9 Wherefore king Darius d sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Nowe when Daniel vnderstoode that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his e windowe being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did afore time.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people whē they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall bee cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authoritie, which is oft times either lightnesse, or stubbornesse, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the Sunne went downe to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, that the Lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be f altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cryed with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and and the king spake, and sayd to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lyons?

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

21 Then sayde Daniel vnto the king, O king, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for my h iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O king, I haue done no i hurt.

h My iust cause and vprightnesse in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because hee k beleeued in his God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandement, to obey God, and so did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

24 And by the commaundement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were l cast into the denne of lyons, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the masterie of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

k Because he committed himselfe wholly vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for hee is the n liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery poynt, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed al superstition and idolatry, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts u shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: a then hee wrote the dreame, & declared the summe of the matter.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuentie yeeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered and reuealed, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

2 Daniel spake, and sayd, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen strouе vpon b the great sea:

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at sundry times,

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a c lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

c Meaning, the Assyrian & Caldean Empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feet, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a d beare, and stood vpon the e one side: and he had three ribbes in his f mouth betweene his teeth, and they sayd thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

d Meaning the Persians which were barbarous and cruell.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a g leopard, which had vpon his backe h foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and k dominion was giuen him.

e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bruit.

f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.

7 After this, I sawe in the visions by night, and beholde, the l fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong. It had great m yron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pieces, and stamped n the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had o tenne hornes.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes published the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the Empire among them after his death Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe, nor of his owne power, that he gate all these countreys: for his armie conteined but thirtie thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when hee was so heauie with sleepe, that his eyes were scarse open, as the storie reporteth: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of l That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monster, and could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly inioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces, which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot be applyed vnto them. And also in this prophesie the Prophets purpole is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucke away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the Deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe.

the first hornes plucke away: and beholde, in this horne were r eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certeine humanitie, and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls & Senate should beare the name of dignity, so that they might haue the profit, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

9 I beheld, till the s thrones were set vp, and the t Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgment should beginne at the first comming of Christ.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousande thousands ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand u thousands stoode before him: the iudgement was set, and the x bookes opened.

t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

11 Then I beheld, y because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I behelde in visions by night, beholde, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him, 14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations, and languages, should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shal neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirit in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made mee afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the g most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4.13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdom thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

19 ¶ After this I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so h vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the i residue vnder his feete.

g That is, of the most hie things, because God hath chosen them out of this world that they should looke vp to the heauens, where on all their hope dependeth.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the hornes that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose k looke was more stout then his fellowes.

h For the other three monarchies were gouerned by a king, and the Romane Empire by consuls: the Romans changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other monarchies

21 I beheld, and the same l horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he sayd, The fourth beast shalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shal be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, & shal tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue n three kings,

25 And shall speake words against o the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that hee may p change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hande, vntill a q time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

i Reade verse 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperors, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.

n Reade the exposition hereof ver. 8.

o That is, shall make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods word, and send thorowout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length hee will asswage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24.22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time.

26 But the r iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the s kingdome, and dominion, r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

s Hee sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

reteined them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commaundement.

x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reuealed by his Gospel.

y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he sawe these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods apointment, shall enioy the promises.

a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as hee was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie.

b To wit, when hee ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that hee was our Mediatour.

c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the strangenesse of the vision.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

and the greatnes of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all [t] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many [u] cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

t That is, some of euery sort that bare rule.

u Though he had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to serke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reueiled, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A vision of a beastell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, [a] after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [b] of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a [c] ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was [d] higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no [e] beasts might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he liked, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, [f] a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an [g] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being mooued against him, he [h] smote the ramme, and brake the two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stande against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [k] appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a [l] little horne, which waxed very great toward the [m] South, and toward the [n] East, and toward the [o] pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the [p] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and troad vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against [q] the prince of the hoste from whom the [r] dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And [s] a time shall bee giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shal [t] cast downe the trueth to the ground, & thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [u] Saintes speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the [x] desolation to tread both [y] Sanctuary and the [z] armie vnder foote?

14 And [a] he answered me, Vnto the [b] euening, and the morning, two thousand & three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie bee cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me [c] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voice betweene the bankes of Ulai, which called and sayne, Gabriel, [d] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell vpon my face: but he layd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [e] in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, & set me vp in my place.

19 And he sayd, Behold, I will shew thee what shall bee in the last [f] wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of [g] Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp [h] of that nation, but not [i] in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [k] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding a After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians and Macedonians for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdom of the Persians and Medes which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome al the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia, to subdue them that there had rebellied, and so died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteen yere, there were fifteen diuers successors before this Monarchy was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betweene him & the kingdome, & therefore it here called the litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feet, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

q That is, God who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a litle corner from all the rest of the world to haue his name there truely called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt Gods seruice.

u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one, or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

z Christ answered me for the comfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the old fathers how he would be God manifested in the flesh.

c This power to command the Angel declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia.

g They shal not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent, and cruell, and also craftie that he could not be deceiued.

darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shall be mighty, but not in [i] his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the [k] mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his [l] policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, & he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by [m] peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the [n] Prince of princes, but he shal be broken downe [o] without hand.

26 And the vision of the [p] euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was striken and sicke [q] certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.
k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.
l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.
m That is, vnder pretence of peace, or as it were in sport.
n Meaning, against God.
o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church, 2. Mac. 9. 9. p Reade verse 14.
q For feare and astonishment.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishments in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expounderh vnto him the vision of the seuenty weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building again of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of [a] Ahasuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made king ouer the [b] realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by [c] bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and [d] sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lorde God, which art [e] great and fearefull, and keepest couenant & mercie toward them which loue [f] thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, [g] righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs [h] open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lorde, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our [i] Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, because wee haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forginenes is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For wee haue not obeyed the [k] voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laid before vs by the ministery of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voice: therefore the [l] curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our [m] iudges that [n] iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord [o] made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for wee would not heare his voyce.

15 *And nowe, O Lorde our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, wee haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy [p] righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem & thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to [q] shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the [r] Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne [s] righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord [t] consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, & did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the a Who was also called Astyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about wars in other countreys, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdom, though Cyrus was king in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet he dayly increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which he vsed in his house thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, lest their sinnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophesied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, & so art rich in mercy to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee. ‡ Ebr. him.
f He sheweth that whensoeuer God punisheth, hee doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselues there is iust cause why he should so intreat them. ‡ Ebr. confusion of face.

g He doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.
h He sheweth that they rebell against God, which serue him not according to his commandement and word.
i As Deut. 27. 15 or the curse confirmed by an othe.
‖ Or, gouerned vs.
‡ Ebr. watched vpon the euill, Exod. 14. 28.
k That is, according to all thy promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christs sake, in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee onely vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of words: for he was so led with a feruent zeale, considering Gods promise made to the city in respect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory.

Chap. 8. 16.

p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophesie, who prophesied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeeres: but now Gods mercy should seuenfold exceede his iudgement which should be foure hundred & ninetie yeeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should cõtinue for euer.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whome he was carefull.

r To shew mercie, and to put sinne out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.

t These weekes make 49. yeere, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the sixt yeere of Darius who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434 yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the Baptisme of Christ. x In this last weeke of the seuentie, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53. 2.

z Meaning, Titus Vespasians sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouerie.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, & after to the Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

c Meaning that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, & their idolatrie: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And hee informed mee, and talked with mee, and sayd, O Daniel, I am now come foorth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie p weekes are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holy citie to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the r sinnes, & to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the s going foorth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall bee seuen t weekes, and u threescore and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a x troublous time.

26 And after threescore & two x weekes, shall Messiah bee slaine, and shall y haue nothing, and the people of z the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the end thereof shall bee with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And hee shall a confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the midst of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice & the oblation to b cease, c and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

d Called Abib, which containeth part of March, and part of April.

d Being carried by the spirit of prophesie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophetie that followeth. Iere. 10. 9.

f The word also signifieth comelinesse or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

g Which declareth that when we are striken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is this power.

h Meaning, Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me, to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children, of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision.

1 IN the e third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was d long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the f first moneth, as I g was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man h clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of i Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great vision, & there remained no strength in me: for my k strength was turned in mee vnto corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was towards the ground.

10 And behold, an hand l touched mee, which set mee vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of my hands, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had sayd this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the h prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twenty dayes: but loe, i Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe mee, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the l vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, m by the vision my sorrowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such a one? for as for mee, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And sayde, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: [n] peace bee vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto me, [o] I was strengthened, and sayd, Let my Lorde speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then sayd he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the [p] prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shewe thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

n He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doth not immediatly life them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by little and little.

p Meaning, that he would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

1 A prophesie of the kingdoms which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

ALso I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I [a] stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Beholde, there shall stand vp yet [b] three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall bee farre richer then they all: [c] by his strength, and by his riches he shal stirre vp [c] al against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mighty King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stand vp, [e] his kingdome shall be broken, [f] and shall bee diuided toward the [g] foure windes of heauen: and not to his [h] posteritie, nor according to [i] his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others [k] besides those.

5 And the [l] King of the South shall bee mightie, and one of [m] his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall bee a great dominion.

6 And in [n] end of yeres they shall be ioyned together: for the kings [o] daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but thee shall not receiue the power of the [p] arme, neither shall [q] hee continue, nor his [q] arme: but thee shalbe deliuered to death, [r] they that brought her, and [r] hee that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the budde of her [s] rootes shall one stande vp in his stead, [t] which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile,

8 And shall also carry captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue [u] moe yeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great armie: and one [y] shall come and ouerflow, and passe thorow: then shall [z] he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the King of the South shall bee angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall bee lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

13 For the King of the North [b] shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie army, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselues to stablish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stande afore him: and he shall stande in the [f] glorious land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 He shall also set his face to come with the strength of his whole kingdome, and vprightnesse with him: thus shall he doe, and giue him the daughter of women, corrupting her: but she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many: but a prince [g] shall cause the reproch offered by him to cease, without his reproch shall turne vpon him.

19 Then shall he turne his face toward the [h] holdes of his owne land: but he shall stumble and fall, and not be found.

20 Then shall stand vp in his roome a raiser vp of taxes [i] for the glory of the kingdome: but within few dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in anger nor in battell.

21 And in his roome shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And with the armes of a flood shall they be ouerflowen from before him, and be broken: yea also the prince of the couenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and shall become strong with a small people.

24 He shall enter peaceably euen vpon the fattest places of the prouince, and shall do that which his fathers haue not done, nor his forefathers: he shall scatter among them the prey, and spoile, and substance: yea, and he shall forecast his deuices against the strong holdes, euen for a time.

25 And he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie: and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast deuices against him.

26 Yea, they that eate of his portion shall destroy him, and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall downe slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall be to doe mischiefe, and they shall speake lies at one table: but it shall not prosper: for yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he returne into his land with great substance, and his heart shall be against the holy couenant: and he shall doe his pleasure, and returne into his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but it shall not be as the former or as the latter.

30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be grieued, and returne, and haue indignation against the holy couenant, and doe his pleasure: he shall returne, and haue regard vnto them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the sanctuarie of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abomination that maketh desolate.

32 And such as doe wickedly against the couenant, shall he corrupt by flatteries: but the people that know their God, shall be strong, and doe exploits.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by the sword, and by flame, by captiuitie, and by spoile, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue to them by flatteries.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall, to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, euen to the time of the end: because it is yet for a time appointed.

36 And the King shall doe according to his will, and exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe aboue euery god, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the indignation be accomplished: for that which is determined shall be done.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his estate shall he honour the God of holdes: and a god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with golde, and siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he doe in the strongest of strong holdes with a strange god, whom he shall acknowledge, and increase with glory: and cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the time of the end shall the King of the South [k] push at him: and the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewind, with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships: and he shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe ouer.

41 He shall enter also into the glorious land, and many countreys shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, Edom, and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hand also vpon the countreys: and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.

44 But tidings out of the East and out of the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and vtterly to make away many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious holy mountaine: yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

a The Angel confirmeth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to perfourme these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he ouercame the Caldeans.

b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stoode against them.

c For hee raised vp all the East countreys to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselues. g After this his monarchie was diuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and cruelnie, in causing his posteritie to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shal be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posterity hauing no part thereof. l To wit, Ptolemeus king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mighty: for he should haue both Asia and Syria. n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolome Philadelphus shall bee giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeede in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned f Hee sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter, i For he regarded not the life of his daughter, in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duety requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterranean: for the Iewes called all countreyes yles, which were diuided from them by sea.

against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant lande, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Againe hee shall [a] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and hee shall giue him the [b] daughter of women, to destroy [c] her: but [d] she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the [l] yles, and shall take many: but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the forts of his [o] owne land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stande vp in his place in the glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes hee shall bee destroyed, neyther in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a [s] vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [t] armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the [u] couenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, he shal worke deceitfully: for hee shall come vp, and ouercome with a [y] small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shal diuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stir vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shal bee stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shall not [b] stand:

for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of [c] his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie [d] shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe [e] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f] yet the ende shall bee at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his lande with great [g] substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shal he doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shal returne, and come towarde the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [h] of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sory and returne, and fret against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne [i] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes [k] shall stande on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie [l] of strength, and shall take away the daylye sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [m] breake the couenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among [n] the people, shall instruct many: [o] yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuity and by spoile, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto him [p] faithfully.

35 And some of them [q] of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time bee out: for there is a time appointed.

m For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romans he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of powrtie hee would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodonæus, the countrey men slewe him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great forraine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is heere called the prince of the couenant, because hee was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For hee came vpon him at vnawares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shall be ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shall burst out and venture their life to slay and to bee slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against an other.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they can not doe what they list them.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is tolde them before, to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romans name: to which thing hee obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.

l So called because the powrs of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet wil he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here prophesieth.

q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many byrotries.

r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time; therefore we must obey.

f Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romans, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall prevaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romans shall observe no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them, and prefer themselues to their gods.

x Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods, and worship it.

36 And the [f] king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath [t] be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regard the [u] God of his fathers, nor the desires [x] of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and with pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the [a] holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall encrease his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the [b] South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirle winde, with charets, and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreyes, and shall ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the [c] pleasant land, and many countreyes shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon the countreyes, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Moyes where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shal plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction and trouble at Christs comming, & next that God wil send his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion.

d Hee chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next all the faithful which instruct [g] ignorãt, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obteine now by the light of the Gospel.

g Which was Tigris.

h Which was as it were a double of the, and did the more confirme the thing.

i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: Signifying that their troubles should haue an ende.

k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law.

m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to bee discouraged, thoughit be deferred.

n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it was not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

g Which was Tigris, h Which was as it were a double of the, and did the more confirme the thing. i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: Signifying that their troubles should haue an ende. k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power. l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law. m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to bee discouraged, thoughit be deferred. n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it was not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their cities with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romans.

b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romans, but they shalbe ouercome.

c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romans inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their handes, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them.

d Hearing that Crœsus was slaine, and Antiochus discomfited.

e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.

f The Romans after this reigned quietly through all the countreyes, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

2 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that [a] time shal Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall bee a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there beganne to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shalbe deliuered, euery one that shalbe found written in the booke.

2 And many [b] of them [p] sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, & some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that bee [c] wise, shall shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteousnes, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke [i] till the ende of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe encreased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the other.

6 And one sayde vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his [k] right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and I ware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tary for a [l] time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished [m] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then sayd I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the [l] dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, & the abominable desolation set vp, there [n] shall be a thousand two hundreth and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that [o] waiteth and commeth to the thousand three hundreth and [n] fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But goe [o] thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

¶ HOSEA.

Hosea.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that the tenne tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtill counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commaunded by his worde, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenesse of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall parts of the Lawe, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THE word of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of [a] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lorde said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went, and tooke [d] Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly take them [i] away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lorde their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sworde, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Nowe when she had weined Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then saide God, Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Israel shall be as the sande of the sea, which cannot bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel bee [n] gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper, was deposed from his kingdome.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that hee preached aboue three score yeeres.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.
d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figges.
e Meaning, that they should bee no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. Kings 10 8, 11.
f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that bee shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroied.
g When the measure of their iniquities is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.
h That is, not obteining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.
i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.
k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1. 1.
l That is, not my people.
m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promise, except he had preserued them: hee declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.
n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ; who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.
o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah.

2 Pleade with your [b] mother: pleade a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I wil haue mercie.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50. 1.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts,

3 [d] Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leave her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the [f] children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath plaied the harlot: shee that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she sayd, I will goe after my [g] louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I will stop [h] thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not find her paths.

7 Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, [i] I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now she did not know that I [k] gaue her corne, and wine, and oile, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, & take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent to couer her shame.

10 And nowe will I discouer her [m] leudnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I wil also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her figtrees, whereof shee hath saide, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eat them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes [n] of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her [o] earerings and her iewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore, behold, I will [p] allure her, and bring her into the wildernes, & speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, & the valley [q] of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall [r] sing there as in the dayes of her youth, & as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lorde, thou shalt call mee [s] Ishi, and shalt call mee no more [t] Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembred by their [u] names.

18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with [x] the wilde beastes, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto mee in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto mee in [y] faithfulnes, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lorde, I will euen heare [z] the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, & I will say to them which were not my people, * Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall be cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they shall turne to the Lord.

Then said the Lorde to mee, [a] Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lorde toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loued the wine bottles.

2 So [c] I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, & for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with [d] mee many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a king, and without a [e] prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lorde their God, and [g] Dauid their King, & shall feare the Lorde, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

[c] Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25.

[d] For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel & dowry & certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them.

[e] When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.

[f] That is, bastards, and begotten in adulterie.

[g] Meaning, the idols which they serued and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

[h] I will punish thee, that then thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

[i] This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.

[k] This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles.

[l] Signifying, that God wil take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.

[m] That is, all her seruice, ceremonies, and inuentions, whereby she worshipped her idoles.

[n] I will punish her for her idolatrie.

[o] By shewing how harlots trimme themselues to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy daies.

[p] By my benefits in offering her great grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

[q] Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Iosh. 7.26, & is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

[r] Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

[s] That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

[t] That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.

[u] No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my worde.

[x] Meaning, that he will so bleese them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

[y] With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.

[z] Then shall the heauen desire raine for y earth, which shall bring forth for the vse of man. Rom 9.25. 1. Pet. 2.10.

[a] Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before hee called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles.

[b] That is, gaue themselues wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennes.

[c] Yet I loued her, and payed a small portion for her, lest she perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue, should haue abused me and not bene vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod. 21.32.

[d] I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt bee mine or no.

[e] Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

[f] That is, they should neither haue policie nor Religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroied.

[g] This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to bee eternall, Psalme 72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel,

Heare

HEare the word of the LORD, yee children of Israel: for the LORD hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall bee cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy [e] mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because [f] thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Lawes of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 [i] They eat vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall bee like people, like [k] priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue [e] nough: they shall [l] commit adulterie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the LORD.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine, take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the [o] spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hils vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be [p] harlots, and your spouses shalbe whores.

14 I will not [q] visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto [s] Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to [t] Beth-auen, nor sweare, The LORD liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the LORD will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their [x] drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say, Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God against whom they chiefly offended, Isa.7.13. Micah.6.1,2. Zech.12.10.

b In euery place appeareth a libertie to most heinous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets and Priests whole office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one, because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut.33.3. Mal.2.7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people which were weary with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the Priestes seeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing that their wickednesse shalbe punished on all sortes: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shall be deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like bruit beasts.

n Thus hee speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which owe for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes.

o They are caried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lustes, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom.1.28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendement, but you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, hee would not that t Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will command vnto them.

y To cast them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priestes and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OPriests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because yee haue beene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were prolound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue beene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, and they haue not knowen the LORD.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullocks to seeke the LORD: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the LORD: for they haue begotten [f] strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shawme in Ramah: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in a The Priests and Princes catched the poore people in their snares, as the foulers did the birds, in these two high mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holinesse, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admonished the continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place, till they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of religion.

iudgement, because he willingly walked after the [1] commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Assur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke mee diligently.

1 To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God, m In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand, n Who was king of the Assyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoiled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and hee will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall wee haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vpon the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreate thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and [e] thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like [g] men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they treipassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues wait for a man, so the company of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene vilianie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might call backe his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendement, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meane to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue bene best instructed in my word.

i That is, doth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wickednesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the a theefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without [h] heart; they call to Egypt: they go to Assur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastice them as their [i] congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue cried vnto mee with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam about God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

d They vsed all riot and excesse in their feasts and solemnities whereby their king was ouercome with surfet, & brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries.

e By their occasion God hath deprived them of all good rulers.

f That is, he counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hote nor through cold, but partly a Iewe and partly a Gentile.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.

i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.

k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.

m They only seeke their owne commodity and wealth, and passe not for me their God.

n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

Set

a God encourageth the Prophet to figurifie the speedy coming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ieroboam by whom they sought their own libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernes.
f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew and in it selfe is but vanitie.
g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions. k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

SEt the trumpet to thy a mouth: he shal come as an Egle against the house of the LORD, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe.
2 Israel shall b crie vnto me, My God, we know thee.
3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shall pursue him.
4 They haue set vp a c king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shal they be destroyed.
5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without d innocencie?
6 e For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall bee broken in pieces.
7 For they haue f sowen the wind, & they shal reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring foorth, the strangers shall deuoure it.
8 Israel is deuoured, now shal they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.
9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wild asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.
10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorow a little, for the h burthen of the king, and the princes.
11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.
12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a i strange thing.
13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, and eate it: but k the LORD accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.
14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

REioice not, O Israel, for ioy, a as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued b a reward vpon euery corne flore.
2 c The flore, & the winepresse shall not feed them, & the new wine shall faile in her.
3 They will not dwell in the LORDS land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.
4 They shall not offer d wine to the LORD, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall bee vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall bee polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the LORD.
5 e What will ye not f then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the LORD?
6 For loe, they are gone from g destruction: but Egypt shal gather them vp, & Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall bee in their tabernacles.
7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: h the prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.
8 The watchman of Ephraim i should be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.
9 They k are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visit their sinnes.
10 I found Israel like l grapes in the wildernes: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to m their louers.
11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a bird: from the birth and from the wombe, and from the conception.
12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I wil depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.
13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring foorth his children to the murtherer.
14 O LORD, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and dry breasts.
15 All their wickednes is in n Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.
16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.
17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

a For although all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.
b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Ier.44.17.
as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted.
e The meate offering which they offred for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.
h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who chalenged to themselues to be their Prophets & spirituall men.
i The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednes, that Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg.19.22.
l Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.
n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little.
o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the cold aire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.
p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim; prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then this great slaughter should come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

a Where of though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered newe strength, it encreased new wickednes, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubbornnes.
b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17 6, 7.
e In promising to be faithfull toward God.
f Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.
g When the calfe shall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certain idolatrous priestes which did weare blacke apparel in their sacrifices, and cried with a loude voice: which superstition Eliiah derided, 1. King. 18. 27. reade 2. Kin. 23. 5.
i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4. 15. Isa. 2. 19. luk. 23. 30. reuel. 6. 16. and 9. 6.
k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not bee good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in that stubbornesse from that time.
m The Israelites were not mooued by their example to cease from their sinnes.
n Because they are so desperate, I will delite to destroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.
p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour & paine.
q I will lay my yoke vpon her fat necke.
r Reade Ierem. 4. 4.
(That is, Shalman ezzar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kinde nor age.

ISrael is an a emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is c diuided: now shal they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For nowe they shall say, Wee haue no d king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king do to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsly in making a e couenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the h Themarims thereof, that reioiced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall bee also brought to Assur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed as the fome vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of i Auen shalbe destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shal say to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they l stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire n that I should chastice them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two o furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delite p in threshing: but I will passe by her q faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: r breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till hee come ‡ raine righteousnes vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten ‡ fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine own wayes, & in the multitude of thy strong men, 14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as (Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel a was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but b they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords c of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Assur shall be his d king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though e they called them to the most High, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 f How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as g Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: h my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenes of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holie one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when hee shal roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 k They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Assur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth l with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly and not as beasts or slaues.
d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shall be led captiue into Assyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to punish them.
g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.
h Meaning that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercie toward his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.
i To consume thee, but will cause thee to yeeld, and so receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the small number which shall walke after the Egyptians and Assyrians shall bee afraid when the people.
k The Lord maintaineth Gods word, and doth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

How admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God and not in man.

EPhraim is fed with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Assur, and b oyle is carried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with c Iudah, and will visit Iaakob, according to his wayes, according to his workes will he recompense him.

a That is, flattereth himself with vaine confidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these points was like Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

3 Yee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had [d] power with God,

4 And had [e] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: [f] he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Yea, the LORD God of hostes, the LORD is himselfe his memorial.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding, I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, [h] that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the LORD thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, & vsed similitudes by the ministery of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he preserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with bitter places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his LORD reward him.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Reade Gen. 32.31.

f God found Iaakob as he lay sleeping in Bethel, Gen. 28.12. and so spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim, he is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne. k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead that holy place, and yet the Prophet saith, that all their religion was but vanitie. l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, ye seeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant. m Meaning, Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destruction.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a [d] man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirle winde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

a He sheweth the excellencie and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b He made a king of his tribe.

c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their authoritie.

d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and to worship these calues which were their idoles.

4 Yet I am the LORD thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beside mee.

5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meete them as a Beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I wil breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thy helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue me a king, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is [h] bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the [i] breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I wil deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the LORDE shall come vp from the wilderneſſe, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dryed vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

e He calleth them to repentance, and reproueth their ingratitude.

f Thy destruction is certaine, & my benefits toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry and vaine confidence in men must needes be the cause therof.

g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Iere. 17.1.

i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger, wherein he is, and not tary to be stifled.

k Meaning, that no power shal resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will he giue them life.

l Because they wil not turne to me, I will not change my purpose,

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ript.

2 O Israel, [a] returne vnto the LORD thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the LORD, and say vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our lips.

4 Asshur shall [d] not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our Gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.

5 [c] I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will bee as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall growe as the lillie, and fasten his a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoide all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

b He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice that the faithfull can offer, such thankes and praise, Heb. 13.15.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride, & he declareth how readie God is to receiue them that doe repent.

roote

rootes as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smel as Lebanon.

f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shall be blessed.

8 They that dwell vnder his f shadowe shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon mee is thy fruite found.

g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, whē they repent, and to offer himself as a protection and sauegard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.

10 Who is h wise, & he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

h Signifying, that the true wisedom and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being nowe punished with a great plague of famine remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 3 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare yee this, O a Elders, and hearken all yee inhabitants of the lande, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

a Signifying the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgemēts, who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the catterpiller eaten.

c Meaning, that the occasion of the excesse and drunkennesse, was taken away.

5 Awake ye c drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

d This was an other plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.

6 Yea, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the fawes of a great lyon.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of the figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

e Mourne grieuously as a woman which hath lost her husband, to whom she hath bene married in her youth.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the e husband of her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lorde: the Priestes the Lords ministers mourne.

f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed, & the newe wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Bee yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheat, and for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

g All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

13 h Gird your selues and lament, yee Priestes, howle yee ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoide Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored is vnfained repentance.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the lande into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, & it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 Howe did the beastes mourne? the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the k fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

How prophesieth of the comming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe a the trumpet in Sion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

a He sheweth the great iudgements of God which are at hand, except they repent.

2 b A day of darkenesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, so is there a c great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeres of many generations.

b Of affliction and trouble.

c Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the lande is as the garden of d Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

d The enemy destroyeth our plentifull countrey, whereſoeuer he commeth.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, & like the horsemen, so shal they run.

5 Like the noise of charets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces e shall gather blacknesse.

e They shall be pale and blacke for feare, as Nahum. 2. 10.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

f For none shall be able to resist them.

8 Neither shall one f thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sworde, they shall not bee wounded.

g Reade verses 2. 31. and Isa. 13. 10. ezek. 32. 7. chap. 3. 15. mar. 24. 29.

9 They shal runne to and fro in the citye, they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

h The Lord shall stirre vp the Assyrians to execute his iudgements, Ier. 30. 7. amos 5. 18. Zeph. 1. 15.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the g sunne and the moone shall bee darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

i Mortifie your affections, and serue God with purenes of heart, and not with ceremonies.

11 And the Lord shall h vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: i for the day of the Lorde is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

k He speaketh this to stirre vp their slouthfulnes, and not that hee doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Ier. 18. 8.

12 Therefore also nowe the Lord saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, l That as al haue sinned, so all may shew both signes of their repentance, that men seeing the children, which are not free frō Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the consideration of their own sinnes. Psalm. 79. 10.

13 And i rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

m If they repent, he sheweth that God wil preserue and defend them with a most ardent affection.

14 Who knoweth, if he wil k returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meat offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the l children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathe should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

n This is, the Assyrians your enemies.

18 Then will the Lord be m iealous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lorde will answere, and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne and wine, and oyle, and you shall bee satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I wil remoue farre off from you the n Northern armie, and I will driue him into a land, barren and desolate, with his face toward the o East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

o Called the salt sea, or Persian sea: Meaning, that though his army were so great that it filled all from this sea to the sea called Mediterraneum, yet hee would scatter them.

21 Feare not, O land, bee glad and reioice: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, yee beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioice in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of p righteousnesse, * and he will cause to come down for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

p That is, such as should come by iust measure, and as was wont to be sent when God was reconciled with them. Leuit. 26. 4. deut. 11. 14.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheat, and the presses shal abound with wine & oile.

25 And I will render you the yeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the catterpiller, and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

q That is, in greater abundance, & more generally then in time past: & this was fulfilled vnder Christ, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit vnder the Gospel was abundantly giuen to the Church, Isa. 44. 3. 2. 17. Ioh. 7. 38, 39.

26 So you shal eate and be satisfied, and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath deale marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also knowe that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

r As they had visions & dreames in olde time, so shall they now haue clearer reuelations.

28 And afterward wil I powre q out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophesie: your old men shall dreame r dreames, and your young men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I wil shew s wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things should come to the intent that they should not looke for continuall quietnesse in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserue them.

31 The t sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

t The order of nature shall seeme to be changed for the horrible afflictions that shall be in the world, Isa 13. 10. ezek. 32. 7. chap. 3. 15. matth. 24. 29.

32 But whosoeuer shal call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem, shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the u remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, & to moue the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them saluation. x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10. 13.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

a When I shall deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

FOr beholde, in a those dayes, and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the b valley of b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20. 26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemie of his Church as he did there.

Iehoshaphat,

Iehoſhaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Iſrael, whom they haue ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue caſt lots for my people, & haue giuen the child for the harlot, & ſold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coaſtes of Paleſtina? will yee render me a recompenſe? and if yee recompenſe me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render your recompenſe vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my ſiluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Iudah and the children of Ieruſalem haue you ſolde vnto the Grecians, that ye might ſend them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raiſe them out of the place where yee haue ſolde them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will ſell your ſonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowſhares into ſwords, and your ſithes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelues, and come all yee heathen, and gather your ſelues together round about: there ſhall the Lord caſt downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your ſithes, for the harueſt is ripe: come, get you downe, for the wine-preſſe is full: yea, the wine preſſes runne ouer, for their wickednes is great.

14 Multitude, multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhalbe darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voice from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem bee holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers go thorow her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hilles ſhall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhall run with waters, and a fountaine ſhal come forth of the houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt ſhall bee waſte, and Edom ſhall be a deſolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, becauſe they haue ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for euer, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will clenſe their blood, that I haue not clenſed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

c That which the enemie gate for the ſale of my people, he beſtowed vpon harlots and drinke.

d He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himſelfe.

e Haue I done you wrong, that yee will render me the like?

f For afterward God ſold them by Nebuchad-nezzar, & Alexander the great for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

g When I ſhall execute my iudgments againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another for my Church ſake.

h Thus he ſhall incourage the enemies when their wickednes is full ripe, to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when hee deſtroyeth his enemies, his children ſhall bee deliuered.

k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people which by their ſinnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiſeth to his Church abundance of grace, reade Ezekiel 47.1. which ſhould water and comfort the moſt barren places, Amos 9.13.

m The malicious enemies ſhall haue no part of this grace. n Hee had ſuffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthineſſe, but now promiſeth to clenſe them and to make them pure vnto him.

Amos.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatry, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reproue al eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally hee comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould haue perfit deliuerance and ſaluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the propheſie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord againſt Damaſcus, 6 the Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen a at Tecoa, which he ſaw vpon Iſrael, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh King of Iſrael, two yeere before the c earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord ſhal roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſheepheards a Which was a towne ſixe miles from Ieruſalem, in Iudea, but he propheſied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.

c Which, as Ioſephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten with the leproſie, shall periſh, and the top of d Carmel ſhall wither.

d Whatſoeuer is fruitful and pleaſant in Iſrael ſhall ſhortly periſh.

3 ¶ Thus ſayth the Lord, For e three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue f threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

e Hee ſheweth firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifolde ſinnes; which are meant by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements towarde them.

f If the Syrians ſhall not bee ſpared for committing this cruelty againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape puniſhment, which hath committed ſo many and grieuous ſinnes againſt God and man.

4 Therefore will I ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the g palaces of Ben-hadad.

g The antiquity of their buildings ſhall not auoide my iudgements, read Iere. 49.27.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto [h] Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they [i] caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut vp the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did ‡ cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lorde, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they [m] haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with howling in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the [a] bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore I will send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Iudge out of the middes thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, ‡ their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lorde, For three transgressions of [c] Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer, & the poore for [d] shooes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the [e] dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayd to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lye downe vpon clothes layd to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and hee was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres through the wilderuesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorite.

11 And I raysed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and [i] of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Beholde, I am [k] pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the [l] swift, and the strong shall not streng-then his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor hee that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall hee that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And hee that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Hee reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 for the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a lyon roare in the forest, when he hath no praye? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his denne if he haue taken nothing?

h Tiglath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

m He noteth the great cruelties of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruell against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barberous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If the spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their othes wickednesse.

g They spoyle others and offer therof vnto God, thinking that hee will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies, & his mercie toward them, should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stop the mouthes of my Prophets.

k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1. 14.

l None shall bee deliuered by any meanes.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that hee speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and mooueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

5 [a] Can

d Can any thing come without God: prouidence?
e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid?
g Doeth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa.45.7.
h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets.
i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit mooued them so to speake as they did.
k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to bee witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

5 d Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?
6 Or f shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afrayde? or shall there g be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?
7 Surely the Lorde God will doe nothing, but hee h reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.
8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? The Lord God hath spoken: who can but i prophesie?
9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.
10 For they know not to doe right, saieth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robberie l in their palaces.
11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.
12 Thus sayeth the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh m out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of bedde, and in n Damascus, as in a couch.
13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lorde God, the God of hostes.
14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fal to the ground.
15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

l The fruit of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a tip of an eare, to shewe that the sheepe hath bene woried. n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beastes and not of men.

HEare this worde yee a kine of Bashan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, & destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, and your posteritie with fishhookes.
3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches, euery kowe forwarde: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them that they may haue profite by it. c Hee alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

4 Come to d Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three e yeeres.
5 And offer a thankesgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this g liketh you, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord God.
6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannesse of teeth in all your cities, and scarenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue yee not returned vnto me, sayeth the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the harueste, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one peece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto mee, saith the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figge trees, and your olme trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of l Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the swoorde, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, sayeth the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and yee were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.
13 For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which made the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lorde God of hostes is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.
3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an b hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.
5 But seeke not Beth el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shal liue, lest he d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion & good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. Reade Deut. 14.28.

e As Leuit.7.13.
f You onely delite in the outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.
g That is, lacke of bread and meate.
h I stayed the fruites of the earth were destroyed with drought, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
i They could not finde water ynough where they had beard say it had rained.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 13 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His crafty counsel.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth b after the kings mowing.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the kings sheepe were shorne.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shall not be, sayth the Lord.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubburnesse of this people.

5 Then sayde I, O Lord God, ceasse, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lorde repented for this. This also shall not be, sayth the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line e with a line in his hand.

e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would defer his iudgement no longer.

8 And the Lorde sayde vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A line. Then sayd the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked priest more for hatred hee bare to the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemn him, whereas none other could take place.

9 And the hie places of Isaak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayst, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Isaak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, i Thy wife shall bee an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie fooreth of his land.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the King, he assaied by another practise that was to feare the Prophet, that hee might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profit.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God hath giuen him a charge which he must needes execute, i Thus God vsed to approoue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against the which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28.12. & 29. 21, 25. as this day he doth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel, 7 The Lorde sweareth, 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, & beholde, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he saide, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A basket of summer a fruit. Then sayd the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes, & the readinesse of Gods iudgements.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall bee howlings in that day, sayeth the Lord God: many dead bodyes shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, O yee that c swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the land to faile, c By staying the sale of food and necessarie things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickly that litle that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make e the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedie of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

e That is, the measure small, & the price great.

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this? and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and f drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lorde God, I will cause the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the midst of their prosperitie I will send great affliction.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

h Whereby hee sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word which is the food thereof.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the b worde of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and

the

the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne i of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and k the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles: which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet doe by theirs. k That is, the common maner of worshipping, and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 5 and against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lorde standing vpon the a altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the b heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: hee that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: & he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel. b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hidde from my sight in the bottome of the Sea, thence will I commaund the c serpent, and he shall bite them.

c He sheweth, how God wil declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euil, and not for good.

5 And the Lorde God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shal melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

d Ac declareth by the woonderful power of God by the making of the heauens, and the elementr, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.

6 Hee buildeth his d spheres in the heauen, & hath layd the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are yee not as the Ethiopians e vnto me, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from f Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or blacke Moores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.

f Reade Ierem. 47.4.

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it strane out of the earth. Neuerthelesse I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iaakob, sayth the Lord.

9 For loe, I wil commaund, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a siue: yet shall not the g least stone fall vpon the earth.

g Though he destroy the rebellious multitude, yet he will euer reserue the remnãt his Church to call vpon his name.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sworde, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day wil I raise vp the h tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I wil raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde, h Meaning, that none of his should perish in his wrath.

12 That they may possesse the remnant of k Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayth the Lord, that doeth this.

i I will send the Messiah promised, and restore by him the spirituall Israel, Actes 15.16.

k Meaning, that the very enemies, as were the Edomites and others, should be ioyned with the Iewes in one societie and body, whereof Christ should be the head.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lorde, that the plowman shall l touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall m droppe sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

l Signifying, that there shall be great plentie of all things, so that when one kinde of fruit is ripe, another should follow, 14 n And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall builde the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof, they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their lande, and they shall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, sayth the Lord thy God.

and euery one in course, Leuit. 26.5. m Read Ioel 3.18. n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer bee pulled, after they are once graffed therein.

Obadiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelty, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperity, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus sayeth the Lorde God against Edom, a Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and b let vs rise vp against her to battell.

a God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that hee wil raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Ierem. 49.14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, d Who shall bring mee downe to the ground?

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handful in cõparison of others, and art shut vp among the hils, as separate from the rest of the world. d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeeues when they come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behind them, Ierem. 49.9.

night? how waſt thou wrought to ſilence? would they not haue ſtollen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue ſome grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſought vp, and his treaſures ſearched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed againſt thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wounde vnder thee: there is none vnderſtanding in him.

8 Shal not I in that day, ſaith the Lord, euen deſtroy the wiſe men out of Edom, and vnderſtanding from the mount of Eſau?

9 And thy ſtrong men, O Teman, ſhall be afrayd, becauſe euery one of the mount of Eſau ſhalbe cut off by ſlaughter.

10 For thy crueltie againſt thy brother Iaakob, ſhame ſhall couer thee, and thou ſhalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou ſtoodeſt on the other ſide, in the day that the ſtrangers caried away his ſubſtance, and ſtrangers entred into his gates, and caſt lots vpon Ieruſalem, euen thou waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhouldeſt not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a ſtranger, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their deſtruction: thou ſhouldeſt not haue ſpoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou ſhouldeſt not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their deſtruction, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their deſtruction, nor haue layde hands on their ſubſtance in the day of their deſtruction.

14 Neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſtoode in the croſſe wayes to cut off them, that ſhould eſcape, neither ſhouldeſt thou haue ſhutte vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lord is neere vpon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhall be done to thee: thy reward ſhall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue drunke vpon mine holy mountaine, ſo ſhall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they ſhall drinke and ſwallow vp, and they ſhall bee as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion ſhall be deliuerance, and it ſhall bee holy, and the houſe of Iaakob ſhall poſſeſſe their poſſeſſions.

18 And the houſe of Iaakob ſhall bee a fire, and the houſe of Ioſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau as ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there ſhall be no remnant of the houſe of Eſau: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

19 And they ſhall poſſeſſe the South ſide of the mount of Eſau, and the plaine of the Philiſtims: and they ſhall poſſeſſe the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin ſhall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoſte of the children of Iſrael, which were among the Canaanites, ſhall poſſeſſe vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ieruſalem, which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſſe the cities of the South.

21 And they that ſhall ſaue, ſhall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Eſau, and the kingdome ſhalbe the Lords.

e They in whom thou didſt truſt, for to haue helpe and friendſhip of them, ſhall be thine enemies and deſtroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and gheſts haue by ſecret practiſes deſtroyed thee.

g Hee theweth the cauſe why the Edomites were ſo harpely puniſhed: to wit, becauſe they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by puniſhing their enemies.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came againſt Ieruſalem, thou ſtoodeſt with him, and haddeſt part of the ſpoile, and ſo diddeſt reioyce, when my people, that is, thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou ſhouldeſt haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lorde deptiued them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

k When he will ſummon all the heathen, & ſend them to deſtroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites ſhall be vtterly deſtroyed, and yet in deſpight of all the enemies I will reſerue my Church, and reſtore it.

n God attributeth this power to conſume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himſelfe, as Iſa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

o He deſcribeth how the Church ſhall be enlarged and haue great poſſeſſions, but this chiefly is accompliſhed vnder Chriſt, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head.

q Meaning, that God will rayſe vp in his Church ſuch as ſhall rule and gouerne for the defence of the ſame, and deſtruction of his enemies vnder Meſſiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and the head of this kingdome.

Ionah.

THE ARGNMENT.

When Ionah had long propheſied in Iſrael, and had litle profited, God gaue him expreſſe charge to goe and denounce his iudgements againſt Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians, becauſe hee had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, ſhould conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Iſrael might ſee how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, that for the ſpace of ſo many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lorde for ſo many Prophets, and ſo diligent preaching. He propheſied vnder Ioaſh and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CAAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when hee was ſint to preach. 4 A tempeſt ariſeth, 6 and he is caſt into the ſea for his diſobedience.

THe worde of the Lorde came also vnto Ionah the ſonne of Amittai, ſaying, 2 Ariſe, and goe to Nineueh, that great citie, and cry againſt it: for their wicked dneſſe is come before me.

3 But Ionah roſe vp to flee into Tarſhish from the preſence of the Lorde, and went downe to Iapho: and hee found a ſhippe going to Tarſhish: ſo hee payed the fare a After that he had preached a long time in Iſrael: and ſo Ezekiel, after that for a time hee had propheſied in Iudah, hee had viſions in Babylon, Ezek. 1, 1.

b For ſeeing the great obſtination of the Iſraelites, he ſent his Prophets to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at leaſt make them inexcuſable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians.

c For as authors write, it conteined in circuit about eight and fourtie mile, and had a thouſande and fiue hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundreth and twentie thouſand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

d Whereby he declareth his weakeneſſe, that would not promptly follow the Lordes calling, but gaue place to his owne reaſon, which perſwaded him that hee ſhould nothing at all profit there, ſeeing hee had done ſo ſmall good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen and port to take ſhipping thither, called alſo Ioppe.

fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the [e] presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the Sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the Shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy [h] God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery man to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast [i] lots, that we may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because hee had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the Sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, [k] We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the [m] belly of the fish three daies and three nights.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein hee would haue assisted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idoles: which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certainty, but in their troubles seeke they can not tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not bee done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shead mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods worde.

m Thus the Lorde would chastise the Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah in the fishes belly, 2 His praier, 10 He is deliuered,

When Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God [a] out of the fishes belly,

2 And saide, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly [b] of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am [c] cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my [d] life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying [e] vanities, forsake their owne [f] mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

a Being nowe swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brake out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of this very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For hee was now in the fishes belly, as in a grane or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his praier was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same, but yet in the end faith gaue the victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue one God alone.

f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnesse which they should receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh, 5 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a [b] great and excellent citie of three daies iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a [c] daies iourney, and he cried, and saide, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall be ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh [d] beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackecloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And hee proclaimed and saide through Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor [e] beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe & tendereth him forth as his Prophet, which had before discouered so great infirmitie.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

Fruit. glory,

f He willed, that the men ſhould earneſtly call vnto God for mercie.
g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conſcience, he doubted whether God would ſhewe them mercie.
h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the miniſtery of his Prophet.
i Reade Ieue. 18.8.

cloth, and f cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.
9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent & turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?
10 And God ſawe their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes: & i God repented of the euill that he had ſaid, that hee would not vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodneſſe of God toward his creatures.

a Because hereby he ſhould be taken as a falſe prophet, and ſo the Name of God which he preached ſhould be blaſphemed.
b Reade Chap. 1.3.
c Thus he praied of griefe, fearing leſt Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blaſphemed, as though hee ſent his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glory, and when I doe not?

THerefore it diſpleaſed a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.
2 And he praied vnto the Lord, and ſaid, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my ſaying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarſhiſh: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, ſlowe to anger, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteſt thee of the euill.
3 Therefore now, O Lorde, take, I beſeech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.
4 Then ſaid the Lord, Doeſt thou well to be d angry?
5 So Ionah went out of the city, & ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadow, till he might ſee what ſhould bee done in the citie.
6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a ſhadowe ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.
7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day: and it ſmote the gourd that it withered.
8 And when the Sunne did ariſe, God prepared alſo a fervent Eaſt winde: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that hee fainted, and wiſhed in his heart to die, and ſaid, It is better for mee to die, then to liue.
9 And God ſaid vnto Ionah, Doeſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid, I doe well to be e angry vnto the death.
10 Then ſaid the Lorde, Thou haſt had pitie on the gourd for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it growe, which came vp in a night, and periſhed in a night, 11 And ſhoulde b not I ſpare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are liue ſcore thouſand perſons, that i cannot diſcerne betweene their right hand and their left hand, and alſo much cattell?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would ſhew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie daies he departed out of the citie, looking what iſſue God would ſend.
f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the Sunne, as he remained in his boothe.
g This declareth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods ſeruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly ſubmit themſelues to God.
h Thus God mercifully reproueth him which would pitie himſelfe and this gourd, and yet would reſtraine God to ſhew his compaſſion to ſo many thouſand people.
i Meaning, that they were children and infants,

Micah.

THE ARGVMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſerued in the worke of the Lorde, concerning Iudah and Iſrael, at the leaſt thirtie yeeres, at what time Iſaiah propheſied. He declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende he noteth the wickednesse of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permiſſion of the falſe prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he ſetteth forth the comming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which reſiſted Ahab, and all his falſe Prophets, as 1. King. 22.8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael becauſe of their idolatry.

a Borne in Mareſhah a citie of Iudah.
b Because of the malice and obſtinacie of the people whom he had ſo oft exhorted to repentance, he ſummoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures and God himſelfe to witneſſe, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abuſed, ſhall be reuenged.
c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement againſt the ſtrong cities and holds.

THE word of the Lorde, that came vnto Micah the a Moraſhite in the daies of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which hee ſawe concerning Samaria and Ieruſalem.
2 Heare, b all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee witneſſe againſt you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.
3 For beholde, the Lorde commeth out of his place, and will come c downe, and treade vpon the hie places of the earth.
4 And the mountaines ſhal melt vnder him (ſo ſhal the valleys cleaue) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downe ward.
5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is all this, and for the ſinnes of the houſe of Iſrael: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem?
6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.
7 And all the grauen images thereof ſhal be broken, and all the f gifts thereof ſhal bee d Samaria which ſhould haue bene an example to all Iſrael of true religion and iuſtice, was the puddle and ſtewes of all idolatrie and corruption, and boaſted themſelues of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie and infection.
f Which they gathered by euill practiſes, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their ſeruice vnto them, burnt

burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne it to the wages of an harlot.

g The gaine that came by their idols, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.

10 Declare yee it not at [b] Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of [i] Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Ioſh. 18. 23 there called Ophrah, & signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust, for their dustie citie.

11 Thou that dwellest at [k] Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come foorth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall [l] receiue of you for his standing.

k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as he came to Iudah.

l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the [m] gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes [n] of price: she [o] is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth [p] Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an [q] heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, hee shall come vnto Adullam, [r] the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the egle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

m For Rabshakeh had shut vp Ierusalem, that they could not sende to succour them. n To flee away: for Sancherib layd siege first to that citie, and remained therein when hee sent his captaines and armie against Ierusalem. o Thou first receiuedst the idolatrse of Ieroboam, and so diddest infect Ierusalem. p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. q He prophesieth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, he sayth that God would send an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquity, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: [a] when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand [+] hath power.

a Alsone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt others.

+ Heb. is in power.

2 And they couet fieldes, and take them by violence, & houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his houſe, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, against this famille haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not pluck your necks, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill.

b Thus the Iewes lament, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, [b] We be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in [c] the congregation of the Lord.

c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you had in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.

6 [d] They that prophesied, Prophesie ye not. [e] They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets, that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortned? [f] are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him [g] that walketh vprightly?

e God saith that they shal not prophesie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

f Are these your workes according to his law?

8 But hee that was [h] yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemie: they spoyle the [i] beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

g Doe not the godly finde my words comfortable?

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glory continually.

h That is, aforetime.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your [l] rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

i The poore cannot haue no commoditie by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glory.

11 If a man [m] walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, [n] I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the Prophet of this people.

l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard, but the cause of your destruction. m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet. n He sheweth what prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tel them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

12 I will surely gather [o] thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their folde: the cities shall be ful of huit of the men.

o To destroy thee. p The enemy shal breake their gates & walles, and leade them into Caldea.

13 The [p] breaker vp shall come before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be [q] vpon their heads.

q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

AND I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: Should not yee knowe [a] iudgement?

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euil: they plucke off their skinne from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the [b] flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and choppe them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not onely of couetousnesse, theft, and murther, but compareth them to wolues, lions, and most cruell beasts.

4 Then [c] shall they crie vnto the Lorde, but hee will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

c That is, when I shall vtter their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they crie, Isa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare these though they crie, Isa. 1. 15. ezek. 8. 18. iam. 2. 13. 1. pet. 3. 11, 12.

5 Thus saith the LORD, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and [d] bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore [e] night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the Prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer [f] their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full [g] of power by the Spirite of the LORDE, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with [h] blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they [i] leane vpon the LORD, and say, Is not the LORDE among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee [k] plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the House, as the hie places of the forest.

d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shal goe wel: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischeefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenesse and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnesse, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God shal discouer them to the world, they shalbe afrayd to speake: for all shall know that they were but falle prophets, and did belie the word of God.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him gifties, abilitie and knowledge to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.

h They build them houses by briberie, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie.

i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie.

k Reade Ieremiah 26.18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the [a] last dayes it shal come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the LORD shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, & it shalbe exalted aboue the [b] hilles, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will [c] teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and [d] rebuke mighty nations afarre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into [e] sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they [f] learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figtree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the LORD of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke [g] every one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lorde our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the LORD, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, [h] a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the LORDE shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, [i] O tower of the flocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen [k] the first dominion, and kingdome, shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is [l] there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow & mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe foorth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the LORDE shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they [m] knowe not the thoughts of the LORD: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hoofes brasse, and thou shalt breake in peeces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the LORDE, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2.2.

c He sheweth that there is no true Church, but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word.

d By his corrections and threatnings, hee will bring the people into subiection, which are in the vtmost corners of the world.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlinesse and in well doing to others.

f Reade Isa. 2.4.

g Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the world should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.

h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroied, shall liue againe, and grow into a great people.

i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

m Hee sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the bragges and threatenings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victorie, so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall bee at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 3 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath layd siege against vs: they shal smite the Iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah, art [b] little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall hee come forth vnto mee, that shall bee the ruler in Israel:

a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shal come, before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lorde would now cause other garisons to vexe her, and that her rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes diuided their country, that for euery thousande there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-lehem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefit, as Matth. 2.6.

Israel:

c He ſheweth that the comming of Chriſt and all his workes were appointed of God from all eternitie.
d He compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time ſhould haue great ſorowes, but at length they ſhould haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn 16.21.
e That is, Chriſts kingdome ſhalbe ſtable and euerlaſting, & his people, alwell the Gentiles as the Iewes ſhall dwell in ſafetie.
f This Meſſiah ſhalbe a ſufficient ſafegard for vs, & though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet ſhall God ſtir vp many which ſhalbe able to deliuer vs.
g Theſe whom God ſhall raiſe vp for y deliuerance of his Church, ſhall deſtroy all the enemies therof, which are meant here by the Aſſyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.
h By theſe gouernors wil God deliuer vs when the enemy commeth into our land.
i This remnant or Church which God ſhall deliuer, ſhall only depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the graſſe of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.
k I will deſtroy all things wherein thou putteſt thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and ſo will helpe thee.
l It ſhalbe ſo terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of,

Iſrael: whoſe c goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlaſting.
3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d ſhe which ſhall beare, ſhall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren ſhal returne vnto the children of Iſrael.
4 And he ſhall e ſtand, and feede in the ſtrength of the Lord, and in the maieſtie of the Name of the Lorde his God, and they ſhall dwell ſtill: for now ſhall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.
5 And he f ſhalbe our peace when Aſſhur ſhall come into our lande: when hee ſhall treade in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeuen ſhepheards, and eight principall men.
6 And they ſhall deſtroy g Aſſhur with the ſworde, and the land of Nimrod with their ſwordes: thus ſhall he h deliuer vs from Aſſhur, when hee commeth into our lande, and when hee ſhall treade within our borders.
7 And the i remnant of Iaakob ſhall bee among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the ſhowres vpon the graſſe, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the ſonnes of Adam.
8 And the remnant of Iaakob ſhal be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beaſtes of the foreſt, and as the lyons whelpe among the flocks of ſheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.
9 Thine hand ſhall be lift vp vpon thine aduerſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall bee cut off.
10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I will cut off thine k horſes out of the middes of thee, and I will deſtroy thy charets.
11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy ſtrong holds.
12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hande: and thou ſhalt haue no more ſoothſayers.
13 Thine idoles alſo will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the worke of thine hands.
14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the midſt of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thine enemies.
15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, l which they haue not heard.

2 Heare yee, O mountaines, the Lordes quarrell, and yee mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lorde hath a quarrell againſt his people, and he will plead with Iſrael.
3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? teſtifie againſt me.
4 Surely I b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſeruants, and I haue ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.
5 O my people, remember nowe what Balak king of Moab had deuiſed, and what Balaam the ſonne of Beor anſwered him, from c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may know the d righteouſneſſe of the Lord.
6 Wherewith e ſhall I come before the Lord, and bowe my ſelfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offrings, and with calues of a yeere olde?
7 Will the Lorde bee pleaſed with thouſands of rammes, or with ten thouſand riuers of oyle? ſhall I giue my firſt borne for my tranſgreſſion, euen the fruite of my boote for the ſinne of my ſoule?
8 He hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: ſurely to doe iuſtly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy ſelfe, to walke with thy God.
9 The Lords voice cryeth vnto the f citie, and the man of wiſedome ſhall ſee thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.
10 Are yet the treaſures of wicke dneſſe in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure, that is abhominable?
11 Shall I iuſtifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitful weights?
12 For the rich men g therof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants therof haue ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.
13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſicke in ſmiting thee, and in making thee deſolate, becauſe of thy ſinnes.
14 Thou ſhalt eate and not bee ſatisfied, and h thy caſting downe ſhall bee in the midſt of thee, and thou ſhalt take holde, but ſhalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuereſt, will I giue vp to the ſword.
15 Thou ſhalt ſowe, but not reape: thou ſhalt treade the olives, but thou ſhalt not anoynt thee with oyle: and make ſweete wine, but ſhalt not drinke wine.
16 For the m ſtatutes of Omri are kept,

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement againſt Iſrael being vnkind. 6 What maner of ſacrifices doe pleaſe God.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witneſſe againſt the obſtinacie of his people.

HEarken ye now what the Lord ſaith, Ariſe thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voice.

b I haue not hurt thee, but beſtowed infinite benefits vpon thee.
c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curſe, and alſo ſpared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promiſed.
d That is, the trueth of his promiſe, and his manifold benefits toward you.
e Thus the people by hypocriſie aske how to pleaſe God, and are content to offer ſacrifices, but will not change their liues.
f There is nothing ſo deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his anger: but they will neuer bee brought to mortifie their owne affections, and to giue themſelues willingly to ſerue God as he commandeth.
g The Prophet in fewe words calleth them to the obſeruation of the ſecond table, to knowe if they will obey God aright or no, ſaying that God hath preſcribed them to doe this.
h Meaning, that when God ſpeaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maieſtie, and conſider not the moſt all man that bringeth the threatning, but God that ſendeth it.
i That is, Ieruſalem.
k Thou ſhalt bee conſumed with inwarde griefe and euils.
l Meaning that the citie ſhould goe about to ſaue her men, as they that lay hande on that which they would preſerue.
m You haue received all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his ſonne: and to excuſe your doings, you alledge the kings authoritie by his ſtatutes, and alſo wiſedome and policie in ſo doing, but you ſhall not eſcape puniſhment, but as I haue ſhewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, ſo ſhall your plagues be accordingly. Luke 12.47.

and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and yee walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

WOe is me, for I am as a the Sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in waite for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the Iudge, and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man hee speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abideineth from no wickednesse, nor iniurie.

4 The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall bee their confusion.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euil.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wait for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioice not against me, f O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.

f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lorde, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie shall g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eies shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is i the day that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away k the decree.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Assur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of m their inuentions.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

14 n Feed thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them, as in time past.

15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt will I shewe vnto him marueilous things.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people, as hee had beneafore time.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hande vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.

p They shall be as dumme men, and dare brag no more, q They shall bee astonished, and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shal be afraid of the Lord our God, and shal feare because of thee.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? He retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

t Meaning of his elect.

20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in old time.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which hee had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueth shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the worde of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroied, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, hee stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth hee propheceied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe [a] burden of Nineueh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the [b] Elkeshite.

2 God is [c] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: enen the Lorde [d] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and hee reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [e] Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lorde hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the clondes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and hee dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the flowre of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde and all that dwell therein.

6 [f] Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lorde is good, [g] and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will vtterly destroy the [h] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee [i] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto [k] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shal be deuoured as stubble fully dryed.

11 There [l] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euil against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus sayeth the Lorde, Though they be [m] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they bee cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lorde hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 [p] Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, perfourme thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa. 13.1.
b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer aswageth towarde the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercie an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Lest the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that hee hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricked on all sides, yet the Lorde will set fire on them, and as drumken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall bee nothing able to resist him.
m Which may bee vnderstoode either of Sanecherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.
n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, hee will destroy them: notwithstanding hee comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.
o Meaning, Sanecherib, who should haue no moe children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19.36,37. Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15.
p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sanecherib.

CHAP. II.

He describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lorde hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shall bee as in the fire and flames in the daye of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightening.

5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shal melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall bee led away captiue, and her maides shal lead her as with the voice of doues smiting vpon their breastes.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stande, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoile ye the siluer, spoile the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] She is emptie and void, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blackenesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyon and the lyoneesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and wozied for his lyoneesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with ruine.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians, which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scorneth them: reade Isa. 10.12.
c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed, d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch: but they shalbe scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.
h God commaundeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.
i That is, Nineueh and the men thereof shalbe after this sort.
k Reade Ioel 2.6.
l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children.

13 Beholde,

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and I will burne her charets in the [m] ſmoke, and the ſwoꝛde ſhall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy ſpoile from the earth, and the voice of thy [n] meſſengers ſhall no moꝛe be heard.

m That is, as ſoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

n Signifying the heralds, which were accuſtomed to proclaime warre.

Some reade of the gumme teeth, wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can eſcape the hand of God.

O Bloodie citie, it is all full of lies, and robberie: [a] the praye departeth not.

2 The noiſe of a whip, [b] and the noiſe of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horſes, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horſeman lifteth vp both the bright ſwoꝛd, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their coꝛpſes: they ſtumble vpon their coꝛpſes,

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a miſtreſſe of witchcraft, and ſelleth the people through her whoꝛedome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, and will diſcouer thy ſkirts vpon thy face, and will ſhew the nations thy filthineſſe: and the kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt filth vpon thee, [d] make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gaſing ſtocke.

7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee, ſhal flee from thee, and ſay, Nineueh is deſtroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where ſhall I ſeeke comfoꝛters foꝛ thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was full of people, that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it, whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were her helpers.

10 Yet was ſhee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of all the ſtreetes: and they caſt lots foꝛ her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt be dꝛunken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelfe, and ſhalt ſeeke helpe, becauſe of the enemie.

12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhall bee like figge trees with the firſt ripe figs: foꝛ if they bee ſhaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire ſhal deuoure thy barres.

14 Dꝛawe thee waters foꝛ the ſiege: foꝛtifie thy ſtrong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the moꝛter: make ſtrong bricke.

15 There ſhall the fire deuoure thee: the ſwoꝛd ſhall cut thee off: it ſhall eate thee vp like the [e] locuſts, though thou bee multiplyed like the locuſts, and multiplyed like the graſſhopper.

16 Thou haſt multiplyed thy merchants aboue the ſtarres of heauen: the locuſt ſpoyleth and fleeth away.

17 Thy princes are as the graſſhoppers, and thy capraines as the great graſſhoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the ſunne ariſeth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy [f] ſhepheards doe ſleepe, O king of Aſſhur: thy ſtrong men lye downe: thy people is ſcattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gatheꝛeth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is gꝛeuous: all that heare the hault of thee ſhall clap the hands ouer thee: foꝛ vpon whom hath not thy malice paſſed continually?

a It neuer ceaſed to ſpoile and robbe.

b He ſheweth howe the Caldeans ſhall haſte, and how couragious their horſes ſhal be in beating the ground, when they come againſt the Aſſytians.

c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and ſubiltie entiſeth yong men and bringeth them to deſtruction.

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with ſo many nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.

e Signifying that Gods iudgemẽts ſhall ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians, as theſe vermine are with raine or change of weather.

f Thy princes and counſellers.

g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Aſſyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, conſidering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can ſee none end. Therefore he had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, and that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubburneſſe and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leaſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeeing this horrible confuſion, hee comforteth them by this, that God will puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie ſhalbe at height: wherefore he exhoꝛteth the faithfull to patience by his owne exampte, and ſheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they ſhould comfoꝛt themſelues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint againſt the wicked that perſecute the iuſt.

THe burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.

2 O Lord, how long ſhal I cry, and thou wilt not heare! euen cry out vnto thee foꝛ violence, & thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doeſt thou ſhew me iniquitie, and cauſe me to behold ſoꝛow? foꝛ ſpoyling, and violence are before mee: and there are that raiſe vp ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is diſſolued, and iudgement doth neuer goe foꝛth: foꝛ the wicked doeth [b] compaſſe aboue the righteous: therefoꝛe [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marualle: foꝛ I will woꝛke a woꝛke in your dayes: [d] ye will not beleeue it, though it be told you.

6 Foꝛ loe, I raiſe vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to poſſeſſe the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

a. The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in ſtead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, oꝛtention & ſtrife.

b To ſuppreſſe him if any ſhould ſhew himſelfe zealous of Gods cauſe.

c Becauſe the iudges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as euill as the reſt.

d As in times paſt you would not beleeue Gods word, ſo ſhall ye not now beleeue the ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: e their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, & are more fierce then the wolues in the f euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shal come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an f East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie g as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the Princes shall be a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shall gather h dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they i take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall k not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, & O God, thou hast established the for correction.

13 Thou are of pure eies, & canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the l fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, wherof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their m net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meate plenteous.

17 Shal they therfore streech out their net & not spare continually to slay n the nations?

e They themselues shalbe your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authority ouer them, to controll them. Zeph 3 3.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruits.

g They shalbe so many in number.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithful that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shal abuse this victory, & become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, & also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod.

l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, & glory in their owne force, power, & wit.

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my a watch, and set mee vpon the towre, and will looke & see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne b that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the c last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tary, wait: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, d hee that lifteth vp himself, his d spirit is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, in deede the proud man is as e hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shal he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, & a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Vo, hee that increaseth that which is not his? f howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall s they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall vexe thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwel therein.

9 Vo, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the i stone shall cry out of the wal, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the k Lord of hosts, that the people shal labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall bee l filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lorde, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour m drinke: thou powrest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame n for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lordes right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwel therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lyes, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q beholde, it is layde a I wil renounce mine own iudgment, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affection, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed. d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1. 17. gal. 3. 11. heb. 10. 38. e Hee compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that all the word shall wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression & couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as hee thinketh to enrich it by crueltie and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare thorow all the world.

m He reproacheth thus the king of Babylon who as hee was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of thine thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne. o Because the Babylonians were cruell, not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Libanon, and the beastes therein, hee sheweth that the like crueltie shall be executed against them.

p Hee sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blockes or stones. read Ieremiah. 10. 8.

CHAP. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O LORD, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afrayd: O LORDE, reuiue thy [c] worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. his glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the LORD angry against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride [i] vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou [m] diddest cleane the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The [o] Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine [q] Annointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouerdst the foundations vnto the [r] necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest [s] strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter me: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my belly trembled: my lippes shooke at the voice: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in [u] the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp [x] vnto the people, he shal destroy them.

17 For the figge tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the Oliue shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the fold, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioice in the LORD: I will ioy [y] in the God of my saluation.

19 The LORD God is my strength: he will make my feete like hindes feete, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. [z] To the chiefe singer on Neginothat.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afrayd when they heard Gods threatnings, & prayed.

c That is, the stare of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

e Whereby is meant a power that was ioyned with his brightnesse, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reuealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal 31.16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.

h Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies, and deliuer his Church.

i And so didst vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For hee had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renued it with his posterity.

m Read Num. 20.11.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

o As appeareth, Iosh. 10.12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weopons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

q Signifying that there is no saluation but by Christ.

r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroied his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how hee was afraid of Gods indgements.

u Hee sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y Hee declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke shall haue occasion to prayse God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was nowe no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should bee vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of God vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continual care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the ende they should bee gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the [a] fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I wil also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with the Priests, 9 In the same day also will I visite all those that [e] daunce vpon the thresholde so proudly, which fill their maisters houses by crueltie and deceite.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with [h] lights, and visite the men that are frosen in their dregs, and lay in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shalbe spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also builde houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lorde is neere: it is neere and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: [k] the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shal walke like blinde men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lordes wrath, but the * whole land shall bee deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for hee shal make euen a speedie riddance of al them that dwell in the land.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures, and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust rewarde of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom hee had promised, & by whom they should attaine to perfit ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the seconde yeere of king a Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto b Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak, the hie Priest, saying.

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, c that the Lordes house should bee builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministery of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for you selues to dwell in your d ceiled houses, & this house lie waste?

5 Nowe therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 e Yee haue sowen much, and bring in little: yee eate, but ye haue not ynough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: ye clothe you, but yee be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe f vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and s I will bee fauourable in it, and I will h bee glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Yee looked for much, and loe, it came to little: and when yee brought it home, I did blowe i vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from deawe, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the k voyce of the Lorde their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as y Lord their God had sent him) & then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lordes message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the l spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirite of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis, & the third king of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred vp and admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures, before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policie to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your praiers according to my promise, 1. King 8. 21, 29.

h That is, my glory shall beset forth by you.

i And to bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31. Iud. 7. 20. Act. 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glorie of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this a House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet nowe be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, sayth the Lorde, and bee of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong all yee people of the land, saith the Lord, and b do it: for I am with you, sayth the Lord of hostes, 6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, c Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

a For the people according as Isai. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but § Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should bee accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning, Chriſt, whom all ought to looke for and deſire: or by deſire, he may ſignifie all precious things, as riches and ſuch like.

8 And I will moue all nations, and d the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this houſe with glory, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes.

9 The e ſiluer is mine, and the golde is mine, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

10 The glory of this laſt Houſe ſhall bee greater then the firſt, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſts: and in this place will I giue f peace, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the ſecond yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Haggai, ſaying, 12 Thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, Aske now the prieſts concerning the Law, and ſay, 13 If one beare g holy fleſh in the ſkirt of his garment, and with his ſkirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, ſhall it be holy? and the Prieſts anſwered, and ſayd, No.

14 Then ſayd Haggai, If a polluted perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall it be vncleane? And the Prieſts anſwered, and ſayd, It ſhal be vncleane.

15 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſayd, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſayth the Lord: and ſo are all the workes of their handes, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, conſider in your mindes: from this h day, and afore, euen afore a ſtone was layde vpon a ſtone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 i Before theſe things were, when one came to an heape of twentie meaſures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine preſſe for to drawe out fiftie veſſels out of the preſſe, there were but twentie.

18 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

19 Conſider, I pray you, in your mindes, from k this day, and afore from the foure and twentith day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: conſider it in your mindes.

20 Is the l ſeede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentith day of the moneth, ſaying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and ſay, I m will ſhake the heauens and the earth, 23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the n kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſe and the riders ſhall come downe, euery one by the ſword of his brother.

24 In that day, ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſeruant the ſonne of Shealtiel, ſaith the Lorde, and will make thee as a o ſignet: for I haue choſen thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

g That is, the fleſh of the ſacrifices: whereby he ſignifieth that that thing, which of it ſelfe is good, cannot make an other thing ſo: and therefore they ought not to iuſtifie themſelues by their ſacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt thoſe things, and make them deteſtable vnto God, which elſe are good and godly.

h Conſider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiſeth that God would bleſſe them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they ſhould haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueſt came, and then they ſhould ſee Gods bleſſings.

m I will make a change, and renew all things in Chriſt of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby hee ſheweth that there ſhalbe no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull reſtitution of his Church.

o Signifying, that his dignity ſhould be moſt excellent, which thing was accompliſhed in Chriſt.

Zechariah.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to propheſie, Zechariah was alſo ſent of the Lorde to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the ſame doctrine. Firſt therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cauſe God had ſo ſore puniſhed their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfeinedly, and not abuſe this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull ſhould haue, from death and ſinne, by Chriſt. But becauſe they ſtill remained in their wickedneſſe and coldeneſſe to ſet forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long baniſhment, he rebuketh them moſt ſharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promiſe of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Chriſt, in whom all ſhould be ſanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, & to eſchew the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He ſignifieth the reſtitution of Ieruſalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the ſecond yeere of a Darius came the worde of the Lorde vnto b Zechariah the ſonne of Berechiah, the ſonne of Iddo, the Prophet, ſaying, a Who was the ſonne of Hyſtaſpis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the ſame name, and is called the ſonne of Berechiah, as hee was, becauſe hee came of thoſe progenitors, as of Ieiada or Berechiah and Iddo.

2 The Lorde hath bene c ſore diſpleaſed with your fathers.

c He ſpeaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they ſhuckle not prouoke him, as their fathers had done, whom hee ſo grieuouſly puniſhed.

3 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, d Turne yee vnto mee, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, and I will turne vnto you, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes.

d Let your fruites declare, that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his ſpirite, and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God muſt conuert him, as Ieremi. 31, 18, Lament. 5. 21. Iſaiah 21. 8. and 31. 6, and 45. 21.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom

the

Ier. 3 12. Ezek. 18.30. Hose. 14. Ioel 2.12.

the former * Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto mee, sayeth the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where e are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of f your fathers? And they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lorde vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I i saw by night, and beholde k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrthe trees that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white.

9 Then sayd I, O my Lord, What are these? and the Angel that talked with mee, sayd vnto mee, I will shew thee what these bee.

10 And the man that stoode among the myrthe trees answered, and sayd, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lorde, that stoode among the myrthe trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorow the worlde: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the m Angel of the Lord answered, and sayd, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lorde answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, sayd vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, I am n ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angrie but o a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall bee builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q bee broken with plentie: the Lorde shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and sawe, and beholde, r foure hornes.

19 And I sayde vnto the Angel that talked with me, What bee these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure s carpenters.

21 Then sayd I, What come these to do? And he answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

p To measure out the buildings.
q The abundance shalbe so great that the places of store shall not be able to conteine these blessings, that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnesse.
r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.
s These carpenters or smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then sayd I, Whither goest thou? And he sayd vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with mee, went foorth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this b yong man, and say, c Ierusalem shall bee inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, sayth the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will * bee the glory in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, come e foorth, and flee from the land of the North, sayeth the Lorde: for I haue scattered you into the foure f winds of the heauen, sayth the Lord.

7 Sane g thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After this i glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for hee that toucheth a That is, the Angel, who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God, and so called.

b Meaning, himselfe Zechariah.
c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel thorow all the world, and should neede no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued, d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch neere.

and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.
f He calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.
g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.
h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church.
i Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angel, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shal not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal. 17.8.

l Vpon the heathen, your enemies.

m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs.

n This must necessarily be vnderstoode of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as hee was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

you, toucheth the k apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and they m shall bee a spoyle to those that serued them, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath n sent me.

10 Reioyce, and bee glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

AND hee shewed mee Iehoshua the high Priest, a standing before the Angel of the Lord, and b Satan stoode at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the c Lord said vnto Satan, The Lorde rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the e filthie garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of rayment.

5 And I said, Let them s set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lorde testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also h iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.

8 Heare nowe, O Iehoshua, the high Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but beholde, I will bring forth the m Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the n stone that I haue layde before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: beholde, I will o cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take p away the iniquity of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall yee call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes. 6.12.

c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.

d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and nowe Satan sought to afflict and trouble him, when he was doing his office. c In respect of the glorious garments, and the precious stones that the Priestes did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should bee made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what apparell he speaketh, which is when our filthie sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the rayment, the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and king: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it. h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby hee meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.

k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying, that all the godly should willingly receiue him.

l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, & esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8.18.

m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not only he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11.1. Iere. 23.5. and 33.14, 15. n Hee sheweth that the ministers can not builde, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4.10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visit their sinnes no more. q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2.2. micah. 4.4. hag. 2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? and I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a a candlestick all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen b pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olme trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto mee, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.

7 Who art thou, O e great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and f hee shall bring forth the head stone a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithful that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.

c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. d Hee sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though hee vse no mans helpe thereunto. e Hee compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindred Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying.

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and g then shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two olive branches, which thorow me the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then sayd hee, These are the two [l] olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ, sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginning of the Temple.

i Whereby hee signifieth the plummet & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while bee discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap.3.9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lamps: Signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeuery, & such as abuse the Name of God, 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth y Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twenty cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then sayd hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shall bee cut off aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth shall be cut off, aswell on this side, as on that.

b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour,

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the theefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

c Meaning, whersoeuer he be in the world.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth and said vnto me, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

d Hee that transgresseth the first table, & seeueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name.

6 And I said, What is it? And he sayd, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth forth. He sayd moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them, thorow all the earth.

e Which was a measure in drie things, conteining about ten pottels.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the midst of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is [i] wickednes, and he cast it into the midst of the Ephah, and hee cast the waight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two [k] women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke), and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

g To couer the measure.

10 Then sayd I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

11 And hee sayd vnto mee, [l] To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

i Signifying that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountains of brasse.

a By charets here, as by horses afore, hee meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter, 4 Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto mee, These are the [g] foure spirits of the heauen, which go forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

c Which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie. f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare thorow all the world.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the [h] South countrey.

7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe thorow the world. And he sayd, Go, passe thorow the world. So they went thorow out the world.

h Meaning, Egypt, and other countreys thereabout. i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob 1.12.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, & you were deliuered.

l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, & doubted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Lawe, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning, Christ, of whome Iehoshua was a figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadowe.

r The two offices of the kingdome and priesthood shal be so joyned together, that they shall bee no more disseuered.

s Who was also called Heldai.

t He also was called Iosiah.

u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Acts 1.6.

x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall help toward the building of this spiritual Temple, by the faith.

y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house l of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the m head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Behold the man whose name is the n Branch, and he shall growe o vp out of his place, and he shall p build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the q glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene r them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to s Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, & to t Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a u memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are x farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lorde, and yee shall know that the Lorde of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will y obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

a Which contained part of November and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Ier.41.2.

c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.

e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

AND in the fourth yeere of king Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in a Chisleu,

2 For b they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I c weepe in the fift moneth, and d separate my selfe as I haue done these so many e yeeres?

4 Then came the worde of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the f Priestes, & say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did yee fast vnto me? euo I approoue it?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate h for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the words, which the Lord i hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, k Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and l pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his m spirit by the ministery of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knew not: thus the land was desolate o after them, that no man passed thorowe nor returned: for they layed the pleasant land o waste.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God, because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.

h Did yee not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine according to yourowne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth.23.23.

l And would not cary the Lords burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem.9.29.

m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.

n That is, after they were caried captiue, o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I was a telous for Zion with great telousie, and I was telous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a b citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniury.

b Because shee shall be faithfull and loyal toward me her husband.

Lord of hosts, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet c old men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be ful of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it bee d vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, sayeth the Lord of hosts?

7 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall e dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall bee my people, and I will be their God in trueth and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Let your f hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the House of the Lorde of hostes was layde, that the Temple might bee builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreat the residue of this people as afore time, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish h you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, sayeth the Lord of hosts, and repented not,

15 So againe I haue determined in these dayes i to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal doe. Speake yee euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oth: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the k tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feastes: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come l people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, * Vp, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lorde of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say, We will goe with you: for wee haue heard that God is with you.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and encrease their children in great abundance.

d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gene. 18.14. Rom. 4.20.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God wil accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18.20.

i Which declareth that man can not turne to God till he change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: & here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shal haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauinesse: for God will send them ioy & gladnesse.

l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should bee in the kingdome of Christ. Isa. 2, 3, micah. 4, 1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lorde in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus shall bee his b rest: when the c eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border d thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be e very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streetes.

4 Beholde, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her f power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shal see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the g stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his h teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall bee as a prince in Iudah, and i Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about k mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God wil destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they closked with this name of Wisedome.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.

g Meaning, that all should bee destroyed saue a very fewe, that should remaine as strangers.

h Hee promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them.

i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.

k Hee sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, bee they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

any more: for nowe I haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy king commeth vnto thee: [m] hee is iust, and saued himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an [n] asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the [o] charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bow of the battel shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from [p] sea vnto sea, and from the [q] riuer vnto the end of the land.

11 [r] Thou also shalt bee saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue looked thy [s] prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the [t] strong holde, yee [u] prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the [x] double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I [y] bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, [z] and subdue them with sling stones, and they shal drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the [a] stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the mayds.

1 That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue bene afflicted by their enemies.

m That is, he hath righteousnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21.5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.

q That is, from Euphrates.

r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, where of the blood of the sacrifice was a figure, and is heere called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that hee bare vnto them.

s God sheweth that he wil deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.

t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

u Meaning, the faithful, which seemed to bee in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.

x That is, double benefites and prosperity, in respect of that which your fathers inioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.

y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee heere meaneth by the Grecians.

z Hee promiseth that the Iewes shal destroy their enemies and haue abundance and exceesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to mooue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the hie Priest.

CHAP. X.

1 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the [a] Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lorde make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely [b] the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore [c] they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visit the [d] goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out [f] of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mighty men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house [b] of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will [i] hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I will [k] sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreys: and they shall liue with their children, and [l] turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And hee [m] shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Asshur shall bee cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague, he willeth them to returne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he wil giue them abundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorceters who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, the cruel gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34.16 17.

e He will be mercifull to his Church, and cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse, which shall be for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shal the chiefe gouernour proceed, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building, and as a naile to fasten it together.

g Ouer their enemies.

h That is, the tenne tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby hee declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when hee will deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse hee can call them from all places suddenly.

k Though they shall bee yet scattered and seeme to bee lost, yet it shall bee profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull u committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Jerusalem and Judah.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle yee, O okes of Basan, for the c defenced forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepheards: for their d glory is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Jordan is destroyed.

4 Thus sayth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lorde: but loe, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hande of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me l two staues: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one month, and my soule loathed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then sayd I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beauty, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I sayd vnto them, If yee thinke it good, giue mee p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord sayd vnto mee, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Judah and Israel.

15 And the Lord sayd vnto mee, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sworde shall bee vpon his s arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall bee cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vterly darkened.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountainethat no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shal shew it selfe ready to receiue them.
b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.
c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.
d That is, the renowne of Iudah and Israel should perish.
e Which being nowe destinate to bee slaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth.
f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.
g He noteth ỹ hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoile of their brethren.
h I will cause one to destroy another.
i Their gouernours shall execute cruelty ouer them.
k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercy vnto.
l God sheweth his great benefits towarde his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither bee ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therfore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.
m Whereby hee sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euill rulers, because they should consider his great loue.
n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God.
o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements.
p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednes, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought.
q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple.
r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of gouernement: but in effect it should bee nothing: for they should be wolues and deuouring beasts in stead of the shepheards.
s And is in health and sound.
t By the arme hee signifieth strength, as he doeth wisedome and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Jerusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon a Israel, sayth the Lord, which spread the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him,

2 Behold, I will make Jerusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Judah will bee be, in the siege against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Jerusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, sayth the Lorde, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Judah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Judah shall say in their hearts, The c inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Judah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Jerusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Jerusalem.

7 The Lord also shal preserue the d tents of Judah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem against Judah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, a That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefits in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remain in captiuity, then to returne home, when God called them.

b Jerusalem shall bee defended against al her enemies: so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shal destroy ỹ enemies.
c Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shal now thinke that the small power of Jerusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.
d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem the Spirit of e grace and of compaſſion, and they ſhall looke vpon me, whom they haue f pearced, and they ſhall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely ſonne, and be ſory for him as one is ſory for his firſt borne.

11 In that day ſhall there bee a great mourning in Ieruſalem, as the h mourning of i Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the k land ſhall bewaile euery family l apart, the family of the m houſe of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the houſe of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of n Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that o remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

e They ſhal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compaſſion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obſtinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Iohn 19. 37. where it is referred to Chriſts body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

g They ſhall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had ſo grieuouſly offended by their ingratitude.

h They ſhall lament, and repent exceedingly for their offences againſt God.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Ioſias was ſlaine, 2. Chro. 35. 22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes ſhall remaine.

l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance ſhould not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe ſhall lament.

m Vnder theſe certaine families hee conteineth all the tribes, and ſheweth that both the Kings and the Prieſts had by their ſinnes pearced Chriſt.

n Called alſo Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preſerued from the common deſtruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly againſt falſe prophets.

a He ſheweth what ſhalbe the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remiſſion of ſinnes by the blood of Chriſt, which ſhall be a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleanneſſe.

b He promiſeth that God will alſo purge them from all ſuperſtition, and that their religion ſhalbe pure.

c Meaning, the falſe prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane ſpirits.

d That is, when they ſhall propheſie lies, and make God, who is the author of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

e He ſheweth what zeale the godly ſhall haue vnder the kingdome of Chriſt, Deut. 13 6, 9.

f God ſhall make them aſhamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they ſhall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine ſeeme more holy.

g They ſhall confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

IN that day there a ſhall bee a fountaine opened to the houſe of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, for ſinne and for vncleanneſſe.

2 And in that day, ſayth the Lorde of hoſts, I will cut off the b names of the idoles out of the land: and they ſhall no more be remembred: and I will cauſe the c prophets, and the vncleane ſpirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any ſhal yet d propheſie, his father and his mother that begate him, ſhall ſay vnto him, Thou ſhalt not liue: for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, e ſhall thruſt him through, when hee propheſieth.

4 And in that day ſhall the prophets f be aſhamed euery one of his viſion, when hee hath propheſied: neither ſhall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he ſhall ſay, I am no Prophet: I am an huſbandman: for man taught me to be an herdman from my youth vp.

6 And one ſhall ſay vnto him, What are theſe g wounds in thine hands? Then hee ſhal anſwere, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 Awake, O ſword, vpon my i ſhepheard, and vpon the man, that is my felow, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the ſhepheard, and the ſheepe ſhall bee ſcattered, and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones,

8 And in all the lande, ſayth the Lord, k two parts therein ſhall bee cut off, and die: but the third ſhall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the ſiluer is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they ſhall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, The Lord is my God.

g They ſhall confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Hereby hee ſheweth that though their parents and friends delt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would ſo puniſh their children, that became falſe prophets, that the markes and ſignes ſhould remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort ſhould come vnder Chriſt, there ſhould be an horrible diſſipation among the people: for their gouernours and paſtours ſhould bee deſtroyed, and the people ſhould bee as ſcattered ſheepe: and the Euangeliſt applieth this to Chriſt, becauſe he was the head of all paſtours, Matth. 26 31.

k The greateſt part ſhal haue no portion of theſe bleſſings, and yet they that ſhall enioy them, ſhall be tried with great afflictions, ſo that it ſhall be knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preſerue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that ſhall proceed out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy ſpoyle ſhall bee a diuided in the midſt of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Ieruſalem to battel, and the citie ſhalbe taken, and the houſes ſpoiled, and the women deſiled, and halfe of the citie ſhall goe into captiuitie, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then ſhall the Lord go forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when b he fought in the day of battel.

4 And his feete ſhall ſtande in that day vpon the c mount of oliues, which is before Ieruſalem on the Eaſt ſide, and the mount of oliues ſhall cleaue in the middeſt thereof: toward the Eaſt and toward the Weſt there ſhall bee a very great d valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remoue towarde the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee ſhall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhal reach vnto Azal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as yee fled from the f earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God ſhall come, and all the ſaints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhal there be no cleere light, but darke.

7 And there ſhalbe a day (it is knowen to a He armeth the godly againſt the great tentations that ſhould come before they enioyed this proſperous eſtate promiſed vnder Chriſt, that when theſe dangers ſhould come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red ſea, and at all other times.

c By this maner of ſpeech the Prophet ſheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle ſaue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world they ſhall ſee Ieruſalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the ſpirituall Ieruſalem the Church.

e Hee ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.

f Reade Amos 1. 1.

g Becauſe they did not credite the Prophets wordes, hee turneth to God, and comforteth himſelfe in that that hee knew that theſe things ſhould come, and ſaith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there ſhould be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would ſend comfort.

the Lord) h neither day nor night, but about the euening time it ſhall be light.

8 And in that day ſhall there i waters of life goe out from Jeruſalem, halfe of them towarde the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them towarde the vttermoſt ſea, and ſhall be both in ſummer and winter.

9 And the Lord ſhall be king ouer all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one k Lord, and his Name ſhall be one.

10 All the land ſhalbe turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jeruſalem, and it ſhal be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Benjamins gate vnto the place of the firſt gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananel, vnto the kings wine preſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more deſtruction, but Jeruſalem ſhalbe ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhall be the plague, wherewith the Lorde will ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Jeruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feete, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhal conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day m a great tumult of the Lord ſhalbe among them, and euery one ſhall take the n hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Judah ſhal fight alſo againſt Jeruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhal be gathered round about, with o golde and ſilver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhalbe the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camel, and of the aſſe, and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this p plague.

16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that euery one q is left of all the nations, which came againſt Jeruſalem, ſhall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the king the Lord of hoſtes, and to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Jeruſalem to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſtes, euen vpon them ſhall come no raine.

18 And if the family of r Egypt goe not vp, & come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. This ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord will ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhall bee the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon the ſ bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe vnto the Lorde, and the ſ pots in the Lordes houſe ſhalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Jeruſalem and Judah ſhall be holy vnto the Lord of hoſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the t Canaanite in the Houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

i That is, the ſpirituall graces of God, which ſhould euer continue in moſt abundance.

k Al idolatry and ſuperſtition ſhall be aboliſhed, and there ſhal be one God, one faith, and one religion.

l This new Jeruſalem ſhall be ſeene through all the world, and ſhall excell the firſt in excellencie, wealth and greatneſſe.

m God will not onely raiſe vp war without, but ſedition at home to trie them.

n To hurt and oppreſſe him.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a pray, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.

p As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, verſ. 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what ſeruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to ſerue in warre) they were now holy, becauſe the Lord had ſanctified them.

ſ As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhal be ſanctified.

t But all ſhall be pure and cleane, and there ſhall neither be hypocrite, or any that ſhall corrupt the true ſeruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhould with more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. He confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Prieſtes for their couetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his word. Hee alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings againſt God, impatience, and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the Couenant ſhould be accompliſhed, whoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael, and chiefly the Prieſts.

a Reade Iſa. 13. 1.

THe a burden of the worde of the Lord to Iſrael by the miniſterie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, ſayth the Lord: yet ye ſay, b Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Eſau Iaakobs brother, ſaith the Lord: yet I loued Iaakob, b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this Ioue, which was ſo euident in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the world, and next choſe Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Eſau the Elder.

3 And I c hated Eſau, and made his mountaines waſte, and his heritage a wilderneſſe for dragons.

c For beſides that the ſignes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made ſeruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and alſo afterward in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lyeth waſte, and he ſhall neuer returne to inherite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

4 Though Edom ſay, We are impouerriſhed, but we will returne, and builde the deſolate places, yet ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, They ſhall build, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickedneſſe, and the people with whom the Lorde is angry for euer.

d Beſides the reſt of the people he condemneth the Prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhould haue reproued others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacie againſt God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

5 And your eyes ſhall ſee it, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will bee magnified vpon the border of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoureth his father, & a ſeruant his maſter. If then I be a father, where is mine honor? And if I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſaith the Lord of hoſts vnto you, d O Prieſts that deſpiſe my Name? and yet ſay, e Wherein haue we deſpiſed thy Name?

e He noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee their faults, but moſt impudently couered them, and ſo were blinde guides.

f Ye receiue all maner offerings for your owne greedineſſe, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they ſaid thus, but by their doings they declared no leſſe.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it ſufficient to ſerue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantaſie, and ſo come not to that pureneſſe of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch heſheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be ſo ſerued.

i He derideth the Prieſts who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and ſheweth that they were the occaſion, that theſe euils came vpon the people.

k Will God conſider your office and ſtate, ſeeing you are ſo couetous and wicked

7 Yee offer f vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you ſay, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye ſay, the table of the Lord is not g to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for ſacrifice, it is h not euill: and if yee offer the lame and ſicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy Prince: will hee be content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes?

9 And nowe, I pray you, i pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regarde k your perſons, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes?

10 Who is there euen among you, l that would ſhut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleaſure in you, ſayeth the Lorde of hoſtes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the riſing of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the ſame, my Name is m great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incenſe ſhall bee offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is n polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Yee ſayd alſo, Beholde, it is a o wearineſſe, and ye haue ſnuffed at it, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, and yee offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the ſicke: thus ye offered an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hand, ſayth the Lord?

14 But curſed bee the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and ſacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

A Nd now, O ye a Prieſts, this commandement is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor conſider it in your heart, to giue glory b vnto my Name, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, I will euen ſend a curſe vpon you, and will curſe your c bleſſings: yea, I haue curſed them alreadie, becauſe yee doe not conſider it in your heart.

3 Beholde, I will corrupt d your ſeede, and caſt dung vpon your faces, euen the e dung of your ſolemne feaſts, and you ſhall be like vnto it.

4 And ye ſhall know, that I haue f ſent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant which I made with Leui, might ſtand, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I h gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afraide before i my Name.

6 The law of k trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Prieſts l lips ſhould preſerue knowledge, and they ſhould ſeeke the Lawe at his mouth: for hee is the m meſſenger of the Lord of hoſtes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue cauſed many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes.

9 Therefore haue I alſo made you to be deſpiſed, and vile before all the people, becauſe ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one n father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we tranſgreſſe euery one againſt his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?

11 Iudah hath tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Ieruſalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holineſſe of the Lord, which he loued, and hath maried the p daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the maſter and the ſeruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that q offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hoſtes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and r couered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning: becauſe a He ſpeaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people alſo.

b To ſerue mee according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your ſeede ſowen ſhall come to no profite.

e You boaſt of your holineſſe, ſacrifices & feaſts, but they ſhall turne to your ſhame, and be as vile as doung.

f The Prieſts obiected againſt the Prophet that hee could not reprooue them, but hee muſt ſpeake againſt the Prieſthood, and the office eſtabliſhed of God by promiſe, but hee ſheweth, that the office is nothing ſlandered, when theſe villaines and doung are called by their owne names.

g He ſheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they ſhould faithfully ſerue him according to his word.

i He ſerued me

k He ſheweth that the Prieſt ought to haue knowledge to inſtruct others in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treaſure houſe of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their neceſſitie, and not to reſerue it for himſelfe.

m Shewing, that whoſoeuer doeth not declare Gods will is not his meſſenger, and Prieſt.

n The Prophet accuſeth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for ſeeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themſelues to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioyned themſelues in marriage with them that are of another religion.

q That is, the Prieſtes.

r Ye cauſe the people to lament, becauſe that God doth not regard their ſacrifices, ſo that they ſeeme to ſacrifice in vaine.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings againſt the Prieſtes bring ſeducers of the people.

the

f This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of mariage.
t As the one half of thy selfe.
u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power & vertue he could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate mariage wherein is no excesse of lusts.
a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, & bridle your affections.
b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults, hee sheweth which is the lesse.
c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were coueteth his fault.
d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you assoone as yee called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blaspheme God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, [f] Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had he [y] abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly [z] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your [a] spirite, & let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet her couereth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, saieth the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue [d] wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke 7.27.
b Meaning, Messias, as Psal.40.1, 7.dan.9.17,25.
c That is, Christ by whō the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his father: and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.
d He sheweth that [f] hypocrites which wish so much for [f] Lords comming, will not abide when he draweth nere: for he will consume them, and purge his, and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests, that they might be light & shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therfore he accuseth them of ingratitude, & sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token that he doth still defend them, and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

BEholde, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the [b] Lord whom ye seeke, shal speedily come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hosts.

2 But who [d] may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of [e] Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer that they may bring offrings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time, and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come nere to you to iudgement, & I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob [f] are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: [g] returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saieth the Lord of hostes: but yee sayd, Wherein shall wee returne?

8 Will a [h] man spoile his gods? yet haue ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue wee spoiled thee? In [i] tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may bee meate in mine House, and proue mee now herewith, saith the Lorde of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing [k] without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field, saieth the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout [m] against me, saieth the Lord: yet yee say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Yee haue sayde, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that wee haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hosts?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a [p] booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lorde, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day [q] that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will [r] spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

g Reade Zech. 1.3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that wil defraud their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene maintained, and the priestes, and the poore relieued.
k Not hauing respect how much ye need, but I will giue you in all abundance, so that yee shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer deuoureth come and fruits.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blaiphemie against God: first in that they sayd that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preserued to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, and incouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies, to all penitent sinners.
q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods.
r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lorde, before the which Elias should come.

FOr beholde, the day commeth, that shall [a] burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shalbe stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hosts, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shal a He propheseth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should sende him for the restauration of his Church,

the

the [b] sunne of righteousnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and yee shall [c] goe forth, and grow vp as fat calues.

3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feet in the day that I shall doe this, sayth the Lord of hosts.

4 [d] Remember the lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Beholde, I will send you [e] Eliah the Prophet before the comming of the great and [f] fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And hee shall [g] turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come [h] and smite the earth with cursing.

b Meaning Christ, who with his wings, or beames of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes. 5.14. and he is called the sunne of righteousnesse, because in himselfe he hath all perfection, and also the iustice of the father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnesse, clenseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God. c Yee shall be set at libertie and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2. Corinth. 3. 17. d Because the time was come, that the Iewes should bee destitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more feruent mindes desire his comming, the prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the law of Moses in the mean season, whereby they may continue in the true religion, and also bee armed against all tentations.

e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Mat. 11. 13, 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliiah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance. g Hee sheweth wherein Iohns office should stand: in the the turning of men to God and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shall imbrace the faith of the true fathers Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob. h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

The end of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the newe Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the history, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests & the people. 21 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

2.King. 23.21. 2.chron. 35.1.

AND Iosias kept the *Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offred the Passeuer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lorde in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lorde your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the maiesty of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, & make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lordes commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the priests for the Passeouer two thousande fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.

‖ Or, Iehiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias and Nathanael his brother, and ‖ Sabias, and ‖ Chelus, and ‖ Iozam captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues.

‖ Or, Hasabias. ‖ Or, Iehiel. ‖ Or, Chonaba.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, * Exod. 12.8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priestes their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priestes offered the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and ‖ Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment. ‖ Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeuer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the commandement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer, and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eigteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before before his Lord with a heart ful of godlines.

24 And concerning the things which came to paſſe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of thoſe that ſinned and did wickedly againſt the Lorde, above euery nation and kingdome, and greued him with (Or, by worſhipping) ſenſible things, ſo that the wordes of the Lord ſtood vp againſt Iſrael.

25 ¶ Now after all theſe acts of Joſias, it came to paſſe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Joſias went out againſt him. 2. Chron. 35. 20.

26 But the king of Egypt ſent to him, ſaying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Judea?

27 I am not ſent of the Lord God againſt thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord haſteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not againſt the Lorde.

28 But Joſias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himſelfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Jeremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee ſet himſelfe in battell aray againſt him in the field of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to king Joſias.

30 And the king ſayde to his ſeruants, Conney me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his ſeruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his ſecond chariot, & being come againe to Jeruſalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Judea was Joſias bewailed, yea, Jeremias the Prophet did lament for Joſias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Iſrael, to be done continually.

33 But theſe things are written in the booke of the ſtories of the kings of Judea, & euery one of the acts that Joſias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the law of the Lorde, and the things which hee did before, and the things now rehearſed are regiſtred in the booke of the kings of Iſrael and Judea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the ſonne of Joſias, and made him king in ſtead of his father Joſias, when hee was three and twenty yeere olde. 2. King. 23. 30. 2. Chron. 36. 1.

35 And he reigned in Judea and in Jeruſalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt depoſed him from reigning in Jeruſalem.

36 Hee taxed alſo the people of an hundreth talents of ſilver, & one talent of golde.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Judea and Jeruſalem.

38 And hee bound Joachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and fiue yeere old was Joacim, when he reigned in Judea and Jeruſalem, and he did euill in the ſight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore againſt him came vp Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of braſſe, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonoſor tooke of the holy veſſels of the Lorde, and caried them away, & ſet them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his ſon reigned for him: and when hee was made king, he was eighteene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Jeruſalem, and hee did euill in the ſight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonoſor ſent and brought him to Babylon with the holy veſſels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Judea and Jeruſalem, when he was one and twenty yeere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the ſight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes ſpoken * by Jeremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord. Jere. 38. 21.

48 For after that he was ſworne to king Nabuchodonoſor, he forſware himſelfe by the name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and tranſgreſſed the lawes of the Lord God of Iſrael.

49 Alſo the gouernors of the people, and the Prieſts committed many things againſt the Lawes, and paſſed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was ſanctified in Jeruſalem.

50 Neuertheles the God of their fathers ſent his meſſenger to call them back, becauſe he ſpared them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his meſſengers, and in the day, that the Lorde ſpake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger againſt his people for their great wickednes, commaunded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 Theſe killed their yong men with the ſworde round about their holy Temple, neither did they ſpare yong man, nor mayden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their handes, and all the holy veſſels of the Lord, both great and ſmall, with the veſſels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the kings treaſures into Babylon.

55 And they ſet fire in the houſe of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Jeruſalem, and burnt their towers with fire.

56 They conſumed alſo all the precious things therof, and brought them to nought, and thoſe that were left by the ſworde, he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were ſeruants to him, and to his children till the Perſians reigned, to fulfill the worde of the Lord by the mouth of * Jeremias, Jere. 25. 11. and 29. 10.

58 And that the lande might enioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was deſolate, till ſeuenty yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He ſent the holy veſſels. 13 The names of them that returne. 16 Their aduerſaries did let their building, and the kings letters for the ſame.

IN * the firſt yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Perſians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias, 2. Chron. 36. 22. ezra. 1. 1.

2 The

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and hee made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayeth Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most hie Lord, hath made mee King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath cõmanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there bee any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord bee with him, and let him go vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall bee brought, according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose mind the Lord had mooued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nebuchodonosor had carried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Nowe when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whome they were giuen to ‖ Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

‖ Or, Shasb. basar, or Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie viales, of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they carried away, were fiue thousand foure hundreth, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

Ezra. 4. 6.

16 ¶ But* in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians ‖ Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem,

‖ Or, Bischlemus.

‖ Or, Shimshi.

TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Bee it nowe therefore knowen to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walls thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie bee built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist Kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, wee declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this city hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and wars, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, & that it be taken heede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horse and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOw when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the the garde, keepers of the kings body, sayd one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of golde, an head tire of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shall sit nexte to Darius for his wisedome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius, 9 And sayde, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And sate him downe in the Counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he sayd vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So ỹ first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayd on this maner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernor, and causeth to speake all things by ‖ talents.

‖ Or, pounds.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued, 47 and his petition granted.

THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is Lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they do it: if he send thē out against the enemies, they go & breake downe mountaines, and wals, and towers.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, aswell the spoiles as all other things,

6 And those also which go not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O ye men, neither the mighty King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and gape, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion & goeth in darknesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Nowe therefore doe you not beleeue mee? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King, 30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if shee were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that hee might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women moste strong, seeing they do thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, & the Sunne is swifte in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and al their wicked works are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor differences: but she doeth the things which are iust, & abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her works, 40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee sayde to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe al the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when hee made a vowe to put off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to builde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And now, O Lorde the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: Ierequire therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards, and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the Lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the city with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their liberty, that no prince nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should be pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere:

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 Hee wrote also touching the charges, and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away al the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towardes Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisedome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lorde of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters, and went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy seuen dayes.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths, and of the newe moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built.

57 And * layde the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere, after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem.

Eccles. 49. 12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Helladun, with their sonnes and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accorde did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stoode clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voyce songes to the prayse of the Lorde, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loud voyce, praysing the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping & great crying, and many with trumpets and toperyed with loud voyce, 65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Whereto̊e when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie build the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbalareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

‖ Or, Assaradet, or Asachadon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel sayd to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God

Ezra.4.3,4. of Israel, as it becommeth vs, & as * Cyrus the king of the Persians hade vs.

72 Nowbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Judea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus like: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 3 The building of the Temple. 5 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answere to the contrary.

Ezra.5.1. Prophe.1.1. BVt* in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which ‡ Greeke vpon them. they called ‡ vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec stoode vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lorde being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4. And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie.

6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainely to vnderstande, that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entered into the city of Jerusalem, we found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lorde great and newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouernen it: therefore we demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lorde, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

2.King.6.2. 14 And* this house was built vp many yeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lorde of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the handes of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 2.King.24.1.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanaballarus ruler. ‖ Or, Shashbazar.

19 And a commaundement was giuen vnto him, that he should carie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lorde should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, being come hither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem, and since that time till nowe, it is in building and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore if it please the king, let it be sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus,

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath bin done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answere concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commaunded to search in the kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layde vp for memoriall.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house, which is in Jerusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captains in Syria and Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Iewes to builde that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria losyria and Phenice ſhould be diligently giuen to theſe men for ſacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Alſo corne, and ſalt, and wine, and oile continually euery yeere without faile, as the Prieſts which are in Ieruſalem ſhal teſtifie to be ſpent euery day, 31 That offrings may be made to the hie God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whoſoeuer ſhould tranſgreſſe any thing afore ſpoken or written, or derogate any thing therof, that a tree ſhould be taken out of his poſſeſſion, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods ſhould bee the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whoſe name is there called vpon, deſtroy euery king and nation, which ſtretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euil to that houſe of the Lord which is in Ieruſalem.

Ezra 6.12. 34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it ſhould bee diligently executed according to theſe things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Siſinnes and his companions follow the Kings commaundement, and helpe the Iewes to builde the Temple. 5 The time that it was build. 10 They keepe the Paſſeouer.

Ezra 6.13. THen Siſinnes the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions obeying King Darius commaundements, 2 Aſſiſted diligently the holy works, working with the ancients & gouernors of the Sanctuary.

3 And the holy workes proſpered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophetied.

4 So they finiſhed all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Iſrael, and with the conſent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Perſians.

5 Thus the holy houſe was finiſhed in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the firſt yeere of Darius king of the Perſians.

6 ¶ And the children of Iſrael, and the Prieſtes and the Leuites, and the reſt, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyſes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lorde, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the ſinne of all Iſrael, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Iſrael.

9 And the Prieſts & the Leuites ſtood according to their kinreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lorde God of Iſrael, according to the booke of Moyſes, and alſo the porters in euery gate.

10 And ỹ children of Iſrael offred the Paſſeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the firſt moneth, after that the Prieſts and Leuites were ſanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not ſanctified together, but all the Leuites were ſanctified together.

12 And they offered the Paſſeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Prieſts, and for themſelues.

13 Then all the children of Iſrael which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had ſeparated themſelues from the abominations of the people of the land, and ſought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feaſt of vnleauened bread ſeuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Becauſe hee had turned the counſell of the King of the Aſſyrians towardes them to ſtrengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Iſrael.

1 Eſdras commeth from Babylon to Ieruſalem. 10 The copie of the commiſſion giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 Eſdras giueth thankes to the Lorde. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confeſſion.

AND after theſe things when Artaxerxes King of the Perſians reigned, Eſdras the ſonne of ‖ Saraias, the ſonne of Ezerias, the ſonne of Helcias, the ſonne of Salum, ‖Or, Azarias

3 This Eſdras went out of Babylon, and was a ſcribe well taught in the Law of Moyſes, giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

4 Alſo the King gaue him great honour, and hee founde grace in his ſight in all his requeſts.

5 With him alſo there departed ſome of the children of Iſrael, and of the Prieſtes and Leuites, and of the holy ſingers, and of the porters, and of the miniſters of the Temple vnto Ieruſalem,

6 In the ſeuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fift moneth: this was the ſeuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the firſt day of the firſt moneth,

7 And came to Ieruſalem according as the Lord gaue them ſpeede in their iourney.)

8 For Eſdras had gotten great knowledge, ſo that hee would let nothing paſſe that was in the Lawe of the Lorde, and in the commaundements, and he taught all Iſrael all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the Commiſſion written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eſdras ỹ Prieſt, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 For as much as I conſider things with ptie, I haue commaunded that they that will and deſire of the nation of the Iewes, & of the prieſts and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, ſhould goe with thee vnto Iſrael.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath ſeemed good to mee and my ſeuen friends the counſellers,

13 That they may viſite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord, 14 And cary the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the golde & siluer, which shalbe found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem.

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as gold, for bullis, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren wil doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they shoulde giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundreth talents of siluer, 22 Let all things be done to the highest God, according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisedome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured mee before the King, and the counsellers, and all his friends and gouernours.

28 ¶ * Therefore I was incouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me. *Ezra 8.1.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundreth and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of ‖ Salomon, Abelliaenias the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundreth men. [Or, Pahath Moab, Eloenai.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of ‖ Iezolus, and with him three hundreth men: of the sonnes of Adin, ‖ Obeth sonne of Jonathas, and with him two hundreth and fiftie men. [Or, Ieziel. [Or, Obed.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam ‖ Iesias sonne of Gotholias, and with him seuentie men. [Or, Iesaias.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias, sonne of ‖ Bachael, and with him seuentie men. [Or, Michael.

36 Of the sonnes of Joab, ‖ Badias sonne of Jezelus, and with him two hundreth and twelue men. [Or, Obadiah sonne of Iechiel.

37 Of the sonnes of ‖ Banid, Assalimoth sonne of Josaphias, and with him an hundreth and threescore men. [Or, Baniah, Eſolomith.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of ‖ Astath, Johannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundreth and tenne. [Or, Asgad, Johanan. sonne of Ecetban.

40 Of the sonnes of Adonicam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalat, ‖ Jeouel and ‖ Maias, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ‖ Bagoath sonne of Jesaeourus, and with him seuentie men. [Or, Iebel. [Or, Semaias. [Or, Bagoi, Vei, sonne of Iſtacuri.

41 And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them. *Ezra 8.15.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ‖ Maasman, and Alnathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Jozibon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and ‖ Pololamon the chiefe, and best learned. [Or, Masma, Aluathan. [Or, Ioeib, Elnathan, Zacharie, and Mofollam.

44 And I bade them to goe to Daddeus the captaine which was in the place of the treasurie, 45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lorde learned men of the sonnes of Mosi, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Sisebebian and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene. [Or, Seredia.

47 And Asebia, and ‖ Annon, and Osaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖ Canaineus, with their sonnes, twentie persons. [Or, Anan, Iesaias. ‖ Or, Cananeen.

48 And of the ministers of the temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lorde to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell. *Ezra 8.21.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen or horsemen, or conduct for safe-gard

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the King, that the power of our Lorde should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in al things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord against according to these things, whom wee found favourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ‖Or, Serebias. ‖Esebias and Assanias, and with them tenne of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, fiue hundreth and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde, 56 And twenty golden basins, & twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I saide to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, til that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priestes and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lorde to ‖Or, Marimoth the sonne of Iorie of Vrie. ‖Marimoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, 62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Jesus, and ‖Or, Noedia, sonnes sonne of Bannue. Noethy sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwardes those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rams fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes hundreth and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Ezra.9.1. 67 ¶ *When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, and Chetites, and Pherezites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these thinges, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel came to mee whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched foorth mine handes to the Lord, 73 And said, *O Lorde, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. Ezra.9.6.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priestes haue bene giuen vp to the Kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a praye with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how greatly hath thy mercy bene, O Lorde, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lorde, and rayse vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Jerusalem.

81 And nowe, O Lorde, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy Commaundements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophetes, saying, 82 * Because the lande which yee goe to inherite, is a lande polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the lande, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, Deut.7.2.

83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne your daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lorde, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not bee angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seede, nor name?

88 But, O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a root left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for their things.

Ezra.10.1 90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

‖Or, Iehel. 91 Then Iechonias the sonne of ‖ Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lorde God: we haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make it strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priestes and Leuites of al Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the lawe for the strange wiues, 10 they promise to put them away.

Ezr.10.6. THen * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda & Beniamin, came together within three dayes, into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broade place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and saide to them, Yee haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, & from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and sayd with a loude voyce, We will doe so as thou hast saide.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stande without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and al they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarry:

13 And let the Priestes and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lorde against vs for this matter.

14 Then Jonathas Asaels sonne, and ‖ Ezrias sonne of ‖ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or, Iahaziah. ‖Or, Thecua.

15 And they which were of the captiuity, did after al these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had maried strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests which had maried strange wiues, ‖Or, Maasias. ‖Or, Iedaiah.

19 Of the sonnes of Jesus, the sonne of Josedec, and of his brethren, ‖ Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and ‖ Jonadan. ‖Or, Anani, and Zabiah.

20 Who also gaue their handes to cast out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation. ‖Or, Pashur, Elionai, Maasias, Ismael.

22 And of the sonnes of ‖ Phaisu, Elionas, Massias, Ismaelus, and Nathanael, and ‖ Ocidelus, and Talias. ‖Or, Galial, Tathias, Iozabdus.

23 And of the Leuites, ‖ Jozabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ‖ Calitas, and Patheus, and Dudas, and Jonas. ‖Or, Eliasib, and Bacur. ‖Or, Sallum.

24 Of the holy Singers, ‖ Eliazurus, Bacchurus. ‖Or, Remias.

25 Of the porters, ‖ Sallumus, & Tolbanes. ‖Or, Banadias

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, ‖ Hiermas, & Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, & Asibias, and ‖ Banaias. ‖Or, Elam. ‖Or, Iehiel. ‖Or, Ieremoth and Helias.

27 Of the sonnes of ‖ Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and ‖ Hierielas, and ‖ Hieremoth, and Aedias. ‖Or, Zethoe, Eliadas, Elasib.

28 And of the sonnes of ‖ Zamoth, Eliadas, Eliasimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and ‖ Sabatus, and Sardeus. ‖Or, Sabad, and Sardai. ‖Or, Bebo.

29 Of the sonnes of ‖ Bebai, Joannes, and Ananias, and ‖ Josabad, and Ematheas. ‖Or, Iosabat, and Emah, 30 Of the sonnes of ‖ Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedaias, Jasubus, Jasael, and Jeremoth. ‖Or, Bani, Olam, Maluch, Iedaia, Iasub.

31 And of the sonnes of ‖ Addi, Naathus, Moosias, Laccunus, and Naidus, & Mathanias, and ‖ Selchel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas. ‖Or, Addin, Naatus, Laccus, Banaias.

32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aseas, and Melchias, & Sabbeus, and Simon a Chosamite. ‖Or, Bezelel, Balnu, Manasses.

33 And of the sonnes of ‖ Asom, Altaneus, and ‖ Matthias, and Bannanias, Eliphalat, and Manasses, and Semei. ‖Or, Hasam.

34 And of the sonnes of ‖ Maani, Jeremias, Momdis, Dmairus, Jnel, Maimas, and Pactias, and Amos, Carabasion, and Ouasibus, and Mamnimatanatus, Eliasibs, Tamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the sonnes of Dzozas, Sesis, Elril, Azailus, Samatas, ‖Or, Mathmas, Matathias. ‖Or, Ban, Ieremias, Modi, Euaram.

Samatas, Sambis, Iosiphus.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.

36 All these married strange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priestes and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

Nehe.8.1. 38 ¶ *Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Lawe of Moyses, which had bin giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest the Lawe to all the multitude, both man & woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

‖Or, Matithias. 43 And there stoode by him ‖Margathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand,

45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for hee sate honourably before them all)

46 And they all stood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

‖Or, Bani. 48 Then Iesus, and ‖Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Iacobus, Sabatatas, Auranas, Maiantas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Iozabdus and Ananias, & Biatas the Leuites lift vp their handes, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord.

49 And taught the Lawe of the Lorde, and stoode also earnestly vpon the reading.

‖Or, Nehemias. 50 Then sayde ‖Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lorde, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fatte meates, and drinke the sweet drinkes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, this day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eate and drink, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherwith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

5 Goe, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednes, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten mee, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the lande of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the hairs of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not beene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shal I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 *Many kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruantes and all his armie haue I smitten downe. Exod.14.31.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: *I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrus and Sidon, & haue slaine all their enemies. Num.21.24, Iosh.8.12.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernesse, to kill vs? It had beene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wildernes.

28 Thus sayth the Almighty Lord, Haue I

33 Thus sayth the Almighty Lorde, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue me though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, & see the people that come from the East.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children, 18 The Gentiles called.

THus sayth the Lorde, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruaunts the Prophets, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, sayth vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for yee haue sinned against the Lorde your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe yee, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kindred bee not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hiddest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember *what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah, Gen.19.24.

9 Whose land is mired with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightie Lord.

10 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may bee shortned: the kingdome is prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good:
for I liue, sayth the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: For I haue chosen thee, sayeth the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for
I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Elias and Jeremie to help thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits,

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and honie, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby
I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale

21 Heale the wounded, and ſicke: laugh not a lame man to ſcorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my cleerenesſe.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy walles.

Tobit 1.17. 23 *Whereſoeuer thou findeſt the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the firſt place in my reſurrection.

24 Abide ſtill, O my people, and reſt: for thy quietneſſe ſhall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurſe: ſtabliſh their feete.

26 None of the ſeruants that I haue giuen thee, ſhall periſh: for I will ſeeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauineſſe commeth, other ſhall weepe and bee ſorowfull, but thou ſhalt be merrie, and haue abundance.

28 The heathen ſhall enuie thee, and ſhall doe nothing againſt thee, ſaith the Lord.

29 Mine hands ſhall couer thee, ſo that thy children ſhall not ſee hell.

30 Bee ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that ſleepe: for I will bring them out of the ſides of the earth, and will ſhew mercy vnto them: for I am mercifull, ſaith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and ſhew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace ſhall not faile.

33 I Eſdras receiued a charge of the Lorde vpon the mount Horeb, that I ſhould goe vnto them of Iſrael, but when I came to them, they caſt me off, and deſpiſed the commaundement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I ſay vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderſtand, Waite for your ſhepheard, who ſhal giue you euerlaſting reſt: for he is neere at hand, that ſhall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be readie to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlaſting light ſhall ſhine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the ſhadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glory: I teſtifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thankes vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Ariſe and ſtand vp, and behold the number of thoſe that are ſealed for the feaſt of the Lord.

39 Which are departed from the ſhadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and ſhut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longeſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lorde, that the people which haue bene called from the beginning may be ſanctified.

c.79. 42 *I Eſdras ſaw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praiſed the Lord with ſongs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in ſtature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heades hee ſet crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and ſaid, Who are theſe, my Lord?

45 Who answered and ſaid vnto me, Theſe bee they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confeſſed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then ſaid I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that ſetteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered, and ſaid vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confeſſed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had ſtood ſo ſtrongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel ſaide vnto mee, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and howe great wonders of the Lord God thou haſt ſeene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous works, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Eſdras marueileth that God ſuffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are ſinners alſo.

1 IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the city, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Becauſe I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my ſpirite was ſore moued, ſo that I began to ſpeak fearefull words to the moſt High, and ſaid,

4 O Lorde, Lorde, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning when thou alone plantedſt the earth, and gaueſt commandement vnto the people,

5 *And a bodie vnto Adam, without ſoule, who was alſo the workmanſhip of thine handes, and haſt breathed in him the breath of life, ſo that he liued before thee, Gen.2.7.

6 And ledſt him into Paradiſe, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth, Or, were forward.

7 Euen then thou gaueſt him commaundement to loue thy way: but he tranſgreſſed it, and immediatly thou appointedſt death to him & his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.

8 *And euery people walked after their own will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and deſpiſed thy commandements. Gen.6.12.

9 *But at the time appointed thou broughteſt the flood vpon thoſe that dwelt in the world and deſtroyedſt them, Gen.7.10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam, 11 Yet thou lefteſt one, euen *Noe, with his houſhold, of whom came all righteous men. 1.Pet.3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increaſed, they began to be more vngodly then the firſt.

13 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou didſt chuſe thee a man from among them, whoſe name was *Abraham. Gen.12.1, Gen.17.5.

14 Whom thou loueſt, and vnto whom onely thou ſhewedſt thy will,

15 And madeſt an euerlaſting couenant with him, promiſing him that thou wouldeſt neuer forſake his ſeede. Gen.21.1,3. Gen.25.25, 26.

16 *And vnto him thou gaueſt Iſaac, *vnto Iſaac alſo thou gaueſt Iacob and Eſau, and Mal.1.2,3. rom.9.13.

didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And whē thou ledst his seed out of Egypt,
Exod 19.1. *thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, deut.4.10. 18 And inclinedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, & that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring foorth fruit in them.

Gen.3.6. 21 For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remayned weakenesse ioyned with the Lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres
1.Sam.16.13. 2.Sam.5.1. and 7.5,13. were brought to an ende, *til thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 24 *Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therin with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation: for they had also a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest the citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirteeth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deeds of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here & there thorowout the heathen: & I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it y they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God,

AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And sayde, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the waies of the highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, & said, I am sent to shewe thee three waies, and to set foorth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I will shewe thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lorde. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can do that which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the muds of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise.

8 Paraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not bee separated, and yet canst thou giue mee none answere of them.

10 Yee said moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How shoulde thy vessell then bee able to comprehende the wayes of the Highest, and howe ouerwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then saide I vnto him, It were better that we were not to all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And hee answered me, and sayd, *I came Iudg.9.8. to a forrest in the plaine where the trees helde a 2.chro.25.18 councill, 14 And sayd, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and sayde, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that wee may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, and saide, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the Sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and sayde, Thou hast giuen right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the grounde is appointed for the Esa.55.8,9. ioha 3.31. 1.cor.2.13. 14.

the wood, and the sea for his floods, so they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayd, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the law of our fathers is abolished, & the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obteine mercy.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he mee, & said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruaile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is full of vnrighteoulnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euil is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euil seed hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlines hath hee brought vp vnto this time? And how much shall hee bring forth vntill the harueſt come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, howe much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seede bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe which are without number, how great an harueſt must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, Howe, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to bee aboue the most High: for thou laboureſt in vaine to bee aboue him, though thou endeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shal not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I and said, O Lord, Lord, we are euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the harueſt of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me and sayd, Goe and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then sayd I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as heee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the neceſſitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desireſt to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stoode, and beheld, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beheld, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watry cloud, and sent downe much raine with a stormie: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoake were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I liue, thinkeſt thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou askeſt me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shall behid, 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the worlde. 23 Israel is reiected, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

NEuertheleſſe concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall bee taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall be hid, & the land shall be barren from faith.

2 And iniquitie shall bee increased more then thou hast seene nowe, or hast heard in time past. Matt.24.12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voice, and the people shalbe moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, & the soules shall change place,

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish and make a noise in the night, which many shall not knowe, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shal be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wild beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shalbe found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another, then shall wit hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnes and voluptuousnes haue the upper hand upon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorowe thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterpiles shall not prosper.

13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorowe all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen daies, mourning, and weeping, as Uriel the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto mee againe,

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lilie.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And nowe, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstoode thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddst so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And sayd vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and harken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayd, Speake on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto mee, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doth that made them?

34 And I sayd, No, Lord: but of very sorrow haue I spoken: for my veines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgment.

35 And he sayd vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iaakob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he sayd vnto me, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me foorth the winds that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voice, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speake of these things, wherof thou askest mee?

40 Then sayd he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Beholde, O Lorde, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he sayd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are nowe, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, The creature, sayd he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayd, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now now also conteine all men at once.

46 And he sayd vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest foorth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I sayd, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then sayd he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seed is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a yoong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and sayd, Seeing thou nowe shewed mee the way, I will proceed speake before thee: for our mother, whome thou hast tolde mee is yoong, draweth yet neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and sayd, Aske a woman that trayleileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast nowe brought foorth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answere thee, Some were borne in the floure of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, howe that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now beginne to bee olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then sayde I, Lorde, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsel, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND hee sayd vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blewe one against another:

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine foorth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnets in Sion were pight:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that nowe sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layed vp the treasure of faith, were sealed.

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and sayd, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall bee the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee saide vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. * Gen.25.26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hande of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and sayd, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afrayd: for of the ende shall be the worde, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the ende.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, & behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sounde of it was like the sounde of many waters:

18 And it sayde, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world that shal vanish away, shall be sealed, then wil I shew these signes: the bookes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shal see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring foorth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are rayled vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall bee saued and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitantes shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shalbe put out, and deceit shalbe quenched.

28 But faith shal flourish: corruption shal be ouercome, and the trueth which hath bin so long without fruite, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whome I stood.

30 And these words sayd he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou will pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voice is heard before the highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dates in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weeks which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word. Gene. 1.1.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkenesse was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voice as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aire, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: fiue parts diddest thou drie, & kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, & flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most woonderfull smell, & these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres, Gene. 1.14.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice Gen. 1.14,15 Eccl. 43.9. euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as fowles and fishes: and it was so. Gene. 1.20.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy woonderous works.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, Hor. Epod.

50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part where the water was gathered, could not holde them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the first day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, beholde, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy ferment louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall wee suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God admonisheth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection & last iudgement. 43 after the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had beene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And he sayd vnto me, Vp, Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then sayd he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the Sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded, and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwixt the fire & the water, so that there could but one man go there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could hee receiue his inheritance?

10 And I sayd, It is so, Lord. Then sayd he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorow and trauaile: they are but few and euill, and full of perils, and very painfull.

13 For the entrances of the forewold were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Deut.8.1. 17 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he sayd vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are empty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come forth, and be seene, that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shall escape these euills, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that bee with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the former iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet awaye, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secrete places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the trueth shal remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow and the reward shalbe shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then sayd I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse: *Gene.*18.23. *Exod.*32.3, 11, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuel, 2.*Sam.*24.

38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, 17. 2.*Cro.*6.14. 1.*King.*17.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 21.and 18.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many. 42,45. 2.*King.*19. 15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered mee, and sayd, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is reserued in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this worlde, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancy shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the verity shall spring vp.

45 Then shal no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and sayd, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to bee in beauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but thy fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. *Rom.*5.12.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when we doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safety, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall paradise shoulde bee shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abſteined, ſhould ſhine more then ſtarres, if our faces be blacker then darkneſſe?

56 For while we lined, we did not remember when we did vnrighteouſly, that we ſhould ſuffer after death.

57 Then anſwered he me, and ſayd, This is the maner of the battel, which man, that is borne in the earth, ſhall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he ſhould ſuffer as thou haſt ſayd, but if he get the victory, he ſhould receiue the thing that I ſayd.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyſes ſpake
Deut. 30.19 vnto the people, while he lined, ſaying, * Chuſe thee life that thou mayeſt line.

60 Neuertheleſſe, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me alſo which haue ſayd vnto them, 61 That beauntie ſhould not ſo be to their deſtruction, as ioy ſhould come vnto them, to whom ſaluation is perſwaded.

62 I anſwered then and ſaid, I know, Lord, that the moſt High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pitie on thoſe that walke in his Law, 64 And that * he is patient: for he long ſuffereth thoſe that haue ſtined as his creatures, Rom. 2.4.

65 And that he is liberall: for he wil giue as much as needeth, 66 And that he is of great mercy: for he ouercommeth in mercy thoſe that are preſent, and that are paſt, and them which are to come.

67 For if hee were not abundaut in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the poſſeſſion thereof.

68 He pardoneth alſo: for if he gaue not of his goodneſſe, that they which haue done euill might be relieued from their wickedneſſe, the ten thouſand part of men ſhould not remaine aliue.

69 And if hee, being iudge, forgaue not thoſe that hee healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of ſinnes, 70 There ſhould peraduenture be very fewe left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is ſmall. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Eſdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſaluation to the iuſt. 55 The deſtruction of the vniuſt.

AND he anſwered me, ſaying, The moſt high made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras. As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay vnto thee, that it giueth much earthy matter to make pots, but little duſt that gold commeth of, ſo is it with the worke of this world.

Mat. 20. 16. 3 * There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaued.

4 Then anſwered I, and ſayd, Then ſwallow vp the wit, O my ſoule, and deuoure vnderſtanding.

5 For thou haſt promiſed to heare, and thou wilt propheſie: for thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſeruant, that we may entreat thee, that thou mayeſt giue ſeed vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderſtanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can let himſelfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one worke-manſhip of thine hands as thou haſt ſayd.

8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the wombe, and thou haſt giuen it members, thy creatures preſerued by fire & water, and the worke created by thee, doeth ſuffer nine moneths the creature which is faſhioned in it.

9 But the thing that contemneth, and that which is contemned, ſhall both bee preſerued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preſerued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou haſt commanded the members, euen the breaſts, to giue milke vnto the [illegible] pointed to the breaſts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it in mercie.

12 Thou bringeſt it vp with thy righteouſneſſe, nurtureſt it in thy law, & reformeſt it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou ſlayeſt it as thy creature, and giueſt it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou deſtroyeſt him, which with ſo great labours is faſhioned, it is an eaſie thing to appoynt by thy commandement, that the thing alſo which is made, might be preſerued.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lord, I will ſpeake (as touching men in generall thou ſhalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whoſe ſake I am ſory,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whoſe cauſe I mourne: for Iſrael, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whoſe ſake I am grieued:

17 For them will I pray before thee, aſwell for my ſelfe as for them: for I ſee our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the ſudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therfore heare my voyce, and vnderſtand my words, which I will ſpeake before thee. The beginning of the words of Eſdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord, thou liueſt for euer, which beholdeſt from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whoſe throne is ineſtimable, and his glory incomprehenſible, before whome the hoſt of the Angels ſtand with trembling,

22 Whoſe keeping is turned in winde and fire, whoſe word is true, and ſayings ſtedfaſt, whoſe commandement is ſtrong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whoſe looke dryeth vp the depthes, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witneſſe, 24 Heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I wil ſpeake, and ſo long as I haue vnderſtanding, I will anſwere.

26 Looke not vpon the ſinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull ſeruants.

27 Haue not reſpect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy teſtimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon thoſe that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them which haue clearely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare woorse then beastes, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glorie.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towardes vs which haue no woorkes of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue laid vp many good woorkes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued toward it?

1. King. 8. 46. 2. chron. 6, 36. 35 *For verily there is no man among them that he borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lorde, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shalbe prayed, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good woorkes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verily consider the woorks of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

Gen. 4. 4. 39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then & said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his patterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lorde, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art maruelous before the Highest.

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made readie: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisedome.

53 The root of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Lawe, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous.

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die. *Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and sayd, 63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this worlde haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visit the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vproare of the people, *Mat. 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in woonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, & shall be deliuered by his woorks, & by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shal be preserued from the said perils and shall see my saluation in my lande, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstande but despised it,

12 They must be taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be saued, & whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore sayde that which I say nowe and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be *saued,

*Chap. 8 3. Mat. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers bee, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared ỹ world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now line, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual seede, and by a lawe, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and beholde, there was perill, because of the deuices, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded mee, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the beardes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore, 28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

*Exod. 19. 9. and 24. 3. Deut. 4. 12.

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, *thou declarest thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressely spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seede of Jacob.

31 For beholde, I sowe my lawe in you, that it may bring foorth fruite in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 *For they that receiued it, perished be- *Exod. 32. 28. cause they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For wee that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and vpon the right side *I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and *Chap. 10. 44. lamented with a loude voice, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And sayd vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she sayd vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very lowe.

42 Then I sayd vnto her, What ailest thee? tell me.

43 And she sayd vnto me, Thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirty yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmayde, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort mee: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this field field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntil I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee be all nowe in heauinesse, and make our mone (for we be all sorrowfull) art thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fal of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and beholde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, thee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto mee, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorrowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruite vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and reiectest his counsell in time, thou shalt bee commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I wil not, I will not go into the citie, but here wil I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and sayd, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Bee of good comfort, because of the sorrow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our sanctuary is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our Psalterion faileth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our Couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Prieستes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake, 23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almighty may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraide of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediatly shee cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afrayd, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused mee to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. Chap.4.1.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted mee, and set mee vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sory?

32 And I sayde, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy wordes: I went into the fielde, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse. Chap.5.35.

33 Then saide hee vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I do not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my minde being hautie, erre?

37 Nowe therefore I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraide: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, & thou beganneste to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now as a city builded)

45 And as touching that shee sayde vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirty yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the city, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she tolde thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For nowe the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knewe that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stande in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afrayde, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lion comming out of the forest.

THen saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, & beholde, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the aire blew on her and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heades, yet reked it with them.

5 Moreouer, I saw that the eagle flewe with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads bee preserued for the last.

10 Neuerthelesse, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heades, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and sayd,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and beholde, in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heads that rested, and five wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings deuided themselues from the five, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remayned, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 Then I saw that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which sayd vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and behold, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I sawe that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I wil talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from the violence, and that she may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the Lion spake these wordes to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproare.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole bodie of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for ỹ great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore nowe, I will beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer indeede be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule, 9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthie to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then hee said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore nowe I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall bee feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another, 15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation, 18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall bee restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall bee but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the ende,

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall he fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reproone them, and cast before them their spoyles.

33 For he shall set them alive in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and he shal make them ioyfull, vntil the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and thele are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast beene meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therfore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose heartes thou knowest may comprehende and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes moe, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me saying, 41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in the darke place, and as an hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou haue forsaken vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your sanctuarie.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The vision of a winde comming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His propertie and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he grawed himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grawen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheless, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely as I sawe, how sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the wind of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Nowe vnderstande I the things that are layd vp in the latter dayes, which shal come both vnto them and to those that are left behind.

19 Therfore are they come into great perils, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith

saide toward the most mighty.
24 Knowe therefore, that they which bee left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead,
25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shal order them that are left behind.
27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,
29 Beholde, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:
30 And he shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:
31 And one shall prepare to fight against an other, citie against citie, and place against place, Matth.24.7 * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.
32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shal my sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.
33 And when all the people heare his voice, euery man shal in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.
34 And an innumerable multitude shalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, to fight against him.
35 But hee shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.
36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared & builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen foorth without any hands.
37 And this my sonne shal rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest,
38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shal be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.
39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were ca-
2.King.17.3 ried away captiues out of their owne lande * in the time of Oseas the King, whom Salmanasar the king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.
41 But they tooke this counsel to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe foorth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,
42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.
43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.
Exod.14.21. Iosh 3.15,16 44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * & stayed the springs of the flood til they were passed ouer.
45 For thorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yere and a halfe, and the same Or, Ararath region is called ‖ Arsareth.
46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shal hold still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.
48 But they that bee left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.
49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shal he shew great wonders vnto them.
51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the mids of the sea?
52 And he sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.
53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou only art lightned.
54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe, and applyed thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.
55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.
56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most high: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.
57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which hee gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All thing decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came forth a voice vnto mee out of the bush, and sayde, Esdras, Esdras.
2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stoode vp vpon my feete.
3 Then he sayd vnto me, * In the bush I re- Exod.3.2,5.
uealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt, 4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, & brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season,
5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secrets of the times, and the ende, and commanded him, saying,
6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.
7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.
8 For thou shalt be taken away from al, and thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.
9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times, times begin to wane olde.

10 For the worlde is deuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and rebuke thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughtes: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils bee encreased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may find the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for forty dayes.

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, til the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, & sayd,

28 Heare these words, O Israel,

Gene 47.4. 29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, Acts 7.23. 30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which yee also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall bee kept aliue, and after death yee shall obteine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as hee commanded me, and wee went into the field, and remayned there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras,* open thy mouth, & drinke that Ezek. 3.2. I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vnderstoode not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, & held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe ỹ seuenty last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophesie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 and punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnes.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquity hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Reuel. 6 10. and 19. 2.

8 Beholde,* the innocent & righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shalbe sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall be afrayd, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbor, but shal destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shalbe spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, sayth God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the ‖ East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I do also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus sayth the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shead innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, sayth the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For nowe are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shal remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East, 29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall be carried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe foorth as the Boares of the forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the lande of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strike among their kings.

34 Beholde cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly, 36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, & that they see the wrath, shalbe afrayd, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which hee raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty clouds shall be lift vp, ful of wrath, and the starre that they may make all the earth afrayd, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation, 41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riuers, with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, & the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afrayd.

44 They shall come to her & besiege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, & al the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall do seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decked thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with her.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore sayth God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sworde, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flowre when the heat riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the louers shal not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, sayth the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and layd ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance:

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, sayeth the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shalbe broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, & drinke their owne blood, for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall root out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shal destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shal they cary away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, & marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 whose mighty prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke & haircloth, and mourne your children, and be sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, & who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone foorth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast ligbtnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afrayd?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, & shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrowe which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backeward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes, and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednes, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, victuals shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine & great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, & the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shalbe no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shal giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shal tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voice.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olues in the place where olues grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them ỹ diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall way olde, and her wayes and all her parks shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethorow.

27 The

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lorde, heare these thinges, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lorde, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lorde speaketh: beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth trauaileth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarie not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandize, as he that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandize with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, sayth the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman:

43 So shal righteousnes hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shal binde the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore bee not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coles of fire shall burne vpon his head, which sayth, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his glory.

Luke 16.16. 46 Behold, the Lord *knoweth al the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

Gen.1.1. 47 * For allbeit as hee said, Let the earth bee made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. Psal 147.4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middest of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vaute: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middest of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the spirit of the almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidde things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, yee shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will you do, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idols.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shalbe great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shal the triall of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O yee my beloued, saith the Lorde, Beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not yee afrayde: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, sayth the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobias parentage. 3 His godlineſſe. 6 His equity. 8 His charitie and proſperitie. 13 Hee fleeth, and his goods are confiſcate. 25 And after reſtored.

Tobias being captiue among the Aſſyrians did not leaue the way of trueth.

THE booke of the wordes of Tobit ſonne of Tobiel, the ſonne of Ananeel, the ſonne of Aduel, the ſonne of Gabael, of the ſeede of Aſael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim, 2 Who in the time of Enemeſſar king of the Aſſyrians was led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galile aboue Aſer.

Tobias was merciſull.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iuſtice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Aſſyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Iſrael, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the houſe of Jeruſalē, which was choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, that al the tribes ſhould ſacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the moſt High was conſecrated, and built vp for all ages.

5 * Now all the tribes, which fel from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims houſe offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to al Iſrael by an euerlaſting decree) went alone often to Jeruſalem, at the feaſtes, * bringing the firſt frutes, and the tenth of beaſtes, with that which was firſt ſhorne, and offered them at the altar to the Prieſts the children of Aaron.

7 The firſt tenth part I gaue to the Prieſts the ſonnes of Aaron, which miniſtred in Jeruſalem: the other tenth part I ſolde, and came and beſtowed it euery yere at Jeruſalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Deboza my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

He marieth to wife Anna, which beareth to him Tobias. Num. 36. 7. Gen. 43 32.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I maried Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and thoſe which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my ſelfe from eating,

12 Becauſe I remembred God with all mine heart.

Hee found grace in the ſight of Salmanaſar. ‖Or, ſonne. §Or, in Rages a city of Media.

13 Therefore the moſt High gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemeſſar, ſo that I was his purueyour.

14 ¶ And I went into ‖Media, and I deliuered ten talents of ſiluer to Gabael, the §brother of Gabrias § in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemeſſar was dead, Sennacherib his ſonne reigned in his ſtead: whoſe ſtate becauſe it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

§Or, Salmanaſar. The charitie of Tobias.

16 ¶ But in the time of ‖Enemeſſar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I ſaw any of my kinred dead, or caſt about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had ſlaine any, when he * was come and fled from Judea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath hee killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were ſought for of the king.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

20 Then all my goods were ſpoyled, neither was there any thing left mee beſides my wife Anna, and my ſonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheles * within fiue and fifty daies, two of his ſonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his ſonne reigned in his ſtead, who appointed ouer his fathers accompts and ouer all his domeſticall affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels ſonne.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 Hee leaueth the feaſt to burie the dead. 10 Howe hee became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

NOw when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was reſtored vnto mee with my ſonne Tobias, in the feaſt of Pentecoſt, which is the holy feaſt of the ſeuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ſate downe to eat.

2 And when I ſawe abundance of meate, I ſayd to my ſonne, Goe, and bring what poore man ſoeuer thou ſhalt finde of our brethren, which doth remember God, and loe, I will tary for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner thoſe which feare God.

3 But he came againe, and ſayd, Father, one of our nation is ſtrangled, and caſt out into the market place.

4 Then before I had taſted any meate, I ſtart vp, and brought him into mine houſe vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

5 Then I returned and waſhed, and ate my meat in heaumeſſe,

6 Remembring that propheſie of * Amos, which had ſayd, Your ſolemne feaſtes ſhall bee tuened into mourning, and your ioyes into wayling.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and ſayd, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cauſe, who * fled away, and yet loe, he buryeth the dead againe?

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to do.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kidde.

The innocencie of Tobit.

13 Which when it was at mine houle, and began to bleate, I sayd vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stollen.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush because of her. Furthermore, she sayd, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteoulnes? beholde, they all now appeare in thee.

3 The prayer of Tobit, 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iuft, and all thy workes, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on mee, neither punith me according to my sinnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast delinered vs * for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now ‖ thou hast many and iuft causes,

Deut. 28. 15. 37.

‖ Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commaundements, neyther haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirite to bee taken from mee, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for mee to die then to liue, because I haue heard falle reproches, and am very sorowful: command therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from mee.

Sarra is checked of her fathers maydes.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes.

8 Because she had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not knowe, sayde they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore ‖ beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

‖ Or, when she beat them for their faults, they said.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled herselfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

Sarra prayeth and fasteth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayde, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And nowe, O Lorde, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lorde, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

The innocencie of Sarra. Her chastitie.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the lande of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man childe to bee his heire, neither any ‡ neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me, that I do no more heare reproch.

‡ Greeke, nere brother.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

The prayers of Tobit and Sarra are heard both at a time.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred * the sluer, which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

Chap. 1, 14.

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when hee had called him, he sayd, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and do that which shall please her, and anger her not.

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when hee thought he should die. The mother is to be reuerenced. Exod. 20. 12. ecclus. 3, 7. 27.

4 Remember my sonne, howe many dangers she susteined, when thou wast in her woombe,

5 And when she dieth, bury her by mee in the same graue.

God must be in our hearts.

6 My sonne, let our Lorde God alwayes bee fore thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the Commaundements of God. Do vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

Almes. Prou. 3. 9. ecclus. 4. 1. and 14. 13. luke 14. 13. Ecclus. 35. 10.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, least that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou hast but a little, be not afraid to giue a little almes.

9 For

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, Eccle.29.13. 10 *Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

Adultery. 12 Beware of all *whosoeuer, my sonne, 1.Thes.4.3. and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets: Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherit the land.

Pride. 13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie and great pouertie: for fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

Or, vntrospablenesse.

Wages of an hired seruant. 14 Let not the *wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarie with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

Leuit.19.13 Deut.24.14, 15. Mat.7.12. Luke 6.31.

15 *Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse go with thee in thy iourney.

Luke 14.13. The hungry. Mat.6.1. 16 *Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

Or, be liberal to the iust, euen to their death.

17 ‖ Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

Counsell. 18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

God is to be blessed. 19 Blesse thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made streight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and hee humbleth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

Chap.1.14. 20 *Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered tenne talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

Pouertie with the feare of God. 21 And feare not my sonne, for asmuch as wee are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages, 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.

TObias then answered, and sayd, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But howe can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then hee gaue him the hand-writing, and sayd vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the lande of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias sayde to him, Tary for mee, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tary not: so he went in, and sayd to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will go with me. Then he sayd, Call him vnto mee, that I may knowe of what tribe hee is, and whether hee be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then hee saide, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

Or, thou commest happily.

13 Then Tobit sayde, ‖ Thou art welcome, brother: bee not nowe angry with mee, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samalas: for we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shall I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day, and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer, if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said hee to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father sayde, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keepeth him company. Chap.10.4. His mother weepeth.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and sayde to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God wee had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then saide Tobit, Bee not carefull, my sister: hee shall returne in safetie, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

1 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 He commeth him toward Sarra.

And

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angell.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel sayde, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gal, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man sayd to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall bee no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoynt a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel sayde to the yong man, Brother, to day wee shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I wil speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

Num.27.8. and 36.8.

11 For to thee doth the *right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred, 12 And the mayde is faire and wise: nowe therefore heare mee, and I wil speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the Law of Moses: else he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, least I go in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare least I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore, heare mee, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shal she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirit do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall goe with thee: moreouer, I suppose that she shall beare thee children: nowe when Tobias had heard these things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they sayd, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinseman? And they sayde, Wee know him. Then sayd he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kissed him, & wept,

7 And blessed him, and sayd vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest & good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, & Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer, they receiued them with a ready minde, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then sayd Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayde to Tobias, Eate, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and mery. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel sayde then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then hee called his daughter Sarra, and shee came to her father, and hee tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the *Lawe of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and hee blessed them, Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Num. 36.6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayd vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares,

18 And sayd vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter: the Lorde of heauen and earth gine thee ioy for this thy sorowe: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 Hee prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6. 7.

2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the ‖ vtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖ Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, & said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias prayer.

5 Then beganne Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

Gene. 2. 7, 18, 22.

6 Thou madest Adam, and ganest him * Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast sayd, It is not good, that a man should bee alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto him selfe.

7 And nowe, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she sayd with him, Amen.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 Hee sayde to his wife Edna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether hee bee aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the mayde opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came forth, and tolde them that hee was aliue.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

15 Then Raguel praised God, & said, O God, thou art worthy to bee praysed with all pure and holy prayse: therefore let the Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect prayse thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praysed, O Lorde: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to mee which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praysed, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercie, O Lorde, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast foureteene dayes.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

20 For Raguel had sayd vnto him by an othe, that hee should not depart before that the foureteene dayes of the marriage were expired, 21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when hee and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabel to Tobias marriage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and sayde vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sory.

Tobits care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand-writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOwe Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarrying. Chap. 5. 17.

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife sayde to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and shee beganne to * bewaile him, and sayd,

5 Nowe I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit sayd, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But shee sayd, Holde thy peace, and deceiue me not, my sonne is dead: and shee went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewayling her sonne Tobias, vntill the foureteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayde to Raguel, Let mee goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will sende to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money, 11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you my children, to prosper before I die.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

12 And he sayd to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in lawe, which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also sayd to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: do not entreate her euil.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was received. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and prayseth the Lord.

After

AFter these things Tobias went his way, prayſing God that he had giuen him a proſperous iourney, and bleſſed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael ſayde to Tobias, Thou knoweſt brother, how thou didſt leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haſte before thy wife, and prepare the houſe,

The Angels counſell to Tobias.

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fiſh. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna ſate in the way looking for her ſonne,

6 Whom when ſhe ſaw comming, ſhe ſayde to his father, Beholde, thy ſonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then ſaid Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father ſhall receiue his ſight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he ſhall rubbe and make the whiteneſſe to fall away, and ſhall ſee thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne foorth, and fell on the necke of her ſonne, and ſayde vnto him, Seeing I haue ſeene thee, my ſonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit alſo went foorth toward the doore, and ſtumbled, but his ſonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke holde of his father, and ſprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, ſaying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes beganne to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whiteneſſe pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he ſaw his ſonne, he fell vpon his necke, 14 And he wept, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou, O Lord, and bleſſed be thy Name for euer, and bleſſed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou haſt ſcourged mee, and haſt had pitie on me; for behold, I ſee my ſonne Tobias: and his ſonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to paſſe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and prayſing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which ſawe him goe, marueiled, becauſe he had receiued his ſight.

17 But Tobit teſtified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he bleſſed her, ſaying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be bleſſed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and bleſſed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Naſbas his brothers ſonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept ſeuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleaſure that Raphael had done him. 5 The which he would recompence. 11. 15. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel ſent of God.

THen Tobit called his ſonne Tobias, and ſayde vnto him, Prouide, my ſonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou muſt giue him more.

2 And he ſaid vnto him, O father, it ſhall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of thoſe things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought mee againe to thee in ſafetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewiſe healed thee.

4 Then the olde man ſayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and ſaid vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in ſafetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and ſayde vnto them, Prayſe God, and confeſſe him, and giue him the glory, and prayſe him for the things which he hath done vnto you before al them that liue. It is good to prayſe God, and to exalt his Name, and to ſhew foorth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confeſſe him.

7 It is good to keepe cloſe the ſecrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill ſhal touch you.

8 Prayer is good with faſting, and almes, and righteouſneſſe. A little with righteouſneſſe is better then much with vnrighteouſneſſe: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge al ſinne. Thoſe which exerciſe almes and righteouſneſſe, ſhalbe filled with life.

10 But they that ſinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe cloſe nothing from you: neuertheleſſe, I ſayde it was good to keepe cloſe the ſecret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueale the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didſt pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the Holy one: And when thou didſt bury the dead, I was with thee likewiſe.

13 And when thou waſt not grieued to riſe vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good deede was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

He that will be acceptable to God, muſt be proued with tentation.

14 And now God hath ſent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the ſeuen holy Angels, which preſent the prayers of the Saints, and which goe foorth before his holy Maieſtie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he ſaide vnto them, Feare not, for it ſhall goe well with you: prayſe God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleaſure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore prayſe him in all ages.

19 * All theſe dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you ſaw it in viſion. Gen. 18. 8. and 19. 3. Iudges 13. 16

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that ſent me: but write all things which are done in a booke.

21 And when they roſe, they ſawe him no more.

22 Then they confeſſed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thankesgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and sayde, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

2 * For he doeth scourge and hath pitie: he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyd his hand. Deut.32.39. 1.sam.2.6. wisd.16.13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom wee are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you: but yee shall see what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and prayse the Lorde of righteousnesse, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the king of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, he will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make toyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lorde God, with gifts in their handes, euen giftes to the king of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be built vp with Saphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paued with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of Ophir. ‖ Or, Souphir.

18 And all her streetes shall say, ‖ Hallelmiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer. ‖ Or, prayse ye the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praysing God.

2 And he was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and hee continued to feare the Lorde God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and syre of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am readie to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good lande, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof. Esa.3.8, and 6.14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, howe Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, howe out of light hee brought him into darkenesse, and howe hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably. ‖ Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel guel his father in law.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and hee buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance & Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great city (in the daies of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles round about of hewen stone, three cubites broad, and sixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuenty cubits, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it an hundreth cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubits, and the breadth of them foortie cubites, for the going foorth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him al they that dwelt in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battel of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, & the great field of Ydrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chelus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gelem, 10 Untill one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountains of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commaundement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, & sware by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely bee auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, & all his horsemen, and all his charets.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banketted, both hee and his armie, an hundreth and twenty dayes.

CHAP. II.

1 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought into subiection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Holofernes armie. 25 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two & twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his Officers and all his Nobles, and communicated with them his secrete counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Holofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next to him, and sayd vnto him,

5 Thus sayeth the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt goe foorth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundreth and twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, & the flood shal ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuity to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therfore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntil the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commaundements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commaunded thee, and deferre not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur,

15 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twenty thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much golde and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sortes came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth, neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsmen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Cheleans.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntil one come to the sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheat haruest, and burnt vp all their fields, & destroyed their flocks and the heards: he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and al that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Holofernes. 8 He destroyeth their gods that Nabuchodonosor might only be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: wee lie downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses & all our places, and all our fields of wheat and our flocks & our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Holofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and set garrisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 And he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great straite of Iudea, 10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there hee tarried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselues. 9 They cryed vnto the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

NOwe the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Holofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they greatly feared his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had beene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in victuals for the provision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the high Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomesthaim, which is ouer against Esdraelon, toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straite for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the high Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great feruencie, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lord Almightie.

14 And Joacim the high Priest, and all the Priestes that stoode before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackecloth, & offered the continuall burnt offring, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mitres, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the hie hils, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he sayd vnto them, Shew me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 Then* said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap.11.7,9 6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And* they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the lande of Chaldea. Gene.11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancesters, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then* their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell. Gene.12.1.

10 But when a famine couered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. Exod.1.8.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, and hee smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the* Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exod.12.31, 33.

13 And* God dried the red sea in their presence, Exod.14.21.

14 And* brought them into mount Sina and Cades Barnea, and cast forth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. Exod.19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they* cast forth before them the Chananites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. Iosh.12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hateth iniquity was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a woonderfull sort, * and were ledde captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of Judg.2.11, and 3.8. 2.King.25. 1,11.

their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

Exod.1.13. 19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Nowe therefore my lorde and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defende them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, O lord Holofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confesseth. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast saide that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

Chap.5.21.

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For we will tread them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fieldes shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not bee able to stande before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor lord of all the earth hath said, euen he hath sayd, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the iron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the mids of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went downe of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him vnto Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Holofernes, and all the wordes that hee had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercy on the baseneſſe of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THe next day Holofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayd euery one to his neighbour, Nowe will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remayned and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and sayd, 9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Nowe therefore my lord, fight not against them in battel array, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people shall goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall bee consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chus, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the army of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and couered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cried vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirty dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were empty, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, & cried with a loud voice, and sayd before all the Elders, 24 The * Lorde iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur. Exod.5.21.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their hands that we should be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore cal them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for wee will be his seruants, that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which punisheth vs according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cried vnto the Lorde God with a loude voice.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs wait yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for hee will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very low brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life & conuersation of Iudith. 11 She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but wait vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now

NOwe at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and dyed in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.

6 And she fasted all the dates of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 Shee was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to beholde: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and mayd seruants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when shee heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes.)

Chap.7.26, 31.

10 Then she sent her mayde that had the gouernement of all things that shee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee sayde vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lorde turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now ye seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lorde our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs when hee will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore bind the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voice if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any nowe in these dayes, neither tribe nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath been afore time.

19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, & had a great fall before our enemies.

Iudg.2.11. and 4.1. and 6.1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea bee so famous: for our Sanctuary shall bee spoyled, and hee will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth, 22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuity of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoeuer wee shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauor, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the house, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to *Abraham, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that hee did to *Iacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

Gene.22.1.

Gen.28.7.

27 For hee hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lorde punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then sayd Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then sayde Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations vnto the children of our nation.

33 You shall stande this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmayde, and within the dayes that yee haue promised to to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then sayd Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth herself before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackecloth wherewith shee was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Gene. 34 2, 25. 2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the mayd, and defiled her, and discouered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commaunded that it should not so be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoiles for a bootie to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayd, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shalbe after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Beholde, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselues with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footemen: they trust in shield, speare, and bow, and sling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lorde that breakest the battels: the Lorde is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, & to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

Iudg. 4. 21. and 5. 26. Iudg. 7. 2. 2. Chron. 14. 11. & 16. 8. and 20. 6. 10 * Smite by the deceit of my lips the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hande of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lorde of heauen and earth, the Creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt mee words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the toppe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of al power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe, and goeth forth of the city. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians & brought to Olofernes.

NOw after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her mayd, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackecloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, shee washed her body with water, and anointed it with much ointment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was clad, during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And shee put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, & sleeues, and rings, and eareringes, and all her ornaments, and shee decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then shee gaue her mayd a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with dry figges, and with fine bread: so shee lapped vp all these things together, & layd them vpon her.

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the Citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, & that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and sayd vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And shee sayd vnto them, Commaund the gates of the citie to bee opened vnto mee, that I may goe foorth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to mee. So they commaunded the yong men to open vnto her, as shee had spoken.

10 And

10 And when they had done so, Judeth went out, she, & her mayd with her, and the men of the city looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight foorth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her, 12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? and shee sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall bee giuen you to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines without losing the bodie or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beauty, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afrayde in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throwout the campe: for her comming was buzted among the tents: and they came and stoode round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Holofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they maruelled at her beauty, & wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, & euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who should despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them bee left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes guard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came foorth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Judeth was come before him and his seruants, they all maruelled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Judeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

THen sayde Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But nowe tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judeth sayde vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmayd to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wile follow the words of thine handmayde, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lorde shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirite, and it is declared throughe the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre maruelous.

9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in the counsell, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and hee declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee. Chap. 5. 5.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his worde, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Nowe therefore lest my lorde should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not beseeming.

12 (For because their victailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priestes that serue in Jerusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Nowe when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall bee giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shal heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshipeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let mee remaine with thee, my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reueale vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shal resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee thorow the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the midst thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheep that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Holofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisedome, and sayd, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beauty of face, and wisedome of words.

22 Likewise Holofernes sayd vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, & destruction vpon them that despise my lord. (Or, hath done well.)

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowmed thorowout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that she might goe out by night to pray. 11 Holofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

THen hee commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eate of them, least there should bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought. (Gen. 43. 32. Exo. 1. 8. Iob. 1. 11.)

3 Then Holofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmayd shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmayd may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then laid he to Bagoas the eunuche who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and perswade this Hebrewe woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate, and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let not this faire mayd make difficulty to goe in to my lord, and to bee honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, Who am I nowe, that I should gainesay my lorde? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spread forth her skins on the ground ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and sate down, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and hee desired greatly her company: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then sayd Holofernes vnto her, Drinke now and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth sayd, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke and ate, and dranke before him the things, that her maid had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunke any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOwe when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beds: for they were al weary, because the feast had bene long.

2 And

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

Eccles. 31. 20, 25.

3 ¶ Nowe Iudeth had commaunded her mayde to stande without her chamber, and to wayte for her comming forth as she did dayly: for shee sayd, she would go forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed: and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and sayd, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Holofernes head to her mayd,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then sayde Iudeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stoode round about them twaine.

14 Then she sayd to them with a loud voyce, Prayse God, prayse God: for he hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe, and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Holofernes, the cheefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein hee did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lorde hath smitten him by the hande of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with mee by any pollution or villanie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and sayd with one accorde, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then sayd Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a streight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Holofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

THen sayd Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles. 2. Mac. 15. 35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watche of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shal take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not find him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel shall pursue them, and ouerthrowe them as they goe.

5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and sayde, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name shal be astonished.

8 Nowe therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnes through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, nedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was joyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the streits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that hee had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and fonnd him cast vpon the floore, & his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Judeth, where she vsed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Holofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians army heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie, and a very great noise thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afrayd and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Joacim the high Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Judeth, and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonied at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad, and in Galile, chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoiled them, and were greatly inriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Holofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it, and layed it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and layed them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Judeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Holofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

2 And Judeth sayd, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his prayse, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecutors.

4 Assur came from the mountaines fourth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleyes. Chap. 2 11, 15.

5 Hee sayd that hee would burne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoile.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the yoong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high Giants inuade him, but

Judeth

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beauty tooke his mind prisoner, and the faulchion passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice, and turned backe.

12 The children of maids pearced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a long ℣ praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, maruellous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voice. Gen. 1. 24. psal. 33. 9.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet sauour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them, and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offred all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which he had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, ¶ Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people. ‖ Or, her people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundreth and fiue yeeres olde, and made her mayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, ¶ to them that were the nerest of her kinred. Gen. 50. 10.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afrayed in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certeine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations:

which follow the tenth Chapter.

THen Mardochens sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water: this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two Dragons, are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes and great woonders, which haue not beene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar the foureteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolomeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who sayd he was a Priest ¶ Leuite, and Ptolomeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurim, which the sayde Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted, ‖ Or, Lotim.

2 In the seconde yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin, had a dreame:

3 A Iewe dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in the kings court.

4 Hee was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the King of Babylon brought from from Ieruſalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold a noyſe of a tempeſt with thunders & earthquakes, and vproze in the land.

6 Beholde two great Dragons came foozth ready to fight one againſt another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight againſt the righteous people.

8 And the ſame day was full of darkeneſſe and obſcuritie, and trouble, and anguiſh: yea, aduerſitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 Foz then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little wel grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light & the ſunne roſe vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glozious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had ſeene this dreame, he awoke and roſe vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would do, and ſo he deſired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the ſame time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings Court with Bagathas & Thara, the kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

Eſther 2.21. and 6.2. 2 *But when he heard their purpoſe, & their imaginations, he perceiued that they went about to lay their handes vpon the king Artaxerxes, and ſo he certified the king therefof.

3 Then cauſed the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, & when they had confeſſed it, they were put to death.

4 Thus the King cauſed to bee put in the Chzonicles. Mardocheus alſo wzote the ſame thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus ſhould remaine in the Court, and foz the aduertiſement he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the ſonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, becauſe of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the Letters of Artaxerxes againſt the Jewes. 8 The prayer of Mardochem.

Ioſeph Antiq. lib.11, cap.6. THe copie of the Letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes writeth theſe things to the princes and gouernozs that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundzeth and ſeuen and twentie pzouinces.

2 When I was made lozde ouer many people, and had ſubdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my ſelfe by the reaſon of my power, but purpoſed with equitie alway, and gentleneſſe, to gouerne my ſubiects, and wholly to ſet them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bzing my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might ſafely goe thzozow on euery ſide, and to renew peace againe, which all men deſire.

3 Nowe when I aſked my counſellers howe theſe things might be brought to paſſe, one that was conuerſant with vs of excellent wiſedome, and conſtant in good will, and ſhewed himſelfe to be of ſure fidelitie, which had the ſecond place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was ſcattered abzoade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway deſpiſed the commandements of Kings, and ſo that this generall empire, that we haue begunne, can not bee gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing nowe wee perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vſing ſtrange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to ſtabliſh wicked matters, that our kingdome ſhould not come to good eſtate,

6 Therefoze haue wee commaunded that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ozdained ouer the affaires, and is as our ſecond father) ſhall all with their wiues and children bee deſtroyed and rooted out with the ſwoade of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee ſpared the foureteenth day of this twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of olde, & nowe alſo haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thruſt dowme into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the wozkes of the Lozde, and made his pzayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lozd, Lozd, the king almightie (foz all things are in thy power) and if thou haſt appointed to ſaue Iſrael, there is no man that can withſtand thee.

10 Foz thou haſt made heauen and earth, and all the wondzous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lozd of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lozd.

12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt, Lozde, that it was neither of malice, noz preſumption, noz foz any deſire of glozy, that I did this, and not dow dowme to pzoud Aman.

13 Foz I would haue bene content with good will foz the ſaluation of Iſrael to haue kiſſed the ſole of his feete.

14 But I did it, becauſe I would not preſer the honour of a man aboue the glozy of God, and would not woꝛſhip any but onely thee, my Lozd, and this haue I not done of pzide.

15 And therefoze, O Lozde God & King, haue mercie vpon thy people: foz they imagine howe they may bing vs to nought, yea, they would deſtroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Deſpiſe not the pozcion which thou haſt deliuered out of Egypt foz thine owne ſelfe.

17 Heare my pzayer, and bee mercifull vnto thy pozcion: turne our lozowe into loy, that wee may liue, O Lozde, and pzayſe thy Name: ſhut not the mouthes of them that pzayſe thee.

18 All Iſrael in like maner cryed moſt earneſtly vnto the Lozd, becauſe that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QVeen Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, shee scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lorde God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lorde, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didst promise them.

6 Nowe Lord, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs vnto the handes of our enemies,

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken handes with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lorde, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuise vpon themselues, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lorde, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lorde of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent speach in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shewe my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor dronke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lorde God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe into the king, and make intercession for her people. 9 And shee performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy low estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sauior of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leaned herselfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheereful & amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the king, and the king sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned herselfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kings mind that hee was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to herselfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and sayd,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and sayd, Talke with me.

16 Then sayd she, I saw thee, O lord, as an angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

Ioseph. Ant. 11 cap. 6.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proude,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulnes away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that bee vnmindfull of benefites, they thinke to escape ỹ vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their friendes causes are committed, by vaine intisements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentleneſſe of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be prooued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthie to beare rule.

8 Therefore wee must take heede hereafter that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleneſs.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodneſſe, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath prooued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceits also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preserver, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked mã that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes, 16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almightie and euerliuing God, by whom the kingdome hath beene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And yee shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladneſſe, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The Wisedome of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who be those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8 11 We ought to flee from backebiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

LOue * righteousnesse, yee that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

Deut. 4. 29. 2. chro. 15. 4.

2 *For he wil be found of them that tempt him not, & appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwise,

4 Because wisedome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceite, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednes commeth. Iere. 4. 22.

6 For the spirit of wisedome * is louing, and will not absolue him, that blaspheməth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue. Gala. 5. 22.

7 For the Spirit of the Lorde filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shal come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the care of ielouſie beareth al things, and the noyſe of the grudgings ſhall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from ſlander: for there is no word ſo ſecret, that ſhall goe for nought, and the mouth that ſpeaketh lies, ſlayeth the ſoule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: Deut. 4.23. * deſtroy not your ſelues through the workes of your owne hands.

Eſech. 18.23. and 33.11. 13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleaſure in the deſtruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the worlde are preſerued, and there is no poyſon of deſtruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſnes is immortal, but vnrighteouſnes bringeth death.

a To wit, death. 16 And the vngodly call a it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friende of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and deſires of the wicked, and their counſell againſt the faithfull.

FOr the vngodly ſay, as they falſely imagine with themſelues, * Our life is ſhort and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue. Iob. 7.1. and 14.1. matt. 22.23. 1. cor. 15.32.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we ſhall be hereafter, as though wee had neuer beene: for the breath is a ſmoke in our noſtrils, and the wordes as a ſparke rayſed out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is turned into aſhes, and the ſpirite vaniſheth as the ſoft aire.

4 Our life ſhall paſſe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the miſt that is driuen away with the beames of the ſunne, and caſt downe with the heate thereof. Our name alſo ſhall be forgotten in time, and no man ſhall haue our workes in remembrance.

1. Chr. 29.15 chap. 5.9. 5 * For our time is as a ſhadowe that paſſeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is faſt ſealed, ſo that no man commeth againe.

Iſa. 22.13. and 56.12. 1. cor. 15.32. 6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleaſures that are preſent, and let vs cheerefully vſe the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our ſelues with coſtly wine and ointments, and let not the floure of life paſſe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our ſelues with roſe buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonneſſe: let vs leaue ſome token of our pleaſure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppreſſe the poore that is righteous: let vs not ſpare the widowe, nor reuerence the white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our ſtrength bee the lawe of vnrighteouſneſſe: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous, for he is not for our profite, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending againſt the Lawe, and blameth vs as tranſgreſſours of diſcipline.

13 He maketh his boaſt to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himſelfe the ſonne of the Lord.

14 He is made * to reproue our thoughts. Iohn 7.7.

15 It grieueth vs alſo to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another faſhion. epheſ. 5.13, Iſa. 53.3.

16 He counteth vs as baſtards, and he withdraweth himſelfe from our waies as from filthineſſe: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iuſt, and boaſteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs ſee then if his words be true: let vs proue what end he ſhall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * ſonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies. Pſal. 22.8,9. matt. 27.43.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and torments, that we may know his meekneſs, and proue his patience. Ier. 11.19.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a ſhamefull death: for he ſhalbe preſerued as he himſelfe ſaith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe aſtray: for their owne wickednеſſe hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderſtand the myſteries of God, neither hope for the rewarde of righteouſneſſe, nor can diſcerne the honour of the ſoules that are faultleſſe.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his owne likeneſſe. Gen. 1.27. and 2.7. and 5.1.

24 * Neuertheleſſe, through enuy of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his ſide, proue it. eccluſ. 17.2,3 Gen. 3.1,3.

CHAP. III.

1 The converſation and aſſurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miſerable.

BVt the * ſoules of the righteous are in the hande of God, and no torment ſhall touch them. Deut. 33.3.

2 * In the ſight of the vnwiſe they appeared to die, and their ende was thought grieuous, Chap. 5.4.

3 And their departing from vs, deſtruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they ſuffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortalitie. Rom. 8.24.

5 They are puniſhed but in fewe things, yet in many things ſhal they be wel rewarded: * For God proueth them, and findeth them meete for himſelfe. 2. cor. 5.1. 1. pet. 1.13. Exod. 16.4. deut. 8.2.

6 He trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiueth them as a perfite fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their viſion they ſhall ſhine, and runne thorowe as the ſparkes among the ſtubble. Matt. 13.43

8 They * ſhall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord ſhall reigne for euer. Matt. 19.28 1. cor. 6.2.

9 They that truſt in him, ſhall vnderſtand the trueth, and the faithfull ſhall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercie is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 * But the vngodly ſhall be puniſhed according to their imaginations: for they haue deſpiſed Mat. 25.41.

despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, & their works unprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: * she Isa.56.5. shal haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his handes hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruite of good labours, and the root of wisdome shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of aduulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, & their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrenesse with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned & triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they budde foorth in the bran-
Matt.7.19. ches for a time, * yet they shal be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemency of the winde they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

Gene.5.24. Heb.11.5. 10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners he translated him.

11 He was taken away, least wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vnstedfastnesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple mind.

13 Though hee was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safety.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall he burst them, and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorow, and their memorial shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shal remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shalbe vexed with horrible feare, and shall bee amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their minds, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 * We fooles thought his life madnesse, and Chap.3.2. his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousnesse hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are * passed away like a 1.Chron.29. shadow, and as a poste that passeth by: 15.chap.2.5.

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or * as a bird that fleeth through the Pro.30.19. aire, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light wind, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on, shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediately commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen ſo wee, aſſoone as wee were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue ſhewed no token of vertue, but are conſumed in our own wickednelle.

Iob.8.9.pſal. 14 For * the hope of the vngodly is like the 14.and 143. duſt that is blowen away with the winde, and 4.pro.10.25. like a thinne ſome that is ſcattered abroad with & 11.7.iam. the ſtorme, and as the ſmoake which is diſperſed
1.10.11. with the wind, and as the remembrance of him palleth, that tarrieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous ſhall liue for euer: their reward alſo is with the Lord, and the moſt Hie hath care of them.

16 Therfore ſhal they receiue a glorious kingdome, & a beautifull crowne of the Lordes hand: for with his right hand ſhall he couer them, and with his arme ſhall he defend them.

17 He ſhall take his ielouſie for armour, and ſhall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He ſhall put on righteouſneſſe for a breaſtplate, and take true iudgement in ſtead of an helmet.

19 He will take holines for an inuincible ſhield.

20 He will ſharpen his fierce wrath for a ſword, and the world ſhall fight with him againſt the vnwiſe.

21 Then ſhall the thunderbolts goe ſtraight out of the lightnings, & ſhall flie to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that thorowly ſtones, ſhall thicke haile be caſt, & the water of the ſea ſhall be wroth againſt them, and the floods ſhall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty wind ſhall ſtand vp againſt them, & like a ſtorme ſhall ſcatter them abroad. Thus iniquity ſhall bring all the earth to a wilderneſſe, and wickednelle ſhall ouerthrowe the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are alſo exhorted to ſearch wiſedome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderſtand: learne ye that bee Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes and glory in the multitude of people.

Rom.13.2. 3 For the * rule is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the moſt High, which will try your works, and ſearch out your imaginations.

4 Becauſe that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and ſuddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement ſhall they haue that beare rule.

6 For be that is moſt low, is worthy mercy, but the mighty ſhalbe mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will ſpare no Deut.10.17 * perſon, neither ſhall he feare any greatnes: for eccluſ.35.12,

16.actes 10. 8 But for the mighty abideth the ſorer triall.
34 rom.2.11. 9 Vnto you therfore, O tyrants, do I ſpeake, gal.2.6.ephe. that ye may learne wiſdome, and not go amiſſe.
6.9.coloſſ.3.
35.1.pet.1. 10 For they that keepe holineſſe holily, ſhall
17. be holy, and they that are learned therin, ſhall find a defence.

11 Wherfore ſet your delight vpon my words and deſire them, and ye ſhall be inſtructed.

12 Wiſdome ſhineth and neuer fadeth away, and is eaſily ſeene of them that loue her, & found of ſuch as ſeeke her, 13 She preuenteth them that deſire her, that ſhe may firſt ſhew herſelfe vnto them.

14 Who ſo awaketh vnto her betimes, ſhall haue no great trauaile: for hee ſhall find her ſitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderſtanding: and who ſo watcheth for her, ſhall be ſoone without care.

16 For ſhe goeth about, ſeeking ſuch as are meet for her, and ſheweth her ſelfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the moſt true deſire of diſcipline is her beginning: and the care of diſcipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the aſſurance of immortality:

19 And immortality maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the deſire of wiſedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, & ſcepters, O kings of the people, honour wiſedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wiſdome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the myſteries from you, but will ſeeke her out from the beginning of her natiuity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with conſuming enuie: for ſuch a man ſhall not be partaker of wiſedome.

24 But the multitude of the wiſe is the preſeruation of the world, and a wiſe King is the ſtay of the people.

25 Be therefore inſtructed by my words, and ye ſhall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wiſedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My ſelfe am alſo mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was firſt made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I faſhioned to be fleſh in ten moneths: I was * wrought Iob.10.10, together into blood of the ſeede of man, and by 11. the pleaſure that commeth with ſleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the firſt as all other doe.

4 I was nouriſhed in ſwadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All * men then haue one entrance vnto life, Iob.1.21. and a like going out. 1.tim.6.7.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderſtanding was giuen me: I called, and the ſpirit of wiſedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to ſcepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparion of her.

9 * Neither did I compare pretious ſtones Iob.28.15. vnto her: for all golde is but a little grauell in reſpect of her, and ſiluer ſhall bee counted but but clay before her.

10 I loued her about health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All * good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands. 1. King. 3. 13 matth. 6. 33.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author therof, and I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our words, and all wisedome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beasts, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and knowen doe I know: for wisedome the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirite of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, eudent, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot bee letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth through and attaineth to all things, because of her pureneſſe.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almightie: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For * she is the brightneſſe of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Maiesty of God, and the image of his goodneſſe. Hebr. 1. 3.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, renneth all, and according to the ages she entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisedome.

29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickedneſſe cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of Wisedome.

SHee also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisedome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousneſſe, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobernesse and prudencie, righteousnes, and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discerns things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes & the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the succeſſe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsell me good things, and comfort mee in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall bee marualous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by her, I shal obteine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shalbe afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home I shal rest with her: for her company hath no bitterneſſe, and her felowship hath no tediousneſſe, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine hart, how that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheleſſe, when I perceiued that I coulu not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wiſedome alſo, to knowe whoſe gift it was) I went vnto the Lorde, and beſought him, and with my whole heart I ſayd,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wiſedome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which haſt made all things with thy word,

2 And ordained man through thy wiſedome, that he ſhould haue *dominion ouer the creatures which thou haſt made,

3 And gouerne the worlde according to equitie and righteouſneſſe, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Giue me * that wiſedome, which ſitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I * thy ſeruant, and ſonne of thine handmayde, am a feeble perſon, and of a ſhort time, & yet leſſe in the vnderſtanding of iudgement and the lawes.

6 And though a man bee neuer ſo perfite among the children of men, yet if thy wiſedom be not with him, he ſhalbe nothing regarded.

7 * Thou haſt choſen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy ſonnes and daughters.

8 Thou haſt commaunded mee to builde a Temple vpon thine holy mount, and an altar in the citie, wherein thou dwelleſt, a likeneſſe of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou haſt prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy * wiſdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which alſo was when thou madeſt the world, and which knewe what was acceptable in thy ſight, and right in thy commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and ſend her from the throne of thy Maieſtie, that ſhe may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy ſight.

11 For ſhee knoweth and vnderſtandeth all things, and ſhee ſhall leade mee ſoberly in my workes, and preſerue me by her glory.

12 So ſhall my workes bee acceptable, and then ſhall I gouerne thy people righteouſly, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can knowe the counſell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortal men are fearefull, and our forecaſts are vncertaine, 15 Becauſe a corruptible body is heauie vnto the ſoule, & the earthly manſion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee diſcerne the things that are vpon earth, & with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then ſeeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can knowe thy counſell, except thou giue him wiſedome, and ſende thy holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For ſo the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleaſant vnto thee, and are preſerued through wiſedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the deſtruction of the enemies commeth through wiſedome.

SHe preſerued the firſt father of the worlde, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

3 *But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and periſhed by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whoſe cauſe the * earth was ouerflowen, but wiſedome preſerued it againe, gouerning the iuſt man by a little wood.

5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, ſhe knewe the righteous, and preſerued him faultleſſe vnto God, and ‖ kept him ſure, becauſe ſhe loued him tenderly as a ſonne.

6 She preſerued the righteous, * when the vngodly periſhed, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whoſe wickednes the waſte land that ſmoketh, yet giueth teſtimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripeneſſe: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull ſoule, there ſtandeth a pillar of ſalt.

8 For al ſuch as regarded not wiſedome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not ỹ things which were good, but alſo left them behind vnto men a memoriall of their foolihneſſe, ſo that in the things wherein they ſinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wiſedome deliuered them ỹ ſerued her.

10 * When the righteous fled becauſe of his brothers wrath, ſhe led him ỹ right way, ſhewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Againſt the couetouſnes of ſuch as defrauded him, ſhe ſtood by him and made him rich.

12 She ſaued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that laie in waite, and ſhe gaue him the price in mightie battell, that hee might knowe that the feare of God is ſtronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was ſolde, ſhee forſooke him not, but deliuered him from ſinne: ſhe went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And failed him not in the bands, till ſhee had brought him the ſcepter of the Realme, and power againſt thoſe that oppreſſed him, & them that had accuſed him ſhee declared to be lyars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 *She deliuered the righteous people and faultleſſe ſeede from the nations that oppreſſed them.

16 She entred into the ſoule of the ſeruant of the Lorde, and ſtoode * by him in wonders and ſignes againſt the terrible kings.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them foorth a marueilous way: on the daytime ſhee was a ſhadowe vnto them, and a light of ſtarres in the night.

18 * She brought them through the red ſea, and caried them through the great water, 19 But ſhee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the ſpoyles of the vngodly, * and prayſed thy holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hande with one accord.

21 For wiſedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 28 The great power and mercie of God.

SHee prospered their workes in the handes of thine holy Prophet.

Exod.16.1. 2 *They went through the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

Exod.17.10, 11. 3 *They stoode against their enemies, and were auenged of their aduersaries.

Num.20.11 4 *When they were thirstie they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their neede.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

Exod.7.20. 7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time,* howe thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercie, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord, 12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondred at him, whome afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceiued, and

Chap.12.24. rom.1.23. worshipped * serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall hee bee punished.

Gen.1.1: hebr.11.3. 14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of * nought, it was not impossible to send among them a multitude of * Beares, or

Leuit.26.22 ier.8.16,17. chap.16.1. fierce Lions,

15 Or furious beastes newly created and vnknowen, which should breathe out blastes of fire, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirite: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the worlde before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could anything bee preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreprouable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible Spirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them. Deut.9.3. and 12.31.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices, and 18.12.

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banketting, where the raging Priestes shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might bee a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little, Exod.33.1, deut.2.22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruel beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

F

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say,* What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgment? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whō thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men? *Rom.9.20.

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright. 1.Pet.5.7.

14 There

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accompts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ordrest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished. Iob 10.2,3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnes, and because thou art Lord of al things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfit power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes nowe hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to bee of good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap.11.13. Rom.1.23. 24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and reckoned the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scorneful rebukes, shal feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffred, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

SVrely al men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, *and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the workemaster. Rom.1.19.

2 *But they thought the fire or the wind, or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to bee gouernors of the world and Gods. Deut.4.19. and 17.3.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beauty that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first author of beauty hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, & operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnes of their beauty, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For they * goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. Rom.1,21.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the worlde, why do they not rather find out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life. Isa.44.13. sore.10.3.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobs) hee carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and paynteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all,

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requireth furtherance of him that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carieth him.

2 For as for ‖ it, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, and the craftesman made it by Or, the ship.

by cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues, Exod. 14. 22.

4 Declaring thereby that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheleſſe thou wouldeſt not, that the works of thy wiſedome ſhould be vaine, & therefore doe men commit their liues to a ſmall piece of wood, and paſſe ouer the ſtormie ſea in a ſhip and are ſaued.

6 * For in the olde time alſo when the proud giants periſhed, the hope of the world went into a ſhip which was gouerned by thine hand, and ſo left ſeed of generation vnto the world. Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

7 For bleſſed is the tree wherebye righteouſneſſe commeth.

8 But that is curſed that is made with hands, * both it and he that made it: he, becauſe he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, becauſe it was called god. Pſal. 115. 8. Baruch 6. 3.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlineſſe are both like hated of God: ſo truely the worke and he that made it, ſhall be puniſhed together. Pſal. 5. 5.

10 Therefore ſhal there be a viſitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and ſtumbling blocks vnto the ſoules of men, and a ſnare for the feet of the vnwiſe. Ierem. 10. 8. Hoſea. 2. 18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither ſhall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore ſhall they come ſhortly to an end.

14 When a father mourneth grieuouſly for his ſonne that was taken away ſuddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whome now he worſhippeth as a god, and ordeined to his ſeruants ceremonies and ſacrifices.

15 Thus by proceſſe of time this wicked cuſtome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worſhipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for thoſe that were ſo farre off that men might not worſhip them preſently, they did counterfeit the viſage that was farre off, and made a goreeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was abſent, as though hee had bene preſent.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftſman thruſt forward the ignorant to increaſe the ſuperſtition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to pleaſe a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the beſt faſhion.

19 And ſo through the beautie of the worke, the multitude was allured, and ſo tooke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in ſeruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, aſcribed vnto ſtones and ſtocks the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they ſlew their owne children in ſacrifice, or vſed ſecret ceremonies, or raging diſſolutenеſſe by ſtrange rites, Deut. 18. 10. Ierem. 7. 9. and 19. 4.

23 And ſo kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one ſlew another by treaſon, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and ſlaughter, theft and deceite, corruption, vnfaithfulneſſe, tumults, periurie, 25 Diſquieting of good men, vnthankfulnes, defiling of ſoules, changing of birth, diſorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleanneſſe.

26 For the worſhipping of idoles, that ought not to bee named, is the beginning and the cauſe, and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merrie, or prophеſie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forſweare themſelues.

28 For in ſo much as their truſt is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they ſweare falſly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two cauſes ſhall they iuſtly be puniſhed, becauſe they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themſelues vnto idoles, and becauſe they ſweare vniuſtly to deceiue, and deſpiſe holineſſe.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they ſweare, but the vengeance of them that ſinne, which puniſheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praiſing the mercies of God, by whoſe grace they ſerue not idoles.

BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long ſuffering, and gouerneſt all things by mercy.

2 Though we ſinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we ſinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfect righteouſneſſe, and to knowe thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image ſpotted with diuers colours.

5 Whoſe ſight ſtirreth vp the deſire of the ignorant: ſo that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue ſuch wicked things, are worthy to haue ſuch things to truſt to, and they that make them, and they that deſire them, and they that worſhip them.

7 The * potter alſo tempereth ſoft earth, and faſhioneth euery veſſell with labour to our vſe: but of the ſame clay hee maketh both the veſſels that ſerue to cleane vſes, and the contrary likewiſe: but whereto euery veſſell ſerueth, the potter is the iudge. Rom. 9. 21.

8 So by his wicked labor he maketh a vaine god of the ſame clay: euen hee, which a litle afore was made of earth himſelfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, * when hee ſhall make accompt for the loue of his life. Luke 12. 20.

9 Notwithſtanding hee careth not for the labour hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say wee ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borowed spirite, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshipeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, & which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beasts, for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and *tormented by the multitude of beasts. Chap.11.13, 24. numb. 21.6.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailes, Num.11,31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meat, by the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouertie, and that to theie onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of crueli serpents, Numb.21.6. 1.cor.10.9.

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might bee reformed, hauing a ‖* signe of saluation to remember the commaundement of thy Law. The signe of the brasen serpent.

7 For he that turned to ward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all. Num.21,9.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 * For the biting of grashoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to bee punished by such. Exod 8.24. and 10.4. reuel.9.7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe into the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. Deut.32.39. 1.sam.2.6. tob.13.2.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not knowe thee, were punished by the stregth of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, & were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire. Exo.9.23.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the worlde is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

20 * In the stead wherof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meete for all tastes. Exod.16.14. numb.11.7. psal,78.25. iohn 6.31.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

22 Moreouer, the snow and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might knowe, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies. Exod.9.23.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished:

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce to punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that haue need thereof,

26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lorde, might knowe, * that it is not the increase of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, Deut.8.3. matth.4.4

word, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not be destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that we ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the Day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankeful shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot bee expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleere flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afrayd of this vision, ‖ which they could not see, they thought the things which they sawe to bee worse.

‖ That is, the mighty vision.

7 * And the illusions of the Magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

Exod. 7.12. and 8.7, 19.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and sayd they sawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can bee auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, greate.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus whosoeuer fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing winde or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water, 18 Or a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not bee seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleere light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Only vpon them there fel an heauy night an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenes.

9 The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernes, 21 Aaron stoode betweene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

BVt thy saints had a very great * light, whose voyce because ‖ they heard, and sawe not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

Exod. 10.23. ‖ Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enimitie.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknowē way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

Exod. 13.21. and 14.24. psal. 78.14. and 105.39.

4 But they were worthy to bee depriued of the light, and to bee kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the incorrupt light of the lawe should bee giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproone them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mighty water.

Exod. 1.16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing vnto what oathes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

Exod. 14.24, 25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euil in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king.

Exod. 11.5. and 12.29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because cause of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almighty worde leapt downe from heauen out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the lande that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfayned commandement, as a sharpe sworde, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnesse came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wildernes there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long. Num.16.46

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude, with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the worde hee subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, & in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head. Exod.28.6, 11.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afrayd of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meate that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the ende: for hee knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had *cast out afore with prayer. a That is, the children of Israel whom they before had desired and prayed to go their way.

4 For the destinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained, by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hande, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they ‖ pyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them. ‖ Or, were fed.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the lande where they dwelt, howe the ground brought foorth flies in stead of cattell, and howe the riuer scrauled with the multitude of frogs in steade of fishes.

11 *But at the last they sawe a newe generation of birds, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates. Exod.16.13. num.11.31.

12 *For the quailes came foorth of the Sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖ sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred towarde strangers. Chap.16.2. ‖ Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other sorte brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, & admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were striken with blindenesse, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the *righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenesse, sought the entrance of his doore. Gen.19.11.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remayneth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therin, neither melted they that which seemed to bee ‖ yet, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meate. ‖ b He meaneth Man, looke Esod, 16.14,15, and numb. 11.7.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

The

The wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, & he liued in the latter times after the people had bene led away captiue, & brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it Wisedome, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of wisedome, to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligentlie. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

The Prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to bee commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselues, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselues to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore, I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for ỹ things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselues then when they are translated into another tongue: and not only these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, & continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisedome commeth of God. 11 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisedome.

ALl wisdom* commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] & is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the daies of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisedome hath beene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisedome, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whom hath the roote of wisedome beene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wisedome beene discouered & shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most High Creatour of all things, the Almightie, the king of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [thorow the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]

10 Hee hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glorie, and gladnesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lorde maketh a merrie heart, & giueth gladnesse, and ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and hee shall find fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whome it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great works thereof.]

15 *The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lorde is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnes.

18 Who

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.]
19 Shee hath built her everlasting foundations with men, and is given to be with their seed.
20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisedome, and filleth men with her fruits.
21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desireable, & the garners with the things that shee bringeth foorth, and both twaine are gifts of God.
22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisedome, and giveth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her and numbred her.
‖Or, wisedome. 23 ‖ She raineth downe knowledge, and understanding of wisedome, and hath brought unto honour them that possessed her.
24 The feare of the Lord is the root of wisedom, and her branches are long life.
25 [In the treasures of wisedome is understanding, and holy knowledge, but wisedome is abhorred of sinners.]
26 The feare of the Lord driveth out sinne: and when she is present, she driveth away anger.
27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot be justified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.
28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he have the reward of joy.
29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisedome.
30 In the treasures of wisedome are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.
31 If thou desire wisedom, keep the commandements, and the Lord shall give her unto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]
32 For the feare of the Lord is wisedome & discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meeknes.
33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not unto him with a double heart.
34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.
35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discover thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receive the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the servants of God to righteousnesse, love, understanding, and patience, 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse upon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

My sonne, if thou wilt come into the service of God [stande fast in righteousnesse & feare, and] prepare thy selfe to tentation.
2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bowe downe thine eare, & receive the words of understanding] and shrinke not away when thou art assailed. [but wait upon God patiently.]
3 Joyne thy selfe unto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at thy last end.
4 Whatsoever commeth unto thee, receive it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.
Wisd.3.6. Ecclus.17.3. 5 * For as golde [and silver are] tried in the fire, even so are men acceptable in the furnace of adversitie.
6 Beleeve in God, and hee will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and grow old therein.]
7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that ye fal not.
8 Yee that feare the Lord, beleeve him, and your reward shall not faile.
9 O yee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting joy and mercy.
10 [Ye that feare the Lord, love him, & your hearts shall be lightened.]
11 Consider the olde generations [of men, ye children,] marke them well: * was there ever any confounded that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he ever despise, that called upon him? Psal.37.25.
12 For God is gratious & mercifull, and forgiveth sinnes, and saveth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.]
‖Or, double. 13 Woe unto them that have a ‖ fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes. 1. King.18. 21.
14 Woe unto him that is faint hearted: for he beleeveth not: therefore shall he not be defended.
15 Woe unto you that have lost patience. [and have forsaken the right waies, and are turned backe into froward waies:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visit you?
16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word: and they that * love him, will keepe his waies. John 14.23. 24.
17 They that feare the Lorde, will seeke out the things that are pleasant unto him: and they that love him, shal be fulfilled with his law.
18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, & humble their soules in his sight.
19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, if we do not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, & not into the hands of men.
21 For as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. IIII.

1 To our father and mother ought we to give double honour. 10. Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought over curiously to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, & their obeying is obedience and love.]
2 Heare your fathers judgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.
3 For the Lord will have the father honored of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother over the children.
4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall have his daily desires.]
5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.
6 Who so honoureth his father, shall have joy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.
7 He that honoureth his father, shall have a long long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth service vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

Exod.20.12. deut.5.16. matth.15.4. ephe.6.2,3. 9 *Honour thy father and mother in deede and in worde, [and in all patience,] that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

‖Or, the blessing of men. 10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame, 12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousnesse.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 Hee that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

Phil.2.3. 19 The *greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the secrets are reuealed vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

Psal.131.1. pro.25.27. rom.12.3. 22 *Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mightie for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commaunded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubburne heart shall fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedy, and his steps shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousnesse.]

33 Water quencheth burning fire, *and almes taketh away sinnes. Dan.4.24. psal.41.3.

34 And he that rewardeth good deedes, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall finde a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must be done with gentlenesse. 12 The studie of wisedome and her fruit. 20 An exhortation to eschew euill, and doe good.

MY sonne, defraud not the *poore of his liuing, and make not the needie eyes to waite long. Deut.15.7.

2 Make not an hungry soule lowrowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: *turne not away the face from the poore. Tobit.4.7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitternesse of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thy head to a man of worthip.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answere.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and bee not faint hearted ‖ when thou iudgest. ‖Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and receiueth them that seeke her, [and will go before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 Hee that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 Hee that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom she entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 Hee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him into feare and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tryed his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secrets; [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.]

19 But if he goe wrong, she will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [My sonne,] make much of time, and * eschew the thing that is euill.

21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedom knowen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisedome, and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the works of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the word of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither beat thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

31 * Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may wee not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRust not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my works? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgiue my manifolde sinnes: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answere with wisedome.]

12 * Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answere.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [least thou be trapped in an vndiscreet word, and so be blamed.

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the theefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter shalbe hated, enuied and confounded.]

16 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

Iames 1.19.
Leuit. 19.16.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a sinner to bee euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] a enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be an infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, least thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, and so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wildernesse.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counseller of a thousand.

7 If thou getteſt a friend, proue him first, and be not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Againe, some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and siluer] is not to bee compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

a For that is against the rule of charitie, which loueth all, and hateth nothing but only sinne.
b as a bull teareth in pieces a yong tree with his hornes, so thou trusting in thine own wisdome, and standing in thine owne conceit, because of thy wit, thy power, or riches, shouldest destroy thy selfe.
Chap. 37.5.

16 A faithfull friende is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] & they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisedome [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruites right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned? he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that knowe her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] & her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

Chap.8.9. 36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be ‖ continually * occupied in his commaundements: so shall hee establish thine heart, and giue thee wisedome at thine owne desire.

‖ Or, earnestly. Psal.1.2,3.

CHAP. VII.

2 We must forsake euill, & yet not iustifie our selues.
33 The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

DO no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, least that thou reape them seuen folde.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

5 *Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisedome in the presence of the king. Iob.9.2. psal.143.2. eccles.7.18. luke 18.11.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, feering the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 *Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished. Chap.5.5.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee * that can bring downe, and set vp againe. 1.Sam.2.7.

12 Sowe not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the elders, neither * repeate a thing in thy prayer. Mat.6.5,7.

15 Hate not laborious * worke, neither the husbandry, which the most High hath created. Rom.12.11.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue golde.

20 ¶ *Whereas thy seruant worketh truely, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholly for thee. Leuit.19.13 chap.33.29. and 34.23.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, [neither leane him a poore man.]

22 *If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they be for thy profite, keepe them with thee. Deut.25.4.

23 *If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and bold their necke from their youth. Chap.30.13.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodie, and shewe not thy face cheerefull towarde them.

25 Marry thy daughter, & so shalt thou performe a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 *Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorrowes of thy mother. Chap.3.8. tobit.4.3.

28 Remember that thou waſt borne of them, and how canſt thou recompence them the things that they haue done for thee?

29 ¶ Feare the Lord with all thy ſoule, and honour his miniſters.

30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy ſtrength, * and forſake not his ſeruants. Deut.12. 18,19.

31 Feare the Lord with all thy ſoule, and honour the Prieſts, * and giue them their portion, as it is commaunded thee, the firſt fruites, [and purifications] and ſacrifices for ſinne, and the offrings of the ſhoulders, and the ſacrifices of ſanctification, and the firſt fruits of the holy things. Leuit.2.3. num.18,15.

32 Stretch thine hand vnto the poore, that the ‖ bleſſing, [and reconciliation] may be accompliſhed. ‖ Or, liberalitie.

33 Liberalitie pleaſeth all men liuing, and * from the dead reſtraine it not. Tobit.2.4,7. and 4.17.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without [comfort:] but mourne with ſuch as mourne. Rom.12.15.

35 * Be not ſlowe to viſite the ſicke: for that ſhall make thee to be beloued. Mat.25.36.

† 36 Whatſoeuer thou takeſt in hand, remember the end, and thou ſhalt neuer doe amiſſe.

CHAP. VIII.

We muſt take heede with whom we haue to doe.

STriue not with a mightie man, leaſt thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, leſt he on the other ſide weigh downe thy weight: * for gold [and ſiluer] hath deſtroyed many, and hath ſubuerted the hearts of kings. Mat.5.25. Chap.31.6.

3 Striue not with a man that is full of words, and lay no ſtickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, leaſt thy kindred be diſhonoured.

5 * Deſpiſe not a man that turneth himſelfe away from ſinne, nor caſt him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame. Gal.6.1.

6 * Diſhonour not a man in his olde age: for they were as we which are not old. Leuit.19.32.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemie, but remember that wee muſt die all, [and ſo enter into ioy.]

8 * Deſpiſe not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wiſe, but acquaint thy ſelfe with their wiſe ſentences: for of thē thou ſhalt learne wiſedome, [and the doctrine of vnderſtanding,] and howe to ſerue great men [without complaint.] Chap.6.35.

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou ſhalt learne vnderſtanding, and to make anſwere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coales of ſinners, [when thou rebukeſt them,] leaſt thou be burnt in the fierie flames [of their ſinnes.]

11 Riſe not vp againſt him that doth wrong, that he lay not waite as a ſpie for thy mouth.

12 ¶ Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy ſelfe: for if thou lendeſt him, count it but loſt. Chap.29.4.

13 Be not ſurettie aboue thy power: for if thou be ſurettie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to law with the Iudge: for they will giue ſentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Trauaile not by the way with him that is raſh, leaſt he doe thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne wilfulneſſe, and ſo ſhalt thou periſh through his folly. Gen.4.8.

16 * Striue not with him that is angry, and goe not with him into the wildernes: for blood is as nothing in his ſight, and where there is no helpe, he will ouerthrowe thee. Pro.22,24.

17 Take no counſell at a foole: for he cannot keepe a thing cloſe.

18 Doe no ſecret thing before a ſtranger: for thou canſt not tell what he goeth about.

† 19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, leſt he be vnthankefull vnto thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of ieloufie. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men ſhould be bidden to thy table.

BE not ielous ouer thy wife of thy boſome, neither * teach her by thy meanes an euill leſſon. a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will ſhe be contrary vnto thee, take away thy heart & ſtrength, and bring thee to confuſion among thine enemies, as did Heuah to Adam, Dalilah to Samſon, and ſtrange women to Salomon. Gen.6.2,3. and 34.2. Prou.5.3. Matt.5,28. Gen.34.1,2. 2.ſam.11.2. Iudet.10.17, 19. and 12. 16,20.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, leaſt ſhe ouercome thy ſtrength, [and ſo thou bee confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, leaſt thou fall into her ſnares.

4 Vſe not the company of a woman that is a ſinger, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] leaſt thou be taken by her craftineſſe.

5 Gaze not on a * maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 * Caſt not thy mind vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] leaſt thou deſtroy [both thy ſelfe and] thine heritage.

7 Goe not about gazing in the ſtreetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the ſecret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue periſhed by the beautie of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, ſhall be troden vnder foote as doung, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many woondering at the beautie of a ſtrange womā, haue bene caſt out: for her words burne as a fire.

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banket with her: leaſt thine heart incline vnto her, and ſo through thy deſire fall into deſtruction.

† 12 ¶ Forſake not an olde friend: for the new ſhall not be like him: a newe friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou ſhalt drinke it with pleaſure.

13 * Deſire not the honour [and riches] of a ſinner: for thou knoweſt not what ſhall bee his ende. Iudg.9.3. 2.ſam.15.12.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleaſure in, but remember that they ſhall not be found iuſt vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to ſlay: ſo ſhalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, leaſt he take away thy life: remember that thou goeſt in the middes of ſnares, and that thou walkeſt vpon the towers of the citie. Chap.6.36, 38.and 8.8.

16 Try thy neighbour as neere as thou canſt, * and aske counſell of the wiſe. and 37.12. Deut.6.7. and 11,19.

† 17 * Let thy talke be with the wiſe, and all thy commu-communication in the Law of the moſt High.

18 Let iuſt men eat and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

For, the workman is praiſed according to the worke.

19 In the handes of the craftesmen ſhall the workes be commended, and the wiſe prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wiſedome of the Elders.]

20 A man full of words is dangerous in his citie, and hee that is raſh in talking, ſhall bee hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetouſneſſe are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praiſed.

A Wiſe man will inſtruct his people with diſcretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himſelfe, ſo are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the city is, ſuch are all they that dwell therein.

1.King.12, 1,13,14.

3 * An vnwiſe King deſtroyeth his people, but where they that be in authority, are men of vnderſtanding, there the city proſpereth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquity of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will ſet vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the proſperity of man, and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

Leuit.19.17.

6 * Bee not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbor, and do nothing by iniurious practiſes.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquity.

Ierem.27.6. dan.4.14.

8 * Becauſe of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is tranſlated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worſe then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth, and aſhes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for ſuch one would euen ſell his ſoule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyranny is of ſmall indurance, and the diſeaſe that is hard to heale is grieuous to the Phyſitian.]

11 The Phyſitian cutteth off the ſore diſeaſe, and he that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth and aſhes proud, ſeeing that when a man dyeth, he is the heire of serpents, beaſts, and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of ſinne, and he that hath it, ſhall powre out abomination, till at laſt he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord hindereth the perſwaſions [of the wicked] to diſhonour, and deſtroyeth them in the end.

Luke1.52. & 14.11. & 18.14.1.ſam. 2.7,8.

15 The Lord hath * caſt down the thrones of the [proud] princes, and ſet vp the meeke in their ſtead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and deſtroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee cauſeth them to wither away, and deſtroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to ceaſe out of the earth.

18 [God deſtroyeth the memoriall of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a ſeede of man, which is an honourable ſeed: the honourable ſeed are they that feare the Lord: there is a ſeed of man, which is without honour: the ſeed without honour, are they that tranſgreſſe the commandements of the Lord: it is a ſeed that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a ſeed without honour, that deſpiſe the law, and a deceiuable ſeed that breake the commandements.

21 Ye that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: ſo are they that feare the Lord in his ſight.

22 The feare of the Lord cauſeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is loſt by cruelty and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meet to deſpiſe the poore man that hath vnderſtanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge, and the man of authority, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then he that feareth the Lord.

Prou.17.2. 2.Sam.12. 13.

26 * Vnto the ſeruant that is wiſe, ſhall they that are free, doe ſeruice: * hee that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is reformed, [and the ignorant ſhall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuſes when thou ſhouldeſt do thy worke, neither be aſhamed thereof through pride in the time of aduerſity.

Pro.12.9, 21.

28 * Better is he that laboureth, and hath plenteouſneſſe of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My ſonne, get thy ſelfe praiſe by meekeneſſe, and eſteeme thy ſelfe as thou deſerueſt.

30 Who will count him iuſt that ſinneth againſt himſelfe? or honour him that diſhonoureth his owne ſoule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation becauſe of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, how much more ſhall he be when he is rich? and hee that is vnhoneſt being rich, how much more will he be ſo when he is in pouertie?

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

Luke 12.19. 19 In that he saith, *I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth neere, that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueile not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour, for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

Chap.18.24. 25 *In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersity of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his works are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, [and the hind is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy prayse hee will find some fault.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not bee knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in aduersity.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemie is sweete in his lips: hee can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throwe thee into the pit: and if hee may find opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood. Iere. 41. 6.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, & will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The company of the proud, and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe company with their like.

HE * that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and hee that is familiar with the proud, shalbe like vnto him. Deuter. 7. 2.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, & threateneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and wil not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he will defraude thee, and wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he wil laugh thee to scorne: afterward when he seeth thee, he wil forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplenesse: [be not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 [If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdrawe not thy selfe from his speech, but beleeue not his many words: for with much communication will hee tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 Hee is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: hee will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 [Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dog? and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde asse is the Lions pray in the wilderneſſe, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though hee speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee saith, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voice of men, and so entiseth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisedome.

BLessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne. Chap. 19. 6, 16. 25. 3, 30.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a nigarde, and what should an enuious man do with money.

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that wil make good cheere with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whome will he bee good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, hee doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, & there is scarcenesse vpon his table. Prou. 23. 6.

13 * Do good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take, and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 * Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisedome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, Psal. 1. 2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her waies, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in watte in her wayes.

25 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: hee shall pitch his tent besides her.

26 And hee shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her hee shalbe couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnesse that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the authour of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall hee meete him, and hee, [a] as his wife married of a virgine, will receiue him.

a As a pure virgine newly married, doth friendly intreate her husband: so shall iustice pure and vndefiled gently entertaine her louers. Iohn, 4. 10.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall hee feede him, and giue him the * water of [wholesome] wisedome to drinke.

4 Hee shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not bee mooued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisedome, and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding will meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For he is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of trueth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisedome, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lorde will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 * He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of the counsel, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.] Gen. 1. 27.

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 Hee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh, shalbe giuen him. Iere. 21. 8.

18 For the wisdome of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 * And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the works of man. Psal. 34. 15 16. Hebr. 4. 13.

20 He hath commaunded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee destreth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappy and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the flocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shal the wrath be set on fire. Chap. 21. 9. 10.

8 * Neither spared hee whereas Lot dwelt, thole whom he abhorred for their pride. Gen. 19. 21. 25.

and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement.

11 Therfore if there be one stifnecked among the people, it is marueile if hee scape vnpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: hee is mighty to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 * As his mercy is great, so is his punishment also: hee iudgeth a man according to his workes. Chap.5.6.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoyle, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 Ye will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee should not knowe him, and that his workes should bee knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darkenesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shal not be knowen in so great an heap of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the * heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall bee mooued when he shall visite. 2.Pet.3.10. 1.King.8.27. 2.Chro.6.18.

19 All the world which is created and made by his wil, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but hee vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the stormе that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is far off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erroneous man casteth his mind vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto mee, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weighty doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shal endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor ceale from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath hee couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

10 Hee made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes sawe the maiestie of his glorie, and their eares heard his glorious voice.

12 And hee sayde vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. * Hee gaue euery man also a commaundement concerning his neighbour. Exod.20.16, 17.and 23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stonie hearts can not become b flesh.

b That is, soft & gentle, for the holy Ghost to write his lawes in.

15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And hee did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doth not forsake him. Deut.4.20. and 10.15.

17 All their workes are as the Sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * The almes of a man is as a thing sealed vp before him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters. Chap.29.13.

21 * At the last shall hee arise, and rewarde them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads. Mat.25.35.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such Acts 13.19.

such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.]

Ier.3.12. 23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most hie God, and goe in the parts of the holy worlde with such as be liuing, and confesse God.]

Psal.6.5. isai.38,18, 19. 26 *Who can praise the most High in the hel, as doe all that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though hee were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart praiseth the Lorde, [and reioyceth in his mercie.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil, [shal be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednes of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen.1,1. HEe that liueth for euer, *made all things together: the Lord who only is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious king for euer.]

2 Hee ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them bee found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, hee must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can he doe?

Psal.90,10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundreth yeeres, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the Sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande, so are a *thousand yeeres to the dayes euerlasting. 2.Pet.3.8.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 Hee sawe and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.]

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lorde is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercy on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dewe asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 *Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie. 1.Cor.11.31.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and deferre not vnto death to bee reconciled: [for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord:

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath, that shall be at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face. Chap.7.17, 36.

24 *When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede. Chap.11.25.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisedome, and knowledge, and prayseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out wise morall graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authorine of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ *Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites. Rom.6.6. and 13,14.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, ouſneſſe, and intangle not thy ſelfe with ſuch company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou haſt boꝛowed, and ſo leaue nothing in thy purſe: els thou ſhouldeſt ſlanderouſly lie in waite foꝛ thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 Is thy words vſe diſcretion. 22 The difference of the wiſdome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayeſt know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to dꝛunkenneſſe, ſhall not be rich: and he that contemneth ſmall things, ſhall fall by little and little.

Geneſ.19.33 1.king.11.1, 2,4. 2 *Wine and women leade wiſe men out of the way, [and put men of vnderſtanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, ſhall become impudent: rottenneſſe and wormes ſhall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde, ſhall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

Iaſh.22,11, 12,5 4 *He that is haſtie to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, ſinneth againſt his owne ſoule.

5 Who ſo reioyceth in wickednеſſe, ſhall bee punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life ſhalbe ſhoꝛtened, and he that abhoꝛreth babbling of woꝛds, quencheth wickednеſſe:] but hee that reſiſteth pleaſures, crowneth his owne ſoule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troubleſome man, and he that hateth babbling ſhall haue leſſe euill.

7 Rehearſe not to another that which is told vnto thee: ſo thou ſhalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend noꝛ foe: and if the ſinne appertеine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 Foꝛ he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth oppoꝛtunity, hee will hate thee.

Chap.22.22. and 27.17. 10 *If thou haſt heard a woꝛd [againſt thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be ſure, it will not burſt thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring foꝛth a childe.

12 As an arrow that ſticketh in ones thigh, ſo is a woꝛd in a fooles heart.

Leuit.19.17. matt.18.15. 13 *Reproue a friend, leſt hee doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no moꝛe.

14 Reproue a friend, that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue ſpoken, that he may ſay it no moꝛe.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: foꝛ oft times a ſlander is raiſed, and giue no credence to euery woꝛd.

Iames 3.2. 16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neigbbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the moſt High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the firſt degree to bee receiued of him, and wiſedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, ſhall receiue the fruite of immoꝛtalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wiſedome, and the perfoꝛming of the Lawe is perfit wiſedome, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a ſeruant ſay vnto his maſter, I will not doe as it pleaſeth thee, though afterward he do it, he ſhall diſpleaſe him that nouriſheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wiſdome, neither is there prudencie whereas the counſell of ſinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is void of wiſedome.

23 Hee that hath ſmall vnderſtanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wiſedom, and tranſgreſſeth the Law of the moſt High.

24 There is a certaine ſubtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wreſteth the open and manifeſt lawe: yet there is that is wiſe, and iudgeth righteouſly.

25 There is ſome, that being about wicked purpoſes, doe bowe downe themſelues, and are ſad, whoſe inward parts burne altogether with deceit: he looketh downe with his face, and fateneth himſelfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be ſo weake, that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may finde oppoꝛtunitie, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderſtanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, & his exceſſiue laughter, and going, declare what perſon he is. Chap.21. 20,23.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To ſpeake and keepe ſilence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wiſe.

THere is ſome rebuke that is not comely: againe, ſome man holdeth his tongue, and he is wiſe.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, ſhalbe preſerued from hurt.

3 As when a gelded man through luſt would defile a mayde, ſo is hee that vſeth violence in iudgement. Chap.30,20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to ſhew repentance! foꝛ ſo ſhalt thou eſcape willfull ſinne.

5 Some man keepeth ſilence, and is found wiſe, and ſome by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, becauſe he hath not to anſwere: and ſome keepeth ſilence, waiting a conuenient * time. Eccleſ.3.7.

7 *A wiſe man will hold his tongue till hee ſee oppoꝛtunitie: but a trifler and a foole will regard no time. Chap.32.4.

8 He that vſeth many woꝛds, ſhall be abhoꝛred, and hee that taketh authoꝛity to himſelfe, ſhall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times proſperitie in wicked things, and ſometime a thing that is found, bringeth loſſe.

10 There is ſome gift that is not profitable foꝛ thee, and there is ſome gift, whoſe reward is double.

11 Some

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

Chap.6.5. 13 *A wise man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merry tales of fooles shal be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall do thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunity: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day he lendeth, to morow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eat my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he bee laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence looketh grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouerty, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

Chap.25.2. 23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyars are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and hee that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

Pro.12.11, and 28.19. 27 *He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnesse, shall be exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

Exod.23.8. Deut.16.19. 28 *Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they can not reproue faults.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth wisedome.

31 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gourneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 28 The thought of the foole.

Chap.5.5. psal.41.4. luke 15.21. MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the former sinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proud shalbe desolate.

5 *The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently. Exod.3.9. and 22.23.

6 Who so hateth to bee reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 *The congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them. Chap.16.6.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

11 Ye that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ‖ ruleth his owne affections therby: and the increase of wisedome is the ende of the feare of God. ‖ Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 He that is not wise, wil not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abounde like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 *The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessel: he can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth. Chap.33.5.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, hee will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, hee will disalow it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisedome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manicles vpon the right hand.

20 *A fools lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doth scarse smile secretly. Chap.19.27,28.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foot is soone in his [neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nourtured, will stande without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will bee telling such things as perteine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding are weighed in the ballance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

Chap.28.13. 28 * A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but he that keepeth his tongue, & is discreet, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

a.b That is, like as the idle stone gathereth mosse and filth: so doth the slothfull both sicknes of body and corruption of minde. And as euery man doth auoyd the filthines of dung, and shaketh it off: so doth he auoyd the company of idle loiterers, lest he be accounted like vnto them.

A Slouthfull man is like a [a] filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the [b] dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nourtured sonne is the dishonor of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly,] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potsheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children line honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he sayth, What is the matter?

Chap.38.16. 11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for hee is at rest: but the life of a foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

Chap.12.12. 13 Talke not much with a foole, and go not to him that hath no vnderstanding, * beware of him least it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnes.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

Prou.27.3. 15 * Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [ooolish & vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisedome, is as a fayre plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth foorth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sworde at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a trayterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Bee faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to bee had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should do me harme: wholoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shal set * a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not. Psal.141.3.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of other, blasphemie and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinds of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of al my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by [their] them. [Or, my lips.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let [their faults passe? [That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioice ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and retaine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 Heare, O yee children the instruction of a mouth that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shal be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 * Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. matth.5.33. 34.

one: [for thou shalt not bee vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, and namely God continually, shall not bee faultelesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shal neuer goe from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shalbe full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

‖Or, inordinate swearing.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, least thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not bene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

2. Sam. 16.7.

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire that cannot bee quenched, til it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth mee? I Isa. 29.15. am compassed about with darkenes: the walles couer me: no body seeth mee: whom needs I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lorde are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding al the wales of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secrete parts.

20 Hee knewe all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, hee looketh vpon them all.

Leuit. 20.10. Deut. 22.22.

21 *The same man shall bee punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall be chased like a yong horse foale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall hee bee put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shal it goe also with euery wife that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

Exod. 20.14.

23 *For first shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly she hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shal be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring foorth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then ỳ feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayse of wisedome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shall she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be prayed, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloude.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the deph.

Prou. 8.23. Exod. 31.3. Psal. 132 8.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and al people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of al, both high and lowe.]

‖Or, in Cades a Terebinth is a hard tree spread abroad with long boughs, whereout runneth the gumme called a pure turpentine, which clenseth the stomacke of putrified humors, and purifieth the eares: so the wisdome of God declared in his Scriptures, spreadeth abroad her manifolde branches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares and corruption of the soule.

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gaue mee a commandement, and he that made me appointed me a tabernacle, and sayd, Let thy dwelling bee in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shal neuer faile: *In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.

13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plaine tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamom, and as a bagge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as Galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the *Terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought forth [fruite] of sweete sauour, and my flowers are the fruite of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all yee that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruits.

Psal.19.10, 11. 23 *For the remembrance of me is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweete] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate mee, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so heareth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shal not offend: [they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life] and the Couenant of the most High God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] *and the Lawe that Exod.20.1. and 24.3. deut.4.1. and.29.9. Moses [in the precepts of righteousnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lorde Almightie is but one God, and beside him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant hee ordained to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisedome, as *Phyſon, and as Tygris in the time of the newfruits. Gen.2.11.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as *Jorden in the time of the haruest. Iosh.3.15.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfitly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisedome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said, I will water my fatre garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorowe all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophecie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

Chap.33.16. 39 *Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: *the vnity of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together. Gen.13.2,5. rom.12.10.

2 Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou find in thine age?

4 Oh how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that wilbe liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, *and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him. Chap.14.1. and 19.16. iames 3.1.

9 Well is him that findeth prudency, and he that speaketh in ỹ eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, how great is he that findeth wisedome! yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shal he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [The greatest beautinesse is the beautinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖enemy. ‖Or, woman.

18 *I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife. Prou.21.19.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖a sacke. ‖Or, a beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee sighety sore or hee beware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandy way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

23 *Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure. Chap.42.12. 2.sam.11.2. and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourith her husband, shee is angry and impudent, and ful of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sory heart, an heauie

uie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in beautiesse.

Genes. 3.6 1.tim. 2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [thee shal confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.]

a To wit, the bill of diuorcement. Cut her off then from thy flesh: a Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the iealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shal at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is iealous ouer an other: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers waies: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot bee tamed, is a greate plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes, and eie lids.

Chap. 42.11 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, least she abuse herselfe through ouermuch liberty.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eie: and maruell not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall she open her mouth, & drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shal she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman wel instructed.

15 A shamefast & faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no waight to bee compared vnto her continent mind.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lorde, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleere light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layde vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holie woman.]

20 My sonne keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 ¶ When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, sowe it with thine own seed, trusting in thy nobility.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberality of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameleſſe woman contemneth shame: but a shamfast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shalbe blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman and a babbler, let her bee sought out to driue away the enemies: the minde of euery man that liueth with such, shal be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things which me thinkes to bee hard and perillous,] a marchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitaller is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to bee vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. Prou. 23.4. 1.tim. 6.9.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioyntes of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sine, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace prooueth the potters vessell: * so doth [temptation] trie mens thoughts. Prou. 27.21.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart. Matt. 7.17.

7 Praise no man except you haue heard his talke: for this is the trial of men.

8 ¶ If

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and thalt dwell with her, and shee shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse.]

9 The birdes resort vnto their like, so doeth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among thy vndiscreete, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

Chap.23.9, 10. 14 *The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to striue with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proude is bloodshedding, and their scoldings are grieuous to heare.

Chap.19.10. and 22,22. 16 *Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou giuest ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for hee is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe: and an euill word may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

Pro.10,10, 22 *Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speak sweetly, and praysle thy wordes: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and hee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

Pſal.7,15, pro.26.27. eccle.10,8. 26 Who so *diggeth a pit, shall fall therin, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HEe *that seeketh vengeance, shall find vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes. *Deu.33.35. eccl.12.19.

2 †Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also when thou prayest. †Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and *desire forgiuenesse of the Lord? *Mat.6.14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but persuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 *Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife. *Chap.8.1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friendes, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 *As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed. *Pro.16.21.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall bee quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 †*Abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. †The tongue Chap.21,28. a That is, the tongue which layth, and vnsayth, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh an other. Or, a tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or old Testament, but of their owne braine.

14 The *double tongue hath disquieted many, & driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrown the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mighty nations.

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euil death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they bee burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shal fal therein:

and it ſhall burne them, and no man ſhalbe able to quench it: it ſhall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy poſſeſſion with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy ſiluer and golde, and weigh thy words in a ballance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a ſure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou ſlide not by it and ſo fal before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lende money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man anſwering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

†Of weldoing.

HE that will ſhewe mercie † lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer him ſelfe, keepeth the commandements.

Deu.15.7,8. mat.5.42. luke 6.35.

2 *Lende to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due ſeaſon.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou ſhalt alway finde the thing that is neceſſary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to bee found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kiſſe his handes, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they ſhoulde pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careleſſe anſwere, and make excuſes by reaſon of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet grieueth he ſcarce the halfe againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing founde: elſe hee deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cauſe: he payeth him with curſing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There be many that refuſe to lend becauſe of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cauſe.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himſelfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the Commaundements ſake, and turne him not away, becauſe of his pouertie.

10 Loſe thy money for thy brothers and neighbours ſake, and let it not ruſt vnder a ſtone to thy deſtruction.

Dan.4.24. mat.6.20. luke 11.41. and 12.33. acts 10.4. 1.tim.6.18, 19.

11 *Beſtow the treaſure after the commandement of the moſt High, and it ſhall bring thee more profite then gold.

‖Or, giue thine almes ſecretly.

12 ‖ Lay vp thine * almes in thy ſecret chambers, and it ſhall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purſe with him, and ſhal keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward ſhall it ariſe, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

Iob.4.8,9, 10,11.

14 It ſhall fight for thee againſt thine enemies, better then the ſhielde of a ſtrong man, or ſpeare of the mighty.

†Of ſuretiſhip.

15 An honeſt man is † ſurety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forſaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendſhip of the ſurety: for he hath layd his life for thee.

a As he is a foole that is ſuretie for euery man: ſo is he vngodly that in no wiſe will be ſuretie for any man.

17 The a wicked deſpiſeth the good deede of his ſurety.

18 The wicked will not become ſurety: and he that is of an vnthankful minde, forſaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiſeth for his neighbour and when he hath loſt his honeſty, he will forſake him.]

20 Suretiſhip hath deſtroyed many a riche man, and remoued them as the waues of the ſea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houſes, and cauſed them to wander among ſtrange nations.

21 A wicked man tranſgreſſing the commandements of the Lord, ſhal fall into ſuretiſhip: and he that medleth much with other mens buſines, is intangled in controuerſies.

22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy ſelfe fall not.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy ſhame. Chap.39.26.

24 † The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans. †Sober liuing.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the houſe ſpeake not euil of thee.

26 For it is a miſerable life to go from houſe to houſe: for where thou art a ſtranger, thou dareſt not open thy mouth.

27 Thou ſhalt lodge and feede vnthankefull men, and after ſhalt haue bitter wordes for the ſame, ſaying, 28 Come, thou ſtranger, & prepare the table, and feed me of that thou haſt ready.

29 Giue place, thou ſtranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue neede of mine houſe.

30 Theſe things are heauy to a man that hath vnderſtanding, the vpbraiding of the houſe, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a ſorowfull life. 22 Of the ioy and ſorow of the heart.

HE that loueth his ſonne, *cauſeth him oft to feele the rod, that hee may haue ioy of him in the end. Prou. 13.24. and 23.13.

2 Hee that chaſtiſeth his ſonne, ſhall haue ioy in him, and ſhall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that * teacheth his ſonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friends hee ſhall reioyce of him. Deu.6.7.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he ſaw him, and had ioy in him, and was not ſory in his death, [neither was hee ſhamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger againſt his enemies, and one that ſhould ſhewe fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his ſonne, bindeth vp his woundes, and his heart is grieued at euery cry.

8 An vntamed horſe will be ſtubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy ſonne delicately, hee ſhall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he ſhall bring thee to beaunefle.

10 Laugh not with him, leaſt thou bee ſory with him, and leaſt thou gnaſh thy teeth in the ende.

11 * Giue him no libertie in his youth, and Chap.7.23. winke not at his folly.

12 Bow

12 Bowe downe his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides, whiles he is a child, least he waxe stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorrow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, least his shame grieue thee.

14 ¶ † Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body. † The praise of health.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound bodie, and nothing about the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [& long rest] then continuall sickenesse.

18 * The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as measles of meate set vpon a graue. a Like as meate that is set vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable, for that they eate it not: euen so knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable,

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquitie.]

20 Hee seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgine and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnes is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorrowe farre from thee: for sorrowe hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein. Chap. 41. 14. Chap. 10. 3. Prou. 12. 25. and 15. 13. and 17. 22.

24 Enuie & wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meat and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of couetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The prayse of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberneſſe.

† Couetousnes. 1. Tim. 6. 9, 10.

WAking † after * riches, pineth away the bodie, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

Chap. 8. 2. 6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

Luke 6. 24. 8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is hee, and wee will commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perfite? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or do euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, † open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate. † Temperancie.

13 Remember that an euill eie is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eie? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hande whereſoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, least thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off first for nurtures sake, and be not insatiable, least thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19 * How little is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.] Chap. 37. 29.

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an vnsatiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, * vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sickenesse vnto thy body.] a This counsel only concerning the health of the body, is here alleaged, rather for a remedie to helpe digestion vnto a weake stomacke, then for an instruction to tolerate intemperancie: for surfetting is forbidden vs, Luke 21. 34. Prou. 22. 9.

22 My sonne, heare mee, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue told thee: in all thy workes be quicke, so shall there no sickenesse come vnto thee.

23 * Who so is † liberall in his meat, men shall blesse him: and the testimonie of his honestie shall be beleeued. † Liberalitie. Iudith. 13. 2, 8. Psal. 104. 15. pro. 31. 4, 5, 6, 7.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 * Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [& not for drunkennes.] Wine measurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnesse of minde.

29 But wine drunken with excesse, maketh bitternesse of mind with brawlings & scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despiteful words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words. Chap. 20. 1.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thankes after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, † lift not thy selfe vp, but bee among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe. † Humblenesse.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duety, sit downe, that thou mayest bee merry with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, * and shew not forth wisedome out of time.

Eccles.3.7. chap.20.7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banket, is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emerauld well trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musicke in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be beloued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in fewe wordes: [in many things bee as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

Iob.32.6.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay, 13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euil, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall finde fauour.

16 Hee that seeketh the Law, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduisement: so shalt it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou maiest fall, nor where thou maiest stumble among ỹ stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them, that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke bee of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundements.

24 Who so beleeueth in ỹ the Lorde, keepeth the commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord shall take no hurt.

‖ Or, the law.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hands of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

† The feare of God.

THere shall no euill come vnto him that † feareth the Lorde: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Lawe, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a carte-wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

Chap.21.16.

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

Gen.1.17. and 2.7.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and approuate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them lowe, and put them out of their estate.

12 *As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, to yeld them as liketh him best.

Esai.45.9. rom.9.20,21

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winepresse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

Chap.24.39.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, * giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

a That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hand.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thy honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that hee goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euil.

† How slaues were ordered in old time.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if hee be not obedient, † put on more heauie fetters.

28 But bee not excessiue toward any, & without discretion do nothing.

Chap.7.20.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him bee vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreat him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

† Dreames.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, † and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it to the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can bee cleansed by the vncleane? or what truth can be spoken of a lier?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most High to thy thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The lawe shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdome is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and he that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandered to and fro, I saw many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft-times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lorde, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

† The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so † feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee his trust? who is his strength?

Psal.33.18. Psal.91.1,2.

16 * For the eyes of the Lorde haue respect vnto them that loue him: hee is their * mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life, and blessing.

Prou.21.27.

18 ¶ He that * offereth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vnrighteous please not him.

19 [But the Lorde is theirs onely, that patiently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnes.]

† The offerings of the wicked and their prayer. Prou.15.8.

20 The most High doth not allow the † offerings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: hee that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbors liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

Deut.24.14, 15. chap.7. 20.

24 ¶ When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

26 * Hee that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing?

Num.19. 11,12.

27 * So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him?

2.Par.2,20, 21,22.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

WHo so keepeth the Law, * bringeth offrings ynow: he that holdeth fast the commandements, † offereth an offering of saluation.

1.Sam.15. 22.ser.7.3. 5,6,7.

2 He that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine floure: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth prayse.

† True sacrifices. Phil.4.18.

3 To depart from euill is a thankefull thing to the Lorde, and to forsake vnrighteousnes, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 * Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord.

Exod.23.15. and 34.20. deut. 16,16.

5 For all these things are done because of the Commandement.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

Gen.4.4,5.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer bee forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honor with a good & liberall eye, and diminish not the first fruites of thine hands.

9 * In al thy gifts shew a ioyful countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse.

2.Cor 9.7.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as hee hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hande is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

Tob 4 8. Leuit.23.22.

11 For the Lorde recompenseth, and will giue thee seuen times as much.

22 deut.15. 21.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lorde is the Iudge and regardeth no * mans person.

Deut.10.17. 2.chro.19.7. iob 34.19. wisd.6.7.act. 10.34.rom.2. 11.gal.2.6.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Hee despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widowe, when shee powreth out her prayer, ephe.6.9,col. 3.25.1.pet.1.17.

15 Doeth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes? and her cry is against him that causeth them: [for from her cheekes do they go vp vnto heauen, and the Lorde which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 He that serueth the Lord shall bee accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorowe the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, & will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tarry long from them, till hee hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruel, & broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till hee giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuises, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish & trouble! It is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercie vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and beholde vs, and [shewe vs the light of thy mercies.]

†Against the wicked.

2 And lende thy feare † among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may knowe that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes.]

*Ier.10.25.

3 Lift vp thine *hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs.

5 That they may knowe thee, as wee knowe thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders: shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous acts.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersary, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine oth, that thy wonderous works may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the Princes that be our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

¶ A prayer for the godly.

11 † Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, [that they may knowe that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shewe thy wonderous workes,] and inherite thou them as from the beginning.

*Exod.4.22.

12 O Lorde, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel *whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, be merciful vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuary, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnes vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophesies that haue bene shewed in thy name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lorde, heare the prayer of thy seruants, according to the *blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may knowe that thou art the Lorde the eternall God.

*Num.6.23.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meate better then another.

19 As the throate tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

* 22 The beauty of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meeknesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 Hee that hath † gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begunne to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

†The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a theefe that is alway ready, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, & lodgeth where-soeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 13 To keepe his company that feareth God.

EVery friende saith, † I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

†Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, when a companion and friende is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is some companion which in prosperity reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

*Chap.6.10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, & taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friende in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

†Of whom we should take counsel.

8 * Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

*Chap.8.19. and 9.16.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for he will counsell for himselfe, lest he cast the lot vpon thee,

‖Or, what need he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for Religion of him that is without Religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching ething her of whom she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sory for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans mind is sometimes more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason go before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode, ‖ Or, wisedome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shalbe plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obtaine credit among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to do it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

† Of temperancie, Chap. 31. 19, 20.

28 Be not † greedie in all delights, and be not too hastie vpon all meates:

‖ Or, taketh heede.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that vseth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Phisitian is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

† Of Physicians and physicke.

HOnour the † Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most hie commeth healing, and he shall receiue giftes of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men hee shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof? Exod. 15. 25.

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecary make a confection, and yet he cannot finish his own workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but * pray vnto the Lorde, and he will make thee whole. Isa. 38. 2, 5.

10 Leaue off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine floure for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the † first giuer.

† God bestoweth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof, to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 Hee that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the physician.

16 My sonne, * powre foorth teares ouer the dead, † and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his bodie according to ‖ his appointment, & neglect not his buriall. Chap. 22. 11. † Of mourning. ‖ Or, the ewe some.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength. Pro. 15. 13. and 17. 22.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shal be likewise, vnto mee yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him. 2. Sam. 12. 20

24 ¶ The wisedome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 Howe can hee get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeite imagerie, and watch to perfourme the worke.

28 The smith in like manner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and he must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth howe to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to clense the ouen.

31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one is skilfull in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters, according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

† Of true wisedome.

HE onely that applyeth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the † wisedome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophecies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreys: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort earely vnto the Lorde that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lorde will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

‖ Or, the Lord.

7 ‖ Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall shewe foorth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor departaway: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shall declare his wisedome, and shew it. Chap.44.15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring foorth fruite as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue ye a sweete smell as incense, and bring foorth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lorde in all his workes. ‖ Or, Libanus.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe foorth his prayse with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this maner, 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient, they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man needs not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. Chap.29.28.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew foorth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. Chap.40.9, 10.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the swoorde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shalbe ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shal not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 There-

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

Gen. 1.31. 33 * All the workes of the Lord are good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy prayse.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, & bl esse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of God.

†The miseries of mans life. GReat † trauaile is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and emulation, trouble, and vnquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, & afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch towre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when al is safe, he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto al flesh, both man & beast, but seuen fold to the vngodly.

Chap. 39.29, 30. 9 Moreouer, * death and blood, & strife, and sworde, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the * flood also.

Gen. 7.11. Gen. 3.19. Chap. 41.10. Eccles. 1.7. 11 *All things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters shall returne into the sea.

†Faithfulnes 12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shal be put away: but † faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obteine many branches: for the vncleane roots are as vpon the hie rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be, or water banke, it shall bee pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and merey endureth for euer.

Phil. 4.12. 1. tim. 6.6. 18 * To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of a citie maketh a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a greene seede time rather then them both.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lorde is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nurtured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

†Of death. O † Death how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperity in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needful, & vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue beene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be tenne, or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posterity shall haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O yee vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most High God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish, 9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 *All that is of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: Chap. 40.11.

againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shalbe put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but † a good name endureth euer.

† A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisdome in peace: *for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

*Chap. 20. 29.

15 A man that hideth his foolishnes, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therfore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to bee † ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

† Of shamefastnes.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companion and friend:

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his Couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖ bread, or to be repooued for giuing or taking:

‖ Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayde, or to stand by her bed, or to repooch thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter, 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of mens heart.

† In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things be not thou † ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most Hie and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sel marchandize at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put al in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged, that contende against the yoong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approoued of all men liuing.

‖ Or, a secret watch to the father.

9 ¶ The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, least she should passe the floure of her age: and when shee hath an husband, least shee should be hated:

10 In her virginitie, least shee should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, least she misbehaue her selfe: and when shee is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and diffame thee among the people, and bring thee to publique shame. *Chap. 26. 10.

12 * Beholde not euery bodies beauty, and company not among women. *Chap. 25. 23.

13 For as the mothe commeth out of garments: * so doeth wickednes of the woman. *Gen. 3. 6.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproch.

15 ¶ I Will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lorde appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous works, which the Almightie Lorde hath established to confirme all things by in his Maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lorde knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. *Iob. 42. 2. Isa. 29. 15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisdome, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing bee added, neither can he bee minished: hee hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his works, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all and indure for euer: and whensoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnes of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

‖ Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

† The wonderful works of God.

THis high ornament † the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to beholde,

2 The Sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the country, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then he that keepeth a furnace with continuall heat: it casteth out the fiery vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he caufeth it to runne hastily.

6 * The

Gen.1.16. 6 *The moone also hath he made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

Exod.12.2. 7 *The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderoully in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beauty of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

Gen.9.13, 14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the raine-bow, and praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

Isa.40.12. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commaundement hee maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore hee openeth his treasures, and the clouds flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the clouds, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth ꝑ earth: so doth the storme of the North: the whirlewind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of the pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, and yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedy of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the wind:] by his counsell he appeaseth the deepe: and planteth Ilands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the Sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when wee heare it with our eares, we marueil thereat.

25 For there be strange, and woonderous works, diuers maners of beasts, and the creation of Whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue wee to praise him? for he is aboue all his works.

Psal.96.4. 29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not weary, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? John.1.18. Psal.106.2.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, for we haue seene but a few of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lorde hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowmed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophesies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning meet for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. Exod.18.25.

5 They inuented the melody of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and lined quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memorial, * and are perished as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer beene borne, and their children after them. Gen.7.22.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnesse hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whole posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their seed is contained in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the couenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 *The people speake of their wisedome, and the congregation talke of their praise. Chap.39.10.

†Iacob. ‖Or, knew him. Gene 27.28. and 28.1. 23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of † Iacob, and ‖ made himselfe knowen by * his blessings, and gaue him an heritage and diuided his portions, * and parted them among the twelue tribes.

Gene.28.14. †Ioseph. 24 And hee brought out of him a † mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

The praise of Moses, Aaron and Phinees.

†Moses. Exod 11.3. actes 7.22. AND † Moyses the * beloued of God and men, brought be foorth, whose remembrance is blessed.

2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his words hee caused his wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commaundements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

Exod.6.7.8. 9.chapters. Num.12.3. 4 *He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meeknesse, and chose him out of all men.

Exod.19.7. 5 Hee caused him to heare his voice, and brought him into the darke cloud,* and there he gaue him the commaundements before his face, euen the lawe of life and knowledge, that hee might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

†Aaron. Exod.4.28. 6 He exalted † Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

Exod,28.35. 9 Hee compassed him about with belles of golde, and with many belles round about,* that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noise in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

10 And with an holy garment, with golde also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of works, and with a breast lap of iudgement, and with the † signes of trueth, † Vrim and Thummim.

11 And with worke of skarlet, cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in golde by goldsmiths worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel, a That was, either put into his hand the booke of ỹ Law written to reade vnto the people, or els some sacrifice that he might offer vnto God for their offences. Leuit.8,12.

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holines, and ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but only his children: and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twice continually.

15 Moyses filled a his hands, * and anointed him with holy oile: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seed, so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee shoulde minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse his people in his name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lorde chose him that he should offer offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * Hee gaue him also his commandements Deut.17.18. and 21.5. and authoritie according to the lawes appointed, that he should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his law.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that Num.16. 1,2. tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in fury and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did woonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

20 * But hee made Aaron more honourable, Num.17.8. and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him & to his seed.

22 * Els had hee none heritage in the land of Deut.12.18. and 18.1. his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

†Phinees. 23 The third in glory is † Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel. Num.25.12, 13.1.mac.2. 54.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the priesthood for euer,

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

†Iosue. Num.27.18 deut.34.9. Iosh.1.2.& 12.7. IEsus † * the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, & was the successour of Moyses in prophesies, who according vnto his name was a great sauiour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

Iosh.8.1,2. 2 * What glorie gate he, when he lift vp his hand, and drew out his sword against the cities?

3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

Iosh.10.12, 13,14. 4 * Stood not the Sunne still by his means, and one day was as long as two?

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernour, when the enemies pressed vp him on euery side, and the mightie Lord heard him with the haile stones, and with mighty power.

Iosh.10.11. 6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the * going downe of Bethoron hee destroyed stroyed the aduersaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that he fought ‖ in the sight of the Lord: for he ‖followed the Almighty.

‖Or, that the Lord fauoured his battel.

‖Or, pursued the mighty men.

7 *In the time of Moyses also he did a good worke: hee and †Caleb the sonne of Iephunne stood against the enemie and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring,

Num.14.6. 1.mac. 2.55, 56.

8 *And of sixe hundred thousand people of foote, they two were preserued to bring them into the heritage, euen into the land that floweth with milke and honie.

†Caleb. Num.26.65. deu.1.35,36 Iosh.14.11.

9 *The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that hee went vp into the hie places of the land, and his seede obtained it for an heritage,

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

†Iudges.

11 Concerning the †Iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lorde, their memory bee blessed.

Chap. 49.10.

12 Let *their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are most famous of their children.

†Samuel. 1.Sam.10.1. and 16.13.

13 ¶ †Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloued of his Lord, *ordained kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

14 By the Lawe of the Lord hee iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfulnes, & he was knowen faithfull in his words and visions.

1.Sam.7.9, 10,11.

16 *He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preased vpon him on euery side, whē he offered the sucking lambe.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians: and all the rulers of the Philistims.

1.Sam.12.3.

19 *And before his long sleepe he made protestation, in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that hee tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accuse him.

1.Sam.28. 18,19.

20 *After his sleepe also he told of the kings death, and from the earth lift he vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon.

†Nathan. 2.Sam.12.1.

AFter him rose vp †Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

†Dauid.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offring, so was †Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

1.Sam.17.34 1.Sam.17. 49,50,51.

3 *He played with the Lyons, as with kids, and with beares, as with lambes.

4 *Slew he not a giant when he was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when he lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliah?

1.Sam.18.7.

5 For he called vpon the most High Lorde, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mighty warriour, and that hee might set vp the horne of his people againe.

‖Or, the people.

‖Or, with blessing of the Lord.

6 *So ‖he gaue him the praise of tenne thousand, and honoured him with ‖ great prayses, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 *For hee destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day. 2.Sam.5.7.

8 In all his workes he praysed the Holy one, and the most High with honourable words, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 *Yee set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs. 1.Chro.16.4.

10 He ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 *The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel. 2.Sam.12. 13.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 †*Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made al quiet round about, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer. †Salomon. 1.King.4. 21,24.

14 *How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood! 1.King.4. 29,30.

15 Thy mind couered the whole earth, and hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy name went abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

17 *Thy countreys marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations. 1.King.4. 31,32.

18 By the Name of the Lorde God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast *gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead. 1.King.10. 27.

19 *Thou diddest bowe thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body. 1.King.11.1

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posterity, & hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorowe for thy folly.

21 *So the kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome. 1.King.12. 15,16,17.

22 *Neuerthelesse the Lord left not off his mercy, neither was he destroyed for his works: neither did he abolish the posterite of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid. 2.Sam.7.15.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede he left behinde him † Roboam, euen ‖ the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, and † Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne, †Roboam. ‖Or, a most euident foole. 1.King.12, 10,11,13, 14. †Ieroboam. 1.King.12. 28,30.

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, til the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Ezekias and Isaias.

THen stoode vp †*Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe. †Elias. 1.King.17.1

2 He

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale hee diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the worde of the Lorde he shut the heauen, * and three times brought he the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honourable art thou by thy wonderous deedes! who may make his boast to be like thee!

5 *Which hast raised vp the dead from death, and by the worde of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hast brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their leate:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sina, * and in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 * Which diddest annoint Kings that they might † recompense, and Prophets to bee thy successors:

9 *Which wast taken vp in a whirlewind of fire, and in a charet of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reproone in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Jacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for * we shall liue.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, † Eliseus was filled with his spirite: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prophesied.

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their lande, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

17 †*Ezekias made his citie strong, and conueyed water into the mids thereof: hee digged through the rocke with yron, and made fountaines for waters.

18 *In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorowed like a woman in trauaile.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the Holy one heard them out of heauen.

21 [Hee thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

22 *He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lorde, and remained stedfastly in the waies of Dauid his father, as † Esai the great Prophet and faithful in his vision had commanded him.

24 *In his time the sunne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorowfull in Sion.

26 Hee shewed what should come to passe for euer, & secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Jeremie, Ezekiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem, and Seth.

THe remembrance of † * Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the Apothecarie: it is sweete as hony in all mouthes, and as musicke at a banquet of wine.

2 Hee behaued himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He * directed his heart vnto the Lord, & in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their ‖ borne vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 Hee burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuary, * and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the ‖ prophesie of † Jeremias.

7 For they * intreated him euil, which neuertheless was a Prophet, * sanctified from his mothers wombe, that hee might roote out and afflict, and destroy, and that he might also build vp, and plant.

8 † * Ezechiel saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the charet of the Cherubims.

9 * For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 ¶ * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, & let their memorie be blessed: for they comforted Jacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 ¶ *How shall we praise † Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was † * Iesus also the sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time builded the house, & set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worthip.

13 ¶ * And among the elect was † Neemias whose renowme is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like † * Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto † * Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the vpholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 † * Sem and † Seth were in great honour among men: and so was † Adam about euery liuing thing in the creation.

a Which Salomō made, 1.Kin.7.23.

4 He tooke care for his people, that they ſhould not fall, and fortified the citie againſt the ſiege.

5 How honourable was his converſation among the people, and when he came out of the houſe couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning ſtarre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the ſunne ſhining vpon the temple of the moſt High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flower of the roſes in the Spring of the yere, and as lillies by the ſprings of waters, and as the branches of the frankincenſe tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incenſe in the cenſer, and as a veſſell of maſſy gold, ſet with all maner of precious ſtones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypreſſe tree, which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beauty, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Prieſts hands, he himſelfe ſtood by the hearth of the altar, compaſſed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compaſſed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the ſonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lorde in their hands, before all the congregation of Iſrael.

14 And that hee might accompliſh his miniſterie vpon the altar, and garniſh the offering of the moſt High and Almighty, 15 He ſtretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foot of the altar a perfume of good ſauour vnto the moſt high King of all.

16 Then ſhouted the ſonnes of Aaron, and blowed with hyalen trumpets, and made a great noiſe to be heard, for a remembrance before the moſt High.

17 Then all the people together haſted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worſhip their Lord God Almighty, and moſt High.

18 The ſingers alſo ſang with their voices, ſo that the ſound was great, and the melody ſweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord moſt high, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accompliſhed his ſeruice.

20 Then went he downe, and ſtretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould giue praiſe with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worſhip, that he might receiue the bleſſing of the moſt High.

22 Now therfore giue praiſe al ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increaſed our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy.

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnes of heart, and peace in our dayes in Iſrael, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that my heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that ſit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philiſtims, & the fooliſh people that dwell in ‖ Sichimus.

[Or, Sichem.

27 ¶ Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach, the ſonne of Eleazarus of Ieruſalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderſtanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wiſedome of his heart.

28 Bleſſed is he that exerciſeth himſelfe therein: and he that layeth vp theſe in his heart, ſhall be wiſe.

29 For if he do theſe things, he ſhalbe ſtrong in all things: for he ſetteth his ſteps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wiſedome to the godly. The Lord be praiſed for euermore. So be it, ſo be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

I Will confeſſe thee, O Lord & King, and praiſe thee, O God my Sauiour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haſt preſerued my body from deſtruction, & from the ſnare of the ſlanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou haſt holpen me againſt mine aduerſaries,

3 And haſt deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names ſake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of ſuch as ſought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choaked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from falſe acculation to the King, and from the ſlander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My ſoule ſhal praiſe ỹ Lord vnto death:] for my ſoule drew nere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compaſſed me on euery ſide, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the ſuccour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuereſt ſuch as wait for thee, and ſaueſt them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies.

[Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer frō the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lorde the father of my Lorde, that hee would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without helpe.

11 I will praiſe thy Name continually, and wil ſing praiſe with thankſgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou ſaueſt me from deſtruction, and deliuereſt me from the euill time: therfore will I giue thanks, and praiſe thee, and bleſſe the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yoong, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisedome openly in my praier.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.
16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisedome:
17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.
18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be zealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.
19 My soule hath wrastled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.
20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.
21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.
23 Draw neere vnto me, yee vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
24 Wherefore are you slowe? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are verie thirstie?
25 I opened my mouth, and sayde, * Buy her for you without money. Isa.55.1.
26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, * howe that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. Chap.6.18
28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shal possesse much gold.
29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.
30 Doe your duetie betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people.
10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

NOw these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖Aadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,
2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim king of Juda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke,
4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud.
5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.
6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,
7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem,
8 When he had receiued the the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into ỹ land of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Juda had made,
9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had ledde away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.
10 And they sayd, Beholde, wee haue sent you money, wherewith yee shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lorde our God,
11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dates may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God woulde giue vs strength and lighten our eies, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.
13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lorde our God, (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lorde, and his wrath is not turned from vs.)
14 And reade this Booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lorde) vpon the feast dates, and at time conuenient.
15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnesse, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Chap.2.6.
16 And to our Kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, 17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord our God, Dan.9.5.
18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.
19 From the day that the Lorde brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and wee haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

21 Neuerthelesse, we haue not hearkned vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the prophets, whō he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promiseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the Lorde our God hath performed his word, which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things, that were written in the law of Moyses, Deut.28.53. 3 That some among vs should *eat the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch & desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the Lorde our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Dan.9.7. 6 *To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousnesse, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue wee not prayed before the Lord, that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkned vnto his voyce, to walke in the commaundements of the Lorde that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dan.9.15. 11 *And nowe, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, & thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

Deut.26.15. Isa.63.15. Psal.6.5,6. and 115.17, 18. Isa.38. 18,19. ‖Or, glory, not praise of righteousnesse.

17 *Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Lorde, neither ‖praise nor righteousnesse.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteousnesse, O Lord.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our Kings,

‖Or, by the hand of thy seruants. Iere.27.7.

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by ‖thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, and serue the king of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee woulde not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caryed out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and the cold of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

Leuit 26.14. deut.28.15. 29 *If ye will not abide my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I knowe that they will not heare mee: for it is a stifnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and prayse mee in the landes of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy: for thou art mercifull, and haue pity vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.

4 O Lorde Almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, & thy Name, at this time.

6 For thou art the Lorde our God, and thee, O Lord, will we prayse.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuity: for we haue considered in our minds all the wickednesse of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commaundements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remayned safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest knowe also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust, and made none ende of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were young, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not beene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it beene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisedome vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue knowen the way of wisedome, neither dor they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is high, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lorde choose, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: the same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When hee calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Lawe, that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Yee are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because yee prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and yee haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she sawe the wrath comming vpon you from God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwel about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnesse, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the pathes of discipline, through his righteousnesse.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackecloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he wil deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation throw the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the holy One, because of the mercie which shall quickly come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnes will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnes from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and we are led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God: so endeuour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall shee be sory for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shalbe inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the holy One vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnesse, that commeth from GOD, and let a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousnesse, and the glory of the worthip of God.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the worde of the holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fil the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousnesse that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted.

BEcause of the sinnes that ye haue committed against God, ye shalbe led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen [a] seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 *Now shall yee see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see the multitude before them and behinde them, worshipping them,

5 But say yee in your hearts, O Lorde, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shal be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and layde ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a mayd that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priestes themselues conuey away the golde and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood, with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 An other hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defende himselfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that should bee led to bee put to death, so the Priestes keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, least their gods should be spoyled by robbers. ‖ Or, courts.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea, more then for themselues, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the gold, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The thinges wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed. Isa.46.7.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moone of themselues, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselues streight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the thinges that are offered vnto them, their Priestes sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touch their sacrifices: by these thinges yee may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their Temples, hauing their clothes rent, whole heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King, nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them, and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widowe, nor do good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, golde, and siluer, are as stones that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall bee confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand their things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne ‖straw.

‖Or, branne.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, & lie with any such as come by, she casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre, or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with themselues, where they may hide themselues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselues from warre, nor from plagues?

50 For *seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shal be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, & that there is no worke of God in them.

*Psal. 115. 4. wisd. 13. 10.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither plesure from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, the Priests will escape and saue themselues, but they burne as the balks therein.

55 They cannot withstand any King or enemies: how can it then be thought or sayde that they be gods?

56 Moreouer, these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away; yet can they not helpe themselues.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or elle a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that oweth it might haue profit, then such falle gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such falle gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the Sunne, and the Moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is endent: and the wind bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to go about the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hils and woods, it doth that which is commaunded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 Forsomuch now as yee are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the Moone.

67 The beastes are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and do themselues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarcrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, & gold, and siluer, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

¶ The ſong of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel, after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelty of the king. 48 The flame deuoureth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 51 The three children praiſe the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the ſame.

24 AND they walked in the midſt of the flame, prayſing God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtoode vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, ſayd, 26 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to bee prayſed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou haſt done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, & all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and vpon Ieruſalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou haſt executed true iudgements: for by right & equitie haſt thou brought all theſe things vpon vs becauſe of our ſinnes.

29 For wee haue ſinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we treſpaſſed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddſt commanded vs, that we might proſper.

31 Wherefore in al that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and moſt hatefull tranſgreſſors, and to an vnrighteous king, and the moſt wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: wee are become a ſhame and reproofe vnto thy ſeruants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Yet for thy Names ſake we beſeech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy Couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, and for thy ſeruant Iſaacs ſake, and for thy holy Iſraels ſake, 36 To whom thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiply their ſeede as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſand, that is vpon the ſea ſhore.

37 For we O Lord are become leſſe then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, becauſe of our ſinnes:

38 So that now wee haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor ſacrifice, nor oblation, nor incenſe, nor place to offer the firſt fruites before thee, that we might find mercie.

39 Neuertheleſſe, in a contrite heart, and an humble ſpirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullocks, and as in ten thouſand of fat lambes, ſo let our offering be in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them, that put their truſt in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindneſſe, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs alſo by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they that doe thy ſeruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their ſtrength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the Kings ſeruants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to make the ouen hote with a naphtha, and with pitch and with towe, and with fagots, a Which is, a certaine kinde of fat and chalkie clay, as Plinius writeth, 2. booke chap. 105.

47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the furnace with them that were with Azarias, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the furnace, 50 And made in the middes of the furnace like a moiſt biſſing winde, ſo that the fire touched them not at al, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then theſe three (as out of one mouth) praiſed, and glorified and bleſſed God in the furnace, ſaying, 52 Bleſſed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and prayſed, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and bleſſed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praiſed aboue al things, and magnified for euer.

53 Bleſſed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glorie, and prayſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Bleſſed bee thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and prayſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Bleſſed bee thou in the firmament of heauen, and prayſed aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

90 All yee that worſhip the Lord, bleſſe the God of gods: prayſe him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth worlde without ende.

‖Or, Soſanna. The hiſtorie of ‖ Suſanna, which ſome ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Suſanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſolicite her to wickednesſe. 23 She chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 Shee is accuſed. 45 Daniel doth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon, called Ioacim,

2 And he tooke a wife, whoſe name was Suſanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and mother alſo were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyſes.

4 Now Ioacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ſoyning vnto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Iewes, becauſe he was more honourable then all others.

5 The ſame yere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

6 Theſe haunted Ioacims houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Nowe when the people departed away at noone, Suſanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two elders ſaw her that ſhe went in dayly and walked, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their * mind, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhoulde not ſee heauen, nor remember iuſt iudgements. * To wit, from God.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her:

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one sayde to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Nowe when they had spied out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hot season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselues, and watched for her:

17 Shee saide to her maydes, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that shee had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnesse against thee, that a young man was with thee, and therefore thou didst send away thy maydes from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto mee: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loude voice, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morowe after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischeiuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death, 29 And sayd before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commaunded to vncouer her face, (for she was couered) that they might so be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stoode vp in the middes of the people, and laied their handes vpon her head, 35 Which wept, and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, As wee walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maides, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a young man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stoode in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: for hee was stronger then we, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, wee asked her what yong man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are wee witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, and sayd, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnesse against mee, and beholde, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 ¶ Therefore when shee was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yoong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a loude voice, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and sayd, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and sayd, Are yee such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayd vnto him, Come sit downe among vs, and shewit vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then sayd Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them, and sayd vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time are come to light, 53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord sayth, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. *Exod.23.7.

54 Nowe then, if thou hast seene her, tell mee, Vnder what tree sawest thou them companying panying together? Who answered, Under a lentilke tree.

55 Then sayd Daniel, Verely thou hast lied against thine owne ‖ head: for loe the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ‖Or, last.

56 So put hee him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and sayde vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tell mee, Under what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Under a ‖ prime tree. ‖Or, mirtle tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sworde to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a loude voyce, and praysed God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuicted them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Lawe of Moyses they dealt with them as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. *Deut. 19. 19. prou. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praysed God for their daughter Sulanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestly found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layde with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

The historie of Bel and of the Dragon, which is the foureteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOw when King Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day twelue a great measures of fine floure, and fourtie sheepe, and fiue great b pots of wine.

a Called Artaba, whereof euery one conteined somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in al an hundreth and eight gallons at the least. b Called Metreta, and euery one of these measures conteined about ten gallons, which in all make three score.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King sayd vnto him, Why doest thou not worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and sayd, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then sayd the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not howe much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, & brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his Priestes, and sayd vnto them, If ye tell me not who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shal die:

9 But if yee can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel sayd vnto the King, Let it bee according to thy word.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were threescore and ten, besides their wiues and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the Temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests sayd, Beholde, we will goe out, and let thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine bee filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morrow when thou commest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or els Daniel that hath lied vpon vs.

13 Now they thought theselues sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed thorowout all the Temple, in the presence of the King alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the Priestes with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eat and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose, and Daniel with him.

17 And the King sayd, Daniel, are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And assoone as hee had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that he should not go in, and sayd, Beholde now the pauement, and marke well whose footsteps are these.

20 And the King sayd, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angry, 21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore

22 Therefore the King slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King sayd vnto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of brasse also? loe, hee liueth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing God: therefore worship him.

25 Then sayd Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue mee leaue, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king sayd, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayd, Behold, whom yee worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Iewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the King sawe, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the lions den, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lions, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord sayd vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carie the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc sayde, Lorde, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and throwe a mighty winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then sayd Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, & did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the mids of the Lions.

41 Then cryed the King with a loude voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

The first booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFter that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went foorth of the land of Chittim, and slew Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as hee had before in Grecia, a The first battell with the Carthaginenses was fought at this time.

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wan strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went hee thorow to the endes of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, insomuch that the worlde stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hauty.

b The beginning of the kingdome of Egypt.

4 b Now when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, & parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 c And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

c The beginning of the kingdome of Syria.

10 And they all caused themselues to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked root, euen Antiochus ‖ Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundred and seuen and thirtieth yere of the kingdome of the Grecks.

‖ Or, noble.

d The beginning of the kingdom of the Parthians. Ioseph. Ant. 12, chap. 6.

12 d In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which intised many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the the heathen that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 e Then set they vp a place of exercise at Hierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen, 16 And made themselues f vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were solde to doe mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty companie, with Charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 g And mooued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraide of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wan many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, hee turned againe in the hundreth fourtie and three yeere,

22 And went vp toward Israel, and Jerusalem with a mightie people, 23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden Altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basens, and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land, 25 After hee had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and the that sate in the marriage chamber was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 h After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taxe-master into the cities of Juda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable wordes to them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, & destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoyled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great & thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer, they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they restored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Jerusalem, and layd it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in an ambushment for the Sanctuary, & were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shedde innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 Insomuch that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom thee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto al his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 6. & 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offring vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Juda, that they should followe the strange lawes of the country, 47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the ‖ offerings in the Sanctuarie, ‖ Or, drinke offerings.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feastes,

49 And pollute the Sanctuary and the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars and groues, and chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beastes,

51 And that they shoulde leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commandement of the King, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commaunded the cities of Juda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Lawe, and so they committed euil in the land.

56 And they drove the Israelites into secret places, euen whereſoeuer they could flee for ſuccour.

57 The fifteenth day of Caſleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fortieth yeere, they ſet vp the abomination of deſolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery ſide.

58 And before the doores of the houſes, and in the ſtreetes they burnt incenſe.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they ‖ burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whoſoeuer had a booke of the Teſtament found by him, or whoſoeuer conſented vnto the Lawe, the kings commandement was, that they ſhould put him to death by their authority.

61 And they executed theſe things euery moneth vpon the people of Iſrael that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, they did ſacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the ſtead of the altar of ſacrifices.

63 And according to the commaundement, they put certaine women to death, which had cauſed their children to be circumciſed, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their necks, and they ſpoyled their houſes, and ſlew the circumcilers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Iſrael, which were of courage, and determined in themſelues, that they would not eat vncleane things, 66 But chooſe rather to ſuffer death, then to bee defiled with thoſe meates: ſo becauſe they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his ſonnes for the deſtruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuſe to do ſacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the law of God. 33 They are ſlaine, and will not fight againe becauſe of the Sabboth day. 49 Mattathias dying commandeth his ſonnes to ſticke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

IN thoſe dayes ſtood vp Mattathias the prieſt, the ſonne of Joannes, the ſonne of Simeon, of the ſonnes of Joarib of Jeruſalem, and dwelt in Modin.

Joſeph. Ant. 12. cap. 7.

2 And hee had fiue ſonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thaſſi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, and Jonathan, whoſe name was Apphus.

‖ Or, Auaran.

6 Now he ſaw the blaſphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jeruſalem:

7 And hee ſayd, Woe is mee: wherefore was I borne, to ſee this deſtruction of my people, and the deſtruction of the holy Citie, and thus to ſit ſtill? it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuary is in the handes of ſtrangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renowme.

9 Her glorious veſſels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are ſlaine in the ſtreetes, and her young men are fallen by the ſworde of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not ſome poſſeſſion in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her ſpoyles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, ſhe is become an handmayd.

12 Beholde our Sanctuary, and our beautie, and honour is deſolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his ſonnes, and put ſackecloth vpon them, and mourned very ſore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin, to compel them to forſake God, and to ſacrifice.

16 So many of the Iſraelites conſented vnto them: but Mattathias and his ſonnes aſſembled together.

17 Then ſpake the commiſſioners of the king, and ſayd vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and haſt many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore firſt, and fulfill the Kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and alſo the men of Juda, and ſuch as remaine at Jeruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy familie be in the Kings fauour, and thou and thy children ſhall bee enriched with ſiluer and golde, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias anſwered & ſayde with a loud voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and conſent to his commandements, 20 a Yet will I and my ſonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

a The father promiſeth for his children, that they ſhall ſerue God: ſo doeth Joſhua for his houſhold, Joſh. 24. 15.

21 God bee mercifull vnto vs, that we forſake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to tranſgreſſe our religion, neither on the right ſide, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off ſpeaking theſe wordes, there came one of the Jewes, in the ſight of all, to ſacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias ſawe it, he was ſo b inflamed with zeale, that his reines ſhooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the lawe: therefore hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

b It is a griefe to the godly to ſee the people offend.

25 And at the ſame time hee ſlewe the Kings commiſſioner, that compelled him to do ſacrifice, and deſtroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Lawe of God, *doing as Phinees did vnto Zambri the ſonne of Salom. *Num. 25. 7.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citie, ſaying, Whoſoeuer is zealous of the Law, and will ſtand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee, and his ſonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that ‖ ſought after iuſtice and iudgement,

‖ Or, that ſued vnſtly and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wildernes to dwell there, both they, and their children, & their wiues and their cattell: for the afflictions increaſed ſore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was tolde vnto the Kings ſeruants, seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Jerusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse,

32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and do according to the commandement of the King, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, Wee will not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any stone at them, nor stopped the priuie places, 37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shal testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues & their children, to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoeuer shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secrete places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Assideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Lawe.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they founde within the coastes of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proude men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe neere, that Mattathias should die, he sayd vnto his sonnes, Nowe is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be yee zealous of the law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithful in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse? Gen.22.9. 10.rom.4.3.

53 * Joseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, and was made the lord of Egypt. Gen.41.40.

54 * Phinees our father, because hee was zelous and feruent, obteined the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood. Num.25.13. eccles.45.23, 24.

55 * Jesus for fulfilling the worde, was made the gouernour of Israel. Iosh.1.2.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witnes before the congregation, receiued the heritage of the land. Num.14.6, 7.iosh.14.13

57 * Dauid, because of his mercie, obtained the throne of the kingdome for euermore. 2.Sam.2.4.

58 * Elias, because hee was zealous and feruent in the Lawe, was taken vp euen vnto heauen. 2.King.2.11

59 * Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame. Dan.3.16, 17,18,26.

60 * Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lions. Dan.6.22.

61 And thus yee may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 * Feare not ye then the words of a sinfull man: for his glory is but dung and wormes. Mat.10.26, 28,31.isai. 40.6,7,8.& 51.7,8.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morow he shall * not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth. Iam.1.10.

64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obteine glory. 1.pet.1.24. eccles.14. 18.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alway: he shalbe a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth fortie and fiue yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Judas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Judas toward God. 55 Judas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captain ouer his hoste.

THen Judas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brest plate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, & defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his actes he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and al the workers of iniquity were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieued diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, & turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renowmed vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But a Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

a Who was gouernour of Syria, Ioseph. Antiq. 12, chap. 9.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, hee went foorth to meete him, and smote him, and slewe him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius swoorde, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went foorth to the warre, 14 He sayd, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the Realme: for I wil go fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the Kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to goe vp, & there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to bee auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Beth-horon, Iudas went foorth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they sayd to Iudas, How are wee able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so wearie, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then sayd Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to bee shut vp in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proude multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God himselfe wil destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afrayd of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Beth-horon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about, 26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his Realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasurie, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when he saw that the money of his treasures fayled, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 Hee feared lest he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore hee was heauy in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man, and of the Kings blood to ouersee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and Elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and root out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabit all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yere an hundred foortie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the high countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimenus, and Nicanor, & Gorgias, mighty men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourty thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came & pitched by † Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

† Emmaus,

41 Now when the merchants of the country heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and gold, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the

Sanctuarie

Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the ſtrangers kept the fortreſſe, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceaſed.

46 So they gathered themſelues together, and came to Maſpha before Ieruſalem: for in Maſpha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Iſrael.

47 And they faſted that day, and put ſackecloth vpon them, & caſt aſhes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen ſought to paint the likeneſſe of their idoles, 49 And brought the Prieſts garments, and the firſt fruits, and the tithes, and let there the Nazarites, which accompliſhed their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loud voyce toward heauen, ſaying, What ſhall wee doe with theſe? and whither ſhall we carry them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Prieſtes are in heauineſſe, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come againſt vs, to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what things they imagine againſt vs.

53 How can we ſtand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loude voyce.

55 And after this Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thouſands, and captains ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houſes, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearefull, that they ſhould returne euery one to his owne houſe,* according to the Law.

*Deut.20.5. iudg.7.3.

57 So the hoſte remooued, and pitched vpon the Southſide of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas ſaid, Arme your ſelues, and be valiant men, & be ready againſt the morning to fight with theſe nations, which are gathered together againſt vs to deſtroy vs & our ſanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to ſee the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuertheleſſe, as the will of God is in heauen, ſo be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth againſt Gorgias which lieth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoſte to flight. 28 Lyſias inuadeth Iudea. 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

Ioſeph. lib. 12. cap. 10.

THen tooke Gorgias fiue thouſand foote men, and a thouſande of the beſt horſemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to ſlay them ſuddenly: and the men of the fortreſſe were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remooued, and they that were valiant men, to ſmite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was diſperſed from the campe.

5 In the meane ſeaſon came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when hee found no man there, he ſought them in the mountaines: for ſaid he, they flee from vs.

6 But aſſoone as it was day, Iudas ſhewed himſelfe in the fielde with three thouſande men, which had neither harneſſe nor ſwordes to their mindes.

7 And they ſawe that the armies of the heathen were ſtrong and well ormed, and their horſemen about them, and that theſe were expert men of warre.

8 Then ſayde Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not their multitude, neither be afraid of their aſſault.

9 Remember howe our fathers were deliuered in the red Sea, when Pharaoh purſued them with an armie. Exod.14.9, 29.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the Couenant of our fathers, and wil deſtroy this hoſte before our face this day:

11 So ſhall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and ſaueth Iſrael.

12 Then the ſtrangers lift vp their eyes, and ſaw them comming againſt them, 13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, and they that were with Iudas blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were diſcomfited, and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmoſt of them fel by the ſword, and they purſued them vnto ‖Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, ſo that there were ſlaine of them about three thouſand men. ‖ Or, Aſſa remoth.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoſte from purſuing them,

17 And ſayd vnto the people, Bee not greedy of the ſpoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the army is here by vs in the mountaine: but ſtand ye nowe faſt againſt your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye ſafely take the ſpoyles.

19 As Iudas was ſpeaking theſe wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias ſaw that his were fled, and that Iudas ſouldiers burnt the tentes: (for the ſmoke that was ſeene, declared what was done.)

21 When they ſawe theſe things, they were ſore afrayd, and when they ſawe alſo that Iudas and his hoſte were in the field ready to ſet themſelues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of ſtrangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to ſpoyle the tents, where hee gate much golde and ſilner, and precious ſtones, and purple of the ſea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and ſung Pſalmes and prayſed towarde the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And ſo Iſrael had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now al the ſtrangers that eſcaped, came, and tolde Lyſias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard theſe things, was ſore afrayde and diſcouraged, becauſe ſuch things came not vpon Iſrael as hee would, neither ſuch things as the King had commanded him, came to paſſe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lyſias threeſcore thouſande choſen foote men, men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into ‖ Idumea, and pitched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, hee prayed, and sayd, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, * which didst destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruaunt Dauid, * and gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Ionathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afrayd, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, prayse thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias host, fiue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeng his army put to flight, and the manlinesse of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia, & gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his army, he thought againe (being prepared) to fight against Iudea.

36 Then sayd Iudas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary layd waste, and the altar defiled, and the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the law,

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And layed vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a newe altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also newe holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the works that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasleu, in the hundred and eight and fortieth yeere they arose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day, was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praysing towarde the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnes, and offred sacrifices of deliuerance & prayse, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should bee kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towers round about, least the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garrison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquisheth the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 50 Hee ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorowit.

NOwe when the nations rounde about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were sore grieued. Ioseph. lib. 13. cap. 13.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at ‖ Arabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straits, and tooke their spoyles. ‖ Or, Arabathanea.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a snare & an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in waite for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore hee shut them vp in towers, and besieged beſieged them, and deſtroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, and all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went hee againſt the children of Ammon, where hee founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were deſtroyed before him, and ſo he diſcomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and ſo turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together againſt the Iſraelites that were in their quarters, to ſlay them: but they fled to the caſtle of Datheman,

10 And ſent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, ſaying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered againſt vs, to deſtroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortreſſe, whereunto wee are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoſte.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are ſlaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are ſlaine, and they haue taken away their wiues and their children, and their goods, and deſtroyed there almoſt a thouſand men.

14 While theſe letters were yet a reading, beholde, there came other meſſengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which told the ſame tidings, 15 And ſayde that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sydon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered againſt them to deſtroy them.

16 When Iudas and the people heard theſe woordes, a great congregation came together, to conſult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they beſieged.

17 Then ſayde Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuſe thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Joſephus the ſonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoſte in Iudea, 19 And commaunded them, ſaying, Take the ouerſight of this people, and make no warre againſt the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thouſand men, to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thouſand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were diſcomfited by him.

22 And hee purſued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were ſlaine of the heathen almoſt three thouſande men: ſo hee tooke their ſpoyles.

23 Then they reſcued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus alſo, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Jorden, & trauailed three dayes iourney in the wilderneſſe,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & tolde them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And howe that many of them were beſieged in Boſora, and Boſor, in Alemis, Chaſbon, Maged and Carnaim (all theſe cities are ſtrong and great) [Or, Chaſphor.]

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrowe they are appointed to bring their hoſte vnto theſe fortes, and to take them, and to deſtroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoſte turned in all haſte by the way of the wildernes towarde Boſora, and wanne the citie, and ſlew all the males with the edge of the ſworde, and tooke all their ſpoyle, and ſet fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he remoued from thence, and went toward the fortreſſe.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and inſtruments of warre, to take the fort, and had aſſaulted them.

31 When Iudas ſaw that the battell was begun, and that the cry of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great ſound, 32 Then hee ſaide vnto the army, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behinde them with three companies, and they blew their trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoſte of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee ſmote them with a great ſlaughter, ſo that there was killed of them the ſame day, almoſt eight thouſand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maſpha, and ſayde ſiege vnto it, and wanne it, and ſlewe all the males thereof, and ſpoyled it, and ſet fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chaſbon, Maged, and Boſor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After theſe things gathered Timotheus another hoſte, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had ſent to eſpie the hoſte, and they brought him woorde againe, ſaying, All the heathen that bee rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoſte is very great,

39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyonde the flood, and are ready to come and fight againſt thee. So Iudas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus ſaid vnto the captaines of his hoſte, When Iudas and his hoſte come neere to the flood, if hee paſſe ouer firſt vnto vs, we ſhall not be able to withſtand him: for he will be too ſtrong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, wee will goe ouer vnto him, and ſhall preuaile againſt him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he cauſed the gouernors of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, ſaying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So hee went firſt ouer towarde them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were diſcomfited before him, and caſt away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defenced: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your lande, that wee may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a Proclamation to bee made thorowout the hoste, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie, all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slewe all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, and went thorow the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jordan into the great plaine before Bethan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorowe, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnes vnto mount Sion, where they offred burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whiles Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had atchieued, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement, and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousande men: so that there was a great ouerthrowe among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose handes deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wheresoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterwarde went Judas forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Hebron, and the townes therof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towers thereof round about. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 11. & 12.

66 Then remoued hee to go into the land of the ‖ strangers, and went thorow Samaria. ‖ Or, Philistims.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantnes, and went forth to battell without counsel: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers land, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickenes, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The manar to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant act. 48 The siege of Sion.

NOw when king Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countries, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia, was a citie greatly renowmed for riches, siluer and gold, Ioseph. Ant. 12 cap. 13.

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were coueringes of golde, coat armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore hee went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but hee was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Juda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled down the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the King had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore hee layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorrow, because it was not come to passe as he had thought.

9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needes die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friendes, and sayde vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come? and into what floods of misery am I fallen nowe, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And nowe doe I remember the euils that

I haue done at Jerusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Juda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorrow in a strange land.

14 Then called hee for Philip, one of his friends, whō he made ruler ouer al his Realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that hee should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundreth fourtie and ninth yeere.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 14.

17 ¶ When Lysias knewe that the king was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites round about ꝑ Sanctuarie, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to beſiege them.

20 So they came together, & beſieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yeere, & made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were beſieged, gate foorth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene readie to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things, that he appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and whersoeuer they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layde hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they beſieging the castle at Jerusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the captains of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the Iles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was a hundreth thousand footemen, and twentie thousand horsemen, and two and thirtie Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, and drewe neere to Beth-sura, and beſieged it a long season, and made engins of warre, but they came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the castle, and remooued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias, ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselues in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the Elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery Elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordained fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were readie at all times whersoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, & departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one were two & thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistred therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings army was spread vpon the hie mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, & the marching of the company and the ratling of the harneſse, were astonied: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entered into the battell, and they slew fiue hundreth men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of ꝑ Abaron, saw one of the Elephants armed with royall harneſse, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king should bee vpon him. ‖ Or, Sauran,

44 Wherefore he ieoparded himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name, 45 And ranne boldely vnto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the Elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, [a] and slew him: then fell the Elephant downe vpon him, and there he died. [a] This example is not to be followed, because it is contrary to the cōmandement, 47 But the other, seeing the power of the king and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings army went vp to meete them toward Jerusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Judea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no victuals there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And beſieged the Sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ‖ They alla made engins against their engins, and fought a long season. ‖ Or, the Iewes,

53 But in the garners there were no victuals: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Judea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the reſidue of his ſtore.

54 So that in the Sanctuary were few men left: for the famine came ſo vpon them, that they were ſcattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lyſias heard that Philip, (whom Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his ſonne, that he might be king)

56 Was come againe out of Perſia, and Media, and the kings hoſte with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his haſted, & were ſtirred forward by them in the caſtle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoſte, and to others, ſaying, We decreaſe daily, and our victailes are but ſmall: and the place that we lay ſiege vnto, is ſtrong, and the affaires of the Realme depend vpon vs.

‖ Or, giue hands.

58 Nowe therefore let vs ‖ agree with theſe men, & take truce with them, and with all their nation, 59 And grant them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all theſe things, becauſe we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the Princes were content, and ſent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortreſſe.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when hee ſawe that the place was well defenced, he brake his othe that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haſte, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: ſo he fought againſt him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lyſias. 5 He troubleth the children of Iſrael through the counſell of certaine wicked perſons. 37 The prayer of the Prieſts againſt Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Ioſeph. Ant. 12. chap. 5.

IN the ſyxtieth, and one and fiftie yeere departed Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the ſea coaſt and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the poſſeſſion of his fathers kingdome, his ſouldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyſias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he ſaid, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was ſet vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Iſrael, whoſe captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the high Prieſt.

6 Theſe men accuſed the people vnto the king, ſaying, Iudas and his brethren haue ſlaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore ſende nowe ſome man, whom thou truſteſt, that he may goe and ſee all the deſtruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings lande, and let him puniſh them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king choſe Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the Realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and ſent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made hie Prieſt, and commanded him to bee auenged of the children of Iſrael.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoſt vnto the land of Iuda, and ſent meſſengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeued not their ſaying: for they ſaw that they were come with a great hoſte.

12 Then a company of the gouernours aſſembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reaſonable points.

13 And the ‖ Aſideans were the firſt that required peace among the children of Iſrael.

‖ Or, Haſidims.

14 For ſaid they, He that is a Prieſt of the ſeede of Aaron, is come with his armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he ſpake vnto them peaceably, and ſwore vnto them and ſayd, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleeued him: but hee tooke of them threeſcore men, and ſlew them in one day, according to the words that were written,

17 *They haue caſt the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ieruſalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

*Pſal. 79. 2.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they ſaide, There is neither trueth nor righteouſneſſe in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ieruſalem, and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where hee ſent foorth & tooke many of the men that had forſaken him, and certaine of the people whom he ſlew and caſt into the great pit.

‖ Or, Bethſeth, or Bezeth.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: ſo Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus ſtroue for the Prieſthood.

22 And all ſuch as troubled the people, reſorted vnto him: in ſo much that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Iſrael.

23 Nowe when Iudas ſaw all the miſchiefe that Alcimus and his company had done among the Iſraelites more then the heathen, 24 He went foorth round about all the borders of Iudea, and puniſhed thoſe that were fallen away, ſo that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus ſawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that hee was not able to abide them, he went againe to the king and accuſed them of wicked things.

26 Then the King ſent Nicanor one of his chiefe Princes, which hated Iſrael deadly, and commaunded him that hee ſhould deſtroy the people.

Ioſeph. Ant. 12. chap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ieruſalem with a great hoſte, and ſent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly wordes, ſaying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene me, and you: I will come with few men, to ſee how ye do, friendly.

29 So

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Nevertheless, it was told Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight against Iudas beside ‖ Caryhalalama.

‖ Or, Caphar-salama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors host about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went foorth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But he laughed at them, & mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his host be not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping and saying,

37 For somuch as thou, O Lorde, hast chosen this * House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

Isa. 56. 5, 7.

38 Bee auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in ‖ Adasa, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying,

‖ Or, Adarsa.

41 O Lord, * because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundreth, foure score and fiue thousand of them.

2. Kin. 19. 35. tob. 1. 1. 11. eccles. 48. 22. Isa. 37. 36. 2. mac. 8. 19.

42 So destroy thou his hoste before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Nowe when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney frō Adasa vnto Gazera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came foorth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a little while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent vnto the Iewes.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romans, that they were mighty, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them, Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy actes, which they did among the ‖ Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

‖ Or, Frenchmen.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsel and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perses kings of the ‖ Macedonians, and others, that rose against them, and how they ouercame them,

‖ Or, Citims.

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battel, hauing an hundreth and twenty Elephants, with horsemen and charets, and a very great army, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a seperate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it tolde them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to bee their bondemen vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed and brought into subiection other kingdomes, and Iles, whosoeuer had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amity with their owne friends, and those that stayd vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowme, was afrayd of them.

13 For whome they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, & whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most hie authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselues a councell, wherein three hundreth and twentie men consulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well, 16 And they that committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate where they spake and sayd,

‖ Or, councill.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Jewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Jewes shal helpe them, as the time shall bee appointed, with all their heart,

‖ Or, the Romanes.

26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖ Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Jewes, the Romans shal helpe them with a good wil, according as the time shal be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Jewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Jewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Judas is slaine. 31 Jonathan is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Jonathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dieth. 68 He commeth vpon Jonathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Jonathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard howe Nicanor and his hoste was giuen the battell, hee sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Judea, and his ‖ chiefe strength with them.

Iosseph. Ant. 12. cap. 18.

‖ Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yeere, they layd their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they rayled their campe, and came to Berea, with twenty thousand foot men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleaza, and three thousand chosen men with him.

‖ Or, Laisa.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afrayd, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Judas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheless, he sayd vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, Wee are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Judas sayd, a God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

a He that was wont to pray and ouercome, is ouercome when he trusteth in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

11 Then the hoste remoued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, & they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the army drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas sawe that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behinde, and them that were with him, hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 Howe is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels and the valiant acres that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 1. and 3.

23 ¶ Nowe after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and ‖against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

‖Or, against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore, this day wee chuse thee that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stede of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Alphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Jorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother John a captaine of the people, to pray his friends, the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

‖Or, Jambri.

36 But the children of ‖Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came worde vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from ‖Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

‖Or, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Jorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Jorden on this side and that side, and the marise and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that yee may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and recoiled.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Jorden, and swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe thorow Jorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Juda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ‖Pharathon, and ‖Tephoo, with hie walles, with gates, and with barres,

‖Or, Phara.
‖Or, Thopo.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of victuals.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth fifte and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the mountaines of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindred, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the lande of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a councell, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Judea, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for theſe counſell was knowen vnto them.

‖ Or, Ionathan.

61 And ‖ they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesſe, and ſlew them.

‖ Or, Bethbeſſen.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with theſe company departed vnto ‖ Beth-baſin which is in the wildernesſe, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it ſtrong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoſte, and ſent word to them that were of Judea.

64 Then came he and laid ſiege to Beth-baſin, and fought againſt it a long ſeaſon, and made inſtruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

‖ Or, Odares.

66 And ſlew ‖ Dodomeras and his brethren, and the children of Phaſiron in their tents: ſo he began to ſlay, and increaſed in power.

67 Simon alſo and his company went out of the citie, & burnt vp the inſtruments of warre, 68 And fought againſt Bacchides, and diſcomfited him, and vexed him ſore, ſo that his counſell and iourney was in vaine.

b Wicked counſell falleth on the counſellers.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, b that gaue him counſell to come into the countrey, and ſlew many of them, and purpoſed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, he ſent ambaſſadours vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the priſoners ſhould be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did accoʒding to his deſire, and made an othe, that hee would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So he reſtoʒed vnto him the priſoners that he had taken afoʒetime out of the land of Juda, and ſo returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any moʒe into their boʒders.

73 Thus the ſword ceaſed from Iſrael, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and deſtroyed the vngodly men out of Iſrael.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius deſireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander alſo deſireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre againſt Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is ſlaine. 51 The friendſhip of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

Joſeph. Ant. 13. chap. 3.

IN the hundʒeth and thʒeeſcoʒe yeere came Alexander the ſonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoſte, and went forth againſt him to fight.

3 Alſo Demetrius ſent letters vnto Ionathan with louing woʒdes, as though he would preferre him.

4 Foʒ hee ſaid, We will firſt make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander againſt vs.

5 Elſe he will remember all the euill that we haue done againſt him, and againſt his brethren and his nation.

6 And ſo he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an hoſte, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hoſtages that were in the caſtle, to bee deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Jeruſalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the caſtle.

8 Therefore they were ſore afraide, becauſe they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the caſtle, deliuered the hoſtages vnto Ionathan, who reſtoʒed them to their parents.

10 Ionathan alſo dwelt at Jeruſalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commaunded the woʒkemen to builde the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen ſtone, to foʒtifie it: and ſo they did.

12 Then the ſtrangers that were in the caſtles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-ſura remained certaine which had foʒſaken the Lawe and the commandements, foʒ it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promiſes that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 Hee ſayd, Might wee finde ſuch a man? now therefoʒe we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this hee wʒote a letter, and ſent it vnto him, with theſe woʒds, ſaying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan, ſendeth ſalutation.

19 Wee haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and woʒthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefoʒe this day we oʒdeine thee to be the hie Prieſt of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and hee ſent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of gold,) that thou mayeſt ‖ conſider what is foʒ our profit, and keepe friendſhip toward vs.

‖ Or, mitre. ‖ Or, take our part.

21 So in the ſeuenth moneth of the hundʒeth and thʒeeſcoʒe yeere, vpon the feaſt day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoſte, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was marueilous ſoʒʒy, and ſayd, Joſeph. Ant. 13. chap. 3.

23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendſhip of the Jewes foʒ his ſtrength?

24 Yet will I wʒite and exhoʒt them, and promiſe them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon hee wʒote vnto them theſe woʒds, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Jewes ſendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendſhip, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefoʒe remaine ſtill, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompenſe you foʒ the good things that ye haue done foʒ vs, 28 And wil releaſe you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I diſcharge foʒ your ſake all the Jewes from tributes, and free you from the cuſtomes customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne duety, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three gouernments, which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, * from this day forth for euermore.

a And of the countrey beyond Iorden, as Iosephus writeth

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall bee holy and free from the tenthes and tributes.

32 Also I release ẏ power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shal chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my Realme, and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell,

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Jewes in my Realme, 35 So that in them no man shal haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Jewes shall be written vp in the Kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall bee ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall bee set ouer the kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their princes shall be of themselues, and they shal liue after their own lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria, shall be toyned vnto Judea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yere fifteen thousand sicles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the accompt appointed for the entertainement of the Sanctuary, these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be released, because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoeuer they bee that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within ẏ liberties thereof, and are indebted to the king for any maner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuary, expenses shall be giuen of the Kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Judea may bee built vp, shall also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that hee had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battel, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battel continued til the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 5.

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroied Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and hee and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the king gaue answere, saying, Happy be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the lande of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certeine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple: and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him, 63 And sayd vnto his princes, Goe with him into the mids of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honor, and wrote wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a duke and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth threescore and fine yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sory, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Cœlosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and campd in Jamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Dareſt thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therfore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou bee able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherfore hee chose ten thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garrison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen, with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsmen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his ariere ba..d.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shotte darres at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood stil, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remooued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoyles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

1 The dissension betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Sion is besieged of Jonathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceite to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme. Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 7.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was good vnto the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery citie.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee should passe.

5 And they tolde the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So king Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, & Ptolemeus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemeus died, & they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castle, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and tolde him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, hee was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meete him, and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless, when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: hee chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priestes, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the King intreated him as his predecessours had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the hie Priesthood with all the honourable things, that hee had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the King, that hee would make Judea free with the three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundreth talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, containing these wordes.

30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

31 Wee sende you here a copy of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnesse that our friendes the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore wee assigne to them the coastes of Judea, with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the payments which the King tooke yeerely afore time, both for the fruites of the earth, and for the fruites of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes which were payed vnto vs, wee discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shall be reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may bee set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his lande was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Nowe was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when hee sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, hee went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, [Or, Emalcuel.

40 And lay sore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers stead: hee tolde him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre hated him, and hee remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely do these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Nowe therefore shalt thou doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousande strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the city, euen an hundreth and twentie thousande men, gathered them together in the mids of the city, and would haue slaine the King.

46 But the King fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the King called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad thorow the city, 48 And slewe the same day an hundreth thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoyles in that day, and deliuered the King.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Jewes had gotten the vpper hande of the city, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ‖ Graunt vs peace, and let the Jewes cease from vexing vs and the city. [Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Jewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his Realme, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheles, he dissembled in all that euer he he spake, and withdrewe himselfe from Jonathan, neither did hee reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beasts, and wan Antiochia. ‖ Or, Elephants, 57 And yoong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoynt thee to bee the chiefe priest, & make thee ruler ouer the foure governments, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out, wherfore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and took of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey.

64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, & fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the city, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste, came to the water of Genesar: and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And beholde, the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines. ‖ Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places, and skirmished.

70 So that all that were on Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the Captaines of the hoste. ‖ Or, Absalomus.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed.

72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Nowe when his owne men that were fled, sawe this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousande men, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 3 and to the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendship. 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceit.

IOnathan nowe seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to stablish and renew the friendship with them. Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 8.

2 Hee sent letters also vnto the ‖ Spartians and to other places for the same purpose. ‖ Or, Lacedemonians.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and sayde, Jonathan the hie priest and the nation of the Jewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bonde of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home vnto the land of Juda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the priestes, and the rest of the people of the Jewes, sende greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ‖ Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copie hereunder written specifieth. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 5. ‖ Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the Ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our handes for comfort.

10 Neuertheless, we thought it good to sende vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should bee strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore we remember you at al seasons continually, and in the feastes and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though wee haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the Kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friendes in these warres.

15 For wee haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 Wee commaunded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest lendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, yee shall doe well to write vnto vs of your prosperity.

23 As for vs we haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Jerusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for hee gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the Sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to bee in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Jonathan and his companie knew it not till the morning: for they sawe the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slewe them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went throwe all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Joppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherfore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Judea, 36 And to make the wals of Jerusalem hier, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the city, that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to bee crowned when hee had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But he was afrayd that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, & to kill him: so he departed and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell, with forty thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his kinds, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to himselfe,

44 And sayd vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: For I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and al them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Jonathan beleeued him, and did as hee sayd, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Juda, 47 And retained but three thousande with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galilee, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe assoone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footmen and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathans company.

50 But when they knew that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes al they came into the land of Juda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therfore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, & possesseth the realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOw when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the lande of Juda, and to destroy it, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 9.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know knowe what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers haue done for the Lawe, and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voice, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in steade of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So hee gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Joppe, which dyoue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Juda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖ Addidis vpon the open plaine. ‖ Or, Addus.

14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stoode vp in steade of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in ỹ kings accompt concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when hee is letten forth hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheless Simon knewe that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded hee the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, lest hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wildernes, and to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snowe: but he remoued and went into the country of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Bascama, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie, 26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of hewen stone behinde and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memorie, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men saylng in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Nowe as Tryphon went forth with the yong King Antiochus, hee slew him traiterously, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 9.

32 And reigned in his steade, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, & brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Judea, and compassed them about with high towers, and great walles, euen with towers, and gates, and barres, and layed vp vitailes in the strong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIVS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and ‖ precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue wee receiued, and are readie to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free. ‖ Or, collar, or bandricke in Greeke, Baitan, or babeu.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgiue the ouersights, and faults committed vnto this day: and the crowne tare that yee ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall bee nowe no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundreth and seuenty yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publique instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and Prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approched neere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, lept into the city, and there was great trouble in the city,

45 Insomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with with their wiues, and children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying, 46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with Psalmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, & builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now, when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death,

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twenty day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuenty and one yere, they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, & with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And he ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where hee dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of all the hosts, and caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖ Or, Gara.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta, is renued.

IN the hundreth, seuentie and two yeere, gathered king Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went & ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all ỹ land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also wan the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the iles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreyes.

7 He gathered vp many of their people, that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which hee cleansed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the Common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided victuals for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowmed vnto the end of the world.

11 Hee made peace thorowout the land, and Israel had perfit mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figtrees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersity among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Ionathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how he had woon the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATOVRS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren, send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this maner. NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes ambassadors, came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should bee honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should bee registred in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pound weight to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children? for he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this. In the eight and twenty day of the moneth † Elul, in the hundreth seuenty and two yeere, in the third yere of Simon the high Priest. † August.

28 In

28 In ‖ Sraemel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

‖ Or, Ieruſalem,

29 Wherein Simon the ſonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put themſelues in danger, and reſiſted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is layed with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and deſtroied their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon reſiſted them, and fought for his nation, and ſpent much of his owne ſubſtance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 Yee fortified alſo the cities of Iudea, and Bethſura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay ſometime) and ſet there a garrtion of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the ſea, and ‖ Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, & furniſhed them with things neceſſary for the reparation thereof.

‖ Or, Gaza, or Gazaru,

35 Now when the people ſawe the faithfulneſſe of Simon, and to what glorie he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, becauſe hee had done all theſe things, and for the vprightneſſe, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that ſought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they proſpered wel by him, ſo that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they alſo which were in the city of Dauid at Ieruſalem, where they had made them a caſtle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he let Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the aſſurance of the land and citie, and raiſed vp the walles of Ieruſalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high Prieſthood for theſe cauſes, 39 And made him one of his frends, & gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friends & confederates, and that they honourably received Simons ambaſſadours,

41 And that the Iewes and Prieſts conſented that Simon ſhould be their prince, and high Prieſt perpetually, till God raiſed vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he ſhould be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and ſo ſet men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortreſſes, and that ſhoulde make prouiſion for the holy things,

43 And that he ſhould be obeyed of euery mã, and that all the writings in the countrey ſhould be made in his name, and that he ſhould be clothed in purple, and weare golde,

44 And that it ſhould not be lawfull for any of the people, or Prieſtes to breake any of theſe things, or to withſtand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of golde:

45 And if any did contrary to theſe things, or brake any of them, he ſhould be puniſhed.

46 So it pleaſed all the people to agree that it ſhould be done to Simon accoꝛding vnto theſe words.

47 Simon alſo accepted it, and was content to be the high Prieſt, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes and of the Prieſts, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to ſet vp this writing in tables of braſſe, and to faſten it to the wall that compaſſed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copy of the ſame ſhould be laid vp in the treaſurie, that Simon and his ſonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendſhip with Simon. 11 Tryphon purſued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings & nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refuſing the helpe that Simon ſent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer, king Antiochus the ſonne of Demetrius ſent letters from the Iles of the ſea, vnto Simon the prieſt, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteining theſe words, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon the great Prieſt, and to the nation of the Iewes, ſendeth greeting.

3 For ſo much as certeine peſtilent men haue vſurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purpoſed to challenge the realme againe, and to reſtore it to the olde eſtate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoſte, and prepared ſhips of warre,

4 That I may go thoꝛow the countrey, and be auenged of them, which haue deſtroyed our countrey, and waſted many cities in the realme.

5 Now therfore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the kings my progenitors haue diſcharged thee, and all the paiments, whereof they haue releaſed thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coine money of thine owne ſtampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ieruſalem and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou haſt prepared, and the fortreſſes, which thou haſt builded, and keepeſt in thine handes, ſhall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that ſhalbe due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when wee haue obteined our kingdome, we will giue thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, ſo that your honour ſhalbe knowen thoꝛowout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundred, ſeuenty and foure yeer, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bandes came together vnto him, ſo that few were left with Tryphon. Ioſeph. Ant. 13. cap. 13.

11 So the king Antiochus purſued him, but he fled and came to Doza, which lieth by the ſea ſide.

12 For hee ſawe that troubles were towarde him, him, and that the army had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So hee compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the city by lande, and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to go in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his company from Rome, having letters written vnto the kings and countries, wherein were contained these words, 16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friendes and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes, to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of golde weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the Kings and countreys, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Ariaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as ‖ Samsames, and to them of Sparta, and to ‖ Delus, and to ‖ Mindus, & to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Siden, and to Coztina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

‖ Or, Sampsace. ‖ Or, Delo. ‖ Or, Mido, or, Mydus.

24 And they sent a copy of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, he would not receiue them, but brake all the Couenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Ioppe, and Gazara, with the castle that is at Ierusalem, the city of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the lande, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea, 31 Or else giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friende came to Ierusalem, and when hee sawe the honour of Simon, and the cupboord of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and tolde him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and sayde vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens landes, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorowe our countrey, yet will wee giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word,

‖ Or, complainest concerning.

36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and told him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the King was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bandes of footemen and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoone the hoste toward Iudea, and to builde vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the King pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the King had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23 Iohn killeth them that lie in wait for his life.

THen came Iohn vp from Gazara, & tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done, Iosepho. Ant. lib. 13. cap. 13.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now olde, and yee by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: bee ye therefore in stead of me, and my brother, & goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee sawe that the people was afrayde to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed thorowe after him.

7 Then he deuided his men, and set the horsemen in the mids of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till hee came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousande men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Juda.

11 ¶ Now in the fielde of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore hee waxed proude in his minde, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Nowe as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, hee came downe to Jericho with Mattathias, and Judas his sonnes in the hundreth, seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a little hold, called Docus, which he had built, where he made them a great banket, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, and entered in to Simon in the banket house, and slewe him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villanie, and recompensed euil for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the king, that he might sende him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and golde, and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem, he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and tolde John in Gazara, that his father, & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When hee heard this, hee was sore astonished, and layd handes of them that were come to slay him, and slewe them: for hee knewe that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of wals which he made, and other of his deeds, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

¶ The second Booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thankes for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hidde in the pitte. 24 The prayer of Nemias.

THy brethren of the Iewes which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Jubea, vnto the brethren the Iewes that are thorowout Egypt, sende salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God bee gracious vnto you, and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Lawe & commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned in the hundred, threescore and ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Jason and his company departed out of the holy lande and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood. Then wee prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine floure, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Nowe therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the moneth Chaslew.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, fourescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Jerusalem, & in Judea, and the counsell, and Judas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the King.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heaps that fought against the holy city.

13 For albeit the captaine and the army that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceite of Naneas priestes.

14 For Antiochus as though he would dwell with her, came thither, hee and his friendes with him, to receiue mony vnder the title of a dowry.

15 But when the priests of Nanea had layd it forth, and hee was entred with a small company within the temple, they shut the temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a priuy doore of the vaut, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in peeces, they cut off their heades, and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas wee are nowe purposed to keepe the the purification of the temple vpon the fiue and twenty day of the moneth Chaſleu, we thought it neceſſarie to certifie you thereof that yee alſo might keepe the feaſt of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Nemias offred ſacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Perſia, the Prieſts, which ſought the honour of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was dry in the bottome, and therein they kept it, ſo that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man. Leuit. 6.13. and 10.2. and 16.3.

20 Nowe after many yeeres when it pleaſed God that Nemias ſhould be ſent from the king of Perſia, he ſent of the poſteritie of thoſe Prieſts, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded hee them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things apperteining to the ſacrifices were brought, Nemias commaunded the Prieſtes to ſprinkle the wood, and the things layde thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne ſhone, which afore was hid in the cloude, there was a great fire kindled, ſo that euery man marueiled.

23 Nowe the Prieſts, and all prayed, while the ſacrifice was conſuming: Jonathan began, and the other anſwered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Nemias was after this maner, O Lorde, Lorde God maker of all things, which art fearefull and ſtrong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iuſt and Almightie and euerlaſting, thou that deliuereſt Iſrael from all trouble, and haſt choſen the fathers, and ſanctified them, 26 Receiue the ſacrifice for thy whole people of Iſrael, and preſerue thine owne portion, and ſanctifie it.

27 Gather thoſe together, that are ſcattered from vs: deliuer them that ſerue among the heathen: looke vpon them that are deſpiſed, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punith them that oppreſſe vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, * as Moyſes hath ſpoken. Deu. 30.5.

30 And the Prieſts ſang Pſalmes thereunto.

31 Nowe when the ſacrifice was conſumed, Nemias commaunded the great ſtones to bee ſprinkled with the reſidue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was conſumed by the light, that ſhined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Perſia, that in the place where the Prieſtes, which were led away, and hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Nemias and his company had purified the ſacrifices.

34 The king tried out the thing, and cloſed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and beſtowed many gifts.

36 And Nemias called the ſame place Epythar, which is to ſay, purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

a That is to ſay, a ſhining, it is alſo called Nephthar, which is a cleanſing.

CHAP. II.

4 Howe Ieremie hid the Tabernacle, the Arke and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the fiue bookes of Iaſon conteined in one.

IT is found alſo in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commanded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a law, that they ſhould not forget the commandements of the Lorde, & that they ſhould not erre in their minds, when they ſawe images of gold and ſiluer, with their ornaments. Baruch. 6.

3 Theſe and ſuch other things commanded he them, and exhorted them that they ſhould not let the Law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written alſo, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and follow him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyſes went vp, * and ſawe the heritage of God, Deut. 34.1.

5 Jeremias went forth, and found an hollow caue, wherein he layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, & the Altar of incenſe, and ſo ſtopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of thoſe that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremias perceiued, hee reproued them, ſaying, As for that place, it ſhall be vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie bee ſhewed.

8 Then ſhal the Lord ſhew them theſe things, and the maieſtie of the Lorde ſhall appeare and the cloud alſo, as it was ſhewed vnder Moyſes, and as * when Salomon deſired, that the place might be honourably ſanctified. 1. King. 8. 14, 23, 30. 2. chro. 6. 21. 1. Kin. 8. 62, 65. 2. chro. 7. 4, 5.

9 For it is manifeſt that hee, being a wiſe man, offered the * ſacrifice of dedication, and conſecration of the Temple. Leuit. 9. 24. and 10. 16. 2 Chro. 7. 1.

10 * And as when Moyſes prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came down from heauen, and conſumed the ſacrifice: ſo when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyſes ſayd, Becauſe the ſinne offering was not eaten, therefore is it conſumed.

12 So Salomon kept thoſe eight dayes.

13 Theſe things alſo are declared in the writings and regiſters of ‖ Nemias, and howe hee made a liberarie, and bow he gathered the actes of the Kings, and of the Prophets, and the actes of Dauid, and the epiſtles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

‖ Some reade Ieremie.

14 Euen ſo Judas alſo gathered all thinges that came to paſſe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, ſende ſome to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye ſhall doe well, if ye keepe the ſame dayes.

17 Wee hope alſo that the God which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Prieſthood, hood, and the Sanctuarie,

Deut. 30.5. 18 *As he promised in the Lawe, will shortly haue mercie vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath layed vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stoode for the Iewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ranne thorow whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repayred the Temple that was renowmed thorowout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things that Iason the Cyrenean hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearsall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeuoured, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forwarde according to the preiecript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will builde a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a storie to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, & to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the storie, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the storie, and to be short in the storie.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honor done vnto the temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were very well kept, because of the godlines of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts,

3 In so much that Seleucus King of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning ‖ the iniquity committed in the citie. ‖ Or, the state & prouision.

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasury in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement, to bring him the foresayd money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so in deede.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things layed vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, & that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of gold, 12 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured through the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasurie.

14 So he appointed a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Lawe concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorrowe of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the bodie, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorrow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

19 And the women, girt with sackecloth vnder their brests, filled the streetes, & the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude, that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe & sure the things, which were layd vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to do, that did he performe.

24 And as hee and his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barded, and he ran fiercely and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeet, and it seemed that hee that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of gold.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, & comely in apparell, which stood by him on euery side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darknesse: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, & many souldiers into the layd treasury, was borne out: for hee could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they prayed the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a little afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that hee would call vpon the most High to grant him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the high Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some a euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

a In working some treachery or sorcerie against him.

33 Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same yoong men in the same clothing appeared, and stoode beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life:

34 For seeing that thou hast beene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meet to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayd, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the king, 27 and was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THis Simon now, of whom wee spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money, and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euil of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was hee bolde to call him traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice encreased so far, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publikely.

6 For he saw it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9 Besides this hee promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would ‖ name them of Ierusalem, Antiochians.

‖ Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem, among them.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiority, he began immediatly to draw his kinsmen to the customs of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes and policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

‖ Or, buskins, in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare hats.

13 So there begunne a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person.

14 So that the Priestes were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the play after the casting of the stone.

a This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a piece of mettall.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose customs they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

‖Or, Olympian sports, which were games kept euery fift yeare.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fift yere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present, 19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his own assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresayd Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundreth talents of siluer more then Iason.

‖Or, commandements.

25 So he gate the kings ‖ letters pattents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wild beast.

26 Then Iason which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the mony that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was the gouernour of the b Cyprians.

b That is, of them that measured the corne.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians, and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all hatte, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hande with an othe: (howbeit he suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the city, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complayned because Onias was slaine without cause.

39 Therefore Antiochus was sory in his mind, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modesty and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commaunded him to be led thorowout the city, and in the same place where he had committed the wickednesse against Onias, hee was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deeds in the city thorow the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had carried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe, they killed besides the treasurie.

43 For these causes an accusation was layd against againſt Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men ſent from the Senatt pleaded the cauſe before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promiſed to Ptolemeus the ſon of Dorymenes much money, if he would perſwade the king.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the King into a court, where as he was to coole himſelfe, and turned the kings minde.

47 Inſomuch that he diſcharged Menelaus from the accuſations (notwithſtanding he was the cauſe of all miſchiefe) and condemned thoſe poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cauſe, yea, before the Scythians, they ſhould haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they ſoone puniſhed vniuſtly, which followed vpon the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy veſſels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickedneſſe, and miniſtred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And ſo through the couetouſneſſe of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increaſing in malice, and declared himſelfe a great traytor to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

1 Of the ſignes and tokens ſeene in Ieruſalem. 6 Of the end and wickednes of Iaſon. 11 The purſuit of Antiochus againſt the Iewes. 15 The ſpoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderneſſe.

ABout the ſame time Antiochus vndertooke his ſecond voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there ſeene thorowout all the citie of Ieruſalem fourtie dayes long, horſemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bands of ſpearemen,

3 And as troupes of horſemen ſet in aray, incountring and courſing one againſt another with ſhaking of ſhields and multitude of darts, and drawing of ſwordes, and ſhooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour ſeene, and harneſſe of all ſorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed, that thoſe tokens might turne to good.

5 Nowe when there was gone foorth a falſe rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iaſon tooke at the leaſt a thouſand men, and came ſuddenly vpon the city, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the caſtle, but Iaſon ſlew his owne citizens without mercie, not conſidering, that to haue the aduantage againſt his kinſemen is greateſt diſaduantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the ſuperiorizitie, but at the laſt receiued ſhame for the reward of his treaſon, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this ende of his wicked conuerſation, that he was ‖ accuſed before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from city to citie, being purſued of euery man, and hated as a forſaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt. ‖ Or, ſhut vp.

9 Thus he that had chaſed many out of their owne countrey, periſhed as a baniſhed man, after that hee was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten ſuccour by reaſon of kinred.

10 And hee that had caſt many out vnburied, was throwen out himſelfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue; neither was hee partaker of his fathers ſepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when theſe things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre alſo, that they ſhould kill and not ſpare ſuch as they met, and to ſlay ſuch as went into their houſes.

13 Thus was there a ſlaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a deſtruction of men and women and children, and virgins and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were ſlaine fourefcore thouſand, and fourtie thouſand taken priſoners, and there were as many ſold as were ſlaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but durſt goe into the moſt holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide, 16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy veſſels, which other kings had giuen for the garniſhing, glory, and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he conſidered not that God was not a little wroth for the ſinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which ſuch contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many ſinnes, he, aſſoone as he had come, had ſuddenly bene puniſhed, and put backe from his preſumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king ſent to view the treaſurie.

19 But God hath not choſen the nation for the places ſake, but the place for the nations ſake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward ſhall it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forſaken in the wrath of the Almighty, ſo when the great Lord ſhall be reconciled, it ſhall be let vp in great worſhip againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundreth talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haſte, thinking in his pride to make men ſaile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the ſea; ſuch an high minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people: at Ieruſalem, Philip, a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that ſet him there:

23 And at Garizin, Andronicus, and with them, Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was deſpightful againſt the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee ſent alſo Apollonius a cruell prince, with an army of two and twentie thouſande, whom he commanded to ſlay thoſe that were toward manſage, and to ſell the women, and the yonger ſort.

25 So when he came to Ieruſalem, he fained peace, and kept him still vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slewe all them that were gone foorth to the shewe, and running thorow the citie with his men armed, he murthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled vnto the wildernes, & liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should be partakers of the filthimesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the King an olde man of ‖ Athens, for to compel the Iewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

‖ Or, Antiochia.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernement was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banket, & when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrayned to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and ‖ banketting should be kept.

‖ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed

9 And who so would not conforme themselues to the maners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcided their sonnes, whom when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lorde doth not waite for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes:

15 But thus her dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore he neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of ỹ principall scribes, an aged man, & of a well fauoured countenance was constreined to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him that he would take such flesh as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, & willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd hee, to dissemble, whereby many yoong persons might thinke that Eleazar being fourescoure yere olde and ten, were now gone to ‖ another religion,

‖ Or, to another maner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a litle time of a transitory life) they might be deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were nowe deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will nowe change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be yoong to die willingly, and couragiously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had sayd these words, immediatly hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed and sayd, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue beene deliuered from death, I am scourged, and suffer these theſe ſore paines of my body: but in my mind I ſuffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended hee his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The puniſhment of the ſeuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to paſſe alſo that ſeuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the king againſt the lawe to taſte ſwines fleſh, and were tormented with ſcourges and whips.

2 But one of them which ſpake firſt, ſayde thus, What ſeekeſt thou? and what wouldeſt thou knowe of vs? wee are ready to die rather, then to tranſgreſſe the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pans and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that ſpake firſt, to bee cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vtmoſt parts of his bodie in the ſight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to bee brought aliue to the fire and to fry him in the panne: and while the ſmoke for a long time ſmoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die couragiouſly, ſaying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, & indeede
Deut. 32. 36. taketh pleaſure in vs, as Moyſes * declared in the ſong, wherein hee teſtified openly, ſaying, That God will take pleaſure in his ſeruants.

7 ¶ So when the firſt was dead after this maner, they brought the ſecond to make him a mocking ſtocke: and when they had pulled the ſkinne with the haire one his head, they aſked him, if he would eate or hee were puniſhed in all the members of the body.

8 But he anſwered in his owne language, and ſayd, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the firſt.

9 And when hee was at the laſt breath, hee ſayd, Thou murtherer takeſt this preſent life from vs, but the King of the world will raiſe vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the reſurrection of euerlaſting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in deriſion, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and ſtretched foorth his hands boldly, 11 And ſpake manfully, Theſe haue I had from heauen, but nowe for the Lawe of God I deſpiſe them, and truſt that I ſhall receiue them of him againe.

12 Inſomuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead alſo, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when hee was now ready to die, hee ſayd thus, It is better that wee ſhould change this which we might hope for of men, and wait for our hope from God, that we may be raiſed vp againe by him: as for thee, thou ſhalt haue no reſurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterwards they brought the fift alſo and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and ſayde, Thou haſt power among men, and though thou bee a mortall man, thou doeſt what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forſaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou ſhalt ſee his great power, how he will torment thee and thy ſeede.

18 After him alſo they brought the firſt, who being at the point of death, ſaid, Deceiue not thy ſelfe foolishly: for we ſuffer theſe things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne ſakes, becauſe we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakeſt to fight againſt God, that thou ſhalt be vnpuniſhed.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue al other, and worthy of honourable memory: for when ſhe ſaw her ſeuen ſonnes ſlaine within the ſpace of one day, ſhe ſuffered it with a good will, becauſe of the hope that ſhe had in the Lord.

21 Yea, ſhe exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wiſedome, ſtirred vp her womanly affections with a manly ſtomacke, and ſayd vnto them,

22 I can not tell howe yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that ſet in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtleſſe the Creatour of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will alſo of his owne mercie giue you breath and life againe, as yee now regard not your owne ſelues, for his lawes ſake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himſelfe deſpiſed, and conſidering the iniurious words, while the yongeſt was yet aliue, he did exhort him, not onely with words, but ſware alſo vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forſake the lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no caſe hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, and exhorted that ſhee would counſell the yong man to ſaue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, ſhee promiſed him that ſhee would counſell her ſonne.

27 So ſhee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to ſcorne, and ſpake in her owne language, O my ſonne, haue pitie vpon mee, that bare thee nine monethes in my wombe, and gaue thee ſucke three yeeres, and nouriſhed thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, & brought thee vp.

28 I beſeech thee, my ſonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and conſider that God made them of things that were not, and ſo was mankinde made likewiſe.

29 Feare not this hangman, but ſhewe thy ſelfe worthy ſuch brethren by ſuffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While ſhe was yet ſpeaking theſe words, the yong man ſayd, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyſes.

31 And

31 And thou that imagineſt all miſchiefe againſt the Hebrewes, ſhalt not eſcape the hand of God.

32 For wee ſuffer theſe things becauſe of our ſinnes,

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chaſtening and correction, yet will he bee reconciled with his owne ſeruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and moſt wicked of all men, lift not thy ſelfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and liftеſt thine handes againſt the ſeruants of God.

35 For thou haſt not yet eſcaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which ſeeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue ſuffered a little paine, are nowe vnder the diuine Couenant of euerlaſting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, ſhalt ſuffer iuſt puniſhments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beſeeching God, that he will ſoone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and puniſhment mayeſt confeſſe, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteouſly fallen vpon all our nation, may ceaſe.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly againſt him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So he alſo died holily, and put his whole truſt in the Lord.

41 Laſt of all after the ſonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now bee ynough ſpoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoſt. 9 Nicanor is ſent againſt Iudas. 19 Iudas exhorteth his ſouldiers to conſtancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thankes, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the ſpoiles vnto the fatherleſſe, and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are diſcomfited. 35 Nicanor ſheeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinſfolkes and friendes together, and tooke vnto them all ſuch as continued in the Iewes Religion, and aſſembled fiue thouſand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lorde, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compaſſion vpon the citie that was deſtroyed, and almoſt brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voice of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that he would remember the wicked ſlaughter of the innocent children, and the blaſphemies committed againſt his Name, & that he would ſhew his hatred againſt the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withſtood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnawares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet hee tooke the moſt commodious places, and ſlewe many of the enemies.

7 But ſpecially hee vſed the nights to make ſuch aſſaules, inſomuch that the fame of his manlineſſe was ſpread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip ſawe that this man increaſed by little & little, and that things proſpered with him for the moſt part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coeloſyria and Phenice to helpe him in the kings buſineſſe.

9 Then ſent he ſpeedily Nicanor the ſonne of Patroclus, a ſpeciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no leſſe then twenty thouſand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined alſo a tribute for ỹ king of two thouſand talents, which the Romanes ſhould haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken priſoners.

11 Therefore immediately he ſent to the cities on the ſea coaſt, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their ſeruants, promiſing to ſell foureſcore and ten for one talent: but he conſidered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that ſhould come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors comming, he tolde them that were with him of the comming of the army.

13 Nowe were there ſome of them fearefull, which truſted not vnto ỹ righteouſneſſe of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other ſolde all that they had left, and beſought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had ſolde them or euer he came nere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their ſakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and becauſe they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And ſo Maccabeus called his men together, about ſixe thouſand, exhorting them not to be afrayd of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came againſt them vnrighteouſly, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniuſtly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the city by deriſion, and the deſtruction of the orders eſtabliſhed by their fathers.

18 For they, ſayd he, truſt in their weapons and boldneſſe: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both deſtroy them that come againſt vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer, hee admoniſhed them of the helpe that God ſhewed vnto their fathers, as when there periſhed an hundreth and foureſcore and fiue thouſand vnder *Sennacherib, 20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon, againſt the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell ‖ eight thouſand, with foure thouſand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were aſtoniſhed, the eight thouſand ſlew an hundreth and twenty thouſand through the help that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bolde with theſe wordes, and ready to die for the lawes and and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts,

22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Ionathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor,

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanors host, and so put all to flight, 25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks, and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

Num.31.27. 1.sam.30.24. 28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselues and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to bee reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboue twenty thousand, & wan hie and strong holds, and diuided great spoyles, & gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreouer, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoyles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timothens, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie, in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednes.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousande marchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, insomuch that hee put off his glorious rayment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a ‖ defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

‖ Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persepolis, is put to flight. 5 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The feined repentance of Antiochus. 28 Hee dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when hee came to Persepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the city, the people ran in a rage to defende themselues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when hee came to Ecbatane, hee vnderstoode the things that had come vnto Nicanor and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his mynde, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to driue continually, and to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had saide thus in his pride, I wil make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lorde Almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remediellesse, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts,

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit hee would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commaunded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a little afore thought hee might command the floods of the Sea (so proud was hee beyonde the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an horselitter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God,

9 * So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles hee was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieued at his ‖ smell.

Acts.12.23.

‖ Or, rottennesse.

10 Thus no man coulde beare because of his stincke, him that a little afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfe-will, when hee was plagued and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stincke, he saide these wordes, It is meet to bee subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, who woulde nowe haue no mercie on him, 14 And sayd thus, that he would set at libertie the holy City vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthy to bee buried, but woulde haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules & wilde beasts) he would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And wheras he had spoyled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, & go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his pains would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, conteining the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens, wisheth much ioy, health and prosperity.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your mind, I giue great thanks vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet am I mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, & fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the high countreys, hee appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder howe that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be King, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and my sonne.

27 For I trust that hee will be gentle and louing vnto you according vnto my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blasphemer suffered most grieuously, and as hee had intreated other men, so hee died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The acts of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus nowe and his company, through the helpe of the Lorde, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offred sacrifices, & incense two yeeres, and fyre moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the fiue and twentieth day of the same moneth, which is ‖ Chasleu.

‖ Or, Nouember.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beastes.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughs, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Nowe wil we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when hee had taken the kingdome, hee made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, hee was accused of his friendes before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because hee had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that hee was no more in estimation, hee was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer, the Idumeans that held the strong holds which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hande to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that hee would bee their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slewe all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing al maner of things conuenient to sustteine the siege.

19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joseph, and Zaccheus also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certain of those that were in the castle) and tooke seuenty thousand [a] drachmes and let some of them escape.

[a] A drachme is the eight part of an ounce, which is about three pence.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slewe them when they were conuict of treason, and immediately wanne the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles moe then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia, to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drew neere, Maccabeus, and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth, 26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to bee mercifull to them, and to be an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduersary to their aduersaries, [*] as the lawe declareth.

[*] Exod. 23. 20. deut. 20. 4.

27 So after the prayer they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke breede to themselues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindnesse, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and fiue hundred, and fiue hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, hee fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layde siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuertheless, vpon the [i] fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were enflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wal, and with bold manacks smote downe those that they met.

[i] Or, the fiue and twentieth day.

36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, let fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the army, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they prayed the Lord with Psalmes and thankesgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of king Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry shortly after this, Lysias the Kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about foure score thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his foure score Elephants,

5 He came into Judea, and drewe neere to Beth-sura, which was a castle of defence, fiue [a] furlongs from Jerusalem, and layed sore siege vnto it.

[a] Whereof eight make a mile.

6 But when Maccabeus and his company knewe that hee besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, & teares before the Lord, that hee would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would leopard themselues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious mind.

8 And as they were there besides Jerusalem, there appeared before them vpon horseback a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of gold.

9 Then they prayed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, insomuch that they were ready, not only to fight with men, but with the most cruel beasts, and to breake downe wals of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slewe eleuen thousand footmen, and fiftene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, & Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, fully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not bee ouercome because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to al things which were reasonable, & perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requestes, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lysias containing these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and ‖ Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

‖ Or, Absalon, or Absadam.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meet to bee reported to the king himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundred and eight and fortie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letter conteined these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our willis, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also that the Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shall bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: weare also good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, & to apply your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them free liberty, vnto the third day of the moneth of ‖ Panthicus, ‖ Or, April, some reade Xanticus, and some Zanicus.

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundreth and eight and fortie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter conteining these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people the Iewes sende greeting.

‖ Or, Manlius.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinseman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shal report vnto the king, send hither some with speed, whē yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon, as shall bee best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundreth and eight and fortie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 He setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let goe vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Hieronymus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone foorth into the deepe, the drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knewe of this cruelty shewed against his nation, hee commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went foorth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 ¶ And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though hee would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 But when he perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe like maner vnto y Iewes, which dwelt among them, 9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the naule, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fortie furlongs.

10 Nowe when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fiue thousand men of foote

and

and fiue hundzeth hozsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the Nomades of Arabia, being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certeine ‖ cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

a So called, because they were sheepheards.

‖ Or, pastures.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deede bee profitable concerning many things, graunted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a citie called Calpis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of victuals, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great prince of the world (which without any ‖ instruments, or engines of warre, did * cast downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles,

‖ Or, battell rammes.

Iosh. 6. 20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, insomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundzeth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong holde.

19 But Dositheus, & Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, & slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, & ranged his army by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundzeth and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and fiue hundzeth hozsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to beseige, and vneasie to come vnto because of the straights on all sides)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, & a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, insomuch that they fleeing one heere, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Atargation, and slew fiue and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remooued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yoong men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth fiue hundzeth furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified that the ‖ Scythopolitans beare louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,

‖ Or, Scythians.

31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weekes approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gozgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot, and foure hundzeth hozsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine.

35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on hozseback and a mightie man, tooke Gozgias, and layd holde of his garment, and drew him by force, because hee would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an hozseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gozgias fled into ‖ Marisa.

‖ Or, Maresa, or, Marosa.

36 And when they that were ‖ with Esdrin, had fought long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to bee their helper, and captaine of the field.

‖ Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loud voice, insomuch that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gozgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsemen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. The euery man saw that this was the cause wherfore they were slaine.

Deut. 7. 25. Iosh. 7. 1. 11, 12.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and belought him, that they ſhould not vtterly be deſtroyed for the fault committed. Beſides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themſelues from ſinne, forſomuch as they ſawe before their eyes the things which came to paſſe by the ſinne of theſe that were ſlaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering throughout the company, ſent to Ieruſalem about two thouſand drachmes of ſiluer, to offer a ſinne offering, doing very weland honeſtly, that he thought of the reſurrection.

44 For if hee had not doped that they which were ſlaine, ſhould riſe againe, it had bene ſuperfluous, and vaine, to pray for the dead.

a From this verſe to the ende of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, ſo that no good ſenſe, much leſſe certeine doctrine can be gathered thereby. Alſo, it is euident, that this place was not written by the holy Ghoſt, both becauſe it diſſenteth from the reſt of the holy Scriptures, and alſo the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, deſireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that he ſhould. And it ſeemeth that this Iaſon the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioſeph Ben-gorion, who hath written in Ebrew fiue books of theſe matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. cap. 19. For it is contrary to the cuſtome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had ſo done, yet this particular example is not ſufficient to eſtabliſh a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might miniſter the Sacraments, Exo. 4. 25. or the example of Razis, that one may kill himſelfe, whom this authour ſo much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight againſt Eupator moueth his ſouldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth fowreteene thouſand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth fourty and nine yeere, it was tolde Iudas that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lyſias the ſteward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and tenne thouſand men of foot of the Grecians, and fiue thouſand horſemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundreth charets ſet with hooks.

3 Menelaus alſo ioyned himſelfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the ſafegard of the countrey, but becauſe he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde againſt this wicked man, and Lyſias informed the king that this man was the cauſe of all miſchiefe, ſo that the king commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Nowe there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubits high, full of aſhes, and it had an inſtrument that turned round, and on euery ſide it rouled downe into the aſhes:

6 And there whoſoeuer was condemded of ſacrilege, or of any other grieuous crime, was caſt of all men to death.

7 And ſo it came to paſſe that this wicked man ſhould die ſuch a death, and it was a moſt iuſt thing that Menelaus ſhould want buriall.

8 For becauſe he had committed many ſinnes by the altar, whoſe fire and aſhes were holy: he himſelfe alſo died in the aſhes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came to ſhewe himſelfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lorde night and day, that if euer hee had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they ſhould be put from their Law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not ſuffer the people which a little afore began to recouer, to be ſubdued vnto the blaſphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and beſought the Lord for mercy with weeping and faſting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themſelues ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counſell to goe forth, afore the king brought his hoſte into Iudea, and ſhould take the city, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his ſouldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and campen by Modin.

15 And ſo giuing his ſouldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, he picked out the manlieſt young men, and went by night into the kings campe, and ſlewe of the hoſte fourteene thouſand men, and the greateſt Elephant with all that ſate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went proſperouſly with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, becauſe the protection of the Lorde did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had taſted the manlineſſe of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth ſura, which was a ſtrong holde of the Iewes: but hee was chaſed away, hurt, and loſt of his men.

20 For Iudas had ſent vnto them that were in it, ſuch things as were neceſſary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoſte, diſcloſed the ſecrets of the enemies: therefore he was ſought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in priſon.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-ſura, and ‖ tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

‖ Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

23 But when hee vnderſtood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerſeer of his buſineſſe at Antiochia) did rebell againſt him, hee was aſtoniſhed, ſo that he yeelded himſelfe to the Iewes, and made them an oth to doe all things that were right, and was appeaſed toward them, and offered Sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and ſhewed great gentleneſſe to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, & made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerrenians.

25 Neuertheleſſe

25 Neuertheleſſe when hee came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and becauſe they were grieued, they would that he ſhould breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lyſias vp into the iudgement ſeat, and excuſed the fact aſwell as hee could, and perſwaded them, and pacified them, and made them wel affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius mooued by Alcimus ſendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 which hee yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who ſlayeth himſelfe.

AFter three yeeres was Iudas informed that Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauy by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 And he had won the countrey, and ſlaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lyſias.

3 Nowe Alcimus, which had bene the high Prieſt, and wilfully defiled himſelfe in the time that all things were confounded, ſeeing that by no meanes hee coulde ſaue himſelfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 Hee came to king Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yeere, preſenting vnto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vſed ſolemnely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occaſion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counſell, and aſked him what deuiſes or counſels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which hee anſwered, The Iewes that be called Aſideans, whoſe captain is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make inſurrections, and will not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Prieſthood) am nowe come hither,

8 Partly becauſe I was well affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and ſecondly becauſe I ſought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their raſhneſſe, are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, ſeeing thou knoweſt all theſe things, make prouiſion for the countrey, and our nation which is abuſed, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not poſſible that the matter ſhould be well.

11 When hee had ſpoken theſe wordes, other friends alſo hauing euil will at Iudas, kindled Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor the ruler of the elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And ſent him forth, commanding him to ſlay Iudas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie prieſt of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they ſprinckled themſelues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himſelfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with tuident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remooued ſtreight wayes from thence, and came to the towne of Deſſau, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was ſomewhat aſtonied through the ſudden ſilence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheleſſe Nicanor hearing the manlineſſe of them that were with Iudas, and the bolde ſtomackes that they had for their countrey, durſt not proue the matter with bloodſhedding.

19 Wherefore he ſent Poſſidonius, ‖Theodotus, and Matthias before to make peace. ‖Or, Theodotus.

20 So when they had taken long aduiſement thereupon, and the captaine ſhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and conſented to the couenants. ‖Or, Matthias.

21 And they appointed a day when they ſhoulde particularly come together: ſo when the day was come, they ſet for euery man his ſtoole.

22 Neuertheleſſe Iudas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, leaſt there ſhoulde ſuddenly ariſe any euill through the enemies: and ſo they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ieruſalem, did none hurt, but ſent away the people that were gathered together.

24 He ‖loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart. ‖Or, had Iudas before his eyes.

25 Hee prayed him alſo to take a wife, and to beget children: ſo hee married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, & vnderſtanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him, that Nicanor had taken ſtrange matters in hand, & ordeined Iudas a traitor to the realme, to be his ſucceſſor.

27 Then the King was diſpleaſed, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, ſaying, that hee was very angry for the couenants, commanding him that hee ſhould ſend Maccabeus in all haſte priſoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When theſe things came to Nicanor, hee was aſtonished and ſore grieued, that hee ſhould breake the things wherein they had agreed, ſeeing that that man had committed no wickedneſſe.

29 But becauſe it was not commodious to him to withſtand the King, he ſought craftily to accompliſh it.

30 Notwithſtanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor beganne to bee rough vnto him, and that hee entreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceiued that ſuch rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrewe himſelfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policie, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they coulde not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, & made an oth in this maner, If ye wil not deliuer me Judas as a prisoner, I wil make this Temple of God a plaine field, & will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their handes toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lorde of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was clensed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Jerusalem, a louer of the citie, & a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselues vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the Religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all constancie for the Religion of the Jewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that hee bare to the Jewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and wonlde haue broken the gates by violence, and commaunded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euery side, he [a] fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the handes of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude:

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his bellie.

45 Neuertheleſſe while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his mind, he rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet hee ranne thorow the mids of the people,

46 And gate him to the toppe of an hie rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, he tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, & threwe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and Spirite, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

a As this priuate example ought no to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God, although the author seeme here to approue it: so that place as touching praier, Chap. 12. 44. though Judas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to approue a doctrine because it is onely a particular example.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Judas on the Sabboth day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expoũding vnto the Jewes the vision, encouraged them. 31 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to bee giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOwe when Nicanor knewe that Judas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, hee thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheleſſe the Jewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayde, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demaunded, Is there a Lorde in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they sayde, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then hee sayde, And I am mighty vpon earth to commaunde them to arme themselues, and to performe the Kings businesse. Notwithstanding he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Judas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer suche confidence and a perfect hope that the Lorde woulde helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to bee afrayde at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust nowe also that they shoulde haue the victory by the Almighty.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the law and Prophetes, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulneſse of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus hee armed euery one of them, not with assurance of the shieldes and speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to bee beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, Hee thought that hee saw Onias, (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had beene exercised in all points of godlineſse from a childe) holding vp his handes toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Jewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellency aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, and sayde, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy city, to wit, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Jeremias held out his right hand, & gaue vnto Judas a sword of golde: and as he gaue it, he spake thus, 16 Take this holy sworde a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the aduersaries.

17 And

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Judas, which were very sweet and able to stirre them vp to valiantnes & to encourage the hearts of the yoong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinsefolks, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the citie, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whiles they all waited for the ertall of the matter, and the enemies nowe met with them, and the host was set in aray, & the ‖ beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

‖ Or, Elephants.

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth woonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to them that are worthie, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayd after this maner, O Lord, * thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slew an hundreth fourescore and fiue thousand,

1. Kin. 19. 35 Isai. 37. 36. 1. Mac. 1. 18. ver. 48, 22.

23 Send nowe also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let the be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Judas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies, 27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their heartes they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fine and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were woondrously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a crie, praising the Almightie in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towardes them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes by the altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemer, which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almightie with proud bragges.

33 Yee cauled the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in little peeces, and to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lorde, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Yee hanged also Nicanors head vpon the high castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And to they established all together by a common decree that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrue was had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtful to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the letting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shall be the end.

The end of the Apocrypha.

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, powers, against the worldly gouernours of the princes of darkenes

Creation of man.

MOreouer, theſe Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after hee created all things, ſhope alſo Adam the firſt man, g to the image and ſpirituall ſimilitude of h himſelfe, and that he did conſtitute him Lord ouer all things that be had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and traude of the deuill, tranſgreſſing the precept of his Creator, i by this his ſinne brought in ſuch and ſo great ſinne into the worlde, that we which be ſprong from him by the fleſh, k be in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made ſubiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuill.

Chriſt promiſed.

FVrthermore, we are taught by theſe excellent bookes, that God promiſed to l Adam, l Abraham, m Iſaac, n Iacob, o Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that hee would ſend that bleſſed ſeede, his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt our Sauiour, which ſhould deliuer all thoſe from ſinne, and from the p tyrannie of the deuill which by a liuely and working faith ſhould beleeue this promiſe, and put their truſt in Ieſus Chriſt, hoping that of him and by him, they ſhould obteine this deliuerance.

The Law.

ALſo they giue vs to vnderſtand, that in the meane ſeaſon, while thoſe Fathers the Iſraelites looked for the ſaluation, and deliuerance promiſed (for that the nature of man is ſuch, ſo proude and ſo corrupt, that thoſe would not willingly acknowledge themſelues to be ſinners, which had neede of the Sauiour promiſed) God the Creator gaue by Moſes his q Lawe written in two Tables of ſtone: that by it, ſinne and the malice of mans heart being r knowen, s might more vehemently thirſt for the ſ comming of Ieſus Chriſt, who ſhould redeeme and deliuer them from ſinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the ſacrifices and oblations of the Law did t performe. For they were ſhadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Chriſt: by which oblation all u ſinne ſhould be blotted out, and quite put away.

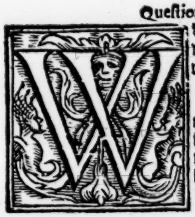
Certaine

¶Certaine questions and answeres touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods worde and Sacraments.

Question.



Why do men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answere.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleeue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answere.

Because they only beleeue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answere.

Some are vessels of wrath ordayned vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.

Very well: because all men haue in themselues sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that hee vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the trueth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessitie take effect, then what need any man to care? for hee that liueth well, must needes be damned, if hee be thereunto ordained: and he that liueth ill must needs be saued, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answere.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimonie of the Spirite of God, which is giuen to the elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that, being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, wherevnto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselues, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeuour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to be one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall.

Answere.

By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense & motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answere.

I meane remorse of conscience, ioyned with the lothing of sinne, and loue of righteousnes: the hande of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and raised vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirite: a thankefull remembrance of Gods benefites receiued, and the vsing of al aduersities as occasion of amendement sent from God,

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselues?

Answere.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so hee repenteth not the gifts & graces of his adoption: neither doth he cast off those whom he hath once receiued.

Question.

Why then should we pray by the example of Dauid, that he cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirite from vs?

Answere.

In so praying we make protestation of the weakenesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not we haue courage to aske, if wee were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Do the children of God feele the motions aforesayd alwayes alike?

Answere.

No truely: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirite, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:

yet the spirit of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: else might they perish. But as in many diseases of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: So in some assaults these motions of spirituall life are not perceiued, because they lie hidde in our manifold infirmities, as the fire couered with ashes. Yet as after sickenesse commeth health, and after clouds the Sunne shineth cleare: so the powers of spirituall life will more or lesse bee felt and perceiued in the children of God.

Question.

What if I neuer feele these motions in my selfe, shall I despaire and thinke my selfe a castaway?

Answere.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time he seeth good: & the instruments wherby he vsually calleth, haue not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the saluation of his. For as wax is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God vseth meanes both to draw those vnto himselfe, whom hee hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to bewray the wickednesse of them whom hee iustly condemneth.

Question.

By what meanes doth God to draw men to himselfe that they may be saued?

Answere.

By the preaching of his word and the ministring of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Question.

What meane you by the word of God?

Answere.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets & Apostles which they receiued of the spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke which we commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

How may I be assured, that it is the word of God, which that Booke conteineth?

Answere.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the puritie, vprightnes and holines thereof: by the certaintie of euerything therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters vttered: But especially by the testimonie of Gods spirite, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of those in whom it resteth, to consent vnto the worde, and reuerently to embrace it.

Question.

How doth this worde of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answere.

When it is so preached and heard, that men may vnderstand and learne what God teacheth: accept and receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised & assured: and bee moued with desire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Question.

Doe the Sacraments also serue to this ende?

Answere.

Yea verily: that by sight, taste & feeling, as well as by hearing, we might bee instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

How doth our Baptisme serue hereunto?

Answere.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousnesse our sinfulnes may be hidden: it assureth vs that we are so graft into Christ, that all our sinnes by him are washed away: it chargeth vs to die to sinne, to continue in the profession of Christ, and to loue each other.

Question.

Hath the Lords supper also this vse?

Answere.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth, that the body and blood of Christ crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it assureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spirituall and heauenly to body and soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, and to make cheereful ꝑ hearts of the elect: it requireth thankfull remembrance of the death of Christ, vnitie among those that doe professe him, with a free confession of his trueth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly knowen?

Answere.

Because they are abused for forme, for fashion, for custome and company, without regard vnto the word, whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessitie by any person be seuered frō it, which teacheth the right vse of euerything.

Question.

I perceiue that nothing is more necessary then the word of God: therefore I pray you shew me how I may attaine to some knowledge and profite thereby.

Answere.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercise of reading and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most conuenient to be vsed herein?

Answere

Answere.

That as euery day, twise at the least, wee most commonly receiue foode to the nourishment of this corporall life: so no day be let passe without some reading in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe vnto God by prayer, as he in his word speaketh vnto vs: So that at the least two Chapters would bee orderly and aduisedly read euery day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done: what thinke you elle requisite?

Answere.

That some especiall places of Scripture be so committed to memory, that the minde may euer be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which ende I note these Scriptures vnto you, wherunto you may ioyne other at your owne choise: Psalmes 139. 37. 50. Esa. 53. 1 ohn 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard and not easie to vnderstand.

Answere.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you finde leueth to moue you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as haue knowledge, when any doubt arileth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reueile at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose Name for euer bee praised, Amen.

The holy [a] Gospel of Iesus Christ, [b] according to Matthew.

a This word signifieth good tydings, and is taken here for the story which conteineth the ioyfull message of the comming of the sonne of God promised from the beginning.
b That is, written and taught by Matthew.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this history writte by Matthew, Marke, Luke, & Iohn, the Spirit of God so gouerned their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose they so consent, as though ỹ whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and maner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely that which the other doth abridge: neuertheleſſe in matter & argument, they all tend to one end: which is to publiſh to the world the fauour of God toward mankinde through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they entitle their story Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed in deed that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admoniſhed to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with moſt affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor conſolation, no peace nor quietneſſe, no felicity nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very ſubſtance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promiſes are Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole New Teſtament: but commonly we vſe this name for the history, which the foure Euangeliſts write, containing Christs comming in the fleſh, his death, and reſurrection, which is the perfect ſumme of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in deſcribing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to ſet forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and alſo the vertue of his death and reſurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, dead, and riſen againe, ſhould nothing profite vs. The which thing notwithſtanding that the three firſt touch partly, as he alſo ſometime intermedleth the hiſtorical narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a moſt learned interpreter writeth, they deſcribe, as it were, the body, and Iohn ſetteth before our eyes the ſoule. Wherefore the ſame aptly termeth the Gospel written by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderſtanding of the others: for whoſoeuer doth know the office, vertue & power of Christ, ſhall reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world, with moſt profit. Now as concerning the writers of this hiſtory, it is euident that Matthew was a Publicane, or cuſtome gatherer, & was thence choſen of Christ to bee an Apoſtle. Marke is thought to haue bene Peters diſciple, and to haue planted the firſt Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yeere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Phyſition of Antiochia, and became Pauls diſciple, and fellow in all his trauailes: he liued foureſcore and foure yeeres, & was buried at Conſtantinople. Iohn was that Apoſtle whom the Lord loued, the ſonne of Zebedeus, and brother of Iames: he died threeſcore yeere after Christ, and was buried neere to the citie of Epheſus.

18 ¶ Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus: When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Joseph, [m] before they came together, she was found [n] with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Joseph her husband being a [o] iust man, and not willing to * make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, beholde, the Angel of the Lorde appeared vnto him in a [p] dreame, saying, Joseph the [q] sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Marie for thy wife: for that which is conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And shee shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his name [r] Iesus: for hee shall * saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lorde by the Prophet, saying, 23 * Beholde, a Virgine shall bee with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and [s] they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, [t] God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Joseph being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But he knewe her not, till shee had brought forth her [u] first borne sonne, and hee called his name IESVS.

[a] For there is another Bethlehem in the tribe of Zebulun.

WHen * Jesus was then borne at [a] Beth-lehem in Judea, in the dayes of Herode the King, beholde, there came [b] Wisemen from the East to Jerusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his [c] starre in the East, and are come to [d] worship him.

3 When King Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priestes and Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 [e] And they sayde vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Judea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede my people Israel.

7 Then Herode [f] priuily called the wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee worde againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the [g] starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came, and stoode ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and ‖ found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, [h] euen golde, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should [i] not goe againe to Herode, they returned into their country another way.

13 ¶ After their departure, beholde, the Angel of the Lorde appeareth to Joseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee worde: for Herode will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

14 So he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, 15 And was there vnto the death of Herode, [k] that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lorde by the * Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ [l] Then Herode, seeing that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slewe all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yeere olde and vnder, according to the time which hee had diligently searched out of the wisemen.

3 But hee sayd vnto them, *a Haue ye not read what Dauid did when hee was an hungred, and they that were with him?

5 Or haue ye not read in the Lawe how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple *b breake the Sabbath, and are blameless?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is, *I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

9 *And hee departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and it it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, will not hee take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore it is lawfull to do well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then sayde hee to the man, Stretch foorth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Pharises went out, & consulted against him how they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knew it, he departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all.

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowen,

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

23 And all the people were amased, and sayd, Is not this the sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharises heard it, they said, *This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Esaias, which prophesie saith, * By hearing, ye shal heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing yee shall see, and shall not perceiue.

f That which the Prophet referreth to the secret counsel of God, is here attributed to the hard stubbornesse of the people: for the one cannot be separated from the other.

15 f For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue wincked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets and righteous men haue desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ * Heare yee therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoeuer a man heareth the word of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, the euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his heart: and this is hee which g hath receiued the seede by the way side.

|Or, was sowen.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it.

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiueth the seed among thornes, is hee, that heareth the worde: but the care of this worlde, and the deceitfulnes of riches choke the worde, and hee is made vnfruitfull.

23 But hee that receiueth the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, & vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, some an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirty folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his fielde.

h He teacheth that the good & the bad shall bee mixt together in the Church, to the end that the faithfull may arme themselues with patience and constancie.

25 h But while men slept, there came his enemie, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruite, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And hee sayde to them, The enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But hee sayd, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheate.

i Christ meaneth onely that the Church shall neuer be without some wicked men, although they be neuer so sharply punished by such meanes as he hath left to purge his Church

30 i Let both growe together vntill the harueste, and in time of harueste I will say to the reapers, Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barne.

31 ¶ * Another parable hee put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustarde seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his fielde:

Marke 4.30,31. luke 13.19.

32 Which indeed is the k least of all seeds: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

k This teacheth vs not to be astonished at the small beginnings of the Gospel.

33 ¶ * Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three peckes of meale, l till all bee leauened.

Luke 13.21.

l By this he admonisheth them to waite till the fruit of the Gospel appeare.

m This worde signifieth graue and sententious prouerbs, to the end that the doctrine might haue the more maiesty, and the wicked might thereby be confounded.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the field.

37 Then answered he, and sayd to them, He that soweth the good seed, is the Sonne of man.

38 And the fielde is the worlde, and the good seede, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked, 39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, * and the harueste is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

41 The Sonne of man shal send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that n offend, and them which do iniquity, n The wicked which hurt others by their euill example.

42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall bee wailing and gnashing of teeth.

2 * Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they [a] wash not their hands when they eate bread.

3 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commaunded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But yee say, Whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, [b] By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite, 20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eate with vnwashen hands, defileth not the man.

21 * And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman a Canaanite came out of the same coastes, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercy on mee, O Lord, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuil.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, [g] & besought him, saying, Send her away, for shee crieth after vs.

27 But shee saide, Trueth, Lorde: yet indeed the whelps eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto her, O woman, great is thy [i] faith: bee it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ So Iesus * went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

f And so worshipped Christ.
g For men would not haue beleeued them, before that Christ had made his glory more manifest by his resurrection, Marke 9.11. Chap.11.14. malac.4.5. Mar.9.14,17. luke 9.38.
h He speaketh chiefly to the Scribes, who began to brag, as if they had now gotten the victorie ouer Christ, because his disciples were not able to doe this miracle, Luke 17.6.
i By this maner of speach is signified, that they should do things by their faith, that should seem impossible

2 And was [a] transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the Sunne, and his clothes were as white as the light.

3 And behold, there appeared [b] vnto the Moses and Elias, talking with him.

4 Then answered Peter, and sayd to Jesus, Master, it is [c] good for vs to be here: if thou wilt, let vs make here three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

5 While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud shadowed them: & behold, there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne, [d] in whom I am well pleased: [e] heare him.

6 And when [f] disciples heard that, they fell on their faces, and were sore afrayd.

7 Then Jesus came and touched them, and sayd, Arise, and be not afrayd,

8 And when they lifted vp their eyes, they saw no man saue Jesus onely.

9 ¶ And as they came downe from the mountaine, Jesus charged them, saying, Shew [g] vision to no man, vntill the Sonne of man rise againe from the dead.

10 * And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that * Elias must first come?

11 And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Certainly Elias must first come, and restore all things.

12 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: like wise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples perceiued that hee spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist.

14 ¶ * And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man, and kneeled downe to him,

15 And sayd, Master, haue pitie on my sonne: for he is lunatike, and is sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him.

17 Then Jesus answered, and sayd, [h] O generation faithlesse and crooked, how long now shal I be with you? how long now shal I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked the deuill, and he went out of him, and the child was healed at that houre.

19 Then came ỹ disciples to Jesus apart, and sayd, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Jesus sayd vnto them, Because of your vnbeliefe: for * verily I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as is a graine of mustard seed, yee shall say vnto this mountaine, [i] Remoue hence to yonder place, and it shall remoue: and nothing shalbe vnpossible vnto you.

21 Howbeit this kind goeth not out, but by [k] prayer and fasting.

22 ¶ And as [||] they abode * in Galile, Jesus sayd vnto them, The sonne of man shall be deliuerd into the hands of men, 23 And they shall kill him, but the third day shall he rise againe: and they were very sory.

24 ¶ And when they were come to Capernaum, they that receiued [l] polle money, came to Peter, & sayd, Doeth not your Master pay tribute?

25 He sayd, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whom doe the kings of the earth take tribute, or polle money? of their children, or of strangers?

26 Peter sayd vnto him, Of strangers. Then sayd Jesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

27 Neuertheless, lest we should [m] offend them, go to the sea, and cast in an angle, and take the first fish that commeth vp, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt finde a [n] piece of twentie pence: that take, & giue it vnto them for me and thee.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take a count of his seruants.

24 And when he had begun to recken, one was brought vnto him, which ought him ten thousand n talents.

n A common talent was valued at threescore pound: some also were greater, and some lesse.

25 And because hee had nothing to pay, his master commanded him to be solde, and his wife, and his children, and al that he had, and the debt to be payd.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and besought him, saying, Master, appease thine anger towarde mee, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that seruantes master had compassion, and loosed him, and forgaue him the debt.

28 But when the seruant was departed, he found one of his fellowes, which ought him an hundreth o pence, and he layd hands on him, and tooke him by the throte, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 Then his fellow fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Appease thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet he would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellowes saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came, and declared vnto their master all that was done.

32 Then his master called him, and said to him, O euill seruant, I forgaue thee all that debt, because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtest not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellowe, euen as I had pitie on thee?

9 I say therefore vnto you, * that whosoeuer shall put away his wife, except it bee for whoredome, and marry another, d committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

d For this band cannot be broke at mans pleasure.

10 Then said his disciples to him, If the matter matter bee so betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 But hee saide vnto them, All men can not receiue this thing, saue they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are e some f chaste, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some chaste, which bee made chaste by men: and there bee some chaste, g which haue made themselues chaste for the kingdome of heauen. Hee h that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ * Then were brought to him little children, that hee should put his handes on them, & pray: & the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when hee had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ * And beholde, one came, and saide vnto him, Good master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And hee saide vnto him, i Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, k keepe the Commandements.

18 Hee saide to him, Which? And Iesus said, * Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnes.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 * The yong man said vnto him, I haue l obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus saide vnto him, If thou wilt be perfite, goe, m sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come and follow me.

22 And when the yong man heard that saying, hee went away sorowfull: for hee had great n possessions.

23 Then Iesus saide vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a o camell to goe thorowe the eye of a needle, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saued?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and said vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God o all thinges are possible.

27 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and said to him, Beholde, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what shall we haue?

28 And Iesus saide vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Maiestie, yee which followed mee p in the regeneration, * shal sit also vpon twelue thrones, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoeuer shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes, for my Names sake, hee shall receiue an q hundreth folde more, and shall inherite euerlasting life.

5 Againe he went out about the sixt and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleuenth houre, and founde other standing idle, and said vnto them, Why stand yee here all the day idle?

7 They said vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. Hee saide to them, Goe ye also into my vineyarde, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard sayde vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 13 And he answered one of them, saying, ¶ Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawful for me to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye e euill because I am good?

29 But he answered and said, I will not: yet afterward hee repented himselfe, and went.

n So farre it is vnpossible for them to repent and be saued, that stand in their owne conceite, that the greatest sinners that are, shall more soone come to repentance 30 Then came he to the second, and said likewise. And he answered, and said, I will, sir: yet he went not.

CHAP. XXII.

2 The parable of the mariage. 9 The vocation of the Gentiles. 11 The mariage garment. 17 Of paying of tribute. 25 Of the resurrection. 36 The Scribes question. 44 Christs diuinitie.

THen * Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

Luke 14.16. reuel.19.9.

2 The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which maried his sonne,

3 And a sent foorth his seruants, to call them that were bidden to the wedding, but they would not come.

a Christ reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and obstinate malice, in that they reiected the grace of God, which was so plentifully offred vnto them.

4 Againe he sent foorth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are killed, and al things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his marchandise.

b God punisheth extremely such ingratitude.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them shamefully, and slew them.

7 But when the King heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and b destroyed those murtherers, and burnt vp their citie.

c The ingratitude of them which are bid, cannot cause Gods liberality and his holy meates to perish, which he hath prepared for vs.

8 Then saide hee to his seruants, Truely the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 Go ye therefore out into the hie wayes, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the mariage.

d In the Church the hypocrites are mixed with the godly.

10 So those seruants went out into the hie wayes and gathered together all that euer they found, both d good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghests.

e He had not a pure affection and vpright conscience, which proceeded of faith, 11 Then the King came in, to see the ghests, and sawe there a man which had not on a * wedding garment.

12 And hee saide vnto him, Friend, how f camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? and he was speechlesse.

13 Then sayd the King to the seruants, Binde him hand and foote: take him away, and cast him into vtter darkenesse: * there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 * For many are g called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ Then went h Pharises & took counsell how they might tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples, with the h Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, & teachest the way of God truely, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the i person of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it law full to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the ‖ tribute money. And they brought him a k peny.

20 And he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They sayd vnto him, Cesars. Then said he vnto them, * Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cesars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him, 24 Saying, Master, * Moses sayde, If a man die, hauing no children, let his brother l marie his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

25 Now there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third, vnto the seuenth.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Yee m are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neyther marrie wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in marriage, but are as the n Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying, 32 * I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the people heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine.

34 ¶ * But when the Pharises had heard that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

35 And one of them, which was an expounder of the Law, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying, 36 Master, which is the great commandement in the Law?

37 Iesus sayd to him, * Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soule, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and the great Commandement.

39 And the seconde is like vnto this, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two Commandements hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 ¶ * While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose o sonne is he? They sayde vnto him, Dauids.

43 He sayde vnto them, How then doeth Dauid in p spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 * The Lord sayd to my Lorde, Sit at my q right hand, r till I make thine enemies thy footestoole?

45 If Dauid then call him s Lord, how is he his sonne?

46 And none could answere him a word, neither durst any from that day forth aske him any moe questions.

1 By the similitude of the virgins Iesus teacheth euery man to watch, 14 And by the talents to be diligent. 31 The last iudgement. 32 The sheepe and the goats. 35 The workes of the faithfull.

Then

a This similitude teacheth vs, that it is not sufficient to haue once giuen our selues to follow Christ, but that we must continue.
b To doe him honour, as the maner was.

THen the a kingdome of heauen shall bee likened vnto ten virgins, which tooke their lampes, and went to b meete the bridegrome.
2 And fiue of them were wise, and fiue foolish.
3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.
4 But the wise tooke oile in their vessels with their lampes.
5 Nowe while the bridegrome taried long, all slumbred and slept.
6 And at midnight there was a crie made, Beholde, the bridegrome commeth: go out to meete him.
7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.
8 And the foolish sayd to the wise, c Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are ‖out.
9 But the wise answered, saying, Wee feare lest there will not be enough for vs and you: but d go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.
10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.
11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.
12 But he answered, and sayd, Verely I say vnto you, e I know you not.
13 * Watch therefore: for yee know neither the day nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.
14 * f For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants and deliuered to them his goods.
15 And vnto one hee gaue fiue talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owne ability, & straightway went from home.
16 Then he that had receiued the fiue talents, went & occupied with them, and ‖gained other fiue talents.
17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.
18 But hee that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.
19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.
20 Then came hee that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fiue talents: beholde, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.
21 Then his master sayd vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: b enter in into thy masters ioy.
22 And he that had receiued two talents, came and sayd, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: beholde, I haue gained two other talents with them.
23 His master sayd vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithful in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters ioy.
24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came and sayd, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:
25 I was therefore afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.
26 And his master answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou euill seruant and ‖ slothfull, thou knewest that I reape, where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.
27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my comming should I haue receiued mine own with vantage.
28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.
29 * For vnto euery man that hath, it shall be giuen, and hee shall haue abundance, and i from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken away.
30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into vtter * darkenes: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth.
31 ¶ And when the Sonne of man commeth in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory.
32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth the sheepe from the goats.
33 And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goats on the left.
34 Then shall the King say to them on his right hand, Come ye k blessed of my Father: inherit yee the kingdome prepared for you from the l foundations of the world.
35 * For m I was an hungred, & yee gaue me meat: I thirsted, and ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:
36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was * ‖ sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.
37 Then shall the righteous answere him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or athirst, and gaue thee drinke?
38 And when saw we thee a stranger, and lodged thee? or naked, and clothed thee?
39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?
40 And the King shall answere & say vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, in as much as yee haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.
41 Then shall hee say vnto them on the left hand, * Depart from me ye cursed, into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.
42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meat: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:
43 I was a stranger, and ye lodged me not: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.
44 Then shall they also answere him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?

30 And spitted vpon him, and tooke a reed, and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 * And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his Crosse.

33 * And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skulles)

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, * They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sate, and watched him there.

37 ¶ They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, ° THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two theeues crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads,

41 Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, & Pharises, said,

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth,

2 And beholde, there was a great earthquake: for the b Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sate vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and saide to the women, Feare yee not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 Hee is not here, for hee is risen, as hee said: Come, see the place where the Lorde was layd,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that hee is risen from the dead: and beholde, hee goeth before you into Galile: there yee shall see him: c loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great d ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, beholde, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then saide Iesus vnto them, Bee not afraide. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me.

11 ¶ Now when they were gone, beholde, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high Priestes all the things that were done.

2 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist. 9 Christ is baptised, 13 and tempted. 14 He preacheth, 17 calleth the fishers. 23 Christ healeth the man with the vncleane spirit. 27 Newe doctrine. 29 He healeth Peters mother in lawe. 34 The deuils know him. 41 He cleanseth the leper, and healeth diuers others.

1 THe * beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

2 As it is written in the Prophets, * Beholde, I sende my [b] messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernes, is, [c] Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wildernesse, and [d] preach the baptisme of amendement of life, for remission of sinnes.

5 And all the countrey of Judea, & they of Jerusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the riuer Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

6 * Nowe Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate ‖ * Locustes and wilde honie, 7 * And preached, saying, A stronger then I commeth after me, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Trueth it is, I haue * baptized you with [e] water: but hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazaret a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And assoone as ‖ hee was come out of the water, Iohn sawe the heauens cloven in twaine, and the [f] holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued [g] Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediatly the ‖ Spirit driueth him into the wildernes.

13 And hee was there in the wildernes fourtie dayes, and was [h] tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ * Nowe after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching [i] the Gospell of the kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 ¶ * And as hee walked by the ‖ Sea of Galile, hee sawe Simon, and Andrewe his brother, casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Followe me, & I wil make you to be [k] fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a litle further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So * they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine: * for hee taught them as one that had authoritie, and [l] not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and hee cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazaret? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, [m] Holde thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cried with a loude voyce, & came out of him.

27 And they were all amased, so that they demaunded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what [n] newe doctrine is this? for hee commaundeth the foule spirites with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ * And assoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrewe, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the Sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and [o] suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, ‖ before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitarie place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

c Christ speaketh according to their capacitie, who were so blind that they would beleeue nothing but that which they saw with their eyes, and therefore sheweth his authoritie ouer the soule by the power which he hath ouer the body.

5 Now when Iesus saw their faith, hee sayd to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, thy b sinnes are forgiuen thee.

6 And there were certain of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? * who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely?

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath b eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To c you it is giuen to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are d without, all things be done in parables, 12 * That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, lest at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should bee forgiuen them.

13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then shoulde yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seede by the wayes side, in whome the worde is sowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediately, and taketh away the worde that was sowen in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse, 17 Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the * deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lustes of other things enter in, and choke the worde, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring foorth fruite, one corne thirtie, another sixtie, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ Also he sayde vnto them, * Is e the candle‖ lighted to bee put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to bee put on a candlesticke?

22 * f For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secrete, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 And he sayd vnto them, Take heede what yee heare. * With g what measure yee mete, it shall bee measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more bee giuen.

25 * For vnto him that hath, shall it bee giuen, and from him that hath not, shall bee taken away, h euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also he sayd, So is the i kingdome of God, as if a man should cast k seede in the ground, 27 And should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and grow vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruit of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the haruest is come.

30 ¶ * He said moreouer, Whereunto shall wee liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it? Matth.13.31. luke 13.19.

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may builde vnder the shadow of it.

33 And * with many such parables hee preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it. Matth.13.34.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them, but hee expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ * Nowe the same day when euen was come, he sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side. Matth.8.23. luke 8.22.

36 And they left the multitude, and l tooke him as he was in the ship: and there were also with him other ships. l And set forward.

37 And there arose a great storme of wind, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was in the sterne m asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and sayd to him, Master, carest thou not that wee perish? m Christ leaueth vs oftentimes to our selues, both as well that we may learne to know our owne weakenesse, as his mighty power.

39 And hee arose vp, and rebuked the winde, and sayd vnto the sea, Peace, and be still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull? ‖ how is it that yee haue no faith? ‖Or, haue you not yet faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and the sea obey him?

8 (For he said vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vncleane spirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is c Legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great herd of swine, feeding.

12 And all the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that wee may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vncleane spirits went out, and entred into the swine, and the herd ‖ ran headlong from the high banke into the sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were drowned in the ‖ sea.

14 And the swineheards fled, and told it in the citie, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then d they began to pray him, that he would e depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, hee that had beene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and f shewe them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in ‖ Decapolis, What great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

22 * And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feete, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lyeth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that shee may be healed, and liue.

24 Then hee went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 (And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had suffred many things of many physicians, and had spent all that shee had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When shee had heard of Iesus, shee came in the preasse behind, and touched g his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway ‖ the course of her blood was dryed vp, and she ‖ felt in her body, that she was healed of that ‖ plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the preasse, and sayde, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude thronge thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And hee looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knewe what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and told him the whole trueth.

34 And he sayde to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and be whole of thy ‖ plague.)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayde, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the Master any further?

36 Assoone as Iesus heard that worde spoken, hee sayd vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleeue.

37 And he suffred no man to follow him, saue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and sayd vnto them, Why make yee this trouble, and weepe? the child is not h dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they i laught him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the child, and k them that were with him, and entred in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and sayde vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for shee was of the age of twelue yeeres: and they were astonied out of measure.

43 And he charged them straitly that no man should knowe of it, and commaunded to giue her meat.
